THE pessimist and the prophet of woe have no rightful place in any consideration of the expediency of insuring life. But certain hard facts should be squarely faced by every man of moderate means who has anyone dependent on him. Hundreds of men are yearly rejected for life insurance who would have been accepted had they not delayed their applications until ill health had come upon them. Why do men in good condition take such a long chance of remaining well? It is an impressive fact that out of 8549 holders of policies in a leading life insurance company who died in the past year, only 64 died of old age. The remainder were carried away by disease or accident. Hence the wisdom of insuring early in life. The best years for saving are from 20 to 40; and no man should let that period pass without taking out an insurance policy. For that part of his career an endowment policy, which is likely to mature while he is still living and can secure the proceeds of it himself, is to be preferred.

There will probably always be poor old men, their ranks will be recruited from the successful men of an earlier date, and fortunate is he who has made certain provision by means of endowment insurance in the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada.

The Best Detective Story of the Last Ten Years

Mightiest of all his hidden emotions was his love of Doris Missioner. He had been fond of her in her girlhood. He admired her in her glittering triumph as the wife of the multimillionaire, Missioner, and from the days of her early widowhood he had loved her with an ardor that made the devotion of youth to maiden seem pale indeed.

A logical paradox was the result of his tardy recognition of his heart's attitude toward her. As often happens in the case of a man who has repressed the romances of his real nature, who has incased himself in armorplate proof against bombardment by whole flotillas of summer girls and flying squadrons of matchmaking mammas, Sands, in his love, had adopted in part the viewpoint of the other sex. His love of Doris had become, instead of merely an important incident in his career, the horizon boundary of his life, and the winning of her was the only thing he had not achieved that could take on, in his eyes, the dignity of an event. He had everything else—wealth, family, position, health, and strong mentality. All these things were of little value unless the possession of them could be crowned by the conquest of the beautiful widow's imperially uncertain heart.

Sands long had known his love for her was strong; but until he had seen her in the gloomy reception room of the gray prison shining as the comforter of the wrongfully accused girl to whom she was so loyal, he had not known the merciless degree of his love's strength. The thought of Doris in the golden glow of her blond loveliness, royally rejoicing in the tenderness of her devotion, the soul of Sands thrilled with a wild desire of possession that made him feel, as he hastened through the well-known routine of his daily affairs, like a stranger in a land of strangers.

When he got to his office Sands, with the swiftness habitual to slow men in some crises, swung from dreams to action. He sat down and in terse and glowing phrases wrote a note to Doris Missioner in which he poured out to her the flood of new and greater love that surged toward her from his innermost self. It was the first love-letter he had written since his salad days—the first he ever had written that breathed reality in every line. When it was finished he opened two or three of the closely written pages and read again that he had asked Doris Missioner to be his wife, and had begged her to let their marriage follow acceptance of him as closely as her position might permit. And at the very end, just over the signautre that was a power in the world of finance and industry around him, he wrote: "Better still, let us forget to ask permission of position—let us be married at once."

Reading it through thus in warm haste, he called a messenger and sent the note to Mrs. Missioner's home. He hoped it would reach her while yet her heart was softened by the sight of Elinor's separation from her lover, and that would send a favorable reply to his apartment soon enough for him to find it on his return from the office. Then habit took him back to his desk; habit made him call his secretary, and dictate letters that had awaited his attention since morning; habit made him attend, with a magnificent semblance of interest, a particularly prosy meeting of an exceptionally dry directorate. From first to last, as the afternoon sped on, his heart asked him, "What are you doing here?" Why are you wasting hours in pursuing all this additional wealth—hours that you might devote to the winning of your life's desire?" So insistent was that inner questioning that in the end it reduced his resolve to a negligible quantity that soon dwindled beyond the vanishing point. Almost in the midst of a telephonic conversation with a man in Chicago following a directors' meeting, the millionaire abruptly flung the receiver on the hook, thrust himself into an overcoat of fur, but of gossamer lightness, seized his hat and stick, and, disdaining all vehicles in his eagerness, strode swiftly up Broadway at a pace that took him to the Parthenon-sculptured entrance of the St. Barnabas apartment house.

Britz walked there too. But it was to think, and not to regain control of his emotions, that he chose normal locomotion in preference to cab or carriage. It had been a busy day even for him that his thoughts required marshaling, his logic called for adjustment, and his analysis demanded new setting of the screws to restore it to its finer focus. Britz did most of his thinking on his feet and as he sped up Broadway, on the side opposite Bruxton Sands, he thought vigorously, swiftly, clearly. He reviewed the whole day's experiences, and he felt that he still was very far from the solution of the Missioner mystery but that he had made great strides between the rising and the setting of that sun which even now was merging its light with the anticipatory gleams of the city's dusk. He had found out who had made the fraudulent Maharanee diamond. Strangely enough, the maker had performed his task in the belief that he was manufacturing, not a false, but a genuine diamond, but that belief was only a detail; it did not affect the value of the detective's conclusion that the man who procured the making of the imitation stone had done so with the single intent of substituting it for the real gem.

That the "fine gentleman" who gave the commission to old Martin was Bruxton Sands frankly astonished him. Britz had followed every line of facts leading to or from the millionaire with the fidelity that he bestowed on every potential clew in the entire case, but he had done so perfunctorily—never with the slightest suspicion that the trail of guilt would lead to Sands. Britz even yet was not prepared to say to himself, with whom he was always punctiliously candid, just who it was he did suspect. The possibilities, as he had seen them before his visit to the island, were between the East and the West. The theft might be the work of an Occidental or an Oriental. If the thief was a man of the former race it might be either Blodgett or Griswold; for, in his analytical consideration of the case, the Headquarters man had eliminated Sands almost as quickly as he had Elinor Holcomb. If an Easterner stole the gems it could be none other than Mrs. Missioner's Indian servant, Ali, unless—and Britz did some pretty deep thinking on this point—the crime was done by another East Indian, also in the employ of the mysterious Brahmin priest. Up to that afternoon the issue had seemed squarely joined. Griswold or Blodgett on one hand, Ali or a compatriot on the other—brown man or white, son of yesterday, or heir of to-morrow.

But that card! Sand's card! Against the background of the electric signs beginning to gleam in the Great White Way ahead of him, Britz saw, as if stippled on the twilight sky, that incriminating inscription, "Mr Bruxton Sands."

Lieutenant Britz admitted that that simple line on the little white card apparently snapped in twain the long chain of facts he had linked together with so much skill and patience. If Sands got Martin to make the false Maharanee diamond why did he do so? Why should he have done so unless with the idea of substituting it for the real diamond? Was there a compact between Sands and Griswold? Did the clubman make the sketches only to have the millionaire give them to the artisan with the order for the manufacture of a fraudulent gem? How could there well be a league bteween men as antipodally dissimilar as these two—Sands and Griswold? What motive could there have been to despoil the widow whom both wished to marry? It seemed impossible that a man of the substantial worth of Bruxton Sands could entertain a dishonest thought. It seemed equally as unlikely that Griswold would waste time in so perilous a hazard.

"Object matrimony," was the keynote to all Griswold's pursuit of the widow. Britz did not believe the clubman was in love with her in the right sense and, cautious though he was about attributing motives, he could not credit Griswold with disinterested impulses. Open though his mind was to the reception of incontrovertible facts, he was unwilling to arraign Sands as either a hypocrite or a thief. The very word thief seemed incongruous in connection with the millionaire, no matter how large the prize. Sands might not be able to buy as many stones like the Maharanee diamond as the wealthy widow, for where he counted his fortune in seven figures she could count hers in eight or nine. Nor was there the nth quantity—the possibility that Sands had stolen the jewel in the collector's lust of possession. Sands was not a collector; not at any rate, in the sense of being a faddist, to say nothing of a monomaniac.

Every detail in the millionaire's suite in the St. Baranbas and of his private room in the Bowling Green office was known to Britz even more minutely than to the owner. That had been among the early activities of the sleuth in connection with the case. He was able to assure himself, therefore, that no matter how much Sands might admire the Maharanee diamond, especially when it encircled the white throat of the wealthy widow, it would be nonsensical to suppose this admiration could descend to covetousness. Clearly, Britz was in some sort of blind alley. He was not, however, prepared to retire from a cul-de-sac without convincing himself that there was no outlet save that by which he had entered. For that reason he was bending his steps toward Sands' apartment in quest of an explanation rather than of evidence.

As the two men left their offices almost to the minute, Britz, many blocks ahead of Sands, had arrived at the St. Baranbas before the millionaire turned the Grace Church bend in Broadway. Sands's man, when the detective announced he was there for an important talk with the millionaire, admitted Britz readily to Sands's suite.

Britz, sitting in a great leather armchair in an attitude of sybaritic ease, chose a panatela from his pocket case, and then, with his eyes fixed on the ceiling and his hands clasped at the back of his neck, he gave himself up to as many moments of uninterrupted thought as the non-arrival of the unconscious host would permit. He had reached a point in his meditations that for an instant seemed to open a way for an explanation, for which he had come to see Sands, when a faint rustling in the adjoining room reached his acute ear. He did not move by the breadth of a hair. He did not check his regular breathing, knowing full well that a sudden silence is as often an effective warning as a sudden noise. His hands still locked behind his head, the smoke of his cigar curling upward without pause, he turned his eyes toward the direction of the sounds in the adjoining room whence the rustling came.

A ribbon of subdued light between portieres of Moorish leather gave passage to his glance. He saw a shadow flutter at a far window and, in the next instant, rapidly and noiselessly, he had slid out of the armchair until he was on his knees on the rug behind the shelter of a library table piled high with books. Inch by inch, soundlessly, Britz lifted one knee till he was close to the portières. Britz was too good a sleuth to make the mistake of looking between the portières to get a glimpse of the inner room. It was no part of his programme to be seen by Sands's other visitor, or visitors. He felt justified in giving way to his curiosity because it might be as much to the millionaire's interests as to his own to say nothing of Mrs. Missioner's, and that of the public. In fact, the Headquarters man did not waste much time in such reflections. He wanted to see and hear what was going on, and he took the readiest means of doing so. Instead of risking the danger of being seen by peeping between the parting in the portières, he pierced with his scarf pin a tiny hole in the leather curtain behind which he stood and applying one eye closely, he could see the whole inner room. It was the millionaire's bedroom, and he commanded everything except the angle in which was set the window where he had glimpsed the shadow.

WOULD FIGHT INVADER.

Ex-President Diaz of Mexico Hopes for Peace.

BIARRITZ, France, Aug. 15.—(Can. Press.)—General Porfirio Diaz, former President of Mexico, in a statement tonight, said that he did not desire to sit in judgment on the situation existing in his native country, but that he would like to proclaim as his most ardent hope that Mexico soon would find in peace a new era of strength and prosperity.

"Besides, I am not a man of words," said the former Mexican executive. "I always have been, and always shall remain, a man of action. I bow before the choice of administration made by my compatriots, and am resolved to maintain the strictest reserve. No words shall be spoken by me which might give rise to comment or argument between the armies in Mexico. I wish to keep outside of all discussions or dissensions. But if, contrary to my expectations, a conflict should break out between Mexico and a foreign state, I could not remain indifferent."

Tribesmen Demand Changes.

VIENNA, Aug. 15.—(Can. Press.)—The Malissori tribesmen in Albania have threatened to declare war against Montenegro unless the new Albanian frontier, which was arranged by the ambassadorial conference in London, is modified. A number of the Malissori chiefs have presented a protest to this effect to the British admiral off the coast, and to the Austrian and Italian consuls, according to advices received here from Scutari.

Three Cars Run Away.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 15.—(Special.) Three cars which broke from a Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto railway freight train near Thorold early this evening and went down grade, gathering great speed, collided with three cars of cement that were being pushed in the opposite direction through St. Catharines by the electric engine. The engine is a total wreck, and all the cars except two are badly smashed.

One car was thrown from the track and struck the house of John Taylor of Westchester avenue, several boards of which were torn off, and bags of cement thrown promiscuously about the yard. The crew saw the danger in sufficient time to jump. No one was injured, but it seems almost miraculous that the runaway cars did not meet a passenger car.

DAIRY TEST AT THE FAIR

Four Classes With Three Prizes for Each Class

The members of the Cow Testing Associations of the Peterborough Centre will no doubt be pleased to learn that a Dairy Test or milking competition will be held at the exhibition here, in September, and from reports received all the classes should be well filled.

The value of the Dairy Test cannot be over estimated, as it is a means for the farmer to demonstrate to the public the value of his herd and also a means for the public to learn where superior stock can be purchased. It is also an education for the boys or young farmers to bring their cows and enter in a competition of this kind, as they have the opportunity to meet other men and learn something about their method of feeding and handling cows.

There will be four classes: pure breds under 3 years; pure breds, 3 years or over; grades under 3 years grades 3 years or over. There will be 3 prizes in each class, as follows: 1st. prize $6; 2nd. prize $1: 3rc. prize $2.

An officer of the Dairy Commissioners' staff will be in charge of the test, and anyone wishing to enter animals should secure a copy of the prize list, containing the rules from the secretary, at once.

It is to be hoped that a large number of the young men will enter animals in this test.

FORTY THOUSAND MEN REQUIRED

Farm Laborers' Excursions—This Year's Wheat Crop Will Be the Largest in the History of Canada.

The wheat crop of 1913 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East to recruit and assist in harin harvesting the World's greatest bread basket.

The Governments of the respective Provinces state that forty thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. These will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which Company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making specarrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a day shorter than any other route.

PETERBORO' HEALTH ASS'N

Reliable statistics prove that throughout the civilized world one death in every six or seven is caused by tuberculosis in one form or other. This means that unless we can make headway against this disease more than one million of the people now living in Canada will die of tuberculosis. To make this fact more concrete of the people now living in Peterborough over 1,000 will die of tuberculosis if the average throughout the civilized world is maintained in Peterborough. A very large proportion of these will die between the ages of 20 and 45 years.

A striking lesson as to the economic influence of this disease is taught by the experience of the Life Insurance Companies. One of the largest of the old line companies reports for the years 1906-07-08 an average of 13.22 per cent of deaths from tuberculosis among its policy holders, and we should remember that these all passed a satisfactory medical examination before being insured.

Another large company shows an average rate for 12 years of over 21 per cent. A third company doing a large industrial business found during the year 1907 that 18.29 per cent of deaths of males and 15.82 per cent. of deaths of females insured by it were from tuberculosis.

CATECHISM.

Question 3.——What is the cause of this disease?

Answer.—It is due to the presence of tiny germs or bacilli, visible only by the microscope, which as they grow and multiply, tend to destroy the affected parts of the body.

Question 4.—How large are these germs of tuberculosis?

Answer.—They are so small that 400,000,000 placed side by side would be required to cover one square inch.

The Peterborough Health Association has two nurses employed in tuberculosis and district work. Ask your physician about them.

AN APPRECIATION OF THE G.T. PACIFIC

Mr. Herbert B Ames, M.P., of the G. T Pacific St. Antoine Division, Montreal, who accompanied Major Leonard of the Transcontinental Commission on a tour of inspection over the National Transcontinental Railway as far west as Graham where the Lake Superior Branch of the Grand Trunk Pacific joins the main line, states, "That the decision to build a first-class road with a four-tenths grade against east-bound freight and six-tenths against west-bound, has been rigidly adhered to west of Cochrane at least, and that he found a well-built railroad in every respect. By the time the railroad is out of the hands of the Contractors, there will be few better lines in the country than the Transcontinental Railway." Referring to the great clay belt in Northern Ontario through which the Grand Trunk Pacific traverses, Mr. Ames stated, "That it seems to be the same kind of land upon which so many French Canadians, and others have settled and become so prosperous throughout New Ontario."

Turkish Troops Advance.

SOFIA, Aug. 17.—The government today presented a note to the foreign legations here protesting that the Turkish troops have advanced to a point 45 miles west of the Maritza River and are marching toward Kirjali and Gumuljina.

Religion In India.

As an example of the triumph of religious ecstasy over bodily torment it would be hard to beat the following story:

In the central provinces of India an illiterate peasant named Lachman abandoned field labor for the ascetic life. One morning he appeared before the head priest of a temple where he was accustomed to worship, saying that he had cut off his left hand as an offering to the god. Evidence of the truth of his assertion was there in the stump of the arm, which was bleeding profusely. A ligature was applied, the police were informed and Lachman was taken to the dispensary where the civil surgeon operated.

The hand had apparently been hacked off by three rough strokes. The man said he felt no pain and feared no harm; Rama would look after him for the rest of his days. He refused chloroform for the operation; he was sure it would cause no pain, for he had felt none when he cut off the hand. He remained quiet and looked on calmly while the civil surgeon was at work, and similarly during a second operation, rendered necessary by the hemorrhage. On the following morning he appeared pleased and cheerful, declined to attend daily for dressing, and departed on his way in serene confidence.

Obliging Him.

Arthur Roberts, the famous English comedian, like most celebrities of the stage, was from time to time pestered by would-be actors who had an idea that they were born geniuses. One young man was particularly persistent in his attempts to see Mr. Roberts, and wrote him frequently asking for advice as to how he could get on the stage.

Mr. Roberts politely advised him to give up the idea, but the young man would not do so, and began haunting the stage-door of the theatre, until at last the comedian could stand it no longer. The aspirant was invited in one evening, and Mr. Roberts met him on the stage after the fall of the curtain.

"You are the gentleman who wants to know how to get on the stage?" he said. "Well, isn't it simple? Isn't it easy? You're on it now! No, not a word of thanks! I'm delighted, I'm sure! You'll find it just as easy to get off. Good night."

After that he was left in peace.

Would Exile Hard Criminals.

The question of exiling habitual or professional criminals is being agitated in England. The Prison Commissioners in their latest report state that the proportion of persons having previous convictions has, in the last few years, risen from 78 to 87 per cent.

There are now, it is estimated by W. S. Lilly, considerably more than 20,000 habitual or professional criminals in London.

"The only way of dealing with these habitual criminals," says Mr. Lilly, "is to expel them from the community against which they wage incessant war. A third conviction should cause the prisoners to be deported to some island and reduced to a state of industrial serfdom, in which they could earn their living."

Woman's World

Mrs. Harriet Johnston Wood Wants to Be Judge.

MRS. HARRIET JOHNSTON WOOD.

Mrs. Harriet Johnston Wood, a practicing lawyer of New York city, is seeking appointment as judge in the children's court. In a recent interview Mrs. Wood said: "There is a movement inaugurated by the clubwomen of New York city to have a law passed making the appointment of women mandatory in this court.

"The understanding of children is instinctive with women, and such knowledge as they are not born with they acquire through experience. What man can compare his judgment in a case affecting the welfare of a child with that of a woman?"

According to the annual report of the court of special sessions for the year 1912, 13,422 children were charged with juvenile delinquency and arraigned in the special proceedings in the children's courts. Of these the majority were boys. The report shows further that most of the girls who were brought before the court during that period were from fourteen to sixteen years of age.

Horse Trot and Fish Walk Now.

Vale the turkey trot and the tango. Society is a-weary of these much discussed dances, and, having lost favor, the trot and the tango are on the road to the realm of the forgotten.

The "horse trot" and the still newer "fish walk" are the prime favorites of the present moment, and earnest seekers after the latest approved novelty are putting themselves through both paces. Both dances originated in Washington, the horse trot more than a year ago and the fish walk within the last few months.

The horse trot is a livelier dance than either the tango or the turkey trot and is entirely devoid of the characteristics which brought upon the two one time favorites the thunders of the clergy and the nondancing laity. In this newest trot the partners face each other and the man places his right hand in the center of his partner's back, holding her at arm's length and at one side. He looks over her right shoulder and she directs her gaze over his right shoulder. The dance starts with a running step of eight counts, the man going forward. The dancers then proceed to trot back eight steps, the woman advancing, after which alternately they trot eight steps to the right and eight to the left before they sidestep sixteen counts, turning to the right for eight counts and to the left for eight. A trot forward and back for eight counts each before coming to a balance step of sixteen counts completes the dance.

The horse trot and fish walk are primarily dances for young men and women. They are dashed at a lively tempo in two-four measure, and fatty degeneration of the heart or an impaired breathing apparatus is entirely out of place when the new dance tunes start. The fish walk, the intricacies of which are now engaging the energies of dancing at the national capital, starts with a skipping step, the man going forward sixteen counts and retreating sixteen counts. The partners then take four sliding steps to the right and four to the left to compete the dances.

The fish walk is danced entirely on the toes, the body is moved only from the waist downward, the head is held high, and the tempo is pitched at a lively gait. The music runs along to a straight simple tune, gay and cheery, with little of the syncopation which has distinguished the dance music of the last few years.

WESTERN CANADA'S BUMPER WHEAT CROP

Thousands of Men Required—This Year's Harvest Promises to be the Largest in the History of Canada

According to present indications the wheat crop of 1913 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East to assist in harvesting the world's bread basket.

The Governments of the respective Provinces state that many thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. These will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which Company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a day shorter than any other route. Dates, rates and conditions will be announced in a few days. eod

PETES HOME ALL WEEK; LONDON AND BERLIN HERE

The Petes returned home Sunday morning after one of the hardest series of the season at Ottawa, where they landed but one of the three games. But the locals put up a great defence according to the reports from the Capital City. The Ottawa Free Press says:

"Shortstop Brant pulled off some big league stuff that kept the home team in check. In the third Kane, the first man up singled sharply to left. Bullock slammed one between short and third which Brant speared with one hand, and while off his balance, made a perfect peg to second, forcing Kane. He also cut across second, and snatched Sh[illegible] drive, letting the put out at first."

This afternoon a series with London was opened. Berlin will be here for the last three days and after this week the Petes will be seen here for but one more series, that with Hamilton.

In Search of Simplicity

And Found More Than She Had Expected.

By CONSTANCE D'ARCY MACKAY.

It was a clear October day. Fifth avenue was radiant with sunshine. Mrs. St. Aubyn, standing at the French window of her pretty little breakfast room, noted the blueness of the sky and the bright color of some autumn leaves that drifted by on a puff of wind.

Below in the street a girl walked briskly, her cheeks glowing from the keen touch of the air. A newsboy whistled blithely as he loitered on the corner. An old woman passed, a basket on her arm. It was filled with apples, rosy and fresh looking as if they had just been shaken from the trees or gathered from the frost starred grass of an orchard. An orchard! Mrs. St. Aubyn smiled. How long was it since she had roamed in one? Twenty years at least, for Mrs. St. Aubyn was thirty-seven.

Twenty years of dinners and teas and dances, of summers passed at Newport and winters spent in idle flittings from Paris to London and from London home again! Luxury had smoothed Mrs. St. Aubyn's path, and time had touched her lightly. Her figure was as slender and supple as a girl's, and there were those of her acquaintance caustic enough to say that during the period of her mourning she had prolonged the wearing of widow's weeds because black set off her amber colored hair and dazzling complexion—a clear rose and white that still defied the aid of cosmetics.

"An orchard!" repeated Mrs. St. Aubyn, looking after the old apple woman, who had hobbled to the crossing. "I wore my hair in a braid then, I remember, and a big frilled sunbonnet. How fresh and wonderful the world seemed in those days! It's so long ago that I've almost forgotten what rusticity is like. And yet"—

She paused. A sudden longing for the country took possession of her—for the real country, where no smart, high seated traps met the incoming train, where roads wound between fields, not lawns, and where the air was full of autumn scents and sounds, the smell of earth and withered grass, the rustle of dry leaves underfoot. She turned abruptly from the window and with a swiftness that denoted decision crossed the room and rang the bell.

Prompt as a trapdoor fairy Antoinette appeared.

"I am not going shopping, after all," said Mrs. St. Aubyn. "And you may telephone to the dressmaker that I can't keep my appointment for this afternoon."

Antoinette opened her brown eyes wide in astonishment. She would have opened them still wider an hour later had she seen Mrs. St. Aubyn seated in a car whose general dinginess proclaimed its acquaintance with obscure places off the general line of travel. Instead of well groomed commuters and their wives there were men whose clothes were a bit rusty and women whose bulky satchels and bags bore witness that they had been to spend a week with daughter in the city. Wide eyed children clung tenaciously to dolls and bananas, crying babies were vehemently urged to "look out the window at grandpa," and when the train began to move goodbys were said with an abandon which half amused, half stirred Mrs. St. Aubyn. In her world repression was the law of life. It was long since she had been in touch with the simple, homely things of existence.

"To think that this actually occurs in New York!" she murmured to herself and then laughed a little guiltily, for under her monogrammed morocco bag there reposed a neat brown paper parcel containing chicken sandwiches and a bottle of olives that she had paused to buy at the station in the breathlessness of her flight. Bought at the station! With what horrified shruggings would Antoinette have protested had she known, and with what ejaculations would she have complained against the crowded stuffiness of the train!

"Fairview!" called the conductor.

Mrs. St. Aubyn looked at her time table. Four stations more!

It was noon when she stepped out at Meadowbank. The narrow platform was deserted save for a young telegraph operator, who looked appreciatively at Mrs. St. Aubyn's tailor made costume of gray and violet and inquired if she would like a team. She shook her head. She would rather walk. How well she knew the road! And how little it had changed! She followed it by a cluster of trim fenced houses, past the general store and on to where the fields widened and stretched away to hills whose summits were a misty blue. Blackberry vines, rusty with fall, tangled at the roadside, and here and there asters glowed like a purple flame. At the far edge of the village outskirts she came to a rambling white house. Grass grew knee deep in its yard. Its windows were shuttered. Its door bore a placard, "For Sale." Over its porch the bare tendrils of a honeysuckle vine stirred with every passing wind. By a path still faintly discernible through a network of weeds Mrs. St. Aubyn took her way to the orchard. There she came upon a sight which held her stock still with amazement.

"Jimmy," cried Mrs. St. Aubyn, "what in the world are you doing here?"

Jimmy Vanringcourt forsook the apple for which he had been reaching and colored to the roots of his iron gray hair. Then he came forward.

"My dear Helene," he exclaimed, "who ever would have thought of seeing you?"

"I came by the noon train," said Mrs. St. Aubyn.

"Ah! And I by the one before it. Hasn't changed much, has it," he continued, nodding toward the old house, "except that the grass is ragged? It looks just the same as that summer you spent here with your aunt. Have you ever been back here since?"

"Never," said Mrs. St. Aubyn, flushing.

"Nor I. Strange, isn't it, that we should meet? What prompted you to come today?"

"Oh, I don't know. I think the social merry-go-round has begun to pall. I got so tired of people and things, and I wanted to get away from them."

There was a moment's silence. The wind stirred the fallen leaves with a soft rustle, and a bit of thistledown floated lazily by.

"I thought," said Mrs. St. Aubyn presently, "that you were in Europe."

"So I have been for the last six months. I got back yesterday. And this morning I had the strangest longing to see this old place, and so I came."

"Two worldlings in Arcady," laughed Mrs. St. Aubyn, "and hunger reminds me that I have brought a lunch."

"Good!" He spread his coat out on the grass. "Will you sit here? And if you don't mind waiting a bit I'll go to the village and skirmish for a kettle and some tea."

"And two teacups would be an adjunct also."

"I'll try," said Vanringcourt.

They lunched in gypsy fashion, the kettle singing over a fire of twigs, while the glow of midday softened into the long light of afternoon.

"A mellow light to see visions by," observed Vanringcourt.

"Visions!"

"All day I've been longing for a glimpse of a girl that I used to know. She used to wear a pink linen gown and her hair in a braid and carry a frilled sunbonnet on her arm. The last time I saw her this orchard was all in bloom, and she promised to love me for ever and ever, and in token of that we exchanged rings made of grass."

"My dear Jimmy," protested Mrs. St. Aubyn.

Vanringcourt fumbled in his pocket.

"There it is," he said, smiling whimsically.

"How absurd," said Mrs. St. Aubyn, but her voice trembled.

"Yes, isn't it—to cherish that little bit of dried grass as I've cherished nothing else on earth, although the girl that gave it to me decided six months later that love in a cottage was only another name for folly and that money and position were what counted most? For, you see, in the meantime, like the fairy godmother in the nursery tale, a rich relative had come and whirled her away to town, and when next I saw her the wild rose had become an American Beauty, the greatest success of a brilliant social season. Voila tout!"

"But you"—

"Oh, yes, I know. I've had success too. I've gained it. I'm counted fortunate as the run of men go, yet the thing I've wanted most I've never had. Nothing else every really mattered except the girl I knew in this orchard. All my life and all my heart have been empty because of her."

"It was spring then, and it is autumn now."

"The glory of the year," said Vanringcourt.

"But in these last few months you've never even written to me, you've never said you remembered or—or cared."

"I waited till the moment came when you found things empty, as you have found them today, till you knew that your golden apples were only Dead sea fruit. You refused the boy's love that was offered you in the springtime. Will you take the man's love that I offer you now, Helene?"

"Oh, Jimmy!" she began, and then her eyes brimmed and speech failed her, but she reached out her hands to him with an adorable gesture, and as he kissed her a late bird poising on a bough above their heads burst suddenly into song.

Preferred the Operation.

Doctor (after thoroughly examining patient)—I'm sorry, Mr. Gaybird, but I'm afraid I'll have to operate on you. Gaybird—Good heavens, doctor! Is it absolutely necessary? ### Trifle Over 97 Degrees Was Recorded on Saturday

All heat records for this summer have been broken during the last couple of days. on Saturday the heat was most intense, and the sun beat down from an unclouded sky on sweltering humanity. Early in the morning the mercury began to rise, and at noon had reached 94 degrees in the shade. High as these figures are they were exceeded at about 2.30 p.m., when the thermometer recorded a trifle over 97 degrees. These are the official figures and are correct. In the evening there was every prospect of a severe thunderstorm, but it proved to be but of minor importance. Rain fell quite heavily in some sections, and but little in others. Sunday was another very hot day and was almost as bad as Saturday. Highest temperature during the day was 95 degrees—W. P.

To-day at noon the thermometer registered 94 degrees.

They had just returned to the station when an alarm came in summoning them to a fire at the residence of Mr. T. L. Anderson, 561 Water street. It proved to be a chimney fire and there was no damage.

No change is reported in the condition of Ernest Young, the lad who was hurt at the English Canoe Company a week ago Saturday morning. He is still unconscious.

Expensive Evening Gowns

are not matters of every-day purchase, and therefore even the independently wealthy like to take the greatest care of them. Yet sometimes the functions of a single evening will ruin their appearance temporarily. We can remedy this, however, by our system of careful cleaning, and in any case we can dye the garment and make it like a new one.

CONTINUATION CLASSES AT ST. PETER'S SCHOOL

During the past few weeks alterations have been going on at St. Peter's school for the purpose of supplying room for a fifth book, which is known in educational circles as a continuation class. The idea of this is that the Department of Education felt that the children were entering the Collegiate Institute at too tender an age. In the continuation classes these children are under the tutelage of the school teacher for two years after they pass.

These continuation classes were first established in the Public Schools of Toronto, and they were such a decided success from the very first, that their establishment is quite general throughout Ontario.

The Department of Education sets forth the course of studies and requirements for these classes and it is understood that the department regulations will be carried out in the present instance.

McALPINE MURDERED BY UNKNOWN

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 18.—(Can Press)—Murder was the verdict returned late today by the coroner's jury, which investigated the death of John McAlpine, Duluth's wealthy lumberman, found shot to death in the basement of his palatial east end home last Friday.

The jury found that death was caused by a gunshot wound in the head, the weapon being in the hands of a person unknown. The next official body to take up the mystery probably will be the grand jury, which meets in September.

McAlpine was found dead in his home about 3 o'clock in the morning of August 15 by his stepson, Dale McAlpine. He had testified that when he first went into the basement, he did not see the revolver, which was later found a short distance from the body. Others in the house were the wife of the deceased, Mrs. Dale McAlpine, and Miss Margaret Bergen, the maid. All declare they heard no shot fired.

RESTORED TE PARENTS

Young Man Was Stolen by Gypsies Seventeen Years Ago.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(Can. Press.)—Word reached here today that Frederick Brosseau, aged 24, who was kidnapped by gypsies 17 years ago, has been restored to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Brosseau of Sissonville, St. Lawrence County, N. Y. They had long mourned him dead.

On Oct. 14, 1896, when but 7 years of age, young Brosseau left home to meet his father at the edge of the village. That was the last seen of the boy in Sissonville.

About a week ago a young man deserted from a band of gypsies in the Canadian wilds and took refuge with the monks of Oka. He could remember nothing of his history previous to becoming a member of the band, other than he had been called Frank and that his former home was in northern New York.

The presence of the wanderer was reported to the Montreal police, and an aunt of the young man recognized his picture in a newspaper. The parents were notified and went to Montreal, where they positively identified Brosseau by a birthmark. He is being detained by the police as a witness against some of the gypsies, who are under arrest, charged with diknapping.

Assassin Failed.

VIENNA, Aug. 18.—When Baron Skerlez, Ban of Croatia (ban meaning royal commission or governor), was leaving church at Agram today at the close of a High Mass in celebration of the Austrian Emperor's birthday, a youth leaped past the ban's guards and fired point blank at him, but Baron Skerlez escaped with a slight flesh wound in the arm.

Liner Strikes Rock Off Alaskan Coast and Founders Within Few Minutes.

Canadian Press Despatch

SEATTLE, Aug. 19 — There were seventy-six passengers on steamer State of California wrecked in Gambier Bay according to the owners' books, of whom forty-three were rescued by the steamer Jefferson. Seven of the crew also perished leaving the death list at forty. D. C. Perkins, a wireless operator, who was among the lost, was a son of a wealthy Sanfrancisco family. He took up the study of wireless because of the opportunities offered for adventure and seeing the world.

JUNEAU, Alaska, Aug. 18.—(Can Press).—Twenty-five or more passengers and seven members of the crew of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company's steamer, State of California perished Sunday morning in Cambier Bay, 90 miles south of Juneau, when the vessel struck an uncharted rock and sank in three minutes with many passengers imprisoned in ther staterooms. The steamship left Seattle last Wednesday night for Skagway and way points. The purser lost all his records and it is not possible to give a complete list of the missing.

Following is a list of the dead whose bodies have been recovered:

Mrs. A. Birnbaum, Miss Lillian Ward, daughter of Edward C. Ward assistant manager of the Pacific Coast Steamship Co., died after being taken off a life raft; Mrs. Stella Reardan, Mrs. Clara Vanderlass Mrs. Nellie B. Ward, mother of Miss Ward; four unidentified women.

The Missing.

Following is a partial list of the missing, who are believed to have perished:

Miss Anne L. Cassidy, Miss May Dixon, W. A. Dyer, Blanche Frick, Minette Harlan, Leslie Hobro, manager of the Pacific Coast Steamship Co.'s office in San Francisco; J. Holman, Miss Alice Johnson, Lillian B Norman, Nick Pittulas, Miss Reardan, Mrs. C. E. Spithill and child, Ben A. Wade, Miss Wilson.

The survivors, crew and passengers, are being taken to Seattle on the steamer Jefferson, and will arrive there Thursday.

A great hole was torn in the bottom of the State of California. The vessel and cargo, mail and express are a total loss.

The ship was valued at $400,000. The steamship Jefferson of the Alaska Steamship Line, southbound, heard the wireless call of the sinking vessel and turned back to rescue the survivors, who had taken to small boats and life rafts. Ten of the passengers had suffered so severely from exposure that it was necessary to take them to a hospital in Juneau for treatment.

The State of California, an iron steamship of 2276 gross tons, was built at Philadelphia in 1879 and carried a crew of 75 men. For many years she had carried passengers between Puget Sound and San Francisco.

The wrecked vessel was commanded by Capt. Thomas H. Cann, Jr., who had command of the steamship Valencia on her last trip from Seattle to SanFrancisco, and who was transferred to another steamer when the Valencia reached that port, thus barely missing being on that ship when she went ashore at Cape Beale, B.C., Jan. 22, 1906, with a loss of 117 lives.

The State of California was goingg at full speed when she struck the reef, and a great portion of the ship's bottom was torn off, letting in a flood of water which quickly engulfed the boat. Most of the passengers and members of the crew who perished were in their staterooms, and there was no time to get them out before the boat went down.

The crew numbered 52 men. Captain Cann and 40 men are on the Jefferson, returning to Seattle; seven perished and First Officer Abernathy and three men are standing by the wreck. The ship is sunk in deep water, and there is no hope of salvage. The Jefferson was only a short distance away when she picked up the S.O.S. call, and when she arrived at the scene of the disaster the survivors were in the lifeboats and on life rafts. It was broad daylight. There is no possibility that any of the missing reached shore.

Gambier Bay is accounted by mariners as one of the most dangerous stretches of water in Alaska. The bay had never been navigated by large vessels until last year, and it is said it has never been officially surveyed. There is a reef that must be skirted for a long distance, and big boats have very little room in which to turn.

Hunger Striker Rejected.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Provincial Bailiff Jack Ryan, accompanied with prisoners from London and Stratford, stopped off here this afternoon and took along with him William Johnston, colored, sentenced to six months. He refused, however, to take along Joe Wood, the hunger striker, as he considered him of unsound mind.

Stranded Steamer Free.

ALPENA, Mich., Aug. 18.—(Can. Press) The steamer "Bickerdike," from Montreal, ashore on Middle Island since Saturday night, was released today by her own efforts and two tugs, after some of her package cargo had been lightered. After being released, she was reloaded and proceeded to Ft. William, Ont., damaged but little.

HARRY THAW ELUDES THE POLICE OF CANADA AND U.S.

Officials Hope to Got Him on Charge of Conspiracy.

Canadian Press Despatch

COLEBROOK, N. H., Aug. 19. — Harry Thaw is reported under arrest at Caoticooke, Que. Deputy Sheriff Kelsey, of this town says he recognized Thaw on a train last night and that Thaw admitted his identity. Kelsey says he followed the man to Coaticooke wher he arrested him.

MONTREAL, Aug. 19. (Later) — A long distance phone conversation with police officials at Coaticooke confirms the Colebrook despatch, giving particulars of the arrest of a man said to be Harry Thaw.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(Can. Press) —Sundown tonight marked the 36th hour of Harry K. Thaw's freedom and the police of the United States and Canada had not picked up his trail. They seek him not as the slayer of Stanford White or as an escaped lunatic, but on a warrant issued at Poughkeepsie today, charging him with conspiracy with the aged keeper, Howard Barnum, and the five men who managed the asylum delivery. On such a technicality does New York State base its hope of bringing about the fugitive's return. Both factions of the double-barreled government at Albany have promised rigid investigations and the exertion of every effort to bring about his capture.

Thaw's seclusion today and tonight was absolute. Out of the cloud of rust which swirled in the wake of the black automobile bearing him and his liberators from Matteawan Sunday morning nothing tangible had come except a laconic letter from Thaw himself, assuring his aged mother in New York that he desired rest, and would, in due time, join her at the Thaw country place Elmhurst, at Cresson, Penn. In obedience to this plan, Mrs. Thaw purposes to start for Cresson tomorrow morning. Happy, g[illegible] almost in her joy, Mrse Thaw exhibited the hastily scrawled note from the son whose escapades have cost the family a million, and added that whatever Harry did would meet with her approval.

This, in view of his announced intention of entering Pennsylvania gave basis to the belief that Thaw was preparing to take his case before the courts of that state and, relying on the kink in American laws relative to the insane charged with no crime, to oppose extradition and duplicate in Pennsylvania, if possible the course of John Armstrong Chaloner in Virginia.

It was in anticipation of such a move that the New York authorities caused a warrant to be sworn out at Poughkeepsie. Conspiracy, according to the district attorney of Dutchess county, constitutes an extraditable offense.

Close associates of the family indicated tonight that the groundwork of a legal fight in Pennsylvania had already been laid. Dr. Britton D. Evans, the alienist who testified in Thaw's behalf at the murder trials, held a telephone conference with Mrs Thaw this afternoon, and it was said he would accompany her to Pennsylvania tomorrow. There are to be conferences with counsel, and meantime, it is understood Thaw is to remain in hiding.

Figuratively as well as literally Thaw left behind him only a cloud of Dutchess county dust. Rumors of his passage, descriptions of [illegible] automobiles, tales of yacht boarding tugs in Long Island Sound, speckle the day's news. The yacht Endymion of George Lauder, jr., a distant relative of the Thaws by marriage found mention in the crop of rumors. After having left Vineyard Haven, Mass., the craft was reported a cruising somewhere in the Sound possibly not far from South Norwalk Conn., repeatedly mentioned as an objective point for Thaw had he cared to take to sea. Enquiry at the New York Yacht Club disclosed that the Endymion was a slow boat and attaches there scouted the idea that Thaw would have gone aboard.

While there was nothing to support the theory that Thaw had taken to the seas, this seemed to those who have followed the case to be the likeliest course. Leaving Matteawan only two routes to double back into New York State lay open to him. One lay north by land to Canada then southwest along the border of the great lakes and across Lake Erie to a north-jutting point of Pennsylvania. The other is the water route Aboard ship in the Sound Thaw could bide his time in comparative safety and make his way to Philadelphia via Delaware Bay and the Delaware River.

In view of the fact that entrance into Canada might mean a clash with the immigration authorities there the theory was advanced that Thaw's advisers would not have him take any such risk.

Despatches from Ottawa, tho quoting no official, said that if Thaw halted within the Dominion he might be deported as an undesirable alien, altho if he had a thru ticket to Europe there would be no halting him. The state authorities at Harrisburg, Pa., indicated that if he came within that state his case would be referred to the attorney general's office provided New York asked for his extradition. The Philadelphia police said they would detain him if New York requested it. Connecticut took the view that he could be held there as an insane fugitive, but Massachusetts officials were inclined to think that nothing short of a criminal charge would warrant his detention in that state.

Second only to the search for Thaw, is that for Richard J. Butler, Roger Thompson, Michael O'Keefe, Eugene Duffy and Thomas Flood the quintet whose muscle and nerve and skill with automobiles did the stop watch work outside the asylum walls. These five did the "rough work".

Who was the brains of the plot—whether Thaw himself or some astute lawyer—will have to be developed later.

The description of Butler tallies closely with that of ex-assemblyman Richard T. Butler, from New York City. Wm. Gordon, proprietor of the little hotel at Fishkill Landing where the five made their headquarters for two days prior to Thaw's escape, identified tonight a photograph of the ex-assemblyman as one of his late guests. The clerk of the hotel bore him out.

In New York trace was found of a Butler of the same initials familiarly known as "Husks" said of late to have operated taxicabs and formerly to have been a longshoreman. Ex-assemblyman Butler is said to have been identified with the longshoremen's union. Mrs Butler said tonight that her husband was absent from home from Friday afternoon until Sunday night last. She did not know where he had gone.

Brave Rescue of Boy.

BRANTFORD, Aug 18.—(Special) —Thos. Harbor was the hero in a rescue in the Grand River on Sunday. He was swimming below Jubilee Terrace when he heard the cries of a boy some distance up the river. He got to the spot, passing two men, who also heard the boy's shouts, and plunged into the rescue of Leo O'Reilly, son of Jas. O'Reilly, proprietor of the American hotel. The boy had gone down the third time and it required a half hour's work by the rescuer to bring him to consciousness. There is a movement on foot to secure Harbor a life-saving medal.

POWERS DEFIED BY TURKS

Canadian Press Despatch

SOFIA, Aug. 19— The Bulgarian Government was informed to-day that the European Powers were considering measures to compel Turkey to respect the treaty of London.

LONDON, [illegible] (Can. Press)—The situation between Bulgaria and Turkey is becoming [illegible]. Prince Said Halim, the Turkish grand vizier, admits that the Turks have occupied [illegible], 25 miles south of Adrianople, and other strategic points on the right bank of the Maritza River, but he explains this was done only for the protection of the railway which runs alongside [illegible]. [illegible] the Turks have [illegible] the terminus of the railroad on the Gulf of Enos, or that [illegible] advance on Gumuljina, about 25 miles to the northwest.

The Porte clearly has not the slightest intention to abandon Adrianople where Enver Bey has 250,000 troops, and where the number soon will be increased to 400,000. Despite official denials, it appears only too probable that the Turks are projecting, if they have not already begun, the advance against Bulgaria. A note of protest against which the Bulgarian Government presented to the foreign legations at Sofia Sunday. This note said the Turks had advanced to a point 45 miles west of the Maritza River, and were marching toward Kirjali and Gumuljina.

SOLDIERS AND POLICE SURROUNDED HALL AND MADE MANY ARRESTS

Meeting of Union Men Was Being Held in Hall at Nanaimo

Canadian Press Despatch

NANAIMO, B.C., Aug. 19.—Surrounding an athletic hall while a meeting of union men was in progress, soldiers and special constables brought off a big coup last night and effected wholesale arrests of leaders in the miners' strike.

The meeting was called to discuss the proposed agreement with the Jingle Pot mine. Once the men were inside the soldiers surrounded the building on all sides and the doors were closed. Then the soldiers took out the men in batches of four or five and escorted them across the street to the court house, and those identified as being participants in the trouble were last Wednesday were put under arrest.

Others were searched, and if not carrying firearms were allowed to go. This proceeded from ten o'clock until well into the morning. As the soldiers held the court house with an armed guard no information was available as to the number arrested but it is believed to be large as only a few passed out of the building after once inside.

BIG RUSH GOING ON.

Prospectors Are Flocking to the Outposts of Alberta.

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 18. (Special) Roused by recent discoveries of rich undeveloped mineral, asphalt, gas and oil resources in various parts of the western provinces, scores of prospectors and experts known in many camps thruout the United States and Canada and Mexico are making exhaustive searches in the Peace River country and other northern districts. Central and Southern Alberta are also being prospected as never before.

The Dominion and provincial governments have their experts in the field, and even some of the northern Indians and halfbreeds, who usually confine their operations to trapping furs, which is no mean industry when it is recalled that pure black fox whelps bring as high as $10,000 a pair in this and outside markets, are using the pick, pan and drill to uncover wealth hidden in the hills, canyons and river beds all over the west.

Boy Nearly Killed.

BRANTFORD, Aug. 18.—(Special) Freddie Guest of Paris had his skull almost completely lifted from its base in an accident at the Penman mills on Saturday. He was caught between a horizontal bar and a descending elevator, but his predicament was noticed by another boy. It is believed that the boy will recover, altho his nose, jaw and skull were broken. He is the son of Edwin Guest, who met death in a shooting accident at Paris a year ago.

HUERTA REJECTS LIND'S PROPOSALS FOR PEACE

Uncertain Rebuff From President of Southern Republic to United States

Canadian Press Despatch

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 19 — John Lind, President Wilson's special representative, had a long conference with provisional president Huerta last night. Though nothing was given out as a result of the meeting it was characterized as cordial, and it has considerably relieved the gravity of the situation. Mexico's ultimatum as reported last night, was apparently not official.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 18.—The United States government has been given until midnight tonight by President Huerta to recognize Mexico, it is officially stated.

The government is not specific in the public announcement as to what course will then be pursued, but it is understood that it means the severing of all relations between the two countries.

Replying today to President Wilson's note, which was recently delivered to the Mexican government thru ex-Governor John Lind, Huerta refuses mediation in the Mexican situation or any similar suggestion made by a foreign government.

Mr. Lind has forwarded Gen. Huerta's answer to Washington and is awaiting a reply.

President Huerta, in his reply told the United States that he would tolerate no interference, even tho that interference might be characterized as friendly mediation. The character of the reply of Washington to President Huerta's note will determine the next action in the international drama.

All those connected with the American embassy refused to admit the receipt of the note, and that it had been sent was not admitted officially by the Mexican Government. At the embassy there was an evident desire to appear optimistic, and one was led to believe that Mr. Lind still hoped for a continuation of the negotiations. Those familiar with the workings of the Mexican administration expressed doubt as to the government again opening the subject for discussion.

Unofficial Note Received.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—President Wilson and Secretary Bryan received unofficial reports from Mexico City tonight that President Huerta, after rejecting the proposals by Mr. Lind, issued an official statement, in which he gave the United States until midnight tonight (Mexican or Central time), to recognize him (Huerta).

The despatches did not indicate what steps Huerta would take if the American Government failed to extend the recognition.

President Wilson and Secretary Bryan, while impressed with the reports, would not accept them as authentic. Both will await official despatches before deciding on any action. The president will not recognize Huerta.

After receiving the despatches, the president and secretary of state on retiring for the night, indicated that nothing would be done by them until tomorrow at the earliest.

SENATOR HENRY D CLAYTON OF ALABAMA.

Henry D. Clayton, member of Congress from the Third District of Alabama, was named by Governor O'Neal as United States Senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Joseph F. Johnston. Mr. Clayton's commission was delivered to him.

Mr. Clayton accepted the appointment and announced that he would leave Montgomery, Ala., for Washington to present his credentials to the Senate. He added that he would not resign his seat in the House until after he settled in the Senate.

FREED AFTER TWENTY-SEVEN LONG YEARS

Life Prisoner at Kingston Penitentiary is Paroled

KINGSTON, Aug. 18. (Special). —John Desrosiers, the oldest inmate of the penitentiary, having been sent here from a western town 27 years ago on a charge of murder, is to be paroled. He is to be handed over into the care of the Salvation Army. Major Fraser of the social and prison branch of army work in the city is to take charge of him. Desrosiers is over 60 years of age.

Major Fraser had an interview with him this morning, and the man was delighted with the news that he was about to get his freedom. He has been in prison so long that all his relations have been lost track of. He says he expects to see a wonderful change in the world after his long stay of over a quarter of a century behind the big walls.

O.R.A. MATCHES OPEN WITH SPLENDID SHOOTING

Bather Electrocuted.

A stream of water running from the bottom of her skirt formed a circuit with a third rail she was stepping over on her way home from her bath. The current knocked her down and threw her against another highly charged third rail. Her bare arms struck against the metal and the electricity killed her instantly.

Miss Wesley was a maid in the household of Mrs. Jennie Henry.

Marksmen were Somewhat at Sea With the New Ammunition.

LONG BRANCH, Aug. 1[illegible]—(Special). With a heavy [illegible] on [illegible] the targets, the [illegible] match [illegible] the Ontario Rifle Association [illegible] opened here this morning under weather conditions anything but favorable to accurate marksman [illegible] of the handicap, however [illegible] at the morning session [illegible] while in the afternoon session [illegible] haze had cleared somewhat, the marksmanship was decidedly of the high-class order.

Considerable comment was indulged in on the new ammunition being tried out for the first time at the match. At first the change in the trajectory had the marksmen all at sea, especially on the shorter ranges, but after the men had got used to it the general opinion was that it was superior to the old kind.

Whether or not the new ammunition was deceptive, Pte. Wm. A. Hawkins the King's prize winner at Bisley, had a poor day, being eliminated from the City of Toronto match in the first stage, in which he finished 102nd, with a score of 63 out of a possible 70, and 16th in the Osler match, scoring 45 out of 50.

Pte Clifford, who also bears the distinction of having won the King's prize, was well up in the Osler match with 48 out of a possible 50, but fell to the 100th mark in the City of Toronto event, with 64 out of a possible 70.

Two Smiths Lead.

Sergt. W. A. Smith and Capt. H. Smith divide first and second prize money in the Osler match, both scoring a possible 50, firing ten rounds at 500 yards.

The best day's score in the first stage of the City of Toronto match was made by Sergt.-Major H. W. Patterson and A. H. Ferguson, both scoring 62 out of a possible 70. The second stage of this event will be shot off today at 600 yards.

In the extra series event, Hawkins shot two possible cards, but on scoring an inner retired.

The surprise of the day was the splendid shooting of the cadets. The Ottawa C. I. Cadet Corps carried off first prize in the militia team prizes in the City of Hamilton contest, winning the Hamilton Centennial Challenge Trophy and $30 with a score of 164. The 91st Highlanders' first team won the second prize of $25 with a score of 149.

First and second in the [illegible] events in the City of Hamilton contests were carried off by [illegible] R. A., 155, and Colborne R. A., 149, respectively.

SELF-GOVERNMENT WHAT IS IT?

The Toronto Star is particularly anxious about Canada retaining its self-government. From that journal's many expressions of fear on the subject one would suppose that self-government was a portable thing which is liable to be stolen by the British Government.

What does the Star mean by self-government? If it is that thing which was granted to Canada by Britain some years ago called "Autonomy," then Canada can rest assured that the British Isles have no desire to resume that burden and responsibility. They have enough to do already preserving our interests on the sea and making our boasted independent self-government possible.

We would like to ask the Star what would Canada's self-government amount to apart from the Empire plus the British Navy?

There are some Canadians who sincerely believe that Canada would get along all right without British protection, that we are a peace-loving, industrious people, and we don't want to quarrel with anybody. Such people are not Canadians, but Arcadians. Anyone who can see over his own fence knows that Arcady is not just here.

Longfellow's 'Evangeline' is a very beautiful picture of Arcady, and the story ends as the story of Canada must end if its people live in a fool's Paradise.

The Star talks about centralization and self-government as if they were antithetical. These two things are already in existance and have worked very well these many years. The question is not "shall Canada be ruled by White Hall?" the fact is she is being ruled by that excellent organization and has thrived under it. The question is, will Canada, since it has come of age, help to keep the Home going? That is the question which made the "Liberal" party pull a wry face, put its hand in its pocket—and keep it there.

A FUTILE SESSION

The British Parliament which closed last week cannot be said to have had a happy ending to its session. The work of the government for the past year has been an attempt at the impossible.

Few Liberals will feel very keen dissappointment at the way things have turned out, for it was a foregone conclusion that at least two, if not three, of the principal measures introduced by the Government would be automatically rejected by the House of Lords.

Of course, the hope of the Home Rulers now, is that the Liberal Government will survive another session in which case the Home Rule Bill, after being passed again by the Commons, will become law without the consent of the Upper Chamber.

It would be more satisfactory for all concerned if, before bringing about so vital a change in the government of the United Kingdom, the Liberal party appealed to the country and got a special mandate for its revolutionary measures.

Home Rule, Welsh Disestablishment, and the "one man one vote" Bill, were very minor and obscure planks in the Liberal platform at the last election and ought to be put to a plain and straight-forward vote of the United Kingdom before they can be said to represent the will of anyone but the Liberal-National parties.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Dr. Torry says that Adam was not the first man, and Mrs. Pankhurst says that Eve was the first suffragette. The world seems to be full of heretics just now. But even Dr. Carmen would admit the assertion of "The Whig," that Eve was the first one to raise Cain.

The police department of Berlin has decided that the horse shall disappear from the Berlin streets, and only motor vehicles shall appear on the thoroughfares of the capital. This is the way things are tending in most large cities. Even the London buss, which is so beloved and so picturesque a nuisance in Fleet Street, is gradually being supplanted by the auto 'buss.

Speaking of London 'busses reminds one that Peterborough has many London people in its population, and at least one ex-London 'buss-driver. He is a rare specimen of the quick witted, glib-tongued, typical Cockney. He does a business on Charlotte street, which is better than buss-driving.

Where Do the Watches Go?

What becomes of the watches? The average man does not buy more than about two or three watches in the course of his whole life, and yet the manufacturers keep on making new watches by the hundred thousands. Who buys them all? No statistics can answer the question. What becomes of the old watches? What did you do with the one you discarded when you got your present watch? Where is it now? It was a silver watch and it kept good time for years—that old watch, that predecessor of the gold one that you now possess. You had a strong affection for it. You called it "she," and sometimes in the solitude of your room you may have caught yourself saying a word or two to it aloud. The watch certainly talked to you in the middle of the night. Heine's watch conjugated Hebrew by the hour. The old watch had a kind of a ringing tick like a riveting machine, and you could hear it clear through the pillow. It has sung you to sleep more than once. But let's see—what in heaven's name became of it?—New York Mail.

Helping a Brother.

Suddenly the man with the chin beard, who was eating his luncheon in a restaurant, reached across the table, touched the button in the lapel of the coat worn by the man directly opposite him and gave him the grip of the secret order to which they both belonged.

"Brother," he said, "I see you're in need, and to live up to my sworn duty I am compelled to"—

"In need!" interrupted the other in wide eyed astonishment. "In need of what?"

"Of somebody to tell you that a knife is not the proper implement to use when you are eating corned beef hash."

By prompt action half a dozen waiters quelled the disturbance that began immediately, but they were too late to prevent the destruction of about $10 worth of tableware.—Cleveland News.

The Case Altered.

An attache of the American embassy at Paris tells the following as illustrative of the sort of sentiment which the French system of marriage de convenance produces:

Clarimonde, a young lady, announces to her parents that she has accepted the hand of M. Blanc.

"Child, you are mad!" exclaims Clarimonde's mother.

"But why, mamma?"

"Young Blanc will have no money for many years, because it all belongs to his grandfather, and after that comes his father, and you will be old before you get at the property."

"But, mamma"—

"No buts about it. You are a bad and undutiful child!"

"But, mamma, it is the grandfather whom I have accepted!"

"The grandfather! Oh, you little angel!"—Lippincott's.

QUEER OLD REMEDIES.

Charms and Amulets Are Still Popular In England.

Quaint remedies for all manners of troubles and diseases declared by peasants in all parts of England to be most efficacious were described by Mr. E. Lovett in a fascinating lecture at a meeting of the Folk-Lore Society at the University College at Gower street, London recently. Charms and amulets, relics of mediaeval superstition, still exist, it appears, in many of these counties which are washed by the North Sea. They are, however, gradually dying out, but while they exist they provide a splendid field for research. Mr. Lovett brought with him about twenty or thirty neat little glass boxes, each of which contained an object about which a wonderful story could be told.

Old keys are regarded as powerful charms throughout East Anglia, and although Mr. Lovett offered 5s for an example with a piece of white bone attached, which he saw in the keyhole of a barn, so great was the belief of the country people in its power that the rustic at once refused the offer. Great reverence is also felt for stones with holes in them. Round about Thetford they are hung by a piece of string to the cottage doors as a preventive against the visit of witches or the devil.

For cramp it is averred that the one satisfactory cure is the skin of an eel, while at Brandon, when one is afflicted with rheumatism, immediate recourse is had to the simple expedient of tying up a potato in a cloth and carrying it about in one's pocket.

The Norfolk peasants always regard pointed flints as thunderbolts. So consistent are the simple folks that they will often assure you that they picked them up red-hot. They carry flints and stone arrowheads about with them in the belief that this custom will prevent them from being struck by lightning.

Round about Flamborough Head "witch cakes" are to be met with in almost every cottage. These are circular shaped with a hole in the middle and with spikes projecting on all sides. If you hang one up in your cottage and once a year burn it and replace it with another you will have good luck, we are told. At Scarborough there lives an old fisherman who is supposed to possess a special faculty for curing rheumatism. He sells the "patient" a copper bangle and a copper ring. A special feature is that on the ends of the bangle there must be wedged two small bore brass cartridge cases.

The fishermen of Whitby have a special charm against drowning without which they would never venture out of port. It is a little hammer-shaped bone known as "Thor's hammer"—from the head of a sheep. In many parts toothache can apparently be cured by carrying a mole's foot, which in Sussex the same article will surely cure cramp. Two little hearts made of polished amber, with small holes pierced in them, are worn by fishermen in the north as a cure for rheumatism.

In Suffolk a girl always keeps the "second tooth." When she marries and has a child she wraps the tooth up in a dainty little silk bag and suspends it from the infant's neck while teething. It is said to bring instant relief.

Mr. Lovett told of his difficulty in many cases of discovering what good the charm was supposed to accomplish. It often took him weeks of patient endeavor before he could find what he wanted to know, so reticent are the country folks.

In a discussion which followed other members told of wondrous charms and remedies. Amputated limbs are in some cases preserved so that in the next world the crippled person may not be deficient in that respect. In public houses in parts of the east end all pieces of "silver paper" are preserved, moistened with beer, and made up into one large ball. This, hung up, is a preventive against the visits of witches. Thistle heads carried in the pocket also cure toothache.

Women Puff Long Cigars.

When a London woman soothes her nerves now with tobacco, it is not with a cigarette she chooses if she wants to appear quite up-to-date, but a cigar. Pipes are not, however, so much "the vogue" at present as the cigar, and the favorite cigar which women smoke is a long, thin one and costs 50 cents.

A well-known clubwoman said that in both literary and social women's clubs it is no uncommon sight to see women smoking cigars.

"Why don't you smoke a pipe?" men for a long time have been saying as a pet jest to women cigarette smokers, and now women have taken men seriously and copied their "bad example."

Every evening it has been observed that women who are being driven in motor cars or carriages to dinner or the theatre in the West End of London make it a general practice to smoke on the way.

Lions Aid African Farmers.

Though the natives rejoice whenever a lion is killed, intelligent African farmers do not take the same view of the matter, protesting that the lion is really a great help to him, killing as he does other animals which prey on the crops. Last season it is claimed that 350 lions were slain, and this number, it is estimated, would have been responsible for probably 30,000 zebras and antelopes, which destroy valuable crops as fast as the farmer can plant and grow them. The agriculturists declare that if the lions are left unslaughtered for a few years they will so reduce the crop destroyers that farming will yield large profits.

GRANDE LIGNE, QUE., JAN. 2nd. 1910

"My wife was troubled for three years with Eczema on the hands, which made her hands almost useless. The doctor gave her several ointments to use, none of which had any effect. He also advised her to wear rubber gloves (she wore out three pairs).

I persuaded her, as a last resort, to try "Fruit-a-tives". The effect was marvellous. Her hands are now cured. We both attribute our present good health to "Fruit-a-tives"

The Best Detective Story of the Last Ten Years

A slightly more vigorous twist or two of the pin enlarged the microscopical aperture so that he could see even that detail of the interior. Britz almost grunted with satisfaction at what he witnessed in the next few minutes. The shadow man still was at the window, fluttering, flitting to and fro, rising and falling. It crouched outside the window in such a way as showed Britz it was on a fire escape, or a balcony of some sort. The rustling sound increased, and it was followed by a faint "cheep," like a sparrow's call. A second shadow fluttered from a point above the window and melted into the outlines of the first. Then came a slightly rasping sound, and the lower sash, Britz noticed, trembled. By well-nigh imperceptible degrees the sash was lifted. The next instant two men noiselessly lowered themselves to the floor and glanced hastily about the room. Reassured by the swift look they tiptoed along the walls from right to left; one of them stopped at the chiffonier, the other continued his little journey of investigation until he arrived at the portières. Then it was that Britz held his breath. He held it for seconds that seemed tedious as hours, while the nearer of the strange visitors, separated from him only by the thickness of the leather, peered through the parting between the curtains into the library where the detective stood.

Britz had not obtained a good view of the intruder's face, for it was half hidden by a loose fold of the turban upon his head that indicated the stranger's nationality. Britz's eyes still were fixed at the hole, and by that time the stranger was out of his line of vision. Had such not been the case, it is possible that even the imperturbable Britz would have moved at least to the extent of a swift reach to a side pocket in his coat. For it was about as evil a countenance as one could expect to see anywhere, save under the shadows of the gallows. In it rapacity, ferocity, bloodthirstiness, and cruelty of every degree spoke loudly. If that savage face had advanced an inch or two nearer, those snake eyes would have seen the man from Mulberry Street who shrank into himself behind the shelter of the protecting strip of leather. But it did not; and, after a leisurely survey of the interior, the Oriental returned to the other end of the inner room and rejoined his companion.

Hardly had Britz begun to let the air seep out of his lungs, and before he had indulged in the luxury of an intake of breath, when he became an interested spectator in the gentlemanly art of searching a gentleman's room. The Central Office man was no Vidocq. It is doubtful if he had even read Poe's story of "The Missing Letter," and had he done so, it is by no means certain he would have adapted the methods of the French police to metropolitan detective work. Nevertheless, he had flattered himself that he usually made a pretty thorough search for anything he wanted; but what he saw through that tiny pin hole in the leather portiere showed him that he was the veriest tyro in that sort of thing. The two visitors went through the millionaire's furniture and other possessions with a minuteness that would have made a fine-toothed comb look like a garden rake. There could not have remained anything—any nook or corner, any crack or crevice, not anything larger than a bacillus which they happened to covet. If an article no bigger than a pinhead had been the object of their hunt, their untiring scrutiny would have brought it to light. Yet so deftly had they searched that, granting them a minute's respite, they could have left the room with-out any trace of their activity.

Their search seemed fruitless until they arrived at a desk under a hanging incandescent lamp, at which Britz assumed Sands was in the habit of writing his more personal letters. From one of the pigeon-holes, one of the intruders drew something that crackled slightly as the man stuffed it into the folds of his tunic. From a neighboring compartment of the desk the second stranger drew another find, which he in turn hastily hid in the same way. With lightning rapidity they went through every part of the desk. In that same instant Britz felt rather than heard a footstep behind him, and, jerking a glance over his shoulders, saw Sands advancing upon him angrily. With a quick uplift of his hand, the detective stopped the millionaire in his tracks, and then drew him quietly toward the portiere and motioned for him to look through the hole in the leather. Sands bent a little, and then glanced wonderingly into the bedroom. He raised a face of astonished inquiry to Britz. He was answered by another silencing gesture from the sleuth. He looked once more through the tiny hole just in time to see the Hindoos straighten themselves from their crouching attitude over the desk and turn toward the window. His hand thrust itself into his coat pocket, he slipped into the opening in the portieres with a single stride, and, leveling an automatic pistol that looked more like a block of steel than anything else, he cried: "Hands up!"

The men did not turn; instead, they leaped for the window, followed by Britz and Sands. Quick as they were, they were not quick enough for the Headquarters man. Launching his wiry form as a tiger springs, pistol in hand, hurled himself between the foremost Indian and the open window and seized him in his strong grasp. Sands, almost as rapid in his movements in spite of his bulk, flung a powerful arm about the throat of the other intruder, and with his other hand closed the window with a crash.

Britz and Sands dragged their prisoners to the other side of the room and forced them down upon a couch. Then the sleuth, slipping his pistol back into his pocket, seized the Indian Sands was holding by the throat and, more as an order than as a request, asked the millionaire to bind the captives.

"I think I recognize you, my dear young friends," he said. "You are two of the dark jugglers who had fun with me in Central Park and Riverside Drive last evening. I think it's about time for me to return the compliment with a merry little jest of my own." Turning his head to the millionaire, he said again: "If you have any silk handkerchiefs to spare, Mr. Sands, use them as handcuffs. These gentlemen are accustomed to silk, and I would not like to use anything cheaper on them than they used on me. I suppose if we trussed them up with cotton or hemp, they'd die of mortification."

The detective's sarcasm was lost on Sands until he thought to recount in a few brief words his abduction in the park and the struggle for life that had followed it. It was evident that, in spite of the detective's coolness, he had some feeling on the subject. In fact, his manner toward the now cowering Hindoos was more or less revengeful. Sands fell in with the humor of the situation, and in a few minutes the Easterners were bound with silk handkerchiefs as soft, yet strong, as any scarf they could have produced in the bazaars of Calcutta or Cawnpore. When the task was done, and it was done pretty neatly,

Britz relaxed his hold on the half strangling men's throats and pushed them against the back of the sofa until they half sat, half lay there, head to head. Then he stepped back, rested his hands on his hips, and eyed them mockingly.

"You are not very clever," he said, "but anyway, you're a fine-looking body of men. What do you think of yourselves, anyhow? Think you'll cut out this 'second-story' game? Or will you content yourselves with the safer occupation of dips? My private advice to you is to try hencoops for a while. Cut out the big circuit, and go and get a reputation."

How much of his biting irony, if any, the Orientals understood they did not indicate. They only gazed at him in dumb misery, evidently in expectation of an ignoble end. They followed Britz with their joint gaze as he paced up and down the room, both pitifully watchful and manifestly, most wholesomely afraid.

"You saw part of what these chaps were doing, Mr. Sands," said Britz, "but what you saw was only the [illegible] of it. I want to tell you the way they went through this room was amazing. I hope you didn't lose many valuables."

Sands, in his slow way, assured the detective that it was not likely the searchers had found anything he would miss very greatly; but the Headquarters man was not satisfied. The mystery of the proceedings, he was inclined to think, did not begin and end with the Orientals. It was possible, of course, they had searched Sands's room simply as a matter of routine in the same way that at the first opportunity they probably would search the home of everyone who might be connected in any way with the Missioner jewel robbery. Yet something stirred uneasily in Britz's mind as he reflected on the possibility that the coming of the Orientals held a deeper significance. What if they had reason to believe they would surely find what they sought in that room? If Sands did not know there was justification for the search, why did he take it so calmly? It did not seem natural for a man to keep his temper when apartments had been invaded so thoroughly. If the millionaire had expressed any indignation to Britz, would have felt better satisfied. Besides, what was it the Hindoos had taken from Sands's desk? Sands had not seen them take anything, as they were ending their search when he got the first glimpse of them. Britz watched Sands closely to see if the millionaire's eyes would turn anxiously toward that part of his furniture. He almost started when the first move Sands made, after finishing his task of binding the prisoners, was to saunter with a careless air across the room and, in passing, glance swiftly and questioningly into the pigeon-holes whence the thieves had abstracted the mysterious articles that so actively engaged Britz's always active curiosity.

"It's about up to us to do a little searching now, isn't it?" asked Britz. "These bright young men have had their innings, and I believe it's our turn at bat. What do you say, Mr. Sands?"

Sands said nothing. He nodded his head in assent, however, and Britz began a search of the Orientals fully as exhaustive as that they had performed on the room. Before he had gone far in his quest, Sands volunteered assistance, and each explored the folds of the Hindoos' raiment with the clumsiness that might be expected of men not accustomed to that sort of work.

Britz, working more swiftly than the millionaire, made his first find. It was a sheet of notepaper of fashionable size and tint, on which had been written a few lines in a feminine hand. Britz had not the slightest compunction of conscience about reading it. Chivalry was all very well in its way, but it played no part in detective work, especially when the lady most concerned was not present to make a protest. He moved to the centre of the room, and in the light of a cluster of incandescent lamps read aloud to Sands the following enigmatical missive:

"Curtis Dear:—When are you coming up to the hotel? If you do not come or send me a cheque quickly, I shall have to sell some of the jewels. —Millicent."

That was all. Whether that "all" was much or little, Britz, offhand, was not prepared to say. The use of Griswold's given name at the beginning of the note apparently meant a good deal. But who was Millicent? In the course of his probing of the Missioner diamond mystery, Britz had canvassed the complete visiting list of everyone who was in the opera box on the night when the falsity of the Maharanee diamond was discovered. He had had compiled a social register of everyone interested in the case—everyone that Mrs. Missioner, Sands, Griswold, Miss Holcomb, Miss March, and the Swami knew. In all that long roster there was no one named "Millicent." Neither, for that matter, was there a "Mildred." There the signature was, too clear to admit of any mistake. The writing was excellent, and while it did not go to the extreme of the current fashion in chirography, it was what Britz called in his vivid vernacular "classy."

"Ever seen that fist before?" asked the detective as he handed the note to Sands.

Mr. Balfour as Bookman.

Mr. Balfour's absences from the British House of Commons are usually put down to golf or to the gout that so often attacks members in pairs during a tedious debate. But of late he has played truant for graver causes; he is preparing for the press a work on political economy, a continuation and in part a correction of a former volume. There is nothing Mr. Balfour takes so seriously as his written word. He goes further than most authors in conscientiousness. Having rewritten certain portions of his "The Criticism of Beauty," he made known through his publishers, but not exactly on their advice, that any purchaser of the first edition who returned his copy would receive the revised version for nothing. The methods of the member for the city are not according to city standards, exactly pushing — unless, of course, the first edition had risen to a premium!

How to Remove Dandruff.

An excellent dandruff remover is made up of alcohol, resorcin, cincouel, cantharides and quinine.

A shampooer who takes an interest in her work pays as much attention to the removal of the dandruff as she does to cleansing the hair. The dandruff should be loosened from the scalp by massaging the scalp with the finger tips or by the use of a small brush like a nailbrush. The hair should be parted at intervals so that the scaly substances can be easily reached.

Dandruff on a neglected scalp cakes. When this happens there is an irresistible impulse to remove it. Do not do this with the finger nails, as it often causes the blood to flow and may destroy the root of the hair.

Not only does dandruff retard the growth of the hair, but it certainly offends the eye of every one who has any conception of neatness to see the clothing of another covered with these scaly particles. Each of us ought to have sufficient pride about our appearance to endeavor to keep our scalp clean and our clothes immaculate.

Historic Home To Be Sold.

The announcement that the Duke of Northumberland intends to sell Syon House has caused a good deal of surprise in England. The wonderful old mansion has many romantic associations. It was from Syon House that Lady Jane Grey went to claim the throne on the death of Edward VI., and from there, too, that the children of Charles I. were taken to bid farewell to their father prior to his execution.

Ex-reeve Buck of Asphodel Loses One of His Legs

Wm. T. Buck, ex-reeve of Asphodel, was brought to the city yesterday and taken to Nicholls Hospital, suffering from a serious accident which befell him while he was engaged in cutting oats. One of the horses being annoyed by a fly, he stopped the team and thoughtlessly stepped in front of the cutting bar to destroy the fly. The horse was startled, and when it made a leap forward, Mr. Buck's leg was caught in the rapidly moving knives, with the result that the limb was literally sawn off just above the ankle.

Mr. Buck did not realize the seriousness of the accident and started to walk to the to the house, and he actually walked on the stump of the leg one hundred yards or more.

Drs. Sutton and Ford were called and it was decided that Mr. Buck should be taken to Peterborough. He was brought here in Mr. Cuffe's auto, and amputation of the limb was performed this morning.

CONSIDERATION FOR RESIDENTS OF PRINCE AND PRINCESS STREETS

Ald Green gained a point for the residents of Prince and Princess streets, when at the joint meeting of the Aldermen and Board of Water Commissioners last night, he urged that some consideration be made of their position, which finds the residents of Prince street without sewer and water service, and the residents of Princess street with water service but no sewer, the latter paying the regular rates for water.

Ald Green suggested that these people be given an extension of time in the matter of rates, till the sewer service was given.

Mr. T. F. Matthews remarked that his point was well taken and that the Board would consider the same.

It was Mr. Matthews who broached the subject, stating the position of the people of the two streets, and asking what the Council intended to do regarding the sewer.

Mayor Bradburn said that the sewer would not be given this year.

As has been stated before, the residents of Princess street, petitioned for the water service, they having been given to understand that the sewer would be laid. When they were supplied with water, the Council discovered that the sewer could not be given. Romaine street sewer failed to work satisfactorily and it was a case of wait till the new sewage scheme for the south end became an actuality. Some of the residents installed plumbing, but it cannot be made use of.

WATCH FOR REV. MR. LORD

Congregation at St. Stephen's Church Made Presentation

On Sunday morning, Aug 10, the congregation of St. Stephen's church, Chandos, presented Rev. Mr. Lord with a watch and guard, and the following address:

Dear Mr. Lord,—We, the congregation of St. Stephen's Church Chandos, unite on this occasion in an endeavor to show our appreciation of the faithful services you have rendered to us during the past years as our pastor. As we take a glance backward, surely you have done much for us; you have ministered to our spiritual necessities, visited our sick, buried our dead, married our young folk, sympathized with us in our sorrows, made social calls, prayed in our houses, put your shoulder to the wheel in every forward movement. Added to all this you have imparted by precept and example lessons in sound morals and right living. We realize that great services like these are too often unrecognized and too little appreciated and that we need a more generous sympathy between pastor and people. We ask you to accept this watch and guard as a token of our love and esteem, and we sincerely hope that success and enjoyment may accompany you in all your undertakings now, and in the years to come.

Signed on behalf of the congregation.

PHILIP TANNER,
CHARLES R. D. BOOTH,
Churchwardens.

Rev. Mr. Lord made the following reply:

Mr. Booth and Members of the Congregation — I thank you very much for this valuable gift and for this manifestation of your good will and good feeling towards me, and all the more am I pleased because it was so entirely unlooked for and unexpected. I assure you I appreciate it very thoroughly, even more than I may express, or seem to show. I value it, not only because it is of so much value in itself, but more still because of what it means as your gift to me. I only wish I could have done more for you in all the past. I am fully conscious of the fact that you should have had more care and attention and consideration, but there have been other and even greater demands upon me in other places, needs that have demanded more of me in the way of expenditure of time and labour. You have been always members of the church and pretty well informed, but there have been newer members coming forward in other places, who have been wanting more advice and guidance and and direction and more constant sight with also the super-added call for new church building and work and care, all this has taken me away from you more than I should have been, but it is hard for one man to do the work of two, and I have done the best I could under the circumstances. The work done elsewhere in the mission has paid well, and the fruit of it is to be seen to this day. None have withdrawn from the Church, though some have moved away to be a blessing, as we have heard, in other places, and two or three that have died and we trust have every reason to believe have been called to join the Church of God at rest. I trust my life may be prolonged in the service of God, and will always value this watch greatly wherever my work may be, and I am thankful to be in possession of this gift from you as a token of your regard, and trust I will ever retain it in my possession, and once more I thank you all very much indeed for it.

DOWN BY THE SEA

The favorite way to reach the attractive beaches of the popular resorts on Long Island Sound, in the vicinity of New London, Conn., is via the Grand Trunk Railway System and the Central Vermont Railway, tourists being given the choice of routes including that magnificent trip through the Thousand Islands and the exciting run through the rapids of the St. Lawrence river to Montreal, which is one of the most delightful of summer trips. A side trip to the capital of the Dominion— Ottawa, where the Chateau Laurier the $2,500,000.00 Grand Trunk Hotel offers the best accommodation in the Dominion, and Montreal with its many attractions will also appeal to patrons of this route.

The seashore express for New London leaves Montreal every night at 8.30 in the morning with parlor and dining cars. A week in this vicinity will do as much good as a sea voyage. For seashore booklet giving full information apply to B. A. Rose, City Passenger Agent, G. T. R. Ticket Office, Peterboro.

NO CEMENT BEING CARRIED

One effect of the dry spell is the cancelling of the G.T.R. clay train that has been drawing the clay from Drummond Station to the cement works at Lakefield. The pit has become so hard as a result of the dry weather that it is impossible to use the steam shovel, and blasting has to be put into practice. Blasting is a very expensive operation so the company has ceased drawing the clay from the pit till a rainy period starts.

FARM LABORERS EXCURSION $10 TO WINNIPEG

Via Grand Trunk Railway, plus half cent per mile from Winnipeg to destination, but not beyond MacLeod, Calgary or Edmonton. Returning, $18 from Winnipeg, plus half cent per mile from points east of MacLeod, Calgary or Edmonton to Winnipeg.

Going Dates:—

August 22—From all stations, Toronto to Sarnia Tunnel, inclusive, via Stratford, and south thereof in Ontario.

August 25—From all stations north of, but not including main line, Toronto to Sarnia Tunnel, via Stratford; all stations Toronto and north and east of Toronto to Kingston.

September 3.—From all stations Toronto and east, and east of Orillia and Scotia Junction.

September 5.—From all stations Toronto to North Bay inclusive, and west thereof in Ontario.

Farm laborers' special trains will leave Toronto at 8.30 a.m. on Aug 22nd, via Hamilton and London, and at 2.00 p.m. on Aug. 25th, and Sept. 5th, via Guelph, Berlin and Stratford. This is an exceptional chance to visit the West, which is truly called the land of "Golden Opportunities," and many prosperous farmers and business men now residing in Western Canada can trace the origin of their good fortune to a "Farm Laborers' Excursion." The route as via Chicago is an attractive one, many large cities and towns being passed en route, which breaks the monotony of the journey, there being something new to see all the time. The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway is the shortest and quickest route between Winnipeg-Saskatoon-Edmonton, with smooth roadbed, through the new west, most picturesque and most rapidly developing section of Western Canada.

RAIN IS NEEDED TO STOP THE BUSH FIRES

"They are certainly bad, and nothing will put them out but lots of rain," said Dickson Davidson, president of the Peterborough Lumber Company, when asked at noon today regarding the bush fires in Anstruther and that locality.

The fire fighters in the employ of the Peterborough Lumber Company sent down this morning for more supplies and also more men. "Some of the lumber camps have been burned, but it is hard to say just what the conditions are," said Mr. Davidson. According to reports from the scene of the fires, a number of dams used by the lumber company, have also fell a prey to the flames. Unless a good rain blows up the majority of the settlers in the effected parts will lose everything.

Ald. Greer, who owns timber property in the north country, has been informed that it has been fire swept.

Tries to Kill Wife.

KINGSTON, Aug. 18.—(Special.)—During the severe hot spell today, Martin Byrne, a prominent farmer of Howe Island, went suddenly insane. He made an attempt to kill his wife with a butcher knife. He grabbed the knife off the table and chased her around the room, but she was able to dodge him and get out of the room, and made her escape. After making the attack on his wife he suddenly disappeared. Armed with a revolver, Constable Smith and a posse of men went after him, and, finding him, he was overpowered and arraigned before Justice of the Peace George Hunter and committed to jail for ten days to be medically examined.

Suspended Sentence

The young boy who appeared in juvenile court yesterday afternoon before Magistrate Dumble, was let go on suspended sentence. The boy was charged with indecently assaulting a young girl seven years of age.

BEFORE BUYING GLASSES

Consider carefully the Specialist to whom you would entrust the care of your Eyes. Just simply ask yourself these three questions:—

1st. —What experience has he?
2nd.—Does he give you the appearance of one in whom you could place confidence?
3rd.—Has he any qualifications to test Eyes? If so what are they.

You should consider very carefully before entrusting your Eyes to these so-called-Opticians. Every day brings to our office, people who are using glasses that are absolutely harmful.

MR. ARTHUR HAWKE'S REPLY TO THE REVIEW

Editor The Daily Review.

Sir,—You ask when and where history endorses the view about Canada's relation to the Empire which you appear to think is neglected in my article on the navy question in The Nineteenth Century.

A discussion of historical precedents would probably make heavier demands on space than even your kindness would readily grant. Besides so far as the article is an appeal to history, it is almost entirely an appeal to March 29th, 1909.

Your criticism (the general tone of which is appreciated) is headed "Renegade Politics; you speak of my "desertion" of the Government, and you intimate that there is something hostile as between The Nineteenth Century article and the opposition to the Reciprocity agreement, which brought me to you city two years ago.

Though it might not interest your readers, it would certainly interest me, to know the grounds for these imputations. The whole article is a defence of Mr. Borden's resolution of March, 1909. It distinctly expresses the belief that no serious opposition would have been raised to the contribution if Mr. Borden had stated that the Government would also implement the action of 1909 and 1910. Not a single reason has been advanced why Mr. Borden refuses to say whether he has abandoned the position on which he united parliament and the country four years ago. His indefiniteness on so vital a matter as national defence, after giving such a splendid lead, might cause you to search for historical precedents.

When did it become "renegade" or "desertion" to appeal to a British Prime Minister to adhere to his own declarations? How can one be a renegade or a deserter of Mr. Borden when he is simply standing where Mr. Borden stood? He has moved away from his position. I have stuck to it.

Suppose Mr. Borden, returning from London, had said "I find there is great need to accelerate the naval defence of the Empire, Canada must extend the work she undertook in 1909, by ordering three dreadnoughts, and by preparing at once to train men for them, so that the agreement made between Canada, Australia and the Admiralty may be thoroughly carried out," would you have called me a renegade and a deserter for supporting him? Would you have contended that in supporting Mr. Borden for committing Canada to furnish men for the defence of the Empire, I was inconsistent with the opposition to President Taft's designs on Canada? I am for putting Canadian blood and bone and sinew into the naval defence of the Empire—as Mr. Foster was four years ago.

Mr. Borden avowed in parliament that he had by his proposals raised afresh the whole question of Canada's relation to Britain and the Empire. His action and the interpretation put upon it, drew a remarkable disclaimer from the British Government. But the fateful question has been raised, and it looks as if nothing can now dissipate the controversy that has arisen except, to use a time-honored phrase, a grand inquest of the nation.

As a humble contribution to that inquest, it is possible that, besides having written for The Nineteenth Century, I may venture to say more elsewhere. If that should involve a second visit to Peterborough we can discuss the issue with abundance of goodwill and without attributing contemptible motives to those who differ from us.

ARTHUR HAWKES.
Toronto, Aug. 16th

Mr Hawkes makes our somewhat general heading so much a personal matter that we may say at once that we regret having used it, but Mr. Hawkes has no warrant for implying that we have called him either a "renegade" or a "deserter," or that we have attributed "contemptible motives."

Appeals to the history of March, 1909, are familiar. Mr. Borden's Naval Aid Bill was of 1912, after he had as Premier of Canada, consulted the Admiralty. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had consulted the Admiralty, too, but with the difference, seemingly, that his mind was made up before he went. Now, this it seems, was a mere waste of time and money.

When Mr. Borden went the 1909 resolutions had been put to some test. So that when the Government came into power we had the "Rainbow" at one end of the country, and the "Niobe" at the other. Tenders, we are told on authority, were in for other vessels, but they were of a type that would be obsolete before they were built. Meanwhile the desertions and recruiting showed a deficit balance. Was it not high time for somebody to leave the history of 1909 behind?

We were getting heartily ashamed of ourselves, and a section of genuine Canadian opinion, which it pleases Mr. Hawkes, to treat as of no account, welcomed the tangible proposals for immediate action with delight. How they were acclaimed in England from the Liberal Government to the Punch cartoonist we all know.

We have been told much about what Mr. Borden should have done. What should the sincere "Canadian Navy men" have done? They professed themselves ready to contribute in case of emergency. Why did they not then say, "We are skeptic about the emergency, but we will give the Empire the benefit of the doubt. As an emergency measure and incidentally as a profession of Imperial unity before the world, we accept it, coupled with Mr. Borden's pledge that he will submit his permanent policy to the country."

Mr. Hawkes, of course, has his reasons for "deserting the Government" (and we mean and can see no offence in the expression). But we still contend that we are not singular in being puzzled by his action. He is still opposed to Reciprocity, and the Opposition profess to be waiting only for the opportunity to bring it into being. His article has not made it clear to us that it is better to risk the consummation of "Mr Taft's designs" than to risk doing temporarily what "Whitehall" wishes.

shantung, and has a chiffon yoke and undersleeves. Girdle and corsage front are outlined with a delicate embroidery. It is one of those dresses where a stylish effect is arrived at without resorting to extremes. On the same discreetly extreme lines is the tailored suit of heavy moire, which stays in as a fashionable fabric and is a close rival of the Ottoman weave silks for the afternoon type of tailored suits. The vest is of green Ottoman silk and it is crossed by a picot edged sash.

The skirt pleats are diagonal, made so by the shaping of the material to the figure and giving a slightly caught up look at the back. Such a suit is ideal for either a stout or a slim figure, but it needs skilful tailoring.

A very ultra-fashionable dress is pictured here, and is the very latest draping. The skirt is fulled into the waist l[illegible] and then hitched up very high in front so that the robe pulls in about the feet and there is a lot of material bunched in front of the skirt. Over the black taffeta of which the robe is made are posed blue

DRAPED LACE TUNICS.

Although perhaps the lace tunic has a tendency to age its wearer, it has compensating merits which recommend it to women of middle age and even younger women who have a tendency to stoutness. For the close fitting pointed tunic of black lace cut with the upper part in the form of a coat tends to make the figure look slim in a manner that many, alas! find eminently desirable as years come fast upon them.

THERE is a really charming originality about the new fashions. Perhaps it is because the artists of Paris have at last been allowed to take a hand in their designing, for there is much that smacks of the artistic about them. There is no longer the painful attempt to flatten out every one of nature's curves nor to compress the waist line into a smaller circumference; everything is left very much as nature intended it should be, and lightly covered with effective draperies. The one abnormal detail about the whole thing is in the peculiar manner of draping gowns, for little fulness is left about the feet. Consequently the free and easy movement in walking is impeded. For this reason a slashed skirt was introduced in the beginning of this style and later the draperies were arranged to create a slash.

But the slash which allowed the skirt lines to conform to the figure, while giving plenty of room, has met with active criticism. There are slashes and slashes, and while the demure ones give only occasional glimpses of the ankles—and very conservative glimpses, at that—some of the more daring ones, as well as those that are hopelessly ugly and suggestive, not only have called forth printed protests, but have even felt the menacing gestures of the arms of the law. Besides this, the petticoatless woman, often thoughtless, and who, as usual, each summer season forgets about the diaphanous quality of summer raiment, has made her annual appearance this year. Gowns being more diaphanous than ever, the result has been a little more startling than usual, and several women who sallied forth thus arrayed were forced to beat a hasty retreat.

Such misadventures, however, have nothing to do with the really well dressed woman. Crêpe petticoats are especially good to wear under filmy frocks, made on lines conforming to the outside dress and slashed up so that there is room in all directions, and yet the ankles, veiled by the deep lace edging, show through the slash discreetly and with a charm that the unveiled ankles do not have. For it is unfortunately true that few women possess good ankles from all points of view. They may look well from the front, while a side view may be ugly, or, even if the ankles are shaped well, above or below leaves much to be desired. So by finishing the petticoat with a deep flat flounce of lace or chiffon there is a much more coquettish result than with the bare slash.

The lapped slash is another way of getting away from criticism. The skirt material is lapped over in the same fashion as a double breasted coat, and, while the material is left unstitched, as in an ordinary slashed gown, it is lapped over so far that it cannot be separated enough to show the ankle immodestly, yet it gives plenty of space to allow for a long step.

This type of slash is well illustrated in a Paris gown pictured here in two views, No. 1 and No. 2. It is of the new tilleul green shade and is made up in two materials, plain and brocaded satin. The plain skirt is made of wide breadths of the satin draped in this new fashion, and the brocaded upper part is also swathed about the figure, interlacing somewhat with the plain part. The corsage has the same tendency to fulness as the lower part—in fact, very little of the gown is left smooth. Old blue satin revers make a pretty contrast with the soft green tilleul shade of the gown, and the collar at the back, of black satin, gives still another color contrast.

Two views of another elaborate gown, pictured here in Numbers 5 and 6, are especially good examples of the new contours and accentuate the loose way the garments hang on the figure. The gown itself is of white silk voile and lace posed over a foundation of black charmeuse. A black voile drapery partly veils the lace flounces in the skirt. The sash, however, ties in the ultra-fashionable manner so that the waist line becomes a very great uncertainty and is different from different points of view.

In Numbers 3 and 4 an early autumn model is presented with and without the coat. The gown is of navy blue crêpe de Chine, the skirt has an odd puffed back and the lace covered girdle describes an upper curved edge that shapes originally over the corsage. The coat is one of the new full belted models, the shaping of the body arranged by tiny tucks that disappear under the folded rever. A beige collar of cotê de cheval and a beige belt give a soft and pretty contrast.

Another gown that has the same curved ribbons which cross, following the lin girdle line is to be a favorite type of skirt of the décolleté, and are brought back t for autumn cloth dresses and tailored the front, where they tie in a bow wit suits. It is fashioned from dark red ends. The short sleeves are shortene

ALL ABOUT RUFFLES

The latest ruffles have almost a collar effect, and some do not meet in front. There are a couple of rows of lace turning down, and one or two upright—a very chic method with tightly dressed hair and a small chapeau. Short ostrich ruffles fastened closely with a huge bow or rosette of satin, and the half-length boa—or longer ruffle—has also a bow of ribbon, which rests on the shoulder, leaving one short tasselled end in front and a longer one behind. Jabots and quilled rabats of fine tulle will also be worn, even with cloth suits, but cobwebby lace forms the ruffles and frills of the satin costume.

COCKNEYS HAMMERED OUT WIN IN THEIR LAST CHANCE

Tied the Score on Tracey and Got Winning Run on Relief Pitcher

Failure on the part of Ken Tracey to go the route, brought about a disastrous finish for the Petes in the opener with London, and the Cockneys won by 5—4.

The Petes were two ahead at the end of the eighth. The first man up for London in the ninth, Dunlop, drew a pass and he took the home pan on Neal's triple, the ball bounding over Hilliard's head. Deneau's single through second scored Neal and Deneau took second on a one-base clout by Smith. Both runners advanced when with Knut Belting twirling, Heck laid down a sacrifice. Deneau led off well when Linneborn hit to the pitcher and Belting's only chance was to first where he got the putout. Belting walked Matteson, but Hilliard ended the innings by taking a fly from Bierbauer.

It was a game of good plays and fairly brisk hitting. Hilliard accepted eight chances by covering much territory and working up to his usual point. Dunlop, whom the big show has claimed, worked faultlessly and picked em' up a la Harry Brant, which is going some. Neal also had a pretty catch, when he speared a hard waft by McNeal.

Brant accepted the first pitched ball, and clouted for a nifty double to left, but the run that looked likely was prevented as Brant was caught off the base, following Rowan's hit to the pitcher. Tracey was going in grand form early in the game. He held the visitors hitless till the fifth. In this innings Hilliard made a grand throw from deep centre to third base and what should have been an out failed to materialize as Byrne dropped the throw.

Women Angry at Short Term.

Because a woman known as "Queenie" Gerald, pleading guilty to violating the "white slave" law, was sentenced to only three months, while suffragettes are thrown into prison for long terms for breaking windows and throwing acid into pillar letter boxes intense indignation has been manifested by suffrage supporters. One of many letters to the newspapers said:

"The deputy chairman of the London sessions offered the suffragists and their friends the deepest insult possible by sentencing this notorious member of Mrs. Warren's profession to such a short term for trafficking in human flesh and blood, while Mrs. Pankhurst and a few other noble women are being done to death for merely trying to get in a position to force laws which would put an end to just such a vile trade as the Gerald woman plied in a Piccadilly flat."

The police raid on "Queenie" Gerald's establishment was highly sensational and had so much publicity that the contrast between her sentence and those of the suffragettes was quickly noticed.

THE DEMIDORF CASE

It Was Complicated From Beginning to End

By LUCY PETERSON

The Demidorf case in Russia many years ago excited a great deal of attention there, though interest in it was confined to the aristocracy. The Demidorf estate had been in litigation for years, and Count Alexis Demidorf, who was in possession, had been beaten in the court of last appeal. Peter Ivanovich, the representative of another branch of the family, had won the property and was waiting for Demidorf to move out of the paternal mansion in order to move in his own effects.

Count Demidorf had packed his personal belongings, had discharged all his servants and had brought what money he had to his library to take with him in his exile from the home of his forefathers. The new incumbent drove up in his carriage and went into the house. In a few minutes Demidorf, looking angry and excited, muttering to himself, came out, passed the coachman, evidently too absorbed in his wrongs to notice him, and passed out of sight. The coachman waited an hour for his master, then, leaving his horses, went in to ask if he might not put them in the stable.

He found Peter Ivanovich lying on the floor dead.

Notwithstanding that if Alexis Demidorf had not murdered the man who had supplanted him he must have known that he would be accused, but he made no attempt to escape. When he was arrested he showed great surprise that Ivanovich should have died so soon after he had left him. He told his story apparently with candor. Ivanovich, he said, had found him in his library putting in his pocket some gold pieces which he was intending to take away with him. Ivanovich had asked him if the money he was taking was not included in the amounts that the court had decided went with the estate. Stung at this meanness on the part of the man who had taken a fortune from him, he had thrown the money on the table, telling his supplanter to take it, since he had taken the rest, and go to the devil with it.

The money had disappeared, all except one piece of gold that was found on the floor under a lounge. Demidorf said that he had thrown the coins down on the table, indignant, and remembered hearing one piece fall on the floor and roll away.

Were it not that the motive for the murder was so strong against Demidorf this explanation might have had weight. But, in the first place, if Ivanovich were dead the estate would go back to Demidorf. In the second, it was considered quite likely that Demidorf had killed Ivanovich in a fit of passion.

There was another matter that some considered an incentive for Demidorf to commit the murder. He loved Olga Massielevna, a girl who had by inheritance an interest in the estate which [illegible] by her [illegible] owner. A love match had been arranged between Count Alexis and Olga, which must be broken with the loss of the estate. Indeed, the girl's parents had withdrawn their consent to her marrying Demidorf and had accepted a proposal for her hand from Ivanovich.

The power of parents in Russia over their children is now considerable, but it was then even greater. Olga was forced to assent to the breaking off with one lover and a new engagement with the man who had supplanted him. Her parents believed in Demidorf's guilt. She had implicit faith in his innocence.

The prisoner's lawyer while hunting for some person other than his client who had a motive for committing the murder learned that the count while trying to raise money with which to carry on his lawsuit had become largely in debt. One of his creditors had pressed him sorely, showing great eagerness to secure payment of his claim before his debtor should lose the property. The defendant's counsel framed a theory that this man Petroff had gone to see Count Demidorf to endeavor to collect his debt on the very day the latter was to turn over his estate; that he was in the house when Ivanovich entered and, after Demidorf's departure, going into the room where the two had met, had found Ivanovich with the money. Petroff had claimed it and in the altercation that followed had killed Ivanovich, though probably unintentionally.

This theory was considered ingenious, but improbable. It was simply a theory and counted for very little against the great inducements that had impelled Demidorf to get rid of the victim. Vronsky, the lawyer who had conceived the hypothesis, made every effort to secure evidence that Petroff had been seen at or near the Demidorf estate about the time of the murder, but failed. The last person to leave the premises was a servant maid, who departed half an hour before her master.

All Vronsky could do for his client was to prove his excellent standing, his genial disposition and his generosity. He brought forward his theory, saying that some one had gone into the room where Demidorf and Ivanovich met soon after the former had left it and, finding gold there, had killed Ivanovich in order to possess himself of the money. He proved that Demidorf had the amount he claimed to have possessed, a thousand rubles ($500), and this was very nearly the amount he owed Petroff. But, while his theory was well enough, there was little or nothing to support it. His client was convicted, but since the evidence was circumstantial, no one having seen the murder committed, instead of receiving the death penalty he was sentenced to the mines in Siberia.

The day before the sentence was to be carried out Demidorf was astonished by the appearance of his lawyer at his prison with an order for his release.

"The real culprit has confessed," he said, "but only after an arrangement with the government prosecutor. A woman killed Ivanovich. She had vowed that he should not enter upon the estate he had acquired, and, entering by the rear as you went out at the front, she found him in the library with the money. She killed him and took away the gold to make it appear that he had been murdered by a robber, her own reason being that he had jilted her."

"Who is the woman?" asked Demidorf as soon as he could recover sufficient control of himself to ask the question.

"That, by arrangement between her and the prosecutor, is to be kept a secret. Besides, she is to suffer a very short sentence in a jail in Russia."

Demidorf, since the man who had won his property in the courts was dead without issue, returned to his home. He expected to be congratulated by Olga and her parents, but nothing came to him from either. He went to their home, but was denied admittance. The next day he received a message from them stating that the events through which their daughter had passed had broken down her health and they had been obliged to send her to a retreat. It would be some years before her recovery, if indeed she recovered at all.

Demidorf's happiness at the outcome of his affairs was sadly broken in upon by this misfortune of the girl he loved. He shut himself up in his house, seldom going out of it and never entertaining company there. He made requests at different times to be allowed to visit Olga, but they were denied on the ground that her mind was affected and a meeting between them would doubtless have a bad effect upon her.

One morning Demidorf was sitting in a room in his home into which he had removed his books and papers, trying to divert his mind from his loss by reading, when, glancing out through a window, he saw a carriage stop at his gateway and a girl spring out and run up to the house.

Great heavens! She was Olga.

Demidorf ran to the door to meet her and clasped her in his arms.

"Why, except for a little paleness," he exclaimed, holding her off for a better look, "you appear to be perfectly well. You are restored to health and to me." And he embraced her again.

When they were inside and the first transports were over she said to him:

"We have all deceived you ever since you were released. To save you from going to Siberia I, through your counsel, opened communication with the prosecutor with a view to making a confession of having committed a murder of which both you and I were innocent. Vronsky succeeded in securing a sentence of ten years' imprisonment for me on condition that I would [illegible] and you were released."

"And you imprisoned?"

"Yes, but not for long. Petroff was the real murderer, after all. His conscience smote him, and his burden was too heavy for him to bear. Only yesterday he gave himself up, telling the story much as Vronsky had told it hypothetically in court. I was released early this morning and came at once to you to give you the good news."

It was some time before Demidorf could find words to express his reverence and gratitude for the girl who had sacrificed herself for him. In the meantime he held her in his arms, passed his hand over her hair and with such caresses expressed what he felt much better than he afterward did in words. Then, saying that she must visit her parents, she took him into the carriage with her, and they were driven to her home. They were received by the older persons with fervent expressions of thankfulness to heaven and with joy.

Mr. Lavery's "Scottishness."

John Lavery, the eminent artist, is often taken for a Scotsman owing to the fact that he was brought up in Glasgow and first made his mark there. He is, however, an Irishman, born at Belfast. Soon after coming to London the young painter held an exhibition of his works. This was attended by a well known art collector, a Scotsman, who bought several pictures. In sending Mr. Lavery a check this gentleman said he was glad to be the means of helping a brother Scot.

Mr. Lavery wrote, thanking him, but pointing out that he was no Scot, but an Irishman.

"However," he added, "I am sufficiently Scottish to have delayed telling you this until I had cashed your check."

He was afraid his patron might have "stopped" the check on learning his true nationality.—London Answers.

COMMISSIONERS WILL GO AHEAD WITH CONSTRUCTION OF 18 INCH WATER MAIN

Pressure at Smith Street Will be Increassd by About 35 lbs. Per Square Inch

Last night, on motion of Ald. Johnston and Gillespie, the committee of the whole council passed a resolution authorizing the City Solicitor to prepare a by-law to authorize the issue of debentures to pay for the laying of an 18 inch water main.

When the by-law is ready, Mayor Bradburn will call a meeting of Council to pass it. The work will cost in the neighborhood of $20,000 and the new main will be laid from the pumping station, south on Water street to a point north of the G.T.R. tracks, where it will proceed through city property and on down George street to Barnado Ave.

With this main in operation, the pressure at Smith street will be increased to between 30 and 35 lbs. per square inch, and it will be readily understood that the water pressure as a whole will be greatly benefitted.

It is imperative that this work be done at once and the water Commissioners will lose no time. Later on the Commissioners hope to add to the distribution service with a main around the north and west limits of the city. This work will, it is estimated, cost between $60,000 and $70,000. East City will also receive consideration.

No additional tax will be made to the people for the work now on hand, as the expenditure will be met by the revenue of the department. At the same time, the fact of the main being constructed will not add to the revenue.

The Board of Water Commissioners and the aldermen discussed the question last night and the above resolution was the result.

Statements as to the waste of water and the inconvenience suffered by residents of the west end of the city in particular were made again and Ald. Johnston brought forward the matter of water service for the parks and church lawns.

Mr. Matthews replied that if the watering was done intelligently there would be no trouble. He pointed out that water service for this work was given for 17 hours out of the 24.

MINDEN AND OMEMEE ARE STILL ON THE MAP

Greatly exaggerated reports have gone the rounds as a result of the fierce bush fires in the north country. Yesterday it was reported that the whole village of Minden had been fireswept and practically nothing remained.

The same report was made in regard to Omemee on Sunday, but both villages are still on the map and doing business. In the case of Minden fires are burning some distance away.

On Sunday morning, a schoolhouse near Omemee was destroyed by fire and a barn in the vicinity of Bethany was burned.

SELLS-FLOTO CIRCUS PARADE

In most folk's calendar to-morrow is the real day of days, because if you are around the railroad tracks early in the morning you can see the great Sells-Floto circus pull into the siding. The cars will be unloaded with the usual celerity for which circus people are famous, and in an almost incredibly short space of time, the big tent and all its accessories will be erected out on the lot.

It is expected that the big parade will come down the street about 10.30. It might be a little later, but if reports go for anything it will be well worth waiting for because this year the Sells-Floto people promise a free street spectacle of more than ordinary magnificence, and be it said in this place that the Sells-Floto parade has always taken the palm for a wondrous display of beautiful horses and pretty women.

In addition to the regular features, there will be seen in the line of march the famous Devlin Zouaves, who are the champion exponents of the art of military manoeuvring. There will also be the famous Scotch Kilty Band, of Toronto, Canada, the Berni Giant Serenadum, the largest musical instrument ever carried on wheels, ten bands, innumerable clowns, racing camels hitched to their sulkies, swift chariot horses, herds of elephants, men and women of all nations on horseback and on foot, Shetland ponies, dens and cages full of the quaint and curious animals of jungle and plain, and they will all be open. In a word, nothing has been left undone, and no expense spared to make the pageant especially attractive and interesting.

Two performances will be given tomorrow, the first at 2.15 o'clock in the afternoon, and the second at 8.15 at night. The doors will be open one hour earlier in order that those who wish may visit the magnificent menagerie and horse Fair before the performance proper commences. The price of admission is the same as that of former years, 25 cents admits to the circus in its entirety. 37

HUERTA SAYS HE GAVE NO ULTIMATUM TO THE U.S.

Special Envoy to Mexico Still Negotiating With Officials There.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—At a late hour this morning the Mexican situation was this: Diplomatic negotiations between the two governments have not been broken off, as it was inferred they would be in the despatches from Mexico City last night. John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative in Mexico City, continues to negotiate for a peaceful settlement of the Mexican war.

[illegible] Huerta, in [illegible] mediation either by the United States or any other government, asked the United States to extend recognition before making further overtures for mediation. It was this request of the Mexican president which led to the reports that President Wilson had been given until midnight last night in which to recognize Huerta.

Alternative measures are being given consideration by President Wilson and his advisers. The chief alternative is the lifting of the embargo against the revolutionists obtaining arms and ammunition in the United States.

While the situation as a whole is bad and is giving the administration considerable worry, it was said by the White House today it had not yet reached the stage where it could be characterized as dangerous. The president and secretary of state are still holding hope for accord between the United States and Mexican Government and to bring about peace.

"The correspondents have cabled that the Mexican Government has stated that its note to Lind demands that the United States recognize the Huerta government before 12 o'clock midnight today, or a statement practically to that effect.

"I brought the matter to the urgent attention of the minister of foreign affairs at 10 p.m. He immediately saw the president and minister of Gobernacion. Senor Urrutia, who is supposed to have given out the statement, and he authorized me to deny this statement to my government as having no foundation in fact."

The state department received also a message which set forth the diplomacy being played by President Huerta and his followers. This message indicates that Senor Urrutia did give out the statement that Huerta had demanded recognition of his government at the hands of the United States. Such a statement was given out for consumption by the Mexican people. It was printed in all the Mexican newspapers, according to reliable reports here this morning.

The denial, which the minister of foreign affairs authorised Charge O'Shaughnessy to make to this government, was not published in the Mexican papers this morning. It was said that Huerta intended that the denial should not be published in Mexico; that it was meant for consumption in the United States only.

It is this class of diplomacy which is giving the administration here worry. Many of the officials see in it a move on the part of Huerta to spar for time, and at the same time make more adhesive his own followers, so that if there is a break in the relations between the Mexican government and the United States he can command support sufficient at least to present a front. What he expects to gain by it in the end no official here would hazard a conjecture.

Despite the belief that Huerta had full cognizance of the issuance of the statement last night declaring Huerta had issued an ultimatum regarding recognition, and the statement issued a few days before Mr. Lind arrived in Mexico that the Mexican government would deport him as an undesirable citizen, the administration cannot, or, at least, will not permit itself to believe that Huerta would take action which would lead to a break of the present relations between the United States and the provisional government. They cannot see anything in such a move, except suicide for Huerta and war for the Mexican people.

Until advised by Commissioner Lind or Charge O'Shaughnessy, President [illegible] will make no further [illegible] ceived in the next twenty-four hours will contain the final reply of President Huerta, and that by it the United States can plan its next move.

There is, however, a tense feeling throut the administration. While hope has not been abandoned, the general feeling is that a crisis is imminent and that the United States will be forced to take drastic action. Officials consider the lifting of the ban on the insurgents purchasing arms and ammunition as a drastic step. Many of them believe such a step by the United States will force Huerta to take equally drastic action. What such action would be is only surmise. This surmise is that he would openly insult the United States.

The developments yesterday and today induced the president to again take up with his military advisers the question of preparedness for any possible emergency.

TO LICENSE THE AGENTS

Insurance Underwriters Favor Regulating Sale.

OTTAWA, Aug. 19.—(Can. Press.)—That the federal government should issue licenses and that no person should be allowed to sell life insurance unless he had a license was the contention of President John A. Cory of the Life Underwriters' Association of Canada at their annual convention today.

Two hundred members of the convention were welcomed by Mayor Ellis on behalf of the city and by Premier Borden for the Dominion Government.

The premier said that it was important to provide for the security of those who are left behind when a man dies. It is also important that the public should be secured by having companies strong and substantial, and he could bespeak the interest of the minister of finance in any efforts they would make in this regard.

Mr. Cory opposed taxing insurance premiums, and said that the association should support the companies in their fight against this.

He maintained that the practice of rebating should be made a crime by Dominion statute and that the authorities should bring offenders to justice.

He strongly condemned the practice of "switching," which some agents try to work. That is persuading a man to let his policy in another company lapse, the agent making him believe that he is giving him a much better policy in the company he represents.

There is $1,070,265,556 worth of life insurance in force in Canada.

Artificial silk is being made by the viscose process by 53 companies in various parts of the world and in all cases profitably.

THAW WILL FIGHT AGAINST DEPORTATION FROM CANADA

Reward For His Capture Goes to United States Sheriff Who Followed the Prisoner Across the Line.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 20.—Harry Kendall Thaw now reposes in Sherbrooke County Jail, preparing to fight extradition or deportation to the United States.

The reward for Thaw's arrest belongs to Sheriff B. H. Kelsey of Colebrook, N.H., who recognized Thaw on a Maine Central railroad train last night, and after the fugitive had left the train at Herford pursued him to Hermenegilde-Barford, where at the request of the sheriff, a Canadian constable placed the fugitive under arrest.

Thaw faces deportation on the ground that he is an undesirable alien, and extradition on a warrant charging him with bribery. The warrant already issued in New York State for his arrest on a charge of conspiracy will not suffice to extradite him, in the opinion of local authorities. These authorities received word tonight that the district attorney of Dutchess County, in which Matteawan is located, was on his way here prepared to swear to a warrant charging Thaw with bribery—an extraditable offence—if necessary.

In his own defence Thaw claims that he was merely passing thru Canada on his way to Detroit when his passage was interrupted by arrest. He exhibited what he claimed to be transportation to Detroit in support of this claim and cited the case of Jack Johnson to bear out his contention that he cannot be sent back to the United States by the Canadian authorities so long as he is simply passing thru the country and intends to go beyond its borders.

Two men were arrested with Thaw, but liberated later at Coaticook. They are believed to be of the party of five confederates who manned the two automobiles.

"Do you care to say anything about threats you are said to have made that you would go after certain people once you were out of Matteawan?"

"I shall make no answer to the nonsense of that sort that has been printed," he replied. And that ended the interview so far as the reporters were concerned. The photographers came next. They wanted a picture. Again Thaw balked. He couldn't consent to it—couldn't even consider it—till he put on a clean shirt and collar. He explained that he had no opportunity to change his clothes since leaving Matteawan. Thaw's two companions surpassed his reticence with their own. All the newspaper men could learn of them was a description of each. One of them is five feet eight or nine inches tall, smooth faced, with dark hair and eyes and heavy set. The other is about the same height, lighter in build and of fair complexion.

Will Deport Fugitive.

OTTAWA, Aug. 19.—(Can. Press)—Harry K. Thaw will be deported from Canada under the present plan of the Canadian Immigration Department, because within the meaning of the Canadian Immigration Act, he is regarded as a "prohibited person."

It was late this afternoon when the department was officially notified of Thaw's apprehension and immediately Inspectors Reynolds and F. F. Whillans were despatched to Sherbrooke with instructions to watch the case and institute proceedings to the above-mentioned end. The department wired this afternoon to the chief of police at Sherbrooke to hold Thaw under the Immigration Act.

The act seems plain in regard to Thaw's case. There are certain classes who under Section 40 are not eligible to enter Canada, or who if they succeed in doing so, are not permitted to remain here. The law states that idiots, imbeciles, insane people or erstwhile criminals shall not enter the country, and if they do succeed in eluding the officers of the immigration department they shall be deported forthwith.

DESCRIPTION OF THE HUNT CARPET AS SHOWN BY RICHARD HALL & SON, LTD.

The famous "Hunt Carpet" of the Emperor of Austria, of which the Rug shown by Richard Hall & Son, Limited, is an excellent reproduction, is considered the most beautiful and splendid carpet in the world. It is knotted of silk and [illegible] pink, salmon colored ground a lion hunt of the Shah of Persia; there were required about 80 million knots to make this wonderful piece, so that supposing a skilful workman will knot about 2,000 knots daily, which would be about 600,000 knots in a year, it will have taken ten workmen about twelve years to make this carpet. Such an Orientals carpet weaver got about three marks a day, or about 900 marks a year, so that the ten people would have received in those twelve years, some Mks 110,000, which sum would only represent the wages or cost of reproduction, without counting the cost of the various materials used, such as silk, gold etc., etc.

It is very probable that a special house was built for the manufacture of this Carpet. The present value of this world-renowned carpet is estimated at one to one and a half million Marks—$500,000.

According to historical researches, it is generally believed that this carpet was presented to the Court at Vienna by Peter the Great.

The interior of the carpet shows, as already mentioned, a great hunting scene with hunters on horseback and all kinds of wild animals, thus being a strange exception to the usual plant and animal ornamentations of Oriental Rugs. The lack of symetry in the disposition of the figures is also a special feature of this Carpet. There is indeed known so far only one single piece showing a Persian hunt, and this is owned by the Baron Rothschild at Paris.

The figures of the Hunting Scene are so arranged that wherever the onlooker stands, he will always see at least one part of the figures in the right position (standing upright.)

The centre piece represents a beautiful octangular star that is perfectly symetrical, whereas the various figures of the hunting scene in the ground surrounding the centre are absolutely different from another, and each separate figure is worth due contemplation and consideration as to make one appreciate its wonderful particulars.

Even the ground on which the hunt is shown is most remarkable owing to its salmon-like opalescent tint and the country-like aspect it represents, showing a soil scattered with all kinds of flowers and shrubs in natural forms contrary to the symetrical foliage generally found in Oriental Rugs. Among flowers and shrubs are to be seen all kinds of wild animals as well as horsemen in Persian costume, darting to and fro, armed with swords, spears, bows and arrows to kill the animals they encounter. The riders and especially the horses are of a certain style, and yet the impression they make is quite different from the usual aspect of such figures.

The galloping horses, the attitude of the horsemen, [illegible] an extraordinary animation. One could easily imagine that an artist of the Persian Court has to paint this scene after having seen it with his own eyes, and this seems indeed to have been the case, for according to the description of a Persian Court Hunt in the 17th century, the scene as shown as in the carpet would be as follows:

"At the royal hunts, and in fact, at all the great hunts, some little valley, or a certain space in the plain, is surrounded for many miles round, and all the game driven into it. As soon as a certain number of animals is within the confined space, along which the hunters are lined up, the King comes along with his suite, and then everyone precipated upon that which falls into his hands; it is a real massacre which costs the life of 700 to 800 beasts."

In the corners of the carpet are to be found well known motives that are magnificently worked out. On a ground of decorative foliage with flowers—contrasting to the flowers in the hunting field—we notice two dragons with a phoenix on each side, and in the octangular centre piece, there are four pairs of dragons and the same number of phoenixes in alternate succession. In the lower extension of the corner-pieces, will be seen a goose to which corresponds, of course, another goose in the centre star.

The dragons and phoenixes in the corners show the influence of the Chinese art, and we find some more strange figures in the wide border.

There is for instance a group of two figures repeated continually and representing a sitting figure, to which another one kneeling down offers fruits on a plate. Their garments are masculine, but they have great wings that characterize them as superior being or genius. This group, however, is quite frequent in the Oriental art of the middle ages, where also hunting scenes and winged figures are not rare. The birds resembling pheasants with splendid plumage are equally notable. The selvadge and the list of the border show heads framed in palmettes; the list having lion heads and the selvadge human heads. This kind of ornamentation is found quite often in Oriental rugs.

Notice.—It might be of interest to know that even the reproduction of the Hunt Carpet as shown by Richard Hall & Son, Limited, requires a tremendous amount of work; there are, for instance, 10,000 different Jacquard cards working at the same time, and there are 22,000 threads over the width of the loom, and the loom working this carpet is served by one person only.

FOUL PLAY SHOWN.

TORONTO, Aug. 20.—According to evidence adduced at the inquest into the death of Hugh Hassan, the aged man who was clubbed unconscious on the banks of the Humber River on Aug. 6, his death was not the result of a kick by a horse or a fall. The inquest was adjourned and will be resumed Wednesday evening next at 8 o'clock.

A connected story of the old man's mumblings as heard at different times by five adults and a child establishes the identity of Hassan's assailant as a dark, short, stout man of about 60 years of age, with a dark mustache and wearing a light-colored suit of clothes. The only time he attributed his injuries to a kick from his horse was when first met on Tuesday afternoon by little Gladys Gough, and then only as an interjection between appeals for protection from his unnamed murderer and descriptions of the man's appearance.

Suddenly she announced her determination of following the lead of a number of other Vincent Club girls, by becoming a nurse. To complete her course in training it will be necessary for Miss Burr to spend three years in study of the theory and practice of nursing.

TO COERCE THE BULGARS

Turkish Troops Advance After Defeating Garrison.

SOFIA, Aug. 19.—(Can. Press).—The Turks have occupied Kuchuk Kakvak, in the Gumuljina district after an engagement with the small Bulgarian garrison. It is believed to be Turkey's intention to occupy and hold the territory westward to the Mesta River, not with a view to its permanent occupation, but in order to compel Bulgaria to treat direct with Turkey on the question of Adrianople and thus prevent interference in this situation by the powers.

There are some indications that Greece is acting in collusion with Turkey. Greece has announced her [illegible] jina and Dedeaghatch [illegible] Thursday, with the suggestion that Bulgaria occupy them the following day. Occupation Friday is impossible ow[illegible] tion, and Bulgaria has requested a postponement of the evacuation and occupation until Aug. 28. The opinion is expressed, however, that Greece will adhere to her plan to evacuate Thursday and thus enable the Turks to occupy these towns in advance of the Bulgarians.

Wants Only Adrianople.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 19.—The council of ministers decided today to send a note to the powers announcing Turkey's willingness to evacuate all territory west of the Maritza River on condition that the Ottoman Government be permitted to retain Adrianople.

TO PROBE MASSACRES

Hague Committee Will Enquire Into the Balkan Horrors.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—(Can. Press).—On the initiative of the division of intercourse and education of the Carnegie Endowment Fund for International peace, a committee representing the United States, Great Britain, France, Russia, Germany and Austria, has been appointed to make an impartial enquiry into the alleged massacres in the Balkans, during the recent war, and the economic questions arising out of the war.

The work of the committee will have as its basis, evidence published by the various governments and by official news agencies and the testimony of American and European travelers who have visited the scene of events. It will endeavor to verify this mass of testimony and compare it with evidence which the committee adduces, and, after a careful sifting, the result of the committee's findings will be published in a general report, which will be translated into many languages and widely disseminated.

WESTERN FARMERS ARE RELIEVED BY ARRIVAL OF ARMY OF FARM HANDS

Eight Thousand Harvesters to Help Handle the Crops.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 19.—(Special.)—A grand total of 8000 harvesters are now either in the districts to which they are destined and at work, or are on the way there from the cities of western Canada and the eastern provinces of the Dominion. According to advices of the C. P. R. about 4000 men have left points in Ontario and east and will arrive in the city some time tomorrow. All the men from the Maritime Provinces who were in the city yesterday have proceeded to the west, and officials at the immigration shed have little to do today. Tomorrow, however, the greatest rush of the year commences, when five special trains from Ontario come in. The exact times [illegible] trains will arrive is not yet [illegible], but will probably be late at night. Preparations to handle the traffic are complete, and officials of [illegible] at expense of [illegible].

Threshing operations have already commenced at Altona, Man., according to information received at the provincial department of agriculture and immigration, while threshing was also commenced yesterday at Letellier.

Men from Montreal for the harvest, 4000 of whom are expected tomorrow, will be distributed to points in Manitoba, and the demand for harvesters continues very general. One man has been assigned to the department at the Union Depot for the purpose of assisting in the distribution of the men as they arrive from Duluth and eastern points. In Winnipeg two men are at the C. P. R. depot to look after the distribution of men from there.

Joseph Burke, provincial immigration agent here, states that from information received by his department he does not anticipate there will be much damage from weather conditions up to the present, and practically no damage was reported to date. Rain, so far as southern Manitoba is concerned, is having the effect either of filling out the grain and keeping it from maturing too quickly.

According to C. N. R. crop report from various points on their line for the week ending Aug. 18, very little damage has been sustained by farmers from the storm [illegible] week. The general statement is to the effect that the harvest may be a few days later than it otherwise would have been, but that no appreciable damage was sustained. At many points cutting is going on rapidly.

On the main line and on the Rainy River and Ridgeville divisions cutting will be general by Friday, and no damage by hail is reported. Barley cutting has commenced and fine showers helped to fill out and ripen the crop.

In Miami, Wankopa and Brandon divisions cutting is delayed two days on account of Thursday's storm, but the grain knocked down by rain is coming up again nicely and wheat is headed well over all.

At Kipling, Carlisle and Radville no damage is reported from storm and harvesting will be general by Aug. 25. At Rapid City the crop is very heavy and well filled out. Cutting commenced yesterday. Rossburn and Neepawa report that 75 per cent of the barley is already cut, and that wheat cutting is general.

Takes Poison at Depot.

KINGSTON, Aug. 19.—(Special).—After drinking a dose of carbolic acid in the waiting room of the C.P.R. station this morning Mrs. Redden, aged 30, wife of Frank Redden, a cab driver, went up to the ticket agent, J. E. Flett, and asked him to telephone to a cab stand and tell her husband that she had taken poison. She also wrote a card informing her husband that she had taken carbolic acid. She was rushed to the General Hospital and there it was stated that she had a good chance of recovery. Mrs. Redden was married two years ago and [illegible]

SIR WILFRID AT LUNCHEON

"Rustle of the Hay"—Appeal to Racial Prejudices at Quebec

There was the familiar "rustle of the hay," in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech at St. Hyacinthe.

"I have to say to you," he declared, "that I am a Canadian of French origin like yourselves."

For many years, in almost every speech that he has made in the Province of Quebec, the Liberal leader has made this deft appeal to his compatriots. His deliberate object is to incite racial feeling in Quebec for his own political advantage. He regards his racial connection with the French-Canadians as so much party capital.

What would be said of Mr. Borden if in every address that he delivered in English-speaking communities he should insist that he was of [illegible] and the people of Quebec?

The purpose would be so apparent that he would be denounced from one end of Quebec to the other, and probably be regarded with some contempt in the English Provinces.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier should neither get votes nor lose votes because he is of "French origin." The French people in Canada have equal political rights with any other element of the population. It is reasonable to ask that they should divide on public issues and not be too eager to respond to the racial appeal of one of their own people.

The Liberal leader is a great figure in Canada. Probably no one living could challenge his ascendency in his own Province. But he should be content to forget his origin and should appeal to French-Canadians, not as a racial zealot, but as a national leader seeking public support on grounds that are common to the whole country.—Toronto News.

REPORTERS RECOGNIZE HARRY THAW

Will Welcome Any Test as to His Sanity

Canadian Press Despatch

SHERBROOKE, QUE., Aug. 20.—Harry Thaw spent the night in the hospital ward of the Sherbrooke jail with two guards in the room thirty feet above the ground. George Lauder Carnegie, Thaw's brother-in-law, wired that he is hurrying here with Thaw's sister Margaret and asking that proceedings be delayed if possible until the arrival of Charles D'Wight. Thaw's counsel is expected to ask for an adjournment when the case is called. Newspaper men who reported the Thaw trials in New York, clambered about the prison today and immediately recognized the prisoner as Thaw. He declined to be interviewed. Thaw would welcome any test of his sanity, and he has already tentatively engaged an alienist. New Hampshire doesn't want him and if deported to that State, whence he entered Canada, he will be surrendered to New York authorities if a warrant can be found for such proceeding.

HISTRIONIC POLITICS

Sir Wilfrid Laurier who, since his defeat in 1911, has for the most part been sulking in his tent, came out on Saturday and struck an attitude like Ajax defying the lightning.

No one would deplore the disappearance of Sir Wilfrid from the field of battle more than the Conservatives, for while he makes the fighting picturesque with his dignified and noble proportions, he at the same time makes a splendid mark for their projectiles.

When Sir Wilfrid visited Great Britain during his term of office he was often mistaken for an actor from his personal appearance. There is some excuse for the mistake not merely on account of the ex-Premier's appearance; he has a very strong strain of the histrionic in his make-up. Mentally and temperamentally he is emotional and dramatic. He knows how to stage and play the part and bring down the house.

He deplores his defeat in September, 1911 as a manager would deplore the failure of a new drama which he had spent a lot of time and money in staging. The most poignant cry of his speech the other day was: "Remember September the 21st! Wipe out the shame of that dark day in the annals of the Liberal party!"

The defeat of September the 21st to Sir Wilfrid was a personal calamity; never once has he deplored the loss Canada has sustained through its refusal to give its markets away to the States. The "dark day" refers only to the Liberal party and not to Canada.

On the navy issue the chief concern of Sir Wilfrid seemed to be lest Canada should be called a "Colony." Canada most certainly at one time, and not very long ago, was a Colony, and did not seem ashamed of the fact. And the fear that we will lose our right to become a nation by subsidising the British Fleet is merely a child's nightmare that it will lose its new toy.

No other nation, not even the British Navy can take away our nationhood, if we have one.

At the present time Canada is only a nation because she is within the armored circle of the British Empire. The building of a self-sustained and efficient Canadian Navy is an ideal which, whatever may be said for it, will take a generation to realize. The Borden Government were not dreaming dreams of "Canada a Nation" with [illegible] on the [illegible] of British [illegible]. Borden was concerned for the present, he wanted an efficient naval defence now. He looked at the Rainbow and Niobe Laurier Policy, and who could blame him for not falling in love with these two waifs of the deep?

No one is trying to deny that Canada is a nation and Sir Wilfrid Laurier is not the sole possessor of national ideals. The difference between Mr. Borden and Sir Wilfrid is, that one talks about the nation and parades it, and the other is trying to sustain and build it on a sure foundation.

A DAY OF REST NEEDED

There is a general lament among the churches about the falling off of church attendance in summer time, which means that people are becoming more pleasure-loving and are losing their reverence for the Sabbath.

Most people will admit that the temptation to betake oneself to the river side, or lie in the shade of the woods or of the veranda on burning hot Sundays is very great. Even our pastors yield on this point when they hold their services on the church lawn.

The Sabbath is a day of worship as well as a day of rest; but with many people it is neither. Even if it was regarded as a day of rest merely by those who have no conception of a Being superior to themselves worth worshipping, one purely rest day in seven is a good thing for the body and the mind—leaving the soul out of the question; it is not fashionable to talk about souls anyway.

Let us not turn our national Rest Day into a day of restlessness. If we must have one day in seven solely given up to pleasure, let us have that, too, say on a Saturday. But let us remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy.

EDITORIAL NOTES

From the photographs which appeared in the Montreal Telegraph of Sir Wilfrid speaking in the open air with the Athenæum background, one would think he was posing for his statue. It must be admitted he cut a fine figure. Politics to Sir Wilfrid is a sort of tableaux vivants.

The Municipal World has a valuable article in its issue for August on the "Collection and disposal of Municipal Wastes" which should be read by our city fathers just now, as they are launching the new Incinerator scheme.

"Oh, fudge!" exclaims the Brockville Times after reading something about "the recognition of the vital principle of self-government." We never were quite sure of the meaning of the term "fudge" before. But the Times must go in for a little self-government and not lose its temper; still it has our sympathy.

EXCERPTS

Everybody Happy.

A wealthy young woman from the west was recently wedded to a member of the nobility of England, and the ceremony occurred in the most fashionable of London churches, St George's, Hanover square.

Among the guests was a cousin of the bride, as sturdy an American as can be imagined. He gave an interesting summary of the wedding when asked by a friend whether the marriage was a happy one.

"Happy? I should say it was," said the cousin. "The bride was happy, the mother was overjoyed, Lord Stickleigh, the groom, was in ecstasies, and his creditors, I understand, were in a state of absolute bliss."—Lippincott's.

Losing Faith.

Old Lady—Yes, but I've taken forty seven bottles, and I don't feel a bit better. I tell you what it is, Sarah; I'm [illegible] newspapers [illegible] everything.—New York Weekly.

Shifting Ideals.

Most of the damsels that I know
Or live among Desire a Brummel for a beau
When they are young.

A man must boast of raven hair
Inclined to curl
And be a multimillionaire
To win a girl.

But with the years a girl grows meek.
She drops that mood,
And twenty-seven plunks a week
Look pretty good.
—Kansas City Journal.

To Expand the Currency.

"I think," she said coyly, "I shall have this check photographed."

"To preserve as a memento?" he asked.

"No; so I can have it enlarged."—Judge.

WESTERN CANADA'S BUMPER WHEAT CROP

Thousands of Men Required—This Year's Harvest Promises to be the Largest in the History of Canada

According to present indications the wheat crop of 1913 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East to assist in harvesting the world's bread basket.

The Governments of the respective Provinces state that many thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. These will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which Company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a day shorter than any other route. Dates, rates and conditions will be announced in a few days. eod

The Best Detective Story of the Last Ten Years

The millionaire shook his head. While it was true, Britz reflected, that the big man was known as "Silent" Sands in Wall Street society, he was [illegible] than anyone he had ever known in his life. Aloud, he continued:

"Are you sure you have never seen any writing at all like that before?"

Another shake of the head was Sands's only concession to the detective's right to question him. He gave the note back to the Headquarters man, who returned to the circle of light under the incandescent lamp and studied it again. Meanwhile, Sands went on with his search of the second Oriental. He was not as clever in his movements as Britz, and when he tried to conceal something, he signally failed. For the detective, though his eyes seemingly were fastened on the note addressed to Griswold, saw the millionaire take something out of the Oriental's tunic and then slip it into his waistcoat pocket.

Sands nodded.

"Mind letting me see what it is?"

Sands shook his head slowly, decisively.

"What's the objection?"

"It is not anything that can possibly interest you," returned the millionaire.

"How do [illegible] that, Mr. Sands?" asked the detective.

"[illegible] tirely."

"Well, [illegible] about that," Britz returned. "I think I'm the best judge of what interests me; and, as I have played a pretty active part in this little incident, it seems to me the least you can do is to gratify my curiosity."

"Well, I will not," was Sands's defiant answer. "And, while we are on the subject, Lieutenant Britz, let me say I should like to understand the purpose of your [illegible] to my rooms."

"Oh, you would, would you?" snapped Britz.

"I certainly [illegible]," Sands replied. "I come home to find you peeping through a hole in my portiere, and two Easterners, with whom apparently you have had nothing to do, going through my desk and other belongings. I rather think I am entitled to know the why and the wherefore."

"I rather think you are, Mr. Sands," said Britz, "and I don't mind telling you I came here to see you privately, and arrived just in time to see these gentlemen drop to that fire escape and come in by that window. After that I had the pleasure of witnessing the dexterity with which they ransacked your chiffonier, your desk, your bedside table, your bed, your chairs, your rugs, and everything else in the room. Maybe you will explain to me the reason they have such a deep interest in your housekeeping arrangements?"

"Maybe you will do a little more explaining, Lieutenant Britz," said the Millionaire. "You will observe that when I said those fellows had no connection with you, I qualified the assertion?"

"Oh, that was very good of you," said Britz.

"Well, Mr. Sands," answered the detective as he relighted his cigar and disposed himself in the most comfortable of attitudes in the chair beside the desk, "there are a good many things we may like to explain. I should like, for instance, to know how your visiting card came to be in the possession of a man who is an inmate of the State Hospital for the Insane on Ward's Island?"

If Britz expected to startle Sands into any physical expression of guilt he was disappointed. The millionaire's muscles were as inflexible as his determination not to satisfy the detective's inquisitiveness in regard to that which he had taken from the Hindoo.

"You are in a mood of riddles, lieutenant," said Sands slowly. "Now, you see, I am not. My time is too valuable."

"Well, what are you going to do about these fellows?" asked Britz.

"Oh, don't you bother about them," said Sands. "I guess I can take care of them."

"I guess you'll guess again," said Britz, "for if anybody is going to take care of these gentlemen, behold in me the only original little caretaker."

Britz turned to the Hindoos.

"Now, then, you dusky beauties, suppose you come along with me."

"Going to carry them?" asked Sands.

Britz blushed; yes, Britz fairly and squarely blushed. In his momentary exasperation at the millionaire's stubbornness he had forgotten that not only the hands, but also the feet of the Orientals were bound. However, he was not to be disconcerted, and it was with sufficient readiness that he replied:

"You don't suppose that I take my prisoners through the streets like a member of the Traffic Squad, do you? Where's your telephone?"

Sands indicated the instrument and Britz took it up and called for 3100 Spring.

"Headquarters?" he asked over the wire. "Yes, this is Britz. Have a wagon sent from the West Thirtieth Street Station to the St. Barnabas Apartment House. No; don't send the reserves; just send a couple of men. Good-bye."

As he rung off, he turned and faced his host.

"Mr. Sands," said he, "there are one or two points about which I would like to talk to you this evening. I came to you frankly and directly because I found one of your cards in the possession of a man who, while mentally unbalanced, knows something about the fake Maharanee diamond. After arriving here, I had the opportunity to serve you in the way of protecting your property. And I wasted no time in meeting with you. You see fit to [illegible] that direction, al[illegible] that if it had not been for me these second-story specialists would have been up or down the fire escape and many blocks away long before you could have caught them. I do not mind telling you, Mr. Sands, that even though you were centre rush at Harvard, you are not quick enough for Central Office men. And now, when you find something on one of these men that may or may not be of interest to me, instead of letting me see it, or telling me its contents—I'd take your word for it—you stuff it into your pocket and tell me to go to blazes. Moreover, when I ask you what disposition you want made of these burglars, you almost tell me it's none of my business."

Britz rocked on his heel and thrust his hands into his pockets with force that was eloquent of his displeasure to anybody who knew him well.

"Now, let me tell you, Mr. Sands," he went on, "that it is my business what becomes of these prisoners. They are going to the Tenderloin Police Station, and a charge of burglary is going to be entered on the blotter against them."

"I am not going to prosecute them," said Sands.

"Oh, you're not, aren't you? Well, I think you will," returned Britz. "Anyway, if you don't feel like prosecuting them, I'll do it myself. This case is not in your hands now; it belongs to the people of the State of New York, and if you don't choose to appear as complainant, I'll call you as a witness for the State. So, Mr. Sands, if you are not hopelessly addicted to cigars or cigarettes to the exclusion of all other forms of the weed, permit me to suggest that when we have left you alone, you retire to the remote background of your apartment, put that in your pipe, and smoke it!"

Sands became genuinely angry. It took a good deal to disturb his equanimity, but the detective's manner, as he saw it, was offensive. Sands seriously meditated for an instant an attempt to grasp the Headquarters man by the collar, rush him to the door, and drop him down at least one flight of stairs. The sleuth's coolness and courage avoided any unpleasantness of that sort, and his unwilling host quickly regained his grip upon himself.

The tension of the situation was relaxed by the buzzing of the electric bell at the outer door of the apartment, and the entrance of a somewhat blustering bellboy with an announcement that a patrol wagon was at the door and two policemen were asking for Detective Britz of Headquarters, who was visiting Mr. Sands.

"Bring them up," said Britz, wasting no further time on courtesy. Then he turned to the millionaire and said:

"I wouldn't have brought the patrol wagon here, Mr. Sands, if you had been a little more considerate. A couple of plain-clothes men could have taken these fellows to the police station easily enough; but, when a man, through a rush of emotion to the brain, or for some other reason—makes faces at the law as openly as you have done, why, let the law take its course, I say."

Sands maintained a dignified silence as a pair of bluecoats, stumbling over a bearskin rug in the library, came into the suite, and at a sign from Britz, seized the shrinking Orientals. One by one the prisoners were lifted, neck and heels, and taken to the patrol wagon. Britz, of course, could have had the bandages about their feet removed, for it would have been perfectly safe to let those sturdy policemen escort them to the sidewalk in the ordinary way; but Britz was only human. The memory of the grip in which those very men had held him in the ride along Riverside Drive, of the smothering solitude of the desolate apartment house, and the struggle which had followed, came to him in the moment when he was on the point of ordering the unfettering of the captives. With a grin that struck terror to their cringing Eastern souls, he said to them:

"You two artists are so fond of silk that I guess I'll let you wear those ornaments a little while longer."

When the Hindoos were gone, Britz turned to Sands, and said with emphasis:

"If you experience a change of heart, Mr. Sands, I shall be very glad to hear from you in regard to what you found on our dark friend. Of course, since you are in your own rooms, and since the article was evidently stolen in the place by the fellow, I cannot compel you, without a great deal of trouble, to let me see it. It is not at all certain it [illegible] worth my while to take the trouble, but it may dawn upon you before very long that it will be well worth your while, Mr. Sands, not only to let me see the thing, but to tell me everything you know about it. Good-night, Mr. Sands."

And there was something ominous in the military click of the detective's heels as he walked across the echoing marquetry to the elevator.

CHAPTER XVIII.

The Glittering Dance

Doris Missioner was affected much more deeply than she would have thought probable when she read the ardor-breathing proposal of marriage from Bruxton Sands. To say that it surprised her would be to set feminine intuition at a discount. She had known for a long time that Sands was in love with her, and on several occasions had been perilously close to the necessity of accepting or rejecting him.

He was not the sort of man with whom any woman could trifle, even if she wished to do so; and Mrs. Missioner, in spite of the adulation shown to her on all sides from the beginning of her social career, was not that sort of woman. She had no desire to keep her millionaire lover in suspense; but, on the other hand, she did not wish to take so important a step without knowing to the full the exact state of her heart's feelings. In all the long period of the industry captain's wooing, she had never been able to decide for herself whether she cared for him sufficiently to become his wife. Matrimony was a grave subject in her eyes—a much more formidable one than would be imagined by those who knew how happy her first union had been. But, there is happiness, and then again, there is happiness. Doris had been happy as Missioner's wife, it is true. In the sense that she had everything she wanted; that she had a great deal more than she wanted, and that the millionaire who had taken her from the threshold of a seminary had devoted himself to making her life still more luxurious than the almost boundless measure of luxury with which he had surrounded her. She had been happy, too, in the knowledge that she had the whole heart of a man who had the respect of men, the esteem of women, and the trust of little children.

Yet, in the midst of her happiness, if the name could be applied to the mere contentment of her life with Missioner, there had been something lacking. Missioner, for all his millions, his devotion, and his genuine goodness, had not sounded the depths of his young wife's heart, and when in the fulness of time, he was gathered to his fathers, he left her a widow as inexperienced in a romantic sense as any of the many ingenues she was always so willing to chaperon. If Mrs. Missioner married again, she was resolved not to miss that elusive something that had been a will-o'-the-wisp through all her wifehood.

Whether Sands, Viking-like though he was, clean-cut and upright as her sixth sense told her he must be, could snare for her the butterfly of higher happiness in the golden rays of romance, was a question Mrs. Missioner had yet to answer. Whether, too, the union with him would be such that she could take the butterfly from his hands without losing a single fleck of the rainbow dust upon its wings, was another problem. When she could solve these twin puzzles, and not until then, would she be able to give a definite answer to the suddenly impatient wooer.

"Give a Dog a Bad Name."

That man's best friend is the dog is a sentiment that has been expressed in many forms and in every language. It remains, however, for the North Carolina supreme court, in State versus Smith, 72, Southeastern Reporter, 321, a prosecution under a statute making it an offense to willfully kill or injure any useful animal, to determine a dog's life, liberty and the pursuit of canine happiness. A conviction for the killing of a dog in the street outside the defendant's turkey yard when the dog could have been driven away was held proper, though the decedent had his eye on the holiday birds and had paid them former visits with disastrous results—the court stating that "a dog is like a man in one respect at least—that is, he will do wrong sometimes. But if the wrong is slight or trivial he does not thereby forfeit his life."—From the Docket.

HALIBURTON IN GREAT DANGER

Change in the Wind Means Heavy Loss in Property

HALIBURTON, Aug. 20— The whole country round Haliburton is in imminent danger and is at the mercy of the wind. At present the wind is favorable, but any moment may bring a change and result in the devastation of valuable property. Many men from the town and the surrounding country, are fighting the fires in every direction, but the real hope of checking the flames lies in the veering of the wind and a heavy fall of rain.

A RURAL RHYMER

Peterborough Ploughman Poet

Charles Brandon is a Yorkshire man by birth, but he has lived in Canada for the most part of his life and is now well on toward sixty. He is a farm laborer employed five miles outside of Peterborough, and in his spare moments he is in the habit of making rhymes. He has offered the Review one of his poems, but we cannot find space for more than a couple of verses, which will give our readers some idea of our rural bard's muse.

LET US REASON TOGETHER.

Come let us reason together
  Of things we think we know;
This life is like a small feather
  That the wind tosses to and fro.
We are all nothing but shadows,
  Always trying to climb,
Ambitions high and steep ladders—
  And falling every time.

Come let us reason together.
  Perhaps we may the truth hit;
We are all as strange as the weather,
  And we change as often as it.
I see we are all walking shadows,
  Striving as best we can;
But I say there is nothing more sadder
  Than God's secret dealings with man.

—CHARLES BRANDON.

A writ has been issued by C. A. C. # MOTORMAN PREVENTED FATALITY

Child Attempted to Cross Street When Car Was Near

Last evening between seven and eight o'clock a C.G.E. street car was travelling west on Charlotte street, and as it was passing Lewis street a little girl ran out and started to cross the street. Motorman A. Northey grasped the situation immediately, and to the temporary embarrassment of the passengers on board, he stopped the car in its own length.

The car struck the child as it stopped and she was tossed onto the fender, but was not hurt in the least. Too much credit cannot be given Mr. Northey for his action which no doubt saved the child's life.

"JERRY" YOUNG IS SOME DIVER

He Went Down in the Deep at Lock No. 6

The trip to Lindsay via steamers Stoney Lake and Esturion, which was held yesterday, was punctuated with a few delays. At No. 6 lock, the valve, in some manner, opened and it couldn't be closed. Manager "Jerry" Young, who was on board, the Stoney Lake, did some spectacular submarine diving and swimming and finally fastened a chain to the valve and it was easily closed. The pressure of the water kept the valve shut and the boats were able to pass.

Low water was also encountered during the trip.

Galt Feature Passing.

GALT, Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Today witnessed the beginning of the end of the Main street pond in Galt, an outstanding feature of the town for 100 years. Not exactly a landmark, for it is Mill Creek water, the pond has survived all sorts of attacks on its existence by successive councils, corporations and individuals, until at last the C. P. R. bought the property on which it lies to erect a $100,000 freight shed. The work of filling in began at noon.

Model School Opens.

CHATHAM, Aug. 19.—(Special) The Chatham model school opened here today under Principal J.W. Plewes, with an attendance of 41. The regulation number to be admitted in the model school this year is 40, but it is quite likely that this number will be far exceeded in Chatham.

Body Found at Niagara.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—The body of a man about 45 years old was taken from the river below the falls in the lower river by the Maid of the Mist today. The name of the L. H. Baker Company, Buffalo, men's wear dealers, on the shirt worn by the victim leads to the belief on the part of the authorities that the body is that of a Buffalo man. Coroner Harry R. Emes, who has charge of the case, hopes to establish the floater's identity thru the laundry mark "E.J.G." on the neckband of the shirt and the inscription on the signet ring worn by the man. The initials on the ring are either "I.J.M." or "J.J.M."

Boy Burned to Death.

MONTREAL, Aug. 19.—(Can. Press.)—Overcome by smoke on the fifth floor of a burning building in St. Peter street this aftrnoon, Alphonse Caron, 15 years old, was burned to death. His body was found close to an open window burned to a crisp.

The fire started at the foot of the elevator shaft from an unknown cause and shot upward to the fifth floor, occupied by George Hees Sons & Co., manufacturers of dry goods, who had just moved their plant into the building. The total loss is estimated at $40,000.

All Trace of Boy Lost.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 19.—(Special)—William Ecker, an eight-year-old ward of the Children's Aid Society, has not been seen since he first left the farm of William Pringle, near Homer, to walk three miles to church at St. Catharines last Sunday night.

If a book gets grease spots on its leaves, they can be removed by dipping a camelshair brush in rectified spirits of turpentine and moistening the spot. When the latter is dry, moisten it with spirits of wine, and the turpentine will disappear.

Whether you are away or at home there will be many long hours when the big folks are busy, and the kiddies will be restless and want something to do. Then is the time for the Victrola. The children will listen to it for hours at a time. It will furnish the cleanest and best kind of amusement and keep them out of mischief. Take the children to any "His Master's Voice" dealer in any City in Canada and let him play the Victrola for them. We know you'll get one if they have anything to say about it.

WHY THERE IS LOW WATER

Prolonged Drought is Responsible for Present Conditions

The water is not up to the average in Stoney Lake and the waters flowing out. Why? Really because no water has fallen in the Trent watershed since May. In other countries large streams dry up under such conditions, and they would do so here but for the parsimonious way the water is conserved. The upper lake are pretty full. It is time the reservoirs should be Stoney and Clear Lakes for the Trent (the word Otonabee should be abolished as applied to the river.) But the use of the Kirkfield lock requires high water in Balsam Lake. These things will all come right in the end. There are lots of things round the city in worse condition. The water in the Trent is a big job and will have to be worked up with and by the Governments.

FARMER'S WIFE ALMOST A WRECK

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Her Own Story.

London, Ont.—"I am a farmer's wife and a very busy woman. Last summer I was taken with severe pains in my back so bad that I could not get up or scarcely move without pain, and my periods were painful. My husband called in a good doctor and I was under his care for some time, but he did me little or no good. One day a friend of mine told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she had been greatly helped by it. I began taking it and soon got well, and my periods became natural again. Since then I have had perfect health. In fact I have never felt so well in my life. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine many women need. If you think this letter will help other women please publish it."—Mrs. K. C. YOUNG, Tambling's Corner, London, Ontario, Canada.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

A Case of Too Many Wires

By AGNES G. BROGAN

A great city. There is a noise in the streets, over the streets, under the streets. A whirling mass of human beings in the morning rolls down from the north like the ebbing tide and flows up again in the evening. And all night the whirl goes on, but a different whirl. There is a glow of electric lights; the streets are full now not of workers, but of pleasure seekers. They pour into the theaters, into the hotels, into the restaurant. And then they pour out again.

Captives in the cage of the city jail, men moved about like bees in some mammoth hive, and not unlike the buzzing of bees came the continual hum of their low voiced conversation. Here rough faced men passed the anxious hours, engaged boisterously in a game of cards, while over there others sat lost in deep brooding dejection.

One figure alone seemed to stand apart, different from them all. This difference might have been accounted for by the jaunty suit and cap and the high white collar which the young man wore; but, after all, it was a certain infectious light of good humor in the boyish blue eyes, an irresponsible air of happiness, which distinguished Peter Olaf from his companions in crime. Once again he walked the length of the long room, keeping time to his step by a subdued though merry whistle; then he paused sociably at the side of a prisoner who glowered up at him. Peter spoke with a soft foreign accent.

"That makes twelve times around," he said. The man addressed lumbered to his feet, joining the youth in his walk.

"What chu here for?" he growled.

The boyish blue eyes widened, while a dull red crept to the blond hair on Peter's forehead. "Bigamy," he announced briefly. The elder man stood still with a muttered exclamation.

"Bigamy," he repeated, and exclaimed again—"bigamy, a kid like you? What chu do it for?"

Peter Olaf shook his head. "I didn't mean to," he said slowly. "I—I don't know.

"It just happened. Far away in Russia was Mari. Before I came to this new country Mari and I were married.

"Some day I would send her money; then she must come to me. So I told her we would be rich here and happy. And Mari was glad. At first I wrote to her long letters, and then"— Peter stopped abruptly. When he spoke again his tone was harder, more constrained.

Biliousness—is certainly one of the most disagreeable ailments which flesh is heir to. Coated tongue—bitter taste in the mouth—nausea—dizziness—these combine to make life a burden. The cause is a disordered liver—the cure Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills. They go straight to the root of the trouble, put the liver right, cleanse the stomach and bowels, clear the tongue and take away the bitter taste from the mouth. At the first sign of biliousness take

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

"Well, in the house where I boarded lived Bianca. I was lonely here in the strange country—oh, very, very lonely.

"Bianca was most kind and beautiful. Together we went to many places—out upon the ferryboats in the moon light, down to the sands of the sea. And Mari seemed to fade away so far I could scarce remember her face. It grew dim like a dream one has almost forgot.

"And so I did not send to Mari the money. May not one have a new wife in a new country when one shall never return to the old? Bianca also had a lover who would have married her.

"This she told me." The boy passed his hand across his forehead. "So what could I do?" he asked. "Could I lose Bianca?" And then that very day when we were married Mari comes along to this country. Alone she had worked and saved, and now she is here.

"And Mari asks them to find me for her—the officials—and when they find me I am married again. So you see it is bigamy. That is what they tell me, and I must be held for trial."

The boy clutched the prisoner's sleeve fearfully. "What will they do with me?" he cried.

The hardened man, whose own crime had brought suffering to many, stared disgustedly into the frightened face.

"Do with you," he answered fiercely—"do with you? I don't know, but I hope they will lock you up. I hope they make you work as she never thought of working—that little Russian thing you deserted. Chances are they won't do it, though. That innocent, baby face of yours will carry you through. You'll only be deported."

"Yes," he answered gruffly—"sent back where your kind belong."

Peter Olaf stood considering. He seemed to see again the little village that had been his home, the tiny schoolhouse where he and Mari had gone so many years together. Then across his memory flashed a picture of Bianca—Bianca of the crimson lips and laughing eyes. The great oaken doors just beyond the heavy screen opened now and closed with much grating of locks. As through a mist he saw the figures of an officer and a girl.

"Forty-five!" rang out the officer's voice, and the girl's slender figure came waveringly, indistinctly, toward him. A moment she stood, her white face pressed close against the veiling wires, her dark eyes shining golden black in the reflected light. Then with a joyful, half inarticulate cry Mari clasped her trembling hands.

"Peter," she whispered—"oh, Peter!" Dumbly the guilty youth stood peering through his cage. The woolen shawl which the girl wore fell back from her head, revealing the well remembered clustering curls. The sound of his home tongue upon her lips brought a sob to Peter's throat.

"I came," Mari went on breathlessly, "to you, beloved. Because you had not been able to send me money, should that then keep us apart? So I worked and worked." The words melted into a soft, little laugh. "Oh, you did not know that I could be so clever, Peter—could of myself earn so much money, enough to bring me to the far America. [illegible] phant tone turned now to one of deep compassion. "And you, my Peter"—the girl said quickly—"they have made you suffer. Because of a cruel, wicked mistake they have placed you here behind their great locked doors.

"'He is married in this country,' the men tell me, but I ask them how can that be. It is foolish, for is not my Peter my husband, and have I not here our printed records? But the interpreter is very stupid, and he will not understand, and he tells me over and over again, 'Peter Olaf is married,' so I come away angry."

The girl tossed her head. "Be brave, beloved," she said, "and all will yet be well.

"Do not grieve that I must go back, for so they have ordered. 'Return at once to your own country,' the stern man said, as though that were punishment to me. I am glad—glad to go.

"Here the people are so strange and fine and grand; here no one cares." Mari caught her breath sharply. Tears welled in the golden black eyes. She waited, wondering at his silence, and then, with a sudden hopeless gesture, Peter stretched forth his arms.

"Mari," he murmured brokenly, "if I could but touch your hand."

"Have I not, then, the same longing?" she answered tremulously. "But when they have learned their mistake, Peter, when they know of their wrong, then they will set you free, and you will hasten back to our happy home land.

"There will I be to welcome you and see in the garden our fruits and flowers are growing and upon the hills our sheep. So you will be content and happy forevermore, so you will never care again to wander."

"Mari," the boy cried out in despair, "how may I then come to you—I who am so unworthy?"

An attendant laid a kindly hand upon the girl's shoulder. "Time's up," he reminded. Mari looked back through the screen with reproachful eyes.

"You unworthy, Peter?" she said tenderly. "You"— Then obediently Mari followed on up the stair. Outside before the jail a dark faced Italian paused to adjust the golden harp which he carried. At his side, in bizarre costume, tripped a red lipped girl. With a swift sidelong glance at the man she flirted her beribboned tambourine.

"I go in there, Toni," she said. "I not play on the boat today." The Italian stood looking down upon her with a sort of dogged devotion.

"You go to see him, Bianca," he said—"he who was not your husband. He fool you and lie to you, yet you can forgive?" The girl shrugged her shoulders.

"What do I forgive?" she asked pertly. "He leave her for me. If he leave me for her"—Bianca's eyes narrowed—"but Petro he not do that," she said. Halfway to the impressive entrance she turned back to smile at him. "You wait for me, Toni?" she called, and the Italian answered with sad resignation:

"Always I wait for you, Bianca."

She smiled at Peter also, showing her pretty white teeth, as he drew near the forbidding screen.

"Hello!" she greeted him gayly. "Hello, but I cannot shake hands."

"Would you?" Peter asked her gravely. "Would you if you could?"

"Why not?" laughed Bianca. "You will be free," she added quickly. "I ask the man at the desk if they send you to jail, and he frown, and he say he think not. They send you back perhaps where you belong. But, Petro," she whispered softly, "when you are free you will come back to me? Promise. I am your wife."

The boy leaned wearily against the screen. Through it came the fragrant breath of roses in her hair.

"Promise, Petro," the girl caressingly implored him.

"I will come back to you, Bianca," he answered evenly. She laughed a little as she turned away.

"Goodby," she said. And as she came out again into the light and found the Italian still waiting in patient hopelessness Bianca anticipated the burning question of his eyes.

"No," she said, slowly shaking her head; "no, Toni; he never come back to me; never, any more." The man leaned forward, unbelieving.

"He told you that?" he asked eagerly.

"He not tell me," Bianca replied, with a shrewd little smile. "He not need to tell me; I know."

"Beloved!" the man entreated and spoke no other word. For a moment the singing girl swayed her tambourine teasingly before her mocking face; then, suddenly serious, she gazed at him across the tinkling bells.

"Your kind, Toni," she said gently; "the slow kind. It is the best."

And far out upon the pier another girl sat, her upraised face glorified in the light of the setting sun, her dark eyes filled with dreams. "Deported," murmured a pitying voice, but the immigrant girl was smiling happily as she followed the long line into the great white ship. Mari had entered upon the journey into her promised land.

Goodby to the Old Home.

"Is your son coming back to the farm when he completes his college course?" asked the minister.

"I dunno," said the old man; "I dunno. The money he has to spend fer books an' board ain't goin' to leave no farm fer him to come back to, I'm afeerd sometimes."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Applied Legal Tactics.

A gray haired lawyer enjoyed a laugh at the expense of his friend, an uptown bank cashier, the other day.

The youngest member of the law firm, also known to the cashier, thinking possibly to make the latter the butt of a practical joke, had attempted without success to change a counterfeit fifty cent piece at the window.

Told of the incident an hour later the elderly lawyer reached into his pocket and drew out a number of coins.

"When you are weak on any one point," he said, as he selected $1.50 from the handful, "try burying it under as much other evidence as may be adjudged relevant—in short, let me have that bad half—confuse the question at issue. Here, Jimmie," calling an office boy, "take this change down to Mr. ——, the cashier, and get a two dollar bill."

And the boy did.—New York Sun.

Wudna Suit the Kilt.

In the early days of the territorial army there was a boom in recruiting for it. In one part of the highlands almost every man in the district joined the local battalion of "kilties," and the men were signed on without medical examination, it being quite usual in some country districts to wait until the annual camp before medically examining recruits. On arrival in camp it was noticed that one man was wearing the trews at drill instead of the regulation kilt, and, being asked the reason, he explained that he had left his kilt at home. "Why on earth did you do that?" inquired his company officer. "Weel, ye see, sir," replied the recruit, "I'm afraid I wudna suit the kilt verra weel, as I've got a wooden leg."—Glasgow News.

FORTY THOUSAND MEN REQUIRED

Farm Laborers' Excursions—This Year's Wheat Crop Will Be the Largest in the History of Canada.

The wheat crop of 1913 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East to recruit and assist in bar- in harvesting the World's greatest bread basket.

The Governments of the respective Provinces state that forty thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. These will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which Company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a day shorter than any other route.

A MODERN HERO IN WAR.

He Meets the Demands of Duty and Is Greatly Honored.

The general beckoned to the aid.

"Have you found the man who led the forlorn hope, the first man to scale the enemy's earthwork?"

"He is here, general."

The man came forward. The general unpinned the medal from the breast of his coat and held it out to the hero.

"Take this, my brave fellow," he said, and his voice shook with emotion as he extended his arm.

There was a sudden click.

"Thank you," said the stranger. "That ought to be first class. Easy, natural, dignified. Thank you again."

The general stared.

"How is this?" he demanded. "Just as I am about to hand to you the jeweled emblem of surpassing bravery you draw a camera on me. Are you not a soldier?"

"Me a soldier! No, no. I'm not brave enough for a soldier."

"But you led the forlorn hope?"

"Because it was my duty."

"I don't understand."

"I had to do it or get scooped."

"Then what are you?"

"I'm a staff photographer, general!"

And just then the headquarters band began playing "See, the Conquering Hero Comes," and the photographer ran out and photographed the band.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

How It Happened.

"I have a wife and four children in Chicago, and I have never seen one of them," remarked a Chicago man one evening.

Mrs. Dodge, who was noted for her inquisitiveness, looked toward him in great surprise. After a moment's pause she asked:

"Were you ever blind, Mr. Evans?"

"No, madam," was the reply.

"Did you marry a widow?" the woman inquired.

"No, indeed," he said.

There was silence again while the inquisitive woman tried to solve the problem to her satisfaction. Failing to do so, she asked:

"Didn't I understand you to say, Mr. Evans, that you had a wife and four children in Chicago and had never seen one of them?"

"Yes; that was what I said."

"How can it be that you never saw one of them, Mr. Evans?" asked the woman.

"Why, madam," replied the man, "one of them was born after I left."—Harper's Bazar.

STERLING TWIRLED AND COCKNEYS FELL BEHIND

Big Fellow Was Wild but Backed up by Clever Fielding, He Was too Much for the Londoners Some Pretty Plays by the Petes

Wild as he was through yesterday's fixture, Bob Sterling was too good for the Cockneys and the Petes won easily by batting Steiger's offerings to all the uninhabited parts of the old ball lot. The Rowanites had a lovely day with the willow, getting fourteen safeties off the opposing flinger, one of which was a three bagger by Fox. The former London-Ottawa boy had quite a successful day at the plate as he walloped out a three base clout, a two-bagger and a single. He also came home with three runs. The local beaver also did some good stick work, his first effort being a single through second. His two base biff in the seventh sent in two runners.

The old confidence was noticeable with the big fellow in the twirling line, and the Petes worked like clock work. Twice in the early stages of the battle, the Cockneys were turned away by lightning fast double plays started by Joe Byrne. Another neatly executed play was pulled off in the second with McNeal on third. With Feneau going to second, Trout threw to Brant, the throw catching Neal away from the bag. The pass was dead on to Brant and he threw accurately to Byrne, who in turn shot the ball to Trout and Neal was an easy out.

Sterling also had some nice fielding to his credit. He knocked down hard hit balls and accepted eight chances in clever style.

With two gone, the Petes filled the bases in the first, but failed to score. In the second, with Byrne gone Thompson drew a single and stole second. Sterling walked and when Dunlop threw badly to Linneborn on Rowan's grounder, Thompson speeded home. Brant papered, but Fox's hit across second scored Sterling. A pass and five singles made four more in the fourth, and Fox's triple and Trout's single added another in the sixth. Sterling's double made two more in the seventh.

The Cockney's didn't count till the fifth when Smith got a scratch hit and Steiger walked. They advanced on Linneborn's out and Smith scored on Reidy's sacrifice fly to Swartz.

Again in the seventh Smith got another scratch hit. Steiger flew out and Linneborn was passed. Reidy hit to Brant, beating out the peg and Smith scored.

All Tired Out.

"Why should she need rest? You have no children; you have servants to do all the work around the house; your wife has an electric, so that it never is necessary for her to walk anywhere. I suppose she never finds it necessary to do any sewing or darning or anything like that, and I have no doubt that she even hires other people to polish her nails and arrange her hair. How can a lady so fortunately situated possibly be in need of rest?"

ASSISTS AND PUTOUT FOR TWO BERLIN PLAYERS

A despatch from Berlin gives two of the Berlin players credit for saving a man from drowning. Mike Sweeney the first baseman and Jimmy McEvoy, the regular backstop, were at Bridgeport when Jack Burke, a barber of Berlin, was seized with cramps while in swimming. He sank to the bottom but Sweeney and McEvoy and a companion dived after the man and succeeded in bringing him to the shore, where after twenty minutes' hard work, he recovered.

THE SHELLS UNPOPULAR

O.R.A. Competitors Criticize Mark VII Ammunition.

LONG BRANCH, Aug. 19. (Special). A stiff wind from the east played havoc with the marksmanship at the second day's shooting of the O.R.A. meet here this afternoon, as is evidenced by the [illegible] turned by the sharpshooters.

So far the shooting has not been nearly as accurate as on former occasions, which is set down to the new Mark VII ammunition. On the first day the men were content to withhold any criticism on the new shells, believing it was a matter of getting used to them, but today various kicks were heard, that not only is the pointed bullet susceptible to the wind, but that some shells are of a higher velocity than others. The King's Prize winner, Pt. W. A. Hawkins, again failed to shoot up to expectations, and he lays his inaccuracy entirely to the new ammunition.

W. Simmonds, of Alberta, with a score of 69 out of a possible 70, won the silver medallion and $25, for first place in the Duke of Cornwall and York match, closely followed with seven competitors with 63. The seven tied for second place, shoot off Wednesday for the medallion for second honors, but will divide the prize money for the seven places.

In the final shoot off of the City of Toronto match at 800 yards, Q. M. S. Inst. W. R. Dymond, R. C. R., captured the gold medal and first prize money of $25, with a score of 117 out of a possible 120. Three tied for second with a score of 115, and divide second, third and fourth money.

First place in the team prize event of the City of Toronto match, went to the 43rd regiment of Ottawa, with a total score of 328, closely followed by the Royal Canadian regiment with 322.

The Pellatt challenge trophy was carried off by the Ottawa Collegiate Institute, with a total score of 217, second place was won by the Calgary Collegiate Institute, with 213. Cadet Sgt. D. McWilliams, of Calgary C. I. led the individual scoring with 47 out of a possible 50.

Rescued Boy From Fire.

BERLIN, Aug. 18. (Special.)—Fire did $1000 damage to the residence of J. R. Strickland, G. T. R. agent at Waterloo, here this afternoon, caused, it is thought, by a defective electric meter in the garret. A little son asleep upstairs was heroically rescued by John Bullock, who was working near the residence at the time. Amidst fire and [illegible] he managed to get upstairs and rescued the child from his cot. It took 18 minutes for the firemen to reach the scene, and corporation workers lent valuable assistance in getting out the furniture.

Little Boy Dies of Sunstroke.

DON'T LIKE JACK JOHNSON

Pugilist is Causing Commotion in London.

LONDON, Aug. 19. Jack Johnson is billed to give a boxing turn at the Metropolitan Music Hall, Edgeware road, on Monday evening. The announcement has created some indignation, and it is believed the licensing committee of the London County Council, which controls music hall licenses, will intervene. Before Johnson had been convicted of white slave practices, public opinion here compelled the cancellation of his fight with Wells, and it will be a strange thing if, with his present record, he is tolerated on the London stage. Music Hall Manager Tozer says:

"We do not attach much importance to any feeling that on moral grounds he ought not to be engaged. He is charged with something not a crime under our law. If a black man goes from one city to another here with a white woman, there is no legal offence; in America there is. The use of the term 'white slavery' in connection with Johnson's case is misleading if we consider white slave laws of England."

EXPOUNDS THE LAW

N. Y. State Secretary Says Glynn Must Rule Affairs.

ALBANY, N.Y., Aug. 18.—(Can. Press). —Lieut.-Gov. Martin H. Glynn is the lawful chief executive of New York State, pending the outcome of impeachment proceedings against Gov. Sulzer, according to an official opinion rendered today by Attorney-General Thomas Carmody to Secretary of State Mitchell May. Mr. Carmody holds that the assembly was within its rights in instituting impeachment proceedings at an extraordinary session.

"When the governor is impeached," says the opinion, "all of his powers are automatically suspended until he has been acquitted or the impeachment proceedings dismissed by the court of impeachment. In the meantime the lieutenant-governor acts as governor. This is the plain intent of the constitution. Any other construction would nullify its express provision."

With reference to the authority of the assembly to initiate impeachment proceedings, the attorney-general says:

"It is my opinion that if the assembly was not assembled, either in extraordinary or regular session it might assemble itself and proceed to the discharge of its powers in this regard. Otherwise the governor of the state could prevent the impeachment of himself and his friends [illegible] for crimes, however great, after the adjournment of the regular session of the legislature by the simple process of omitting to call the legislature in session."

HE DID IT ON PURE BLUFF.

How He Maintained His Reputation as Chief School Bully.

The bully of a certain school operated on military principles was a slender, athletic young fellow of nineteen years, who weighed about 125 pounds. He was quarterback on the football team and the best sprinter in the school, but many pounds lighter than his athletic mates. Yet he was able to control the largest of them with threats without the necessity of resorting to his fists.

One day a young member of the faculty called him aside and inquired as to the reason for this.

"I notice," he said, "that when you have a clash and trouble is imminent it is always with some fellow far your superior in weight and strength, yet you always get the best of it without a fight. I also have observed that you never box with the other fellows in the gymnasium, and, so far as I can learn, you have never actually whipped any one in the school. How do you do it?"

"I'll tell you, professor," said the young man, "if you'll keep it quiet. I hate fighting, but I find the only way to avoid it is to seem always anxious to fight. So I select the big, lumbering fellows and pick on them because I know that if it ever comes to a show down they can't catch me, and I get away with it!"—New York Times.

WEDDING—PERSONALS

FREWER—DELA FOSSE.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was solemnized this morning, by the Rev. F. J. Sawers at St. John's Church, when Marjorie E., eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Dela Fosse of this city, was united in bonds of holy matrimony to Mr. Geo. D. Frewer, of Toronto, son of Rev. Rural Dean Geo. E. Frewer, of Brede Rectory, Sussex, Eng.

Ideal weather conditions prevailed as the wedding coaches, with their white horses, drove up the hill on which St. John's Church is situated, and as the bride and groom and friends entered the church it made a very pretty picture in the sunlight.

The service was both beautiful and impressive. The words, "Whom God hath joined let no man put asunder" falling in solemn music upon the ears of all present.

The bride, who is one of Peterborough's most popular young ladies, was given away by her father. She was attended by her sister, Miss Phillips, and Miss Dorothy Hilliard, of Lakefield.

The bridesmaids were dressed in pale mauve with black hats to match, and carried bouquets of sweet peas. The bride was most charmingly attired in white serge with a white hat to match, carrying a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Mr. George Hilliard, of Lakefield, assisted the groom and Mr. Melville Ricketts, of Toronto, acted as usher. Mr. R. J. Devey played the wedding music.

The many presents were very beautiful and of a substantial character, there being a number of them of them from the friends of the contracting parties in England.

After the wedding cermony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Stewart street. Some thirty guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs Frewer left on a motor trip to the Kawartha Lakes, where they will spend a honey moon before leaving for Toronto where they will take up their future residence.

ATHLETIC CLUB.

The private dance held at Hickey's Pavilion last night under the auspices of the C.G.E. Tool Room Athletic Club proved to be one of the most enjoyable evenings spent this season. The weather was ideal and fresh breezes of the Otonabee served to make the affair more pleasant. A big feature was the Grand Opera House orchestra, which supplied the music. At ten o'clock refreshments were served, and at half-past eleven [illegible] the young people cityward.

Arthur Jones, Passed Away at Hospital This Morning

WAS CONSCIOUS

And Remained Calm to the End. His Widow is Prostrated

Mr. Arthur Jones, who met with an accident at the Canadian General yesterday, the particulars of which [illegible] view, died this morning at the Nicholls Hospital.

Mr. Jones was an Englishman and came to Peterborough seven years ago. He had been a member of the Salvation Army for thirty years, in fact since he was a boy, and was a bandsman for over twenty-five years.

"He was one of our best men, both as a musician and for sterling Christian character, and will be greatly missed by the Peterborough Corps," said the Adjutant to The Review.

His seven years residence in Canada, while it has been prosperous enough, has been attended with some misfortune. Two of his children, whom he brought from the old country, having died of appendicitis.

His wife, who is in delicate health is prostrated with grief. She is left with a family of two boys and one girl.

The deceased was conscious up till the last and although horribly swollen and burnt, he remained calm to the end, knowing that there was no chance of recovery.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon next, and the deceased will be buried with Army honours. The Temple band will be in attendance.

CITY GIVES LICENSE TO POOL ROOM BUT FAILS TO PROVIDE BATHING PLACES

—Magistrate Dumble

That the habit of bathing in exposed places is going to be stopped was evidenced at the session of Police Court this morning, when no less than four youths appeared before Magistrate Dumble for the above offence. They were bathing at the foot of Engleburn Ave, East City. The delinquents were Thos. Drummond George Windrim, George Brock and H. Jamieson. They pleaded guilty and were fined $2 each.

"If the city would provide proper bathing places with a license, it would save all this trouble," said the Magistrate after imposing the fines. "They license pool rooms, but fail to provide proper accommodation for bathers."

TEMPLE BAND TO ADVERTISE PETERBORO DURING TRIP

Souvenirs of Electric City to be Distributed if Arrangements for Trip to England Are Completed

The Salvation Army Temple Band will make a big effort to further advertise Peterborough, in the event of arrangements being completed for a trip to England.

It is proposed to prepare a suitable souvenir of Peterborough and sell copies during the trip. In many parts of England, the Temple Band of Peterborough enjoys an enviable reputation, and it is felt that the souvenir proposition would be a big success.

Reading, for instance, has given very freely of her sons and daughters, who are now in Peterborough It is said that the number of Readingites in this city is as large as 150, and there are quite a large number of natives of Tunbridge Wells also residing here. Reading is the home of Commissioner Rees.

A Remarkable Clan.

The Hon. Lulu Harcourt has a pretty wit. On one occasion, in company with his father, the late Sir William Harcourt, he was visiting a Scotch burgh. The Provost who received them was apt to find difficulty in wrestling with the English language, and as he had recently been laughed at for pronouncing "antipodes" as if it rhymed with "modes," he resolved to be on his guard.

He was discussing with his English guests the insanitary condition of the town. "And you know, sir," remarked he, "you know how much people nowadays think of mac-ro-bes!"

Time and again he dwelt on the mystic word, until Mr. Harcourt was prompted to ask: "About these macrobes, Mr. Provost. Are they a local clan?"

Cricketers' Superstitions.

Why cricketers should be superstitious is hard to say, but that the majority of them are very much so is a well-known fact. Probably the most common belief in the cricketer's creed of superstition is that a bat which has made a good score can, if given a fair chance, repeat the performance. Hundreds of cricketers would give very large sums to possess themselves of a bat with which some famous batsman has knocked up a big score, and high prices have been offered for the bats of the leading cracks by amateurs who believed in the superstition.

Very frequently a batsman who discovers that he is unable to score with his own bat will borrow one with which some other man has knocked up a big pile. After vainly endeavoring to knock up a score on one occasion a famous batsman, now deceased, borrowed the bat with which "W. G." had earlier compiled a score of over 150. Another popular belief is that if a batsman places his pads on before the preceding batsman is out the bowler will almost invariably bowl him before he reaches double figures, and he will often ignore his captain's orders to be ready in that he refuses to put on his pads before he sees the retiring batsman well on his way to the pavilion.—Northern Weekly Gazette.

A Good Idea.

Serial stories can be taken out and bound. Any one who understands bookbinding can get really beautiful books in this way. But the woman who does not understand this art can cover pieces of pasteboard a little larger than the magazine page with cloth, carefully folded over and pasted down on the wrong side about the edges, the inside of the cover made neat by a square of cloth or paper pasted over the edges of the covering of the other side. Two of these covers with half a dozen holes punched half an inch from the back edges can be fastened together over the story by means of silk cords run through neat corresponding holes in the pages of the story.

NON-INTERFERENCE IN MEXICO TO BE UNITED STATES POLICY

Huerta Finally Declines President Wilson's Proposition.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The negotiation between the United States and the Provisional Government of Mexico, conducted by John Lind and Provisional President Huerta, virtually have ended.

President Huerta has rejected in toto and finally the suggestion of President Wilson for ending the war in Mexico. The next step to be taken will be by the American Government. The indications tonight are that it will be this:

A return to the policy pursued by President Taft in the last months of his administration and followed by President Wilson up to the time he sent Ex-Gov. John Lind to Mexico City to try to effect an end to the hostilities and a restoration of peace thru mediation, of non-interference and the maintenance of a strict neutrality, a tightening up of the frontier guard to prevent the shipment of arms and ammunition to either faction in Mexico.

When President Wilson sent Commissioner Lind to Mexico with three suggestions for settling the disturbances, he had in reserve three alternatives which he could adopt in the event of failure. They were:

1. Intervention.
2. Raising the embargo against the revolutionists obtaining arms and ammunition in the United States.
3. A return to the former policy of non-interference, always entertaining the hope that one side would quickly win out in the struggle of arms.

Like his predecessor, President Wilson never did seriously consider the first alternative. He held that it was too drastic a remedy for the ailment.

He next gave consideration to the proposal of raising the embargo against the revolutionists from obtaining arms and ammunition in the United States. What he found was this:

All the foreign governments with subjects and property in Mexico have provisionally recognized Huerta. These countries had been asked by the United States to lend their moral support in the effort to induce Huerta to accept one of the three proposals for mediation.

All had been assured that the United States would take no action in Mexico without fully acquainting them with it, and that no step would be taken which was contrary to international law and diplomatic procedure. To lift the embargo and permit the insurgents to obtain arms and ammunition in the United States without restriction would mean, the president found, that there would be a just cause for complaint on the part of those countries.

It would mean that the insurgents could fortify themselves and could carry on indefinitely a warfare such as they have maintained for the last six months, with no chance to capture the capital and all hope of ending the disturbances would be remote. This, too, was put aside.

In taking up the other proposition the president had in mind much of the argument he had before him for abandoning the proposal to lift the em- [illegible]

His conclusion was that both sides would have as much consideration for American lives and property as they have had heretofore. They would have the same respect as heretofore for the lives and property of other foreigners, so that question was decided in favor of returning to the non-interference policy.

He then gave thought to the question of the finances of both factions and their ability to carry on a warfare for an indefinite period. The reports before the president indicated that both factions are hard pressed for funds and that the reason they are not obtaining more arms is not because they cannot transport them into Mexico, but because they have no money with which to purchase them. Another phase to this feature was that without any source of supply one side, or perhaps both, would exhaust themselves from fighting. Again, that with resources down low, one side might force the fighting and make sufficient headway to force the other to agree to quit. It was believed that by following a policy of non-interference beyond making the customary demands that foreigners be protected, would retain the moral support of foreign governments.

The president virtually made his decision after going over the third proposition. It is expected that he will announce in a few days that this third alternative is to be the policy of the administration.

The president was influenced more or less by the Huerta note in reply to the Lind proposals. There was no ultimatum in that note that President Wilson must recognize Huerta, but there was a suggestion that the president of the United States do so before making further overtures. That part of the note convinced the president it was almost useless to push the mediation proposal further. He will not recognize Huerta, and Huerta's suggestion was accepted at its face value.

Huerta almost sneeringly refers to the administration as a temporary one; suggests that it will be defeated in the next election, and, therefore, the people of the United States are not supporting the president in his mediation plan. Huerta made it very plain, too, that he considered he had been recognized. He made reference to the speech Henry Lane Wilson, removed as ambassador to Mexico, had made in April last.

Union Must Extend Activities.

KINGSTON, Aug. 20.—(Special.)—That there was great need for more financial assistance and more uniform business methods, was the keynote of the address of President Daniel Duffy at today's session of the Irish Catholic Benevolent Union of Canada and the United States. He said that the association should branch out in new lines in order to successfully compete with other organizations. Without additional revenue the association is hopeless for its present resources were consumed in the payment of current expenses.

ARBITRTION AT HAGUE COURT

Canadian Press Despatch

THE HAGUE, Aug. 21.—The International Peace Congress has adopted a resolution recommending that the difference between Great Britain and the United States regarding the Panama Canal be referred to the Hague Court for arbitration.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 20.—(Can. Press.)—The chief work of the twentieth universal peace congress at its opening session here today was the adoption of three resolutions dealing with disarmament. The first contained a request that the question of the restriction of armaments be included in the program of the next international Hague conference. The second protests against the sinister influence of persons interested in armament industries. The third recommended the consideration by peace societies of the draft of a general treaty for gradual disarmament. Prof. Quidde of the University of Munich proposed this resolution in order that the next conference shall be in a position to discuss the subject with full information at hand.

All the civilized nations were represented, the delegates in attendance numbering 950, many of whom were women pacifists.

The speakers claimed that in spite of recent events in the Balkans the idea of universal peace clearly was progressing.

DYNAMITE THREATENED.

Militia at Nanaimo Guard Boarding House Closely.

NANAIMO, B.C., Aug 20.—(C.A.P.)—Rumors of a plot to blow up Vipond's boarding house in Robson street, where a large number of special police are quartered, have reached the offices of the militia. A strong guard has been thrown around the place. It was asserted that a number of men held a secret meeting and agreed to dynamite the house last night. Another story which is given considerable credit is that a quantity of arms and ammunition has been discovered in the city.

The flooding of No. 1 shaft of the Western Fuel Company commenced this morning, several large centrifugal pumps being employed in drawing water from the harbor and pouring it down the shaft mouth. This will be continued until the workings have been flooded to put out a fire raging there.

As most of the mine is beneath the harbor, the leakage is considerable. There are 100 miles of workings, and once they are filled with water it will take from six months to one year to [illegible] out the mine.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 21— A suggestion has been made by Col. Hall commanding the troops on the strike scene, that newspaper reporters at the scene of trouble be provided with military uniforms and be attached to the corps, and that all news be censored by an officer. The Colonel complains that many of his strategetic moves have been rendered difficult by premature publicity.

Ex-King Well Guarded.

SIRMARINGEN, Germany, Aug. 20.—(Can. Press).—Extensive police precautions have been taken by the Sirmaringen authorities on account of the presence here of ex-King Manuel of Portugal, who is to marry Princess Augusta Victoria, daughter of Prince Wilhelm of Hohenzollern, in September.

All strangers are placed under strict surveillance, possibly on account of the fears held by the police that an attack may be made on the ex-Portuguese ruler.

Ferrata is said to have deserted his first wife and married again, and it was on information given by his former wife that the alleged murderer was located.

ROAST FOR THE RAILWAY

Riflemen Have Scathing Remarks at O.R.A. Council.

LONG BRANCH, Aug. 20.—(Special.)—Weather conditions for today's shooting were only fair, the strong wind from the east continued to disconcert the marksmen, while on the other hand all agreed that the light at the afternoon events was perfect for shooting purposes. The shooting was perhaps on the whole a little more accurate than yesterday's, particularly in the Interprovincial Match, won by Ontario's picked team.

The Grand Trunk System in general, and the service they are handing out to the riflemen in particular, was the subject of some scathing remarks on the part of Majors Dillon and Elliott, at the O. R. A.'s annual council, or "kickers'" meeting, as it is generally, and perhaps more properly, termed.

"They treat us worse and worse every year," vigorously declared Major Dillon. "Last year they did allow us to make use of their regular trains, but this year they won't even accommodate us to the extent of stopping their regular scheduled trains at the rifle ranges."

According to the major, a number of visitors to the ranges were curtly informed by the G. T. R. conductor that the tickets they had purchased to the rifle ranges were of no use in so far as their alighting at this point was concerned. They were told they could get out either at the golf links or Port Credit, which ever suited them the better. They accordingly got off at the golf grounds and lugged their baggage a mile or so, with the thermometer hovering around 90 in the shade.

"If about a dozen gentlemen with a golf stick are on the train, it is stopped for their accommodation, but it's a different story when two or three score riflemen are aboard," vociferated Major Elliott.

HAVE MANIA FOR MARRYING

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vernon Wedded Eleven Times.

HAGERSTOWN Md., Aug. 20.—To be married to each other eleven times since 1909 has been the novel experience of Mr and Mrs. Frank Vernon, who are of Braddock Heights. The marriage ceremonies have been performed in as many different countries. Asked why he and his wife had been married so often when once usually is enough, Vernon said it was a sort of hobby with them, and they took the step as a precaution because in some foreign countries marriages performed in others are not recognized.

He and his wife were first married in Columbus, Ohio, in 1909, then in Montreal in 1910, in England, Scotland, Wales, France, Germany, Belgium and Russia in 1911, in Sydney, Australia, in 1912 and in Vera Cruz, Mexico, in 1913. They hold marriage certificates of all these weddings and the display is unique.

In some of the countries where they were married they did not understand a word the officiating clergyman was [illegible] when they thought the time had come to make the responses. They speak French and German. The first time they were married former Governor Herrick of Ohio, then the state's executive, was a witness.

To Study English Mines.

OTTAWA, Aug. 20.—(Can. Press.)—Hon. T. W. Crothers, minister of labor, sails on the Empress of Britain for England tomorrow, and will not be home again until about Oct. 1. He left this afternoon for Quebec, accompanied by Mrs. Crothers, who will go to England with him.

Mr. Crothers is making the trip primarily for the purpose of studying industrial conditions in the old country, and will give special attention to the conditions under which coal mines are operated there. He will seek information regarding miners' unions and the attitude followed by them when a dispute with the mine owners arises. The reason is the recent trouble in Nanaimo and Nova Scotia.

"I have not seen Presi"——(here he corrected himself) "I have not seen Castro at all," was the response. "I have come from Peru and have not the slightest idea of his whereabouts."

WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS IS SECURED BY COUNSEL

THE FIGHT FOR HARRY K. THAW

Canadian Press Despatch

SHERBROOKE, Aug. 21 — J. D. Greenshields, the well-known criminal lawyer from Montreal, has arrived to take charge of Thaw's case and it was announced this morning that Thaw would not be brought in court to-day on the proposed attempt to secure his release on a writ of habeas corpus. It was decided not to hurry proceedings by allowing Thaw to remain in jail. The defence has neatly offset the immigration authorities who had arranged to seize him immediately upon his release and order his deportation at once.

OTTAWA, ONT., Aug. 21—A formal demand for the surrender of [illegible] immigration authorities to-day by Acting Governor Glynn, of New York. The department replied they would take no action till the present extradition proceedings were concluded, but they let it be known that the authorities would seize Thaw and attempt to deport him should extradition be refused by the Dominion Courts.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 20.—(Can Press.) Harry Kendall Thaw's legal fight against deportation to the United States after his dramatic escape from the Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane on Sunday morning last, will begin in the open in this Canadian frontier town tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. He is to be produced then before Judge Globensky of the superior court on a writ of habeas corpus obtained by his counsel this afternoon. If the writ is sustained he will be a free man. But for how long he will be free is problematical.

Facing such a situation Stanford White's erratic slayer, ordinarily loquacious, has shut his lips tight, and for once in his life has "refused to be interviewed." He has talked vaguely of matters not appertaining to his escape, but not one word has come from him regarding his flight from Matteawan, or of the inception of the plot that led to his delivery, or of the five men who spirited him away. Of these five, one is believed to be in jail in Sherbrooke. He gave the name of "Mitchell Thompson," and insisted that he was a resident of Toronto. But both Sheriff Hornbeck and District Attorney Conger of Dutchess County, N.Y., who looked him over today, said he was none other than "Gentleman Roger" Thompson, late of New York City, and reputed chauffeur of the black automobile that whirled Thaw from Matteawan at more than 60 miles an hour.

Thompson was idling in the superior court room waiting for the Thaw case to come up when the immigration officers arrested him. He was quickly identified as one of the two men with Thaw when he was arrested near Coaticook yesterday. He denied that he had aided Thaw in crossing the border, and maintained that he had met the fugitive by chance. Notwithstanding his protestations of innocence he was held in $500 bail for a hearing on Friday. Unable to furnish the bond he was remanded to jail. Technically he is charged with aiding and abetting a lunatic to cross the Canadian border, an offence punishable with a $500 fine. If the authorities fail to hold him on this charge District Attorney Conger will seek his extradition on a warrant charging Roger Thompson with conspiring with others to defeat the ends of justice in liberating Thaw. The warrant is here and ready, but will not be pressed until the immigration law violation has been tested.

Thompson's defence, it is understood, will emphasize (provided he admits coming across the border with Thaw) the contention that Thaw has not been found insane in Canada, and that assisting him to enter therefor was not a violation of the law. In this way the question of Thaw's sanity will be involved in the procedure separate from his own case.

Thompson's arrest in the court room today was unnoticed by the casual spectator. The prisoner dodged the camera squad while being removed to jail. Shielding his face with a handkerchief he broke into a run to the alarm of the aged deputy who had him in charge and stopped only when bystanders began a hue and cry. Then, still holding his handkerchief over his face, he went quietly to jail and was lodged in a cell not far from Thaw.

"The learned judge did not appear at all, granting the application for the writ of habeas corpus in private."

Thaw remained thruout the day in jail on the crest of a hill half a mile [illegible] in their gossip the towns people nevertheless showed their comparative lack of interest by their absence from the court house. Tho there are 20,000 persons in Sherbrooke, less than 300 came to the court. Of these 12 were women. There was the usual craning of necks, the usual whispers and the usual speculation, but shoving and crowding was conspicuously lacking. Officers of the court did not find it necessary to admonish any one.

District Attorney Conger and Sheriff Hornbeck of Poughkeepsie, waited like the others for the disposition of the Thaw case and departed with the immigration authorities when it was announced that the application for the writ of habeas corpus had been granted and would come up for argument in the morning.

"I am here to get Thaw," said Mr Conger. "Get him I will."

"Thaw will surely be returned to New York State," continued the district attorney, "probably by deportation, as the Canadian government does not want him on its hands. If not by deportation, then by extradition. We have a lot of possibilities to develop in both directions; in fact it is a matter of choosing the best one. We shall try to do that. Thaw should be back in Matteawan soon. Then we shall see whether he can escape again."

Magistrate Wants References.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 20.—(Special.)—Chas. Welch aged 17 years, and Clayton Vanderwater, aged 22 years, this morning before Police Magistrate Mason of this city, pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary. On the fourth inst. the store of Francis Herity at Moira, Huntingdon Township, was entered at night and $75 and goods were taken. The accused were arrested yesterday and brought to the city. Since the offence was committed Vanderwater eloped with a 15-year-old sister of Welch's and married her. The magistrate deferred judgment in the case for a week to allow the culprits to obtain references as to previous character.

Queen's Graduate Drowned.

KINGSTON, Aug. 20.—(Special.)—A telegram to Mrs. Frederick Johnson of the village of Moscow brought the sad news that her daughter, Miss Marie Johnson, was on the steamer "State of California," wrecked off the Alaskan coast on Sunday morning, and that she had been drowned. Miss Johnson was well-known in Kingston, having graduated last spring at Queen's University as bachelor of arts. After convocation she went west to teach school.

Lost His House by Fire.

CHATHAM, Aug. 20.—(Special.)—A bad fire, the origin of which is unknown, took place early this morning, when the house occupied by Henry Smith, on Communication road, Harwich, was burned to the ground, only a very few articles of furniture being saved from the front of the house. Mr. Smith and family escaped unharmed. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

WORKMEN ENTOMBED.

Thirty-Five Men Have Miraculous Escape in Catskills.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(Can. Press.)—Thirty-five workmen caught 140 feet underground in a section of the Catskill aqueduct in course of construction under Washington Heights here when fire broke out in the shaft house overhead tonight were found unharmed two hours later when the fire was controlled. Their chief suffering had been from lack of air, cut off by the pall of smoke overhead.

The fire was a spectacular one, and besides badly damaging the massive shaft building spread to apartment houses closely adjoining it on St Nicholas place and St. Nicholas avenue. Two of the apartment buildings were burned out and others damaged.

Escaped Lunatic Caught.

KINGSTON, Aug. 20.—(Special.)—George Frederick, confined in Rockwood asylum for sixteen years, managed to make his escape, and walked to his old home in Belleville. The police took him in charge while he was endeavoring to get into the market house in the early morning for shelter, and brought him back to Kingston.

FAT BEEF IS SCARCE

Guelph Drovers Say Supply is Very Scarce.

GUELPH, Aug. 20.—(Special)—Local drovers state that at present fat beef is becoming scarce and that they are experiencing difficulty in securing an adequate supply. They also state that prospects are not any too good for a further supply, owing to the shortness of the straw and the poor hay crop. Of lambs, too, there is a dearth.

Farmers who were wont to keep a flock of sheep, using the roadside for their pasture, have been forced by the advent of dogs and the speed fiend in motorcycles and in autos to abandon this industry. All of these things have had their share in the raising of the price of meat.

Harvesting operations are nearly finished. Peas, which earlier in the season were expected to be a great crop, have proved to be a comparative failure owing to the drought, and will only thresh about half the average crop. Late oats are reported to be slightly rusted. The root crop is holding its own, but is badly in need of rain.

"The ground is so hard and baked that the farmers who are preparing the land for fall wheat seeding find it very difficult to plow, in some cases using three horses on a single plow.

MRS. PANKHURST COMING TO CANADA

The Horrors of Hunger and Thirst Strike

Trouville, France, Aug. 21 — The Suffragette movement is an international one, Mrs Pankhurst, the leader of the English militants, said in the course of a chat to-day, at the same time announcing her intention of visiting the United States and Canada at the end of the year to lecture in various other cities.

Talking of her personal experience in the course of five hunger strikes, one of which lasted nine days, Mrs. Pankhurst said:

"Abstention from food, though torture enough, is nothing compared to the awful agony of self-imposed thirst. One's body literally shrivels up until it resembles a mummy. If people could see some of our martyrs lying inert after a hunger strike, with their faces white, drawn and shrunk and with clenched fists, the imagination would be so struck that the country would be roused and force the Government to stop the struggle by giving us the vote."

Despite Gallantry of His Brother-in-Law He Loses His Life.

TORONTO, Aug 21.—With waves dashing five feet high on to the beach, the body of Albert Harrington lay on the sand for over three hours while a doctor and many willing helpers tried by every means in their power to bring back the spark of life. Three tanks of oxygen were pumped into the lungs from the pulmotor of the Toronto Electric Light Company, but without avail. In a house within a stone's throw was the young wife of the dead man, from whom the news of the accident was kept until it was certain that there was no hopes left that her husband could be revived.

Harrington, who lives at 208 Woodbine avenue, had gone down to the beach at 9 o'clock together with J. Lapp and A. Lapp, his two young brothers-in-law, to bathe. Harrington could not swim, but the two younger men, both under twenty, could swim a little. The trio waded out on the sand bar that runs out into the lake at this point, and after standing for a short time while the heavy waves broke over them started to return to the shore.

Without hesitation A. Lapp went after him, but the drowning man in his struggles seized his would-be rescuer round the neck, and it was with great difficulty that Lapp was able to break away. He had a hard struggle to get to the shore owing to the backwash of the heavy swell that was running.

His brother made an attempt to recover Harrington and became exhausted by the efforts he made, but fortunately A. Lepper of 47 Woodbine Beach and Herbert J. Flood of 22 Woodbine Beach, attracted by the boys' shouts, arrived on the scene and pulled them into safety, going into the water with their clothes on.

The boys had hardly been safely taken from the water when the body of Harrington was thrown on shore by the waves. Dr. F. R. Clemens was summoned and the pulmotor phoned for, but owing to the long distance it had to come, it was half an hour before it arrived.

Attracted by the news of the accident, the residents of the beach flocked to the scene, and there was no lack of ready helpers in the efforts made to resuscitate the man. For three hours the doctor would not abandon hope, but shortly after that time the body began to get cold and it was fruitless to keep up any longer the gallant efforts.

Harrington was a man of 30 and worked at the Oxy-Acetylene works on Queen street. He had been married four years. There are no children.

CLIMBS TALL MOUNTAIN

Alpinist Ascends 22,000 Feet in the Himalayas.

MILAN, Aug. 20.—(Can. Press.)—Dr. Placenza, an Italian Alpinist, has succeeded in reaching the summit of Mount Numkum, a peak 22,000 feet high in the Himalayas, according to a telegram received here today from India. Many vain attempts have been made by English and American climbers to scale this peak.

The mountain referred to is obviously one of the Nun Kum group in Suru in Central Southern Kashmir. This group was exhaustively explored by Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter Workman, the famous mountain climbers of Worcester, Mass., in 1906. They made a complete circle of the group, traversing mountains and glaciers previously unexplored and camping at an altitude of 21,300 feet. They climbed one peak of this group to a height of 22,720 feet.

The other notable explorer of the Himalaya mountains was the Duke of Abruzzi, whose work was in another locality.

The expedition included Dr. Lorenzo Borelli as a topographer, and Cesare Calciati, who had accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Workman in their explorations in 1908 and 1911. They also took experienced Alpine guides.

The bride's peak, the greatest height of the Himalaya mountains ever ascended, was climbed by the Duke of Abruzzi. It is 24,600 feet high.

FINED FOR TRESPASSING ON PROPERTY OF C.P.R.

Each of Nine Offenders Asked to Contribute $2—They Paid

That the C.P.R. officials mean business in regard to the stopping of trespassing on their property was shown at police court this morning, when the following defendants pleaded guilty and were fined:

Harold Lee, of walking on C.P.R. track, $2.

Ed. Connors, trespassing on C.P.R. property, $2.

R. Blanchard, same charge, $2

Wm. Neill, same charge, $2

Wm. Robertson, riding on track, $2.

J. Camille, same charge, $2

Alex. Archibald, same charge, $2

B. Dunsford, riding bicycle on track, $2.

Geo. Ball, ditto, $2

Magistrate Dumble wound up the proceedings by saying that the property of the C. P. R. Company was private land that there should be no trespassing.

Actress' Flat Raided.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—While Grace La Rue was performing last night at the Palace Music Hall, her flat in the Savoy Mansions was robbed of $4500 in American money, $1500 in English money, and jewelry valued at $8200.

Evidently the thieves had a duplicate key and carried out their plans with the greatest deliberation.

Miss La Rue resided in the flat with her husband, Byron Chandler, once called "the millionaire kid," and a woman friend, Miss Schills. Grace La Rue's home in New York, at No. 907 Seventh avenue, was robbed last April of a sealskin coat valued at $800, and gowns worth $1500, but the thieves were soon arrested and most of their loot was restored to the owner.

Alberta Farmers to Co-Operate.

CALGARY Aug. 20.—The announcement is made that the farmers' organization will erect forty six elevators in Alberta in time to handle this year's crop. The undertaking will cost over $360,000, of which twenty per cent. will be furnished by the farmers, the balance by the government, on twenty years loan, at five per cent. Work is now commenced on twenty elevators.

THE FIRE FIEND

There does not seem to be any means of reducing the bush fires that rage over the country whenever there is a lengthy drought. Precautions in the way of policing the forests are of little avail. It is almost impossible to trace the beginning of these mighty conflagrations and once they get a start nothing but the intervention of the heavens can stop the ravenous progress of the fire fiend.

At the present time vast forests that would take twenty years to cut down by the hand of man, are being swept away and reduced to ashes within the brief space of a few days by all devouring fires.

Such dead loss is bound to have serious consequences in the lumber trade and will tend to discourage capital from being invested in these new districts.

Perhaps the only effective cure for extensive fires is population. Where men live in large numbers the fiend can be kept at bay. Peterborough is not situated in a thickly wooded district but if it were not for a vigilant and efficient fire department our own city might have been laid waste within the last few weeks.

THE WATER SUPPLY

The residence in the south of the city will be glad to hear that the council is taking the matter of water supply seriously, and that the commissioners are putting the work in hand right away.

The proposed new mains in the north and west of the city will also supply a long felt want and will be well worth the money expended upon them, the increase in pressure will be appreciated by householders and business houses, and perhaps more particularly by our fire department.

As to the water supplied to Peterborough it is as pure as in any city in Ontario, and compared with some cities is much purer. Nevertheless it has been deemed advisable by the City Medical Officer of Health, owing to the continued dry spell, that all city water should be boiled for drinking purposes.

IS WAR A CIVILIZER?

It seems to be at a standstill in the world's war business. The Balkans are quiet, doubtless burying their dead and brooding over the folly of war.

War, for its own sake, or for any sake, is a foolish business, and there are some people who contend that it is as futile as it is foolish. Mr. Norman Angel goes so far as to say that neither the victor nor the victim ever gained any good from war.

This in one sense may be true, but to contend that war has had no effect, or has played no part in the advance of the race is not correct, according to history.

There are crises in the history of nations when war, if not necessary, is inevitable. The Balkan war was such. And to say that no good can accrue from the struggle to either of the combatants is surely to take a pessimistic view of life altogether.

Struggle of any kind, physical, mental or spiritual, works out for the ultimate good of all concerned. But the price—that's the thing we all try to shirk. Sacrifice is the motive force of all progress, whether in individual or in national life.

An Ottawa paper took Mr. Burnham, M.P., to task the other day because he spoke of war as a civilizer, and suggested that there were disputes between nations which could only be settled by a contest of physical strength.

This may not appear a very humanitarian doctrine, but Mr. Burnham was presumably speaking of things that were inevitable, and not of things that were necessary or desirable. There are a great many things in national, as in individual life, that we would all be glad to see eradicated. Carnal and vicious strife is one of them. But that is not yet.

EDITORIAL NOTES

One good lady reader sends The Review a very strong letter condemning the editor for quoting "Saturday Night" on Pastor Russell and threatens to withdraw her subscription. The Review does not wish to offend any of its readers, but if it stopped to consider the susceptibilities of every individual reader it would not publish very much.

No suffragette literature was found about the grounds, after the fire at Henderson's Corners school house. It is fortunate for Mrs. Pankhurst that she is not a Canadian just now or she would have much to answer for.

Dr. W. B. Creighton, the editor of The Christian Guardian, who has been in the limelight of late in an editorial skirmish with The Globe on the ethics of its pro-prohibition and liquor advertising policy, left Toronto yesterday for Edmonton, Alta., on a two week's holiday.

"Remember, remember
That day of September!"

Sang Sir Wilfrid the other day, with the tremello stop out. The Globe is a little out of tune. It has recently been trying to persuade the Liberals that that "dark day" was the best thing that ever happened to the party.

EXCERPTS

TOO SENSITIVE.

It must puzzle the Britisher who visits Canada to know just what to say when he is interviewed by the newspaper reporters. We are so supersensitive that if he says nothing he is set down as a surly English blockhead, whilst on the other hand if he says something he is tolerably sure to arouse the ire of some hypercritical newspaper, no matter if his replies are simple honest responses to an inquisitive reporter's interrogations. The fact that a few weeks ago the London Times warned visiting Britons not to take any side in the naval question or any other national question is quoted with approval by one rabid Liberal newspaper, which actually declares that this warning "is a recognition of the vital principle of self-government!" Oh, fudge!—Brockville Times.

[illegible]

Having tried unsuccessfully various highly recommended recipes for dislodging selfish passengers from coveted seats, the woman who swung from a strap in front of the sandy man tried talking at him to her husband. As a peroration to her harangue, she said impressively:

"If you, James, should ever be piggish enough to sit down while there was a woman in the car left standing I would never speak to you again as long as I live."

The sandy man looked up then.

"Lucky chap," he said. "Not many of us could purchase peace at that price."—Exchange.

Different Again.

A strapping German with big beads of perspiration streaming down his face was darting in and out among the aisles of a department store.

His excited actions attracted the attention of all the sales people, and they hardly knew what to make of it. A hustling young man of the clothing department walked up and asked:

"Are you looking for something in men's clothing?"

An Example.

"How could a dish run away with a spoon? Dishes are inanimate. A dish can't run or talk."

Quite So.

Patch—To write fiction I suppose the first requisite is imagination.

Penley—Yes. You have to imagine that your stories will sell or you won't begin.—Boston Transcript.

The Minimum Wage.

Lady Reformer—My good girl, do you believe in a minimum wage?

The Girl Worker—Why shouldn't I? Ain't I getting it?—Life.

The Patient Public.

We are waiting for a system
That will take the trusts and twist 'em
Till their gains are scattered in the public hands,
While the rich pay all the taxes
And the price of things relaxes
And we'll never have to meet unjust demands.

We are waiting, we are waiting,
With a courage unabating
For the simple standards that we knew of yore.
We have felt the food elation
Of a glorious expectation,
And if necessary we can wait some more.
—Washington Star.

Likes Her Divorce.

"I feel as if I have a new lease of life," is the way Lady Randolph Churchill speaks of her divorce from George Cornwallis West, the young brother of the Princess Pless and Duchess of Westminster.

Lady Churchill is developing a new plan to raise funds for the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre. She is a remarkable woman, and now that her former name has been restored, will pursue the public activities without which her life is a blank.

Of incredible energy, Lady Churchill is never happy if idle, and no matter what new plan may seize her fancy, she is certain of Queen Alexandra's unfailing friendship and support.

This week Lady Churchill had tea quietly with the widowed Queen at Marlborough House, and this display of royal favor evidently acted as a stimulating tonic.

Building the New Delhi.

Dealing with the question of the most suitable architecture for India's new capital at a meeting of the East India Association, at Caxton Hall Westminster, Mr. F. O. Oertal, superintendent engineer, of Allahabad, expressed the view that salvation for India lay in the adoption of some form of Oriental architecture which had grown up in the country, and was most suited to its climatic and other conditions. What they wanted for India was not a Greek and Roman renaissance, but a renaissance of Indian art and architecture. That want was being clearly felt, and it was our clear duty to help and foster the movement, and guide it into the right channel. At the present moment a great and unrivalled opportunity had come for the encouragement of Indian art in the building of the new Delhi; and he trusted that that opportunity would not be allowed to go by without being taken full advantage of. We were not in India as colonists intent on making a home there as nearly as possible like the one we had left behind.

We had avowedly broken away from the traditions of the East India Co. The King Emperor, in public Durbar, had proclaimed his intention of removing his capital from Calcutta to the seat of the old Mogul Empire at Delhi. By so doing he signified that India was to be ruled for India's benefit alone and according to Indian sentiment. The British were too apt to disregard sentiment and appearances and to forget that the Indian peasant would largely judge the character of our rule by the public buildings in which our administration [illegible] If these were foreign to his understanding, the British raj would remain foreign to him, however just, equitable, and beneficial that rule might be. Though the building of the new capital could not be indefinitely delayed, one or two winters devoted to the study of Indian architecture would not be a waste of time.

September 22nd is the date for the opening in Montreal of the 29th annual meeting of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

The Best Detective Story of the Last Ten Years

Meanwhile, Mrs. Missioner sent a reply to Sands with which she told herself, he must be content for the present. When she had written it, she dressed for dinner rather earlier than usual, dined with only little Dorothy March as a vis-a-vis, and, after an hour or so spent in working out pretty problems with her youthful protegee, rang for her limousine and was whirled away to a dance at the home of one [illegible] friends. Mrs. Missioner's arrival was an instant triumph, a royal progress. She laughed and chatted with men who adored her, and with women who would have done the same if they had not been—women.

Yet there was a monotony about it all to her, for although she was fond of society, she had seen the same faces, heard the same talk, listened to the same music, and danced the same dances many, many times in the course of that season. Just when her vague wish for the unusual was shaping itself into a materialization of the grizly phantom, boredom, a little stir at the entrance to the ballroom heralded the arrival of a man who quickly drove the little drab devil of ennui from his perch upon Mrs. Missioner's satin shoulder.

The newcomer was a tall person, wearing the ordinary evening attire of gentlemen, with the addition, however, of a showy turban that crowned his long black hair, like a wreath of snow upon a darkling mountain-side. It needed no second glance to tell Mrs. Missioner that they had already met. She knew it long before the Swami's dark eyes swung their twin search-light glance in her direction. Mrs. Missioner recognized readily the mysterious stranger of the opera box. It was the first time she had seen him since the night in which she discovered the falsity of her jewels. [illegible] moment, the sight of his swart face and piercing eyes recalled the pang with which she had learned of the loss of the Maharanee diamond. So it was with a most gracious smile that she interrupted an introduction by her hostess and said:

"We have met quite recently," as she touched the tips of her white-gloved fingers to those of the Oriental. She went on: "You see I am more composed than at our last meeting; but then, I dare say, you were not troubled. Jewels, you know, mean so much to a woman."

"Some jewels mean more, Mrs. Missioner," said the Swami suavely. "I thoroughly understand the sense of loss—in fact, the bereavement that came upon you when you found that beautiful necklace was not what you had supposed it to be."

"I rather imagine," Mrs. Missioner returned, "that you are not unfamiliar with the fact that it was the loss of one stone among the many which really grieved me."

"You are right, my good friend," returned the Swami. "I will not pretend to be ignorant of the value you attached to the central gem—the Maharanee diamond. You are not alone——" He checked himself abruptly. "It was a stone which well might command affection from its possessor. Time was when devotion would have been the word."

They were strolling across the floor as they talked, and in a corner distant from the music the widow seated herself on a Louis Quinze chair and said, almost coaxingly:

"I feel pretty sure you know more about the history of that jewel than I do."

"Indeed!" was the Swami's only concession.

"Yes, indeed and indeed," said the widow, with a gay little laugh. "Of course, a sage cannot be expected to occupy his thoughts with anything so frivolous as a diamond, however beautiful. Yet I am convinced that if you were to unbend from your meditations of the occult long enough to scan your memory, you would recall facts in connection with it that would be very interesting to me."

"May I inquire your reason for so thinking, dear madam?"

"It is a reasonable request on your part," she replied. "I remember my husband told me the stone had come from the treasure casket of the most beautiful queen in India—is not that why it is called the Maharanee diamond?"

"It would be difficult to explain the name of every great diamond in Hindostan," said the Swami evasively. "Since your husband gave you a history of the stone, surely you cannot doubt its authenticity?"

"Oh, of course not," said the widow. "It is not in regard to its more recent history that I am questioning you. I think you know not only all the traditions hinging upon it, but that you are also conversant with its journeying through your native land before it became the possession of the Maharanee from whom my husband bought it."

"Really, Mrs. Missioner," replied the scholar, "I can imagine nothing more delectable than to carry out your slightest wish; but we of the East have things on which to concentrate our poor intelligences that are too grave to make room even for so interesting a diversion as historical study among precious stones."

"Come, now!" urged the widow. "Please search your memory again. Unbend, Mr. Philosopher."

"Lest you think me churlish, I do recall that your famous diamond at one time was regarded with religious reverence by a large number of my countrymen. Naturally, being a Brahmin, I am not in sympathy with idolatry. Therefore, I cannot tell you what degree of sanctity attaches to the stone in the eyes of those to whom it once belonged."

Had anyone been standing immediately behind Mrs. Missioner's chair in such a position as to look into the depths of the Oriental's eyes, instead of gazing upward at them and so missing the angle of truth as Mrs. Missioner from her position could only do, he would have seen in those inky depths a gleam that belied the suave disclaimer of the priest. Mrs. Mis[illegible] and it was with no sensation of discomfort, therefore, that she returned the Swami's bow as he moved away to join a group of people.

Mrs. Missioner, in the most comfortable way in the world, laid her hand on the arm of Curtis Griswold, and recrossed the floor to make up a set of lancers. She would have been uncomfortable indeed, and even the self-centred Swami would have had a dim sense of something unusual, had they known that every word they exchanged was overheard by another swarthy man in Occidental attire who stood behind a screen. The second Easterner, he of the screen, gazed after Mrs. Missioner menacingly, and fixed his eyes the next moment on the broad back of the Swami with a look freighted with suspicion. He shrugged his shoulders after the manner of a Frenchman toned by long contact with Saxon restraint, and unpretentiously made a half-circle of the room until at a distance of a few yards he faced the turbaned scholar. His eyebrows lifted. The unspoken question was answered by an unnoticeable shake of the Swami's head. Further questions and answers flashed telepathically between those two pairs of vividly black eyes, and a little later the men themselves paused for an instant for an exchange of words.

"As I told you, Prince," said the Swami, "she was not a party to it."

"Your proof?"

"And the other?"

"He is here."

"Watch him!"

"Assuredly."

"Are the disciples at work?"

"They must be finished by now. I expect the signal at any moment."

"It is well."

Griswold should have had one of the most enjoyable evenings of his life. Uncertain of her heart's attitude towards Sands, eagerness to avert the problem for a few hours made Mrs. Missioner seem more willing to be monopolized by the clubman than she would have been under any other circumstances. Who so debonair as Griswold when he led the beautiful widow through the mazes of the square dance, or floated with her about the room to the melody of the Gitana waltz? Who more worthy of the homage due to a conquistador as he paraded the wealthy woman's acquiescence to his open wooing the length and breadth of the most brilliant and exclusive ballroom in Fifth Avenue? It was not to be expected that Curtis, under such conditions could be anything but gay. He glittered. His conversation sparkled like the receiver of a wireless instrument. Little Dorothy March was so impressed by the exceptional gallantry and animation of the palpably delighted clubman—so deeply impressed, in fact, that it was long ere the memory of that evening faded in more recent recollections of chocolate nougats and Forrest Theatre matinees.

Now, the question is, would Curtis Griswold have been as light-hearted if he had known that a letter addressed to him was intercepted at the door of this same mansion in Millionaire's Row by a swarthy gentleman of Oriental aspect, who had dazzled the unsuspecting district messenger with a tip of gleaming gold? Whether he would remains a question. Griswold never knew it, but Prince Kananda, after a swift perusal of the note in a secluded smoking room, lost no time in letting the Swami know it, and it was worthy of note, though perhaps nobody noticed it, that within a very few minutes after their second meeting in the ballroom, Prince and scholar took their separate leave of their hostess, and sped northwesterly in closed automobiles that raced neck and neck far beyond the speed limit.

Little society reporters, in frocks of hodden gray, scribbled for the city editions of the morning papers the internationally important information that the ball of that evening was one of the most brilliant successes of the season, and that it was graced by the attendance of an Oriental prince whose departure was hastened by the receipt of a pressing cablegram from his royal father.

CHAPTER XIX.

The Mysterious Millicent.

Britz streaked from Sands's apartment to a dingy little den of a shop on the top floor of a downtown business rookery—one of the skyscrapers of a quarter-century before. It was much more tedious to climb the five flights of stairs to the sixth story than to shoot in an express elevator to the summit of the Singer Building. But Britz was too hot on the scent to pay much attention to his fatigue. He ran up the stairs lightly, flung open a crazy outer door that creaked an announcement of his coming, and pushed a bit of paper toward a young man of modern physique and ancient visage who was working at a bench. The paper was the note beginning "Curtis Dear," and ending with the first name of the mysterious Millicent. The anachronistic young man looked at it inquiringly through steel-rimmed spectacles.

"Rush a hundred copies of this, Burleu," said Britz. "I'll send for them in a couple of hours."

The detective seated himself on a stool behind the bench, and for several minutes watched the photo-engraver at his work. His mind was not behind his eyes, however. He was busy with the possibilities unfolded by the little scrap of paper he had found in the Hindoo burglar's possession. The Headquarters man never was in a hurry to accept any clew at its face value; nevertheless, he felt he had at last something which, if not a direct link between his knowledge and his suppositions would go far toward connecting them. That the note was addressed to Curtis Griswold he had little doubt. It required small effort of reasoning to conclude that the Easterners had gone to Sands's apartments soon after visiting Griswold. By this time, Britz had learned enough to convince him that the Brahmin scholar was as eager to get possession of the Missioner necklace as he was—to get the Maharanee diamond, anyway, if not all the other gems belonging to the famous string. By a patient, patchwork process, Britz had pieced together the tiniest details of the Swami's movements. He knew all about the scholar's presence in the Metropolitan Opera House on the night of the disappearance of the jewels, and he had made himself acquainted with the system of espionage maintained by the sage and his subordinates ever since that time. That system, he was aware, covered everyone connected, however distantly, with the mystery. It was apparent to Britz that he was working against men who, while not trained detectives in the Occidental sense, were fully as persistent in their quest as himself. There was no question the Swami had directed all the energies of the Easterners which the detective had followed interestedly throughout their various manifestations. Britz was convinced that he had the Brahmin priest to thank for his own kidnapping; and he was equally certain that the same little band of brothers had searched the homes of Bruxton Sands and Curtis Griswold. He was not given to attaching much weight to intuition, regarding that faculty as a pale and usually ineffective feminine reflection of masculine logic.

Not Mysticism, but Mathematics.

Mrs. Madison, whose latest hobby is the psychology and the esoteric influence of colors, was deeply gratified when her husband admitted without urging that there might be something in her theory after all.

"Dawson?" questioned Mrs. Madison, amazed, for Dawson is the manager of her husband's stables and unknown among psychologists.

Mr. Madison nodded. "He says the bays eat more than the grays."

"Really!" It was a humble victory, but Mrs. Madison's face glowed with triumph. "How does Dawson account for it?"

"There are ten more bays than grays," said Mr. Madison.—Youth's Companion.

PAINTING FOR THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Order Was Filled by J.J. Turner and Sons

J. J Turner & Sons have shipped a large display of painting on canvas for the Department of Education, to be used in connection with the department's exhibit at the Toronto Exhibition.

The painting, which is 50x15 feet, represents the battleships as in action during the Battle of Trafalgar, and it also gives the famous message sent out by Lord Nelson from the Victory: "England expects every man to do his duty." Under each word is painted the flag, which was used to convey the message by signal.

The painting is a very creditable piece of work, and it represents the high standard of proficiency attained by Turners.

Besides viewing this painting today, a Review representative also paid a visit to the Grand Opera House, which has been re-painted and re-decorated. It is sufficient to say that patrons of this modern play house will be delighted when the doors open again for the first night of this coming season.

LACE DANCING FROCK.

A Happy Blending of Modern and Old Fashions.

READY FOR THE BALL.

In the charmingly girlish dance frock illustrated are blended the modern and old fashions that are prominent in the season's modes. The rather scant straight skirt is trimmed with three ruffles of graduated widths. It is attached to a bodice veiled with gold net and white chiffon and trimmed elaborately with bullion fringe. A moire girdle defines the waist at the front and sides, while the chiffon tablier at the back is draped in a manner to lend an empire effect to the costume. Hand embroidered silk gloves match the shade of the girdle and the silk foundation of the gown, which is American Beauty color. The little carriage card is of lace and liberty satin.

A Girl's New Year's Resolution.

I'm going to be glad. Who knows what nice things may be just around the corner?

I'm going to be all dressed before I leave my own room and then forget it.

I won't always tell all I know.

I won't tell my friends of holes in their clothes when they are far from home.

I won't fuss over things I cannot help.

I won't hurry more than half of the time.

I'll try to be pleasant and not lie, but I won't lie to be pleasant. A good natured liar makes every one mad in the long run.

When "in company" I'll talk, whether I have anything to say or not.

I'll try to keep all my old friends and make as many new ones as possible, for some of the old will surely drop out. It is better to be on with the new before you are off with the old.

Last, I'll try to keep some of these resolutions, all the easy ones anyway.

A Giant Linden Tree.

The village of Reinborn, in the mountainous region of Taunus, in Germany, possesses a linden tree which is said to have reached the age of 1,200 years. In summer the tree is said to be magnificent, and its foliage offers shade to 200 persons at one time. The trunk is twelve meters in circumference—that is, thirty-nine feet. It has been hollowed by time, and a dozen persons can stand in the cavity. The Taunus club has taken the giant under its protection in the hope that with care and attention its life may be spared for many years.

NORWOOD NEWS

Special Correspondence.

NORWOOD, Aug 18.—Mr. Wm. T. [illegible] Asphodel, met with a terrible accident on Monday morning of this week while at work on his farm on the Hastings road, south of Norwood. Mr. Buck was engaged in cutting a field of oats with the mowing machine, and had noticed a fly annoying one of his horses, and in his kindness of heart which has characterized him throughout his life, he stopped his team and thoughtlessly stepped in front of the cutting bar of the machine to destroy the troublesome fly. His action exited the horse, which made a plunge forward, and Mr. Buck was caught by the rapidly moving knives, with the result that his leg was literally sawn off just above the ankle. Mr. Buck did not realize the seriousness of the accident at the time, and started to walk to the house to have his injuries attended to. He actually walked on the stump for fully one hundred yards or more. Drs. Ford and Sutton were immediately 'phoned for and attended the unfortunate man at once. When Mr. Buck was made fully acquainted with the seriousness of his misfortune, he still maintained his fortitude and cheerfulness and was thankful it was not much worse. After the local doctors attended to his injuries he was prepared for a journey and was hurried off to Peterborough in Mr. Cuffe's auto, where his leg would receive full treatment. The doctors here thought on account of the bone above the wound being splintered, it would be necessary to have the limb amputated below the knee.

A special meeting of the Norwood Board of Education will be held this evening to appoint a successor to Miss Brain assistant High school teacher, resigned.

At a special meeting of the Village Council held on Friday evening cil held on Friday evening last Messrs Alf Reynolds and H. The under part forms a convenient hamper either for clothes to be ironed or for those that have undergone the treatment.

THE OLD APPLE WAS DRIVEN TO DRINK BY D. HILLIARD

Petes Middle Gardener Had a Homer Dawn First That Made Three Runs

It was a long way home in yesterday's battle at Riverside Park. The tribe of Rube Deneau and the local lads were doing business after six bells and it was a hungry crowd that left the ball grounds. All four pill dispensers were wont to soar to the clouds above and failure was no fault of their own. Umps Daly must have called "ball" about a million times yesterday and some of the fans wanted to know why he didn't allow his vocal apparatus to remain set.

But finally the Petes were returned winners. With steady twirling, all doubts as to the ultimate winner would have vanished very early in the program, thanks to a mighty wallop by David Hilliard in the very first frame when, with two on, he drove the ball down first and it went straight to the drink. The Petes took a rest in the second and then bombarded Beebe's offerings in the third for a total of seven tallies.

But Penfold was wild and Manager Rowan, fearful that by some pretext one of the Cockneys might slip in a triple amidst the shower of free transportations to the first corner, called Belting to duty in the sixth. The Swede was also wild and the visitors became dangerous. Tracey was sent out to warm up but by herculean efforts, the Indians were held back from the winning post and after it was all over, the locals were two in the lead.

One of the extra features was a collision by Stewart and Bierbauer which placed both hors de combat for some minutes and the latter had to retire from the game.

Again, Frank Fox took exception to a strike called on him and his oratory cost him a ticket through the gates and a subscription of $5 for the Old Folks Home for Poor Umpires.

Here's a sample of the play:

FIRST INNINGS.

Linneborn walked. He made second on Matteson's hit to the pitcher as he was safe on the throw and [illegible] when [illegible] Rowan and got [illegible]. The throw to third failed to get Linneborn. He scored on Bierbauer's double to Swartz. Stewart and Dunlop fanned. One run.

Brant walked. Rowan singled. Brant stole third and Fox fanned. Hilliard cleared the bases and scored himself on a terrific drive down first that went to the river. Trout flew to Neal and Smith threw out Swartz. Three runs.

SECOND INNINGS.

Neal drew a pass and stole second. Deneau also walked, and when Smith popped to Penfold, Deneau was doubled at first. Beebe fanned.

Dunlop threw out Byrne, and Brant grabbed a drive from Matteson. Swartz copped Bierbauer's fly.

THIRD INNINGS.

Brant waited for four wide ones and took third when Linneborn dropped the ball on Smith's throw. Rowan stole second and Fox fanned. Hilliard walked, filling the bases, and Trout singled to centre, scoring Brant and Rowan. Swartz hit through second, scoring Hilliard and sending Trout to third, the latter scoring on Byrne's hit through third. On Thompson's hit to left he made third. Swartz scored, but Byrne was out at the plate. Penfold got a double when Bierbauer and Stewart went down in a heap before his fly. Thompson scoring. Bierbauer retired from the game, Deneau taking first base and Reidy centre field. Beebe gave way to Boldt and Brant hit out to Neal, and Penfold counted. On Rowan's effort Brant was caught between second and third. Seven runs.

WON FAME ON THE GRIDIRON

Mr. "Jack" Gleeson is Now Winning Success With Street Paving

Mr. J. T. Gleeson, of Ottawa, who was heard by the Board of Works last night, in connection with the tender for street paving of Foley and Gleeson is the famous "Jack" Gleeson whose drop kicking on the gridiron helped to bring laurels to the Ottawa camp on more than one occasion.

The firm of Foley and Gleeson have just completed their big contract in Lindsay where asphaltic concrete paving was laid, and the Lindsay officials are so well pleased that they have given another contract to the same firm.

Incidentally, Mayor Bradburn remarked that the street paving accomplished in Lindsay was a credit to that town.

WM. GREEN ON CARPET AGAIN

He Pleads Not Guilty to Vagrancy Charge

Wm. Green, jr., Water Street, appeared before Magistrate Dumble at Police Court this morning, on the charge of vagrancy. He pleaded not guilty. Constable Reid and Detective Newhall gave evidence and the case was adjourned until to-morrow morning.

Green served two months in the county jail a short time ago for vagrancy.

It is said he gets drunk and then goes home and abuses his aged father and the housekeeper. Complaints have been received continually regarding the conduct of Green when in one of his moods.

"The trouble is that there is a danger of him killing his father" said the Chief.

Green asked that he be allowed to get witnesses and the case was adjourned until to-morrow morning.

There's a lot of poor men just being used as good providers, and yet they don't seem to mind much.

THE FERNCLIFFE PITCHER

Story of a Baseball Championship

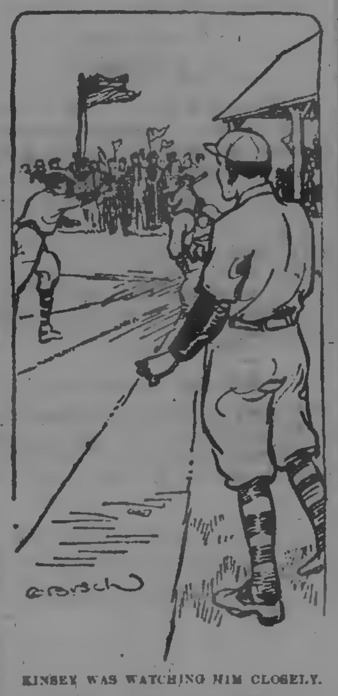
By DAVID R. BRADY

The baseball fever for the coming season was on, and the teams were being made up with unusual care, for half a dozen towns within a dozen miles of one another had formed a league with a view to disputing a championship before the diamond should be deserted in favor of the gridiron. No professional players were allowed to take part, and every precaution was taken to insure an amateur series of games.

As the season advanced the different teams were found to be so evenly matched that it was impossible to predict which two would play the finals for the champion prize bat inlaid with silver and beautiful to behold.



KINSEY WAS WATCHING HIM CLOSELY.

At first the Forest Hills led, with the Sparksvilles second. Then the Hammond Centers and Guilfords crept upon these teams and passed them. And so the record kept changing till midsummer, when it became evident that two teams, both of which had been at the foot of the list at the start, the Hiltons and the Ferncliffes, stood at the head of the list, and one or the other was bound to win the bat.

The reason of this was that both these teams, after the first few games had been played, got in new captains, who took them in hand in earnest and coached them splendidly. Warfield of the Hammond Centers was jocularly spoken of as having been born with a baseball in his mouth, and Kinsey of the Ferncliffes was represented when a baby as having thrown away his bottle and called for a bat. Each man weeded out the poor material he found in his team and replaced it with the best. It was said that Warfield could tell a good catcher by his walk and that Kinsey could make a twirler in three lessons of any man.

The excitement had been increasing during the playing of the games up to the point of deciding which teams should make the final struggle for the bat, and when this was determined it reached fever heat.

While there was ill feeling between the partisans, there was none whatever between the two teams. The captains were the best of friends and remained so notwithstanding the rivalry. Each told the other that he expected to be beaten, but would die game, though no such admission was allowed to get out.

The excitement ran as high among the girls of the different towns as among the young men, many girls having sewed or embroidered on their caps or their sweaters or their jackets the letter H or F. With the exception of those girls living in one of the towns from which the rival clubs hailed, the preference depended on the attractiveness of one or more players. This gave Captain Warfield a majority of the sympathy, for he was a fine looking fellow, while Kinsey's nose had been broken at football, which sadly marred his appearance.

A week before the champion game was to be played the pitcher of the Ferncliffe team received a blow in the eye from a ball which not only closed it, but bid fair to be followed by serious consequences. At any rate, the accident eliminated him from the coming game.

Where was Kinsey to find a pitcher to take the place of the one he had lost? The terms adopted by the league required that all the players should be residents of the town which the team represented. Kinsey told Warfield that he must either have authority to go outside the county for a pitcher or give up the struggle. Warfield consented to his doing so provided only an amateur was introduced.

Immediately after this arrangement Kinsey was known to be giving instructions to his pitcher, but since these lessons were in private it was not known who the pitcher was. He said that he was obliged to make a pitcher since there was none ready made at hand. The person he was instructing did not come to Kinsey for instruction. Kinsey went to his pupil. For this reason it was difficult to find out who was the man being taught to twirl.

This matter seriously disturbed the betting on the champion game. Kinsey was importuned with questions about his new pitcher and how the matter would affect the game. He re[illegible] had as good a chance for winning with the substitute as with the original, but he declined to give an opinion as to the result. A man named Kyle, who was betting on the game, so persisted in his questions as to who the new pitcher was, where he came from and what was his record that Kinsey, finally losing his patience, said:

"I don't know that I'll have a pitcher. I may have to take one from the team."

"That will make you a man short," said Kyle.

"Suppose it should?"

"In that case I'll bet you $50 you lose the game."

"I'm not betting on the game, but if you'll make the stake a present for the pitcher to cost not more than $10 against a box of cigars to cost the same amount I'll take you."

"All right," said Kyle; "it's a go."

Several persons who were standing near were puzzled at this strange contract, but, interpreting it favorably for the Ferncliffe team, went away to get bets against it. The incident was spread abroad and tended to stimulate the backing of Kinsey's team, though odds were obtained, it being reported that the pitcher would come from the team as already constituted and that the game was liable to be played with a man short.

Up to the day the game was played no one had seen the new pitcher, and some contended that there would be no new pitcher; that Kinsey had a man on his team—a dark horse—who would do the twirling. Ferncliffe folks, taking their cue from the captain, made what bets they could get (at considerable odds in their favor) that the Ferncliffes would win the game with a man short.

When the teams walked out on the diamond, true enough, there were but eight men in the Ferncliffes. However, when the game was called a man emerged from the Ferncliffe quarters and advanced toward the diamond. He went straight to the pitcher's box and stood there with every spectator's eye fixed upon him. He was of medium height and appeared to be well built, though his loose uniform was not calculated to show the lines of his figure. He did not look over eighteen years old, but that was about the average age of either team. Kinsey tossed him the ball, which seemed to go to him as if he held a magnet in his palm, and the game began.

It does not come within the scope of this story to give a detailed account of the struggle for the championship between the Hilton and Ferncliffe teams. It was closely contested from the start. At first the Ferncliffe's pitcher seemed to be very nervous and made some bad breaks. Kinsey was watching him closely and now and again spoke to him encouragingly. Reassured, he went on with his work and before the third inning began to show himself a first class twirler. Indeed, before the game was finished it was evident that if the game was won at all it would be won through the advantage he gave his team. In the eighth inning it was a tie, and only by the brilliant pitching in the ninth did the Ferncliffes win the game.

The teams had left the grounds when Kyle stepped up to Kinsey and said:

"How about that bet between us? I suppose since you had a full team it's off."

"I've won that bet," replied Kinsey, and, thrusting his hand under his jacket, he brought out a bill and handed it to Kyle.

"To lady's hat and trimming," read Kyle. "$10. What does it mean?"

"It means that I bought the stake for the pitcher, since I intended she should have it if I must pay for it myself. Since we won with a man short you may settle the bill."

"A man short!"

"Yes; our pitcher is not a man, but a girl, a cousin of mine, a student in the State Normal school. She's strong and athletic, and I've played ball with her often and while doing so saw in her the making of a good twirler. She'll be at our house this evening and happy to receive callers in appropriate costume."

It is needless to say that the young lady pitcher's reception in the evening was largely attended. She was very modest and found it difficult to stand [illegible] eyes brought to bear on her. The story that the Ferncliffe pitcher was a girl had within the few hours since the finishing of the game spread so far that every one who had seen her in baseball costume wished to see her dressed as a woman. The consequence was that the house was too small to receive the crowd at one time, so they kept going as well as coming.

The next day when the normal student returned to her home a crowd escorted her to the station. She wore the hat that she had won by the bet Kinsey had made in her behalf, and many were the facetious remarks it excited. When the train pulled out a shout went up, which was acknowledged by a waving of the said hat.

The Ferncliffes have a clubhouse, where their trophies are displayed. The hat won by the team from the Hiltons hangs on the wall, and under it hangs the photograph of the girl who enabled them to win it. She is now a matron and has forgotten athletics in a numerous progeny of children.

HE NOW BELIEVES IN "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Because He No Longer Suffers With Headaches

TAYLORVILLE, ONT.

"I was a sufferer from Fearful Headaches for over two years. Sometimes, they were so bad that I was unable to work for days at a time. I took all kinds of medicine, was treated by physicians, but yet the Headaches persisted.

A short time ago, I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I did so, with I must confess, very little faith. But after I had taken them for three days, my Headaches were easier and in a week they left me.

After I had taken a box of these tablets, my headaches were quite cured. My appetite was always poor and my stomach bad—and now my appetite is splendid and my digestion excellent.

I had become thin and weak from the constant Headaches but now not only have I been cured of all these awful Headaches, but my strength is growing up once more and I feel like a new man"

WILL BE HARD TO BE A DRUNKARD IN GUELPH

New Scheme by the Hotel-keepers Who Will Co-operate With the License Inspector

The hotel-keepers and their "Indian list" are working in smooth co-operation with Inspector James O'Brien and his [illegible]," says the Guelph Herald. "And when everything has [illegible] well oiled machine, the chances are that it will be a very difficult matter for [illegible] to be a drunkard.

The [illegible] of the co-operation [illegible] being [illegible] at the disposal of the inspector, and with [illegible] assistance keep a close scrutiny on all who show a tendency to imbibe too freely. The names of those who are found supplying liquor to a "hotel-man's Indian" will also be placed on the list. And in this way it is hoped that drunkenness in this city will gradually fade into a thing of the past. Inspector O'Brien has in the last few days placed four names on the hotel-keepers' list, and says that he intends to do so with every case of drunkenness that he meets.

TENDERS FOR PAVING OF STREETS

Contractors Could Have all the Work Done This Year

The Board of Works in session last night received tenders for street paving and after some discussion among the members and with representatives of the firms, the tenders were referred to the City Solicitor who will make a comparison of prices and report to the Board.

Ald Johnston was in favor of the concrete paving, giving as one of his reasons, the position of the city in regard to the supply of materials.

Mayor Bradburn favored the best possible pavement for the centre of the city. If in the future requests were made for further work, the concrete might be tried.

The tenders were received as follows:

From Foley & Gleason, of New York—For Asphaltic concrete, per square yard, $2.15 Stone block, per square yard, $3.45. Brick, $ 2 90. Each lineal foot straight concrete curb, 25c. Each lineal foot curved curb, 25c. Each square foot concrete gutter, 25c. Each square foot of concrete sidewalk, 18c.

From the Warne Paving Co., of Toronto—For bitulithic pavement, $2.46 per square yard Asphaltic concrete, $2.14 per square yard Stone block $4.28 square yard Brick, $3.25 per square yard Straight concrete curb, 26c. per lineal foot. Curved concrete curb, with [illegible] bars, 52c. per lineal foot. Curved concrete curb, without bar, 32c. per lineal foot Concrete gutter, 27c. per square foot Concrete sidewalk, 15 1-2c. square foot. Headers, 38c per lineal foot.

From Clark & Monds, Toronto — For concrete pavement $1.28 per square yard. For concrete straight and curved curb, 80c. per lineal foot Concrete gutter, 15c. per square foot.

The contractors would be able to have the work completed this year. There are about 18,000 square yards to pave, on George, Charlotte and Hunter streets.

VARIATION IN TENDERS FOR TWO NEW BRIDGES

Difference of $6000 Between Lowest and Highest Bids

Naturally enough, there will be a variation in estimates for a specified amount of work. There will be always a difference growing out of the facilities, or plant, to be used in the performance of the work.

For years, it has been the custom to remark that printers' prices varied. No doubt they did, growing out of just such conditions as outlined above, and often out of a part of proper conception of the real cost of doing work. Happily, such a condition is about at an end, for printers' prices are going up all over the country. These variations result, largely, from the fact that the journeyman of last January was the employer of last October, and did not bring to the business management of his new venture any business training. He had the erroneous idea of most workmen, that, above [illegible] all was profit. A most erroneous conception.

But variations in printers' prices fall into insignificance when placed alongside those made by paving and erecting contractors. The recent bids for a couple of concrete bridges, in this city, are materially to the point.

It is not necessary to give details or specification. These were the same for all bidders, and it is fair to assume that the cost of material—cement, gravel, stone, lumber, etc., would be about at the market price for all.

The City Engineer's estimate of the cost of these two bridges, based on local cost of labor and materials, is $6,232.00

Of the proposals submitted, one varied as the figures at which the work would be done $12,500.00, another $11,800.00, a third $9,575.00, the fourth $9,355.00, and other bids were $8,650.00, $8,075.00, and 6,750.00, respectively. Between the lowest and highest there is a difference of nearly $6,000.00. Whew! That is some. It will be observed that the successful bidder—successful so far at getting the contract goes— came pretty near to the engineer's estimate. Then how did the other fellows expect to get away with over $5,000?

Now, the curious thing about this estimating business is that no one believes anything but the contractor who has taken the work will do a good job. Mr. W. Lytle is a square man and does square work. He puts a good deal of energy and not a little horse sense into his business and there is not the slightest idea but that the concrete mixtures [illegible] be up to the standard and the work faithfully done. But this does not explain why the other fellows figured so high. Where does the difference come in? How is it to be explained? Who is to say what is right.

After all it simmers down to the old rule that a thing is worth what it costs. Not what the other fellow assumes it to be. The city has saved some money—but the contracting contractor will be closely watched by his confreres.

NEW CONTINUATION CLASSES NOT ON THE TAXES

Reply to Review Readers Enquiries

Within the last few days the Review has been asked questions by various readers in regard to the new Continuation Classes which are being introduced into the Separate Schools in Peterborough.

The one point which they wish to be enlightened upon is, whether the taxes which have hitherto been applied to the High School and Collegiate Institute, will now also go to the support of the new Continuation Classes in the Separate School.

The answer to that question is, No. The new classes are an enterprize undertaken by the Separate Schools for the separate training of their own pupils in High School work.

One reader wishes to know if the new classes are in competition with the High School. In one sense this is so, but the Separate School authorities would claim that they are not thinking of competition, but merely desire to take charge of their own higher educational matters.

As to the taxes, the establishment of the new Continuation Classes will make no difference. Citizens of all creeds will have to pay to the support of the High School and the Collegiate Institute as heretofore, and the new classes will be supported by Separate School funds as they are for separate purposes.

Of course if the Continuation Classes are thrown open to, and used by, the general public, they may claim some interest in the taxes.

LONG BROTHERS FORMERLY OF PETERBORO WOULD BUILD FACTORY AT CAMPBELLFORD

Peterborough friends of the Long Brothers, who are in business at Campbellford, will be glad to learn that since they have been meeting with splendid success, they propose to enlarge their business and manufacture all kinds of confectionery.

They will employ at least fifteen hands and they ask that the town loan them $10,000. They also ask for a free site of about one acre and agree to take 10 h.p electric energy.

The proposition is being considered by the Council and Board of Trade. The Long Bros formerly resided in Auburn and were employed at the Auburn Woollen Mills. They conduct a large confectionery, bakery and ice cream business in Campbellford.

TWO YOUTHFUL TRAVELLERS ARE GATHERED IN

Face Magistrate Dumble on Charge of Vagrancy

Just at the close of Police Court session this morning, two unkempt young fellows about eighteen years of age were brought into court. Both looked as if they had slept in a coal bin for a week.

They were charged with vagrancy and gave their names as Hector York, aged 18 and Alex. Miego, aged 19. Both claimed to have come from Northern Ontario, where they were engaged in loading bark at Georgian Bay.

After a survey of their appearance the Court decided to remand them to jail for a week, in order to give them a chance to clean up and also to get a report from Sudbury.

The delinquents had only been in the city about three hours when they were arrested near the Cordage Works. They came in on a freight and claimed that they shovelled coal to pay for their transportation here.

York said he worked for thirteen days loading bark at Georgian Bay and only received $3.80 as wages.

The boys will come up before Magistrate Dumble next Thursday.

A VETERAN OF THE TWENTIES

Mr. Thos Sullivan, Murray Street Came Here in 1825

It is a long call back to the days of the Robinson immigration of 1825. That was at the very beginning of things in the settlement of what is now the city of Peterborough. The incidents of that trying time, [illegible] out from the Old Country and dumped down in the Canadian forest to hew out homes for themselves.

Yet there is a man, hale and hearty, who walks the streets to-day a veteran of that experience. He is Mr. Thos Sullivan, of 264 Murray street, now over 90 years of age. As a boy of three years he came with his parents from Tipperary, Ireland. The family settled in Douro, on what afterwards became a part of the well known Carnegie properties. Later on they moved out near Warsaw.

Mr. Sullivan has seen and marked the changes of the successive years and with a good memory is an interesting narrator of past experiences.

The strange thing about it is that some parts of the city are more affected than others. While in the east of the city the trees seem fresh and green. there are comparatively few fallen leaves about.

SWITCHMAN DELIBERATELY DERAILS EXPRESS TRAIN

AND AVERTS BIG DISASTER

Express Went Down Embankment and Into the River.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—The quick decision of Clarence Wise, a railway tower man, stationed at the Calumet River bridge, near Hammond, Ind., probably saved the lives of 350 men and women, en route from Chicago to New York, and other eastern points this afternoon. Wise averted a head-on collision between a passenger train and an express train by throwing the switch which swept the express down an embankment into the river. Only a few of the passengers knew of the danger they escaped.

At the Calumet River the Erie and the Nickel Plate Railways use the same bridge. The Nickel Plate train, known as the New York, Chicago and St. Louis No. 1, due at Hammond at 4.35, was whirling along at a rate of 35 miles an hour. Coming in the opposite direction, but somewhat behind time, was the Wells-Fargo express train on the Erie, No. 14. The Nickel Plate train carried 12 vestibuled coaches, while the express carried 14 express coaches and a diner.

While the Nickel Plate train was in the midst of its crossing, Clarence Wise, stationed in the tower, saw the Erie express shoot suddenly from behind a curve and bear down upon the passenger train.

"I just figured it had to be one or the other, so I let the express train have it, since it carried few passengers," said the unassuming hero.

Wise threw the switch, causing the express to take a header down the steep embankment of the approach to the bridge, and totally wrecking the engine and derailing the cars. Even then he was not quick enough to prevent the cow-catcher from ripping into one of the vestibuled coaches and tearing a hole in it.

The engineer of the wrecked express, Henry Palmer, jumped as the train struck the derail. He landed immediately in front of the Nickel Plate train, but managed to roll off the track in time to save his life. J. B. Hoffman, the Erie fireman, jumped from the other side of the cabin at the same moment and was also uninjured.

The Nickel Plate No. 1 did not hesitate, but continued on its way at the rate of 35 miles an hour. None of the passengers except those in the coach which was struck by the cow-catcher of the wrecked train knew how narrow their escape had been.

Clarence Wise is 24 years old and lives in Hammond. "I'm not a hero," he says, "the Nickel Plate had the right of way, and I gave it to her."

CASTRO IS CRUSHED

Ex-President of Venezula is is Defeated in Battle at Coro.

CARACAS, Venezuela, Aug. 21.—(Can. Press.)—Gen. Leon Jurado, governor of the State of Falcon, in cooperation with the gunboat Mariscal Sucre, attacked and completely defeated the rebel followers of Gen. Cipriano Castro, the former Venezuelan dictator, yesterday, at Coro, according to an official announcement issued by the government here today. All the officers commanding the rebel forces were captured and are now on board the Venezuelan warship.

The prisoners include Gen. Castro's brother-in-law, Gen. Simon Bello; the ex-president's two nephews, Julio Velasco Castro and Victime Parra Castro, the former dictator's confidential assistant, Juan Liendo, and also a number of Colombian and French officers.

The whereabouts of Gen. Castro still remains unknown here.

Unimportant invasions of Venezuelan territory continue to be made by rebels from across the Colombian border. A few insurgent bands are operating near Coro, but Gen. Jurado has asked permission to muster out a part of his troops. The entire army of President Juan Vicente Gomez still remains at Maracay, 60 miles west of Caracas.

The news of the victory of the government troops in the State of Falcon has served to re-establish business confidence at the capital.

Hugo Grotius Honored.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 21.—(Can. Press.)—The delegates at the Peace Conference visited the Peace Palace and witnessed the unveiling of a bust of Hugo Grotius, the founder of the science of international law, presented by the Dutch league of peace.

Henri La Fontaine, president of the International Peace Bureau at Berne, delivered an address in which he declared that the palace was the outgrowth of the efforts of the pacificists gathered at the congress whose visits represented the semi-official opening of the building.

A congratulatory message was sent to Andrew Carnegie.

COMING TO CANADA

Anglican Clergymen and Laymen to Work in the West.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—(C. A. P.)—Three clergymen and four laymen, three of whom are university graduates, are shortly going out under the auspices of the Archbishops' Western Canada Fund to work in the Dominion. At present the staff consists of sixty-five, thirty-seven clergymen, twenty-three laymen, and five women. As the work gets better known it is gaining wider support, but the appeal issued by the archbishops can hardly yet be said to have received the response which might justifiably be looked for.

The value of the work which is being done in Canada is however being readily recognized in the Dominion. Quite recently the Archbishop of Rupertsland, when he was in England, spoke in appreciative terms of the assistance which the fund was giving in supplementing the ordinary diocesan work. This praise coming from the archbishop is particularly satisfactory, since it was he who wrote to the archbishops of Canterbury and York asking for their assistance in the first instance, and the initiation of the fund was the result.

At present the secretary of the fund, Canon Beale, is in Canada on a touring visit to the centres at Edmonton and in Southern Alberta, and if time allows he will go as far as the new Peace River district.

"DON'T MARRY A BOXER"

They Only Work When Weather Suits Says Judge.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—Of the [illegible] divorce, fifty were brides and bridegrooms. To the husband of Elizabeth Klein, who complained that his wife had discarded her wedding ring and consequently was not entitled to financial support in wifely style, Judge Barrett said:

"This is a progressive age. Women have a right to do as they please, and if a woman does not want to wear her wedding ring that is her own affair and should not be regarded as an indication that she has no regard for the marriage ceremony."

After disposing of the cases of three prize fighters, "Young" Nitchie, "Kid" Beebe and "Jerry Willetts," all of whom argued that they were back in their alimony because the summer was their slack season, the court said:

"I warn all women, and particularly young girls, not to marry boxers. They cannot expect support from men who work only when the weather suits them."

ANOTHER GAME OF THE LIQUOR MEN

Whiskey in Tar and Cement Barrels is Seized.

SOUTH PORCUPINE, Aug. 21.—By the fortunate disclosure that barrels of cement and pitch contained within them ten gallons of whiskey the provincial police of this district claim they have put a stop to a great deal of the liquor traffic.

The find came about in a peculiar manner on Monday of this week and the constable's suspicion was only aroused when too much cement and tar were shipped into the town. As a result of the raid made three cases will be heard before Magistrate Thomas Torrance on Saturday afternoon of this week. A barber by the name of Gagnon is out on $500 bail. Joseph Hudan Losses of the South Porcupine Hotel is out on $150 bail, while E. Juneau is awaiting a bondsman to be allowed his freedom until the trial takes place.

On Monday Provincial Constables R. T. Smith and Ed. Jordan became suspicious of a barrel of tar, weighing nearly three hundred pounds, lying unclaimed at the station. They managed to shift the heavy barrel and heard a suspicious noise inside. They immediately opened the barrel, and by digging out the hard tar located the ten gallon keg of whiskey inside. A 500 pound barrel of cement which had been allowed to set solid was next investigated and another ten gallons of booze fell into the hands of the police. This was the start of an investigation which led to the arrest of the three men on whose premises, it is alleged, other evidence was found which led the officers to suspect that they were the ones carrying on this novel method of importation.

The barrels being addressed to non-residents of the town also aided the police in effecting the detecting of the booze. The method is indeed a novel one. Before the barrel of cement was opened it was necessary to use a pick to break away the hardened concrete from around the inner keg.

ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP MAYOR OF NEW YORK

Four Sticks of Dynamite Near Gaynor's Windows in City Hall.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(Can. Press.) A deadly charge of dynamite—three whole ten-inch sticks and two halves, with a fuse detonator were discovered this afternoon near Mayor Gaynor's office windows in the city hall. The bureau of combustibles found that the explosive was 40 per cent. dynamite, the regulation blasting [illegible] have wrecked the city hall.

The mayor was in his office when the dynamite was discovered by a citizen passing thru City Hall Park. Mr. Gaynor evinced little interest when told of the explosive's proximity, and remained apparently undisturbed at his desk while police officers hurriedly drew a cordon about the dynamite to keep back an excited crowd.

Mayor Gaynor frequently receives threatening letters, but tonight he would make no statement regarding the possible connection between any precious menace by mail and the dynamite of today. It is just three years this month that he was shot in the neck by a so-called crank, and so badly wounded that for several days it was feared he would die. The dynamite found today lay near a basement door in a concrete moat, or areaway within 60 feet of the mayor's window. The explosive was arranged in lattice formation, with the two small pieces on top. A partly burned four-inch fuse, made of gunpowder tightly rolled in a paper cylinder, led to a detonating cap on one of the half sticks of dynamite.

Close to the explosive was a piece of Chinese punk and several partly burned matches. The dynamite and fuse were wrapped in a piece of heavy cambric secured by red and blue twine.

The cloth was blue, with red and white figures and resembled the fillets worn by Italian women of the working class.

The bureau of combustibles experts state that the only thing which prevented a disastrous explosion was the presence of a strip of cotton wool wound so tightly about the base of the fuse that a spark could not reach the detonator. An edge of one dynamite stick was slightly scorched.

THAW ADVISED TO BUY PROPERTY IN CANADA

And Become Naturalized as a British Subject

This Would Prevent Deportation it is Said

Canadian Press Despatch.

SHERBROOKE, QUE., Aug. 22.—Harry Thaw has been advised by a certain member of his counsel, it was learned to-day, to buy property in Canada and take steps to become naturalized as a British subject. This, it was held, would prevent deportation. With Thaw resting quietly in his cell, refusing to talk and awaiting the result of the habeas corpus proceedings next Wednesday, interest is centred in the arraignment of a man arrested here as having aided Thaw to cross the Canadian frontier. Although describing himself as Machell Thompson, the man has been identified as "Gentleman Roger" Thompson of New York City, and it is alleged that he is one of five men who aided Thaw in escaping from the asylum. He engaged as counsel one of the group of lawyers defending Thaw. Sheriff Hornbeck of Dutchess County, New York, has a warrant charging Thompson with conspiring to bring about Thaw's escape and hopes the proceedings here will result in Thompson's surrender to him.

Found Lying in Yard.

GALT, Aug. 21.—(Special.)—Norman Schweitzer, living near Hespeler, was this morning found by his mother lying on the ground in the yard, unconscious and bleeding profusely from one ear. Nearby was a horse with a halter on, running about the yard. The doctor who was called, found the young man lying unconscious. He is suffering from internal injuries and is in a very serious condition. The injuries are presumably due to a kick from a horse.

RAIN AT LAST

Earth Takes a Big Drink ---Philosophy for Farmers

At last the rain has come and the patched earth is taking one big, deep drink, and is feeling and looking the better for the draught. This has been one of the dryest [illegible] in Canada and farmers have suffered much loss on that account. But farmers must not expect special treatment from the hand of fortune, and they must learn like all of us to take the world and its conditions philosophically.

They might be worse off. It is much dryer in the Sahara desert than it has ever been in Ontario. We can at least water our lawns and shelter under our spreading maples from the blazing noon, but in Arabia such oases are few and far between.

Then there are places in the earth which seldom see the sun at all: London has had nineteen days out of one month, raining all the time. The beautiful lake district of Cumberland seldom sees an absolute perfect day or at most a week of sunshine.

There is perhaps little consolation in all this for some people who would grumble anyway. But then fortune is no respecter of persons and we all have our own dry and wet spells and have little control over them. We need to get into that attitude toward [illegible] which Tennyson was in when he wrote:

'I'll take the showers as they fall
I will not vex my bosom
Enough if at the end of all
A little garden blossom.'

THAW'S CASE NOT TO BE TRIED UNTIL WEDNESDAY

Flurry is Caused in Sherbrooke by Judge Globensky's Error in Not Saying When the Writ Was Returnable—Rumors Spread That Thaw Would be Taken From Jail and Kidnapped.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 21.—(Can. Press.) Until Wednesday of next week, barring unforeseen developments, Harry K. Thaw will remain in Sherbrooke Jail. On that day he is to be arraigned in the superior court on a writ of habeas corpus. Between now and that time his battery of lawyers hope to perfect plans not to thwart deportation, but to submit to it gracefully—to a point selected by Thaw.

This, in brief, was the status tonight of Matteawan's fugitive, arrested on Tuesday near Coaticook, and committed to jail here on a defective warrant. Ignorant of the moves made by his lawyers, Thaw has spent his time pacing the length of the narrow corridor in the Sherbrooke Jail, and was not even aware that the writ of habeas corpus in his case was served on the jailer this afternoon, and that but for a timely telephone message, he would have been produced in court today with the bench vacant.

This incident, variously described as a blunder, a case of absent-mindedness, and an error due to hurry, arose after Superior Judge Globensky failed to specify in writing that the writ was returnable before him on Wednesday next. He had set this date in chambers, but the writ reading "instanter" when served on the jailer, set the official into instant action, and he called a carriage and ordered Thaw to dress for an outing, when a telephone message from the judge informed him that the latter was leaving for Montreal, not to return here until next week.

Meanwhile District Attorney Conger of Dutchess County, N.Y., Deputy Attorney General Franklin Kennedy of Albany, and others primarily interested in getting Thaw across the border, seized on the possibility of his immediate production, and sought to find another judge before whom to arraign him. But Mr. Laforce, governor of the jail, declined to surrender the prisoner until he had consulted with Sheriff Aylmer, and the latter, after reading the writ carefully, said that while no time for its return was stated, he had understood from the court that Wednesday was the day and he allowed Thaw had better stay in jail.

Rumors sprouted meanwhile that the New York authorities were trying to kidnap Thaw, that an automobile was ready to whirl him to the New York line, that an open clash, perhaps in street battle, was imminent. As a matter of fact, the officers from New York were as much surprised as anyone. They had protested at postponing the proceedings until Wednesday, but their protests failing had decided to bide their time, hoping that when arraigned Thaw would be released as a fugitive and promptly snapped up by the immigration authorities as an undesirable.

The governor of the jail, explaining his difficulties tonight, said: "Someone representing himself to be Judge Globensky called me on the telephone this afternoon and said Thaw would not need to appear in court before Wednesday. I was not entirely settled as to the time, because I thought he said something about tomorrow. As a matter of fact I rather doubted that it was Judge Globensky. I was confused, particularly when I received another call. This time it was from a man who told me "to get under cover because something is going to happen."

"Half an hour later the bailiff appeared and served the habeas corpus papers on me, saying that I was to deliver Thaw immediately. I was as near bewildered then as I ever have been in my life. Within half an hour I had been told to produce him Wednesday, tomorrow and immediately.

"I found a crowd outside and there were wild rumors that the prisoner was going to be taken away. But of course these were untrue, and I finally straightened matters out by consultation with the sheriff."

Thaw's lawyers said tonight that they were well satisfied with the events of today. They feel now that Thaw's fate, so far as the Canadian authorities may influence it, is practically settled. The departure for Ottawa early this morning of W. L. Shurtleff was the first step in a plan to procure Thaw's removal from Canada without long legal proceedings.

All of them profess to believe that the minister of the interior will accede to the request that Thaw be permitted to "nominate his destination" in return for submitting without further protest to deportation.

Those who are advising that, among them some of the ablest criminal lawyers in Canada, said tonight that they were confident that the government will welcome such a solution of the problem with which Thaw's unexpected arrival so suddenly confronted them. No one contends that Thaw has violated a single law of the Dominion unless it be the one which provides that no alien may enter Canada without [illegible] within five years after [illegible] been an inmate of an asylum for the insane.

MARKET IN JAPAN

Canada's Trade With the "Cherry Kingdom" Grows, Says Foster.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 21.—(Can. Press.)—Hon. George E. Foster, minister of trade and commerce, who has been on a special trade mission to New Zealand, Australia, and the Orient, left here this morning in company with Hon. R. Rogers, and will proceed direct to Ottawa.

He announced that during his stay in the Orient, he had met and instructed Richard Greig, Canadian trade commissioner, to make exhaustive reports on the question of freights between Canada and China and Japan. At the minister's request Greig is returning home via Trans-Siberian route in order to study economic conditions having a bearing on competition with Canada.

Mr. Foster added: "I look for steady improvement in trade between Japan and the Dominion. We have become a party to the Anglo-Japanese commercial treaty and thus enjoy favored nation treatment. It may not be generally known that Japan grows the best rice in the world, and that millions of her population are too poor to use it as an article of diet, securing a good price for this staple abroad. Anomalous as it may seem, I see a great probability of the Japanese becoming consumers of our wheat. Canadian wheat and flour in an economic sense are cheaper articles of diet than their own homegrown rice. Canadians should find an ever widening market in Japan for our lumber and chemical pulp."

CHINAMAN WAS KILLED

In Haste to Elude Police He Falls Under Train.

ENGLEHART, Aug. 21.—(Special.)—In a desperate attempt to escape the police, Lee Hue, a Chinaman, who broke quarantine at Swastika yesterday morning, was killed at 12.30 p.m. on the day of his escape at mileage 136 1-2, between Englehart and Heaslip, by jumping from a fast travelling train. No indication of the tragedy was given until 7.05 this morning, when the body was discovered by the crew of the local train running between Englehart and Cobalt.

Coroner Dr. H. R. Codd of Haileybury was notified and immediately left on No. 47, reaching the scene of the tragedy at 11.20 a.m. A fracture at the base of the skull and the right shoulder were the only injuries, and Dr. Codd, after viewing the body, was satisfied that Hue had met his death by having fallen or jumped from a train, and he decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

The body was brought into Englehart on a hand car, where it was identified by Charlie Sing, in whose restaurant at Swastika Hue had been employed, and who is under arrest on a charge of breaking quarantine.

Provincial Constable E. C. Carmichael, who had been traveling south from Swastika on the same train as Hue yesterday, had noticed him on the train and had determined to keep an eye on him, as he suspected that the Chinaman had broken quarantine. At Englehart his suspicions were confirmed, and after the train had left there he hunted high and low for Hue all over the train but his quarry had disappeared. A search of Hue's pockets revealed that he had purchased a ticket from Swastika to Haileybury and it is surmised that when he saw the police were after him he took the desperate chance of leaping from the train to effect his escape and met death in the attempt.

Sulzer's Opponent Beaten.

Wheeler was designated as the candidate.

THE TRAGEDIES SENATE SERVICE

The Globe professes to be fully satisfied with Sir Wilfrid Laurier's St. Hyacinthe speech, and does not blame him for not proceeding upon the elaboral naval policy. The facts, on naval matters Sir Wilfrid and the Globe don't know what they are. They are waiting for the Government to make the "next move." "When it is made," says the Globe, "the Liberals will have something to say for or against it." That is what might be vulgarly termed "check."

So the Government must tremble in its shoes lest this autocratic Liberal party does not happen to like its proposals. In another article on the same page, entitled "Tragedies of Civil Service," the Globe condemns party oppression in the civil service; yet the Globe practically threatens Mr. Borden with the Senate if he does not please Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The Globe and Sir Wilfrid knows that while the Senate is what it is, a Conservative Government must curry favor to it and obey the dictates of the Liberal party.

The Globe goes on to assure us that "for the present the Empire is safe." The Empire might readily reply—"no thanks to Canada."

RELIGION OR MANSLAUGHTER

A Christian Scientist in London is charged with manslaughter for neglecting to call in the aid of a doctor to his child who has died from diptheria.

It is certainly time these deluded people, who carry their religion to such extremes, were protected from themselves.

But the point to be proven in this charge of manslaughter would be whether the father was really accountable for the child's death, and whether the child would have recovered if a doctor had been called in.

The defence of Christian Scientists would probably be that the child died because its time had come, and in that case, no doctor could save it. But until the law becomes a Christian Scientist, all such people who deliberately neglect civilized methods of grappling with disease, will be regarded as either suicide or manslaughterers.

A life-buoy or a stomach pump are physical and human devices which have proved useful in times of extremity, and there are few Christian Scientists who would discard them in the event of suffocation by drowning [illegible] for the life-buoy when [illegible] of suffocation from diptheria?

BURNS' MANUSCRIPT

The disposal of the Burns' Manuscripts by the Liverpool Athenæum Club to an American has brought to light the fact of the existence of quite a number of direct and indirect decendants of the Scottish poet. There is a movement on foot to stop sale being completed and to keep the Manuscripts in Great Britain.

Expressions of disgust are universal at the mean action of the managers of the club in disposing of precious M.S.S. which were placed in their charge with the object of preserving them for the nation. It is nothing short of vandalism and dishonesty for these men, who are presumably well off, to trade and profit by a gift which did not cost them a cent, and which virtually did not belong to them.

Just how far the surviving relatives of Burns can claim an interest in the sale, or can bring restraining influence to bear upon the Athenæum Club remains to be seen. It is doubtful if they can do anything. But it is to be hoped that the club and its customer will be shamed into annulling the discreditable deal, and that the M.S.S. will be put into the hands of someone who can respect the memory of a poor peasant poet, who often lacked the wherewithal to live.

EDITORIAL NOTES

"Five bulls, two magpies and an 'inner'" is the boast of an Englishman in this office, who goes out shooting occasionally. A young lady who overheard him, remarked that it was sheer butchery in the case of the bulls and the magpies; as for the poor "inner," she had never seen nor heard of such a creature.

There is some talk in British Columbia of instituting an Aerial Mail Service as by reason of its confirmation there are many places that cannot be reached by ordinary methods of transportation. We might prevail upon the postal authorities to introduce such a service between Toronto and Peterborough. Either from "conformation" or some other reason the present service is not very satisfactory.

The British Admiralty are considering the advisability of substituting oil for coal in the navy, and Canada is waking up to its oil resources. So that we would get more than defence out of the British navy. There is a great deal of the canny Scott about some of us.

EXCERPTS

THE REFORMATION.

I feel it wrong to stroll along
The idle path of pleasure
And wish to say that I today
Renounce a life of leisure.

My mind's made up, and I will sup
On dainty fare no longer,
But have instead a crust of bread
(This coffee should be stronger).

Expensive dress spells wickedness;
I've come to that decision.
I'll wear a sack or something black
(My new pink frock's a vision).

Through rain and snow, though winds may blow
And roads be rough and hilly,
I'll take my way from day to day
(Please shut the door; 'tis chilly).

Thus on I'll tread with lifted head
And footsteps brave and steady,
For luxury is wrong, I see (Goodby! My car's ready.

So we must part. When do I start
My pilgrimage of sorrow?
Oh, well, it's late! I think I'll wait
At least until tomorrow.

No Forgetting.

"Don't remind me of it," said the father, overcome with emotion. "It was then that I met your mother."—Cleveland Leader.

WESTERN CANADA'S BUMPER WHEAT CROP

Thousands of Men Required—This Year's Harvest Promises to be the Largest in the History of Canada

According to present indications the wheat crop of 1913 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East to assist in harvesting the world's bread basket.

The Governments of the respective Provinces state that many thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. These will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which Company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a day shorter than any other route. Dates, rates and conditions will be announced in a few days.

STRAIGHT WALLS OF ICE.

Mighty Mount McKinley Cannot Be Climbed From the South.

Describing their expedition to Mount McKinley last summer, Professor Parker and Belmore Browne say in the Metropolitan that, although it was probably the best equipped expedition from a mountaineering standpoint that has ever been organized in America, the net result of its explorations is a map of a hitherto unknown stretch of mountain wilderness and the knowledge that Mount McKinley is unclimbable from the south.

"We attacked the mountain from no fewer than five different points and in each case were stopped by insurmountable difficulties. We were on the ice fifty days. Mountaineering technicalities had nothing to do with our failure to reach the summit. At each attempt we encountered straight walls of ice and snow that could not be bridged or avoided.

"The problem of climbing the mountain from its southern side is an unusual one—a combined water, arctic and Alpine proposition. To reach the southern base of the mountain the explorer must navigate for 150 miles a stretch of swift glacial water.

"The second part of the trip is through alternate stretches of forest and swamp land which lay at the base of the Alaskan range. The last stage is over forty miles of glacier that stretches from the lowlands to the base of Mount McKinley itself."

MINER POETS.

Oh, the fore shift dark and dreary,
Oh, this lonely two o'clock;
Limbs may ache, and hearts be weary,
Still there comes the caller's knock.
And each blow upon the panels
Bids us up and don our flannels,
By the light of lamp or candles
Batter at the grimy rock.

Ask any Northumberian miner who wrote these lines, and the writer ventures to say that in nine cases out of ten he will at once reply, "Old Mattha, of course. Why, that's the first verse of 'The Fore Shift.'" For no compilation of north country poetry is complete without he striking lines written by the working miner, who is regarded to-day as the poet laureate of the coalfields.

"Old Mattha," or to give him his correct name, Matthew Tate, is the Grand Old Man of the mine who began to work below the surface at twelve years of age, in the days that boys were carried on their fathers' shoulders and installed behind the trap doors.

To-day "Old Mattha" is seventy five and still working ten days out of every fourteen, tramping three miles to the pit head and one and a half underneath the ground to the coal face where he has to work. Such is the affection which Northumbrian miners have for "Old Mattha" that, according to the "Labor Leader, they are starting a shilling fund to enable him to leave the pit.

Tate has written many poems dealing with mining life; for there is no man who better understands the drudgery and the hardship endured by those who "dig in pits." And we get a striking illustration of his feeling for the hard life of the miner in the first verse of a workaday lyric which he wrote some time ago, which reads:

Away to work in the early morning,
Back in the shadows of night returning,
But in the hours that intervene
The brain must think and the hands must glean.
And the pick must go, though its strokes be slow,
For a man cannot be as he once has been.

And with "Old Mattha's" name must be bracketed that of Joseph Skipsey, another Northumberland miner-poet, who died a few years ago, and who was best known by his "Carols from the Coalfield." Like "Old Mattha," Skipsey's early life was one of hardship, and in view of the fact that his hours of labor extended to sixteen a day, it is astonishing how he ever came to find time to teach himself to read and write.

Joseph Skipsey, as a matter of fact, learned to read by committing to memory the appearance of the big letters on the placards stuck up on the hoardings by the pit-mouth. As a trapper boy in the pit, he wrote and ciphered on the "trap door" in the intervals when no wagon was passing through, and then taught himself grammar; and without any education of any kind, by slow degrees and some keen native instinct, he found out and became acquainted with masterpieces of our literature.

Then he commenced to write and compose lyrics, and the day came when the pitman poet numbered among his friends Tennyson, Rossetti, Burne Jones, William Morris, and Lord Morley, to mention only a few. It was these friends who combined together to recommend him as custodian of Shakespeare's birthplace; but he will always be remembered among the minstrels of Northumbrian as the man who sang the song of the pits, and who told in sympathetic, stirring, and poetic phrase of the strenuous and monotonous life of the man below the surface.

Counterfeits.

Read what one of the GREATEST NEWSPAPERS IN AMERICA has to say on this subject:

"The manufacturers of Castoria have been compelled to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars to familiarize the public with the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. This has been necessitated by reason of pirates counterfeiting the Castoria trademark. This counterfeiting is a crime not only against the proprietors of Castoria, but against the growing generation. All persons should be careful to see that Castoria bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, if they would guard the health of their children. Parents, and mothers in particular, ought to carefully examine the Castoria advertisements which have been appearing in this paper, and to remember that the wrapper of every bottle of genuine Castoria bears the fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, under whose supervision it has been manufactured continuously for over thirty years.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Letters from Prominent Druggists addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

C. G. A. Loder, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "For 20 years we have sold Fletcher's Castoria and are pleased to state that it has given universal satisfaction."

The Scholtz Drug Co., of Denver, Colo., says: "Fletcher's Castoria has surely become a household word. Seemingly every family where there are children uses it."

Hoagland & Mansfield, of Boston, Mass., say: "We have nothing but good to say about your Castoria and we do not hesitate to give it our unqualified endorsement."

Riker's Drug Stores, of New York City, say: "Fletcher's Castoria is one of the oldest and most popular preparations in our stores. We have nothing but good to say about it."

Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., of St. Louis, Mo., says: "Of the thousands of patent medicines for which we have demand there are a very few of them that we can conscientiously recommend and your Castoria is included in this few."

D. R. Dyche & Co., of Chicago, Ills., say: "The increasing demand for your Castoria shows that a discriminating public is not slow to seek out a remedy of merit and once convinced that it does all and even more than claimed they do not hesitate to recommend it to their friends."

The Owl Drug Co., of San Francisco, Cal., says: "We have always been a believer in the 'original man protection' and have been particular never to sell anything but the genuine and original Castoria (Fletcher's). We have many calls every day for this article from people who say they would not be without it in their homes."

The Best Detective Story of the Last Ten Years

But something told him he must bestir himself even more vigorously than he had done to date, if he was to trace the Missioner diamonds before the suave, subtle men from the East could find them and put them forever beyond the reach of any Westerner. One thing was in his favor. Undoubtedly he had broken the Swami's line of communication by seizing the spies before they could report the finding of the Millicent note in Sands's apartment. He had a vague sense that the scrap of paper would be of immediate value as a clue to the Brahmin—that if he had not intercepted it, the scholar by now would have been close upon the discovery of the diamonds.

It remained for Britz himself to ascertain the identity and whereabouts of Millicent before the Oriental prisoners could communicate with their chief. Those prisoners were safe enough for the present in the Tenderloin Police Station; but, although it was in the detective's power to prevent their immediate arraignment in the Night Court by a word to the precinct commander, he could not long keep them in the cells. They were entitled to a speedy examination before the magistrate, and he was certain that unless their failure to report to the Swami should alarm that gentleman sooner, steps would be taken in the morning to have the prisoners produced in court. They were sure to be arraigned in Jefferson Market at [illegible] earlier. Britz felt that, once in their presence, the Swami, though he might be separated from them by the length of the room, would find means to learn all they knew, to the last microscopic detail.

He must find Millicent that night. That done, he had little doubt he would be close to the Missioner jewels, and probably to the person who had taken them from their snug harbor in Mrs. Missioner's library.

"I'll send for the copies, Burlen," Britz said, as he slipped from the stool and started for the door, "but don't let the original leave your hands until I call for it myself."

The detective was so absorbed in his thoughts as he walked down flight after flight of the dark stairs that he did not see a pair of eyes gleaming at him from the gloom at the rear of one of the lower halls. Those eyes were as black as the darkness that formed their background, and the Headquarters man would have been even more than ordinarily on the alert if he had seen them glistening in the remote recess. As the detective passed on toward the street, the eyes advanced along the dusk of the hall, and in the faint glow of a lowered gas-jet at the foot of one of the higher flights of stairs, there became visible behind them a man who, in most respects, was a counterpart of the two Orientals at that moment detained in the West Thirtieth Street Station. The owner of the eyes, while Britz walked downstairs, as quickly and far more quietly went up.

Britz turned his steps toward 300 Mulberry Street. In his own office, after a glance into Manning's room that showed him it was empty, he called Dr. Fitch on the telephone and made an appointment to meet him in two hours in the bar of the Holland House.

"It's one of the quietest places in Manhattan," said the detective, "and I want to talk to you very privately. They are not likely to know me there."

Britz pushed a button, and when a Headquarters attendant appeared, sent him for the Central Office man whom, next to himself, he trusted most.

"Send down to Burlen's place in an hour and a half, Rawson," said Britz to the other detective. "He'll have a hundred facsimiles of a letter signed Millicent. Have as many men as possible get busy among the hotels. I want to trace the woman who wrote that signature. They will have to look through every register for a year past. It's got to be done thoroughly, and I want it done quickly. Here, I'll give you a list," and he hastily scribbled the names of a half-hundred hostelries of a class such as he thought the fair Millicent might patronize.

"What time will I see you?" asked Rawson.

"If I'm not back in three hours, I'll call you up," said the detective.

Then, having arrived at a pause in the pursuit of the jewels, he hastened to a Turkish bath, where, being a little weary from much metropolitan journeying and muscle-bound from loss of sleep, he had himself baked, steamed, chilled, kneaded, and pounded into shape.

The great detective's indulgence in that luxury all unknowingly gave to the other side an advantage in the race for the Missioner jewels that well might prove fatal to his success. Long before Britz reached the hot-air room of the bath, the man with the glistening eyes who had passed him in the hall of the tumble-down loft building was at the door of Burlen's workshop, straining the angle of his vision to follow the photo-engraver at work. Those glittering eyes focused their gaze through the keyhole on a piece of paper which Burlen had fastened with thumbtacks to a board, and which, in the glare of an arc lamp, confronted a big camera with a powerful lens. Although the eyes followed Burlen as well as they could about the room, their owner was not so much interested in the artizan's activity as he was in the small white sheet of paper on which he could discern lines traced in a woman's hand. Patiently waited the owner of the eyes. He was of a race that had cultivated patience through the centuries. Soon or late, undoubtedly, the man inside would go from the bench beside that great white light to another part of the room. A few yards would suffice for the man with the eyes, and even while Britz still was talking to Rawson in Police Headquarters, Burlen briskly covered those dozen or so feet to get a chemical in the row of bottles in the rack at the far end of the shop. The man outside, crouching until he was little [illegible] upreared cobra of his native [illegible] way, crawled across the intervening space between the threshold and the camera, whisked the Millicent note from the board, and as silently made his escape before Burlen had replaced the cork in the bottle. By the time Detective-Lieutenant Britz was enveloped in the fog of the steam room, that little note was in the possession of the Swami and Prince Kananda, and those worthies were studying it so swiftly and so profitably that ere Britz took his cold plunge, the sage and the Maharajah's son made a swifter, deeper dive toward the heart of the Missioner mystery. It was as a result of what they learned from Millicent's missive that the Swami and the Prince went separately to the ballroom of Doris Missioner's most fashionable friend. It was also in consequence of the information gleaned from those petulant feminine lines that the Swami found Mrs. Missioner's society so interesting, and that the Prince, before and after that tete-a-tete, experienced keen curiosity concerning the doings, characteristics, and state of mind of Curtis Griswold. The third result of Millicent's little letter and the Easterners' joint visit to the Fifth Avenue ballroom, was their dash in separate cabs to a bachelor apartment in a side street just off Central Park, where, shortly after their several arrivals, they were in close consultation for an hour or more with Ali, the supposedly devoted retainer of the rich Mrs. Missioner.

For the second note to Curtis Griswold that fell into the hands of the Hindoos—the one Prince Kananda intercepted at the door of the Fifth Avenue mansion in which the great ball was held—was written on a letterhead that revealed to Sandy and the Swami an address they very much desired to know. Had that address found its way to Detective-Lieutenant Britz as soon, it would have saved him much delay, and would have spared a large part of the city's detective force the necessity of a laborious search through Manhattan's hotel registers.

Burlen was one of the most astonished young men in lower Manhattan when, turning from his row of bottles, he found the note entrusted to him by Britz had vanished. At first he assumed he had fastened it carelessly and that it had fallen to the floor. A quick hunt showed him he was wrong. He extended his search to every part of the room, and it was not until he had disturbed the dust of ages that he realized the scrap of paper actually was gone. His sensations following that realization were not of the pleasantest. Britz was one of his best customers, and he knew from the detective's earnestness the note was of exceptional importance. It solaced him only in part to find on taking the plate from the camera and putting it through a developing process that the lens had done its work more faithfully than he. He held in his hand a perfect duplicate of the letter. That would not satisfy Britz, of course, but it was better than it would have been if the note had disappeared before the photographing was complete. Burlen hastened to subject the little plate of copper to the acid bath, and as the minute points of the halftone came out with gratifying distinctness, the young man rejoiced that he at least was able to produce the facsimiles the Headquarters man had ordered. Remorse spurred him so effectively that all the hundred impressions were ready when Rawson sent for them. Half an hour afterwards, as many detectives were comparing the halftone prints with the signatures of all the Millicents in the registers of New York's more fashionable hotels.

Britz, as fit as a fiddle after his parboiling, walked briskly to the marble lobby of the Holland House and joined Fitch in the bar. That hotel is not patronized by the Bright Light set, one reason being that it sturdily repels all attempts at such patronage. Half a dozen men of undoubted fashion were in the cafe when Britz and Fitch draped themselves over one end of the bar, and began absorbing long, cold drinks in punctuation of their interested talk.

"We're getting warm, as the youngsters say," said Britz, and he told him of all that had happened since their last meeting. "Your young lady won't have to stay in the Tombs much longer, I'm thinking, unless we have a stroke of bad luck. I'm puzzled on one point, however, and that's what I wanted to see you about. What do you know about Bruxton Sands?"

"Known him long?"

"Several years. I was fortunate in the case of a brother of his, and that [illegible] the whole family. Bruxton has [illegible] good turns."

"You think that square look of his is not a front, then?" inquired the detective.

"No," said the doctor, who talked more at his ease with the detective than he would have dreamed of doing with any of his fashionable patients. "He's 'the goods.'"

"Well," rejoined the sleuth, "I'm glad to hear you say so. I don't mind telling you he made me a little suspicious this evening. I must say that for an honest man his attitude was a little queer."

"In what way?"

"Well," said Britz, "he wouldn't let me see a bit of paper that might have helped me a whole lot in this matter, and just for a moment I began to wonder whether he was as eager to have the Missioner mystery solved as he pretended to be."

"There's no pretence about Bruxton Sands," said Fitch very positively. "He does want this thing straightened out, and he wouldn't do anything in any way, if he could help it, to hinder you."

A Grewsome Mascot.

Herr Niederhauser, the sculptor, at the instance of the Geneva director of police took a plaster imprint of the face of Luccheni, the murderer of the Empress Elizabeth, after his suicide, and a portion of the murderer's hair was found to have adhered to the plaster. The hair came into the possession of some young women in Geneva in a mysterious manner, and large sums of money have been offered for it. It is believed in Switzerland that a murderer's hair brings luck. One young woman took her "luck" to a jeweler and had it placed in a golden locket.—London Standard.

It is not fair to call George Westinghouse a human dynamo, because a dynamo must be driven by something, and Westinghouse drives himself. He is a human power plant, a living force. ### Press Agent For the Biggest Show In New York City.

MRS. CHANNING POLLOCK.

"She's the best press agent in the country," so said a man recently who is in a position to judge of such matters concerning the publicity work of Mrs. Channing Pollock, better known in the professional world as Miss Anna Marble.

Mrs. Pollock comes of several generations of stage folk and seemed predestined for a career as an actress but as she herself says, "I had no hankering for the limelight, but my relatives kept heading me toward the stage. Finally John Dunn persuaded me to become press agent for 'Flora Dora,' which he brought to America, and my work has been cut out for me ever since."

From that time on Miss Marble has handled the publicity for Oscar Hammerstein's grand opera, press agented several vaudeville houses and went out on the road ahead of Nazimova when she first came to this country. At present she is press agent for New York's mammoth show, the Hippodrome, and in odd moments she writes vaudeville sketches and magazine articles.

Brides as Business Women.

Certain husbands now contend that brides should be educated in business methods. They are not satisfied that their wives are excellent cooks, superb housekeepers and gracious and tactful at the dinner table. They think women also should be sufficiently acquainted with business to be companions to them in affairs of vital importance. Said one man: "I think a wife should be educated [illegible]. My wife is a perfectly model woman in every way except that she cannot help me in any way in a business matter. She cannot understand business simply because she never had any instruction in it. Now, if my wife had studied a little about architecture she would have given me important advice on the question of letting a contract to a builder for the construction of our home. I certainly think wives should have a practical knowledge of business matters, including finance."

A Delight to Ivory Collectors.

handmade jewelry and of its kind is the most perfect specimen. The piano is correct in every particular, and not the cleverest part of the toy instrument is the rolled top over the keyboard, which works perfectly. The lid may be raised in approved concert fashion, and the little stool would meet the approval of even Josef Hofmann. The piano legs are beautifully carved and there are tiny casters which must have taken an inexhaustible amount of patience to adjust. In length this exquisite ivory piano is two and a half inches long and an inch and a half high. Collectors of small ivory objects are enthusiastic over this musical masterpiece.

UNITED STATES SMUGGLERS IDEA OF RECIPROCITY

WANTS THE CANADIAN MARKET

Canadian Press Despatch.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Aug. 21.—Wholesale smuggling of horses, cattle and grain across the Canadian border, amounting to thousands of dollars and said to involve a prominent local cattle dealer, has been unearthed and several arrests along the border have been made.

The above item is the most amusing satire on Reciprocity yet uncovered. Goods are not smuggled into countries that are poorer markets than the country smuggled from. The smugglers in this case as in all others, ran the risk on account of the richer profit made.

THE HAVOC THAT MAY COME WHEN A TORNADO BREAKS LOOSE

STORMS PLAY QUEER PRANKS

Houses Have Been Carried Bodily Into the Air and Exploded, and Half a Building Has Been Swept Away, While the Rest Remained Unharmed.

The weather bureau at Washington has been collecting statistics and facts about cyclones and tornadoes for many years, and the experts have succeeded in securing considerable valuable data about the big winds; but, after all, the freaks of the storm are the things that give it special interest, and if all these were properly classified some remarkable reading would be furnished. Every visitation of a tornado adds to this valuable storehouse of queer freaks.

It is not uncommon for the whirling wind to cut a house in half, demolishing one side and leaving the other undisturbed. This happened in an Iowa tornado, and the part that was left intact was so little disturbed that the clock on the mantel continued ticking as if nothing had happened.

In the Texas town of Sherman, which was visited by a tornado in 1896, two houses were picked up and carried into the air, where they exploded. Every one in them was severely injured except a baby, which did not receive so much as a scratch. A man milking a cow in a shed saw the cow and shed carried up in the air, but he [illegible] himself as touched [illegible] drop of the milk in his pail was spilled or disturbed.

In the St. Louis tornado of the same year a carpet in the parlor of one house was pulled up by the twister and carried away a few hundred yards without so much as a rent being torn in it. The tacks had been pulled up as neatly as if extracted by a careful carpet layer.

In another house the bedclothing and mattress were lifted from the bed, and the bedstead was left intact. A resident was carried through the roof of another house with the bed and dropped a quarter of a mile away without injury. The mattress saved him in the fall, and he picked himself up in a vacant lot to dress without knowing exactly what had happened to him.

The "twisters" have been known to pull nails out of shingles and then go on to pick up a chimney bodily and carry it through the air. In Kansas one picked up a buggy and landed it in the branches of a tree. At another time it ripped the harness completely off a horse and left horse, buggy and man uninjured. In Louisville, in 1890, a tornado carried the roof off a house and pulled a child from the mother's arms and carried it safely to another house six blocks away.

But these are merely among the harmless freaks of the big wind. There are others more heartrending. It has dismembered human beings, tearing arms and legs from the body, and twisted the hair of women into ropes. In Kansas it drove a piece of scantling six inches square through the body of a hog. At another time it blew in the door of a farmer's house and carried the owner away on the door, to drop him in the branches of a tree. The tornado did not hurt him, but he broke his neck falling from the tree to the ground.

No one has succeeded in measuring the full force of a tornado, but it is known to travel at the rate of 200 miles and more an hour.

Tornadoes are exciting more general attention than formerly because of the greater number of towns and villages located in the tornado belt. Each successive one is more dangerous than its predecessors because it is apt to find more human material to destroy. Formerly it might travel half the length of a continent without finding anything in its path to destroy except grass, trees and occasionally the crops of a solitary farmer. Today, if it followed the same route, it might pass over a dozen villages and towns.

The only thing that can possibly break the force of a tornado is a range of mountains. It may create wild havoc among the trees and bowlders of a mountain, but it cannot carry the mountain itself away. It will uproot giant forest trees, suck the water from wells and streams, twist and demolish iron bridges and carry on houses, but the mountains are proof against the mighty force of the wind.

Until we know how to control the tornado or find some means of baffling it, its menacing danger must always be a source of considerable uneasiness in the great plain sections of the country. But, like earthquakes, the tornado and cyclone do not come every year, and sometimes they defer their visit for a decade or so, for which we may be thankful.—George E. Walsh in Harper's Weekly.

HORRORS OF SIBERIA.

Sufferings of Exiled Women Revolutionists of Russia.

One of the most picturesque figures among women revolutionists of Russia is Vera Figner, whose father was one of the distinguished generals of the Napoleonic wars. Betrayed by a traitor, she was condemned to twenty years in the Schlisselburg fortress for alleged participation in every one of the attempts on the life of the late czar. Those incarcerated in this fortress are considered as buried alive, no intercourse or communication with the outer world being allowed, not even with their own nearest relatives. But Vera Figner survived the horrors of twenty years' solitary confinement and exile in Siberia and is still working for the enlightenment of ignorant Russians.

A name revered by all Russian revo[illegible] Sigida, [illegible] aroused to a frenzy of indignation through seeing an invalid female prisoner in the Siberian colony of Kara, to which they had both been exiled, flogged by a warder, was herself flogged to death because she struck him. In the prison records it is written, "Mme. Sigida committed suicide by poisoning herself," but truth, like murder, will out, and the crime of the warders of Kara has been fully proved.

Terrible indeed were the tortures and cruelty meted out to Marie Spiridonova, who three years ago shot Colonel Luzhanovsky, who flogged the peasants when they were unable to pay taxes or ordered the Cossacks to shoot down the strikers and to torture their wives and children. She was condemned to death, but the inhuman treatment she had suffered before her trial induced the authorities to commute the death sentence, although it would have been more merciful to have carried out the extreme penalty of the law, for today she is working out a miserable existence in a Siberian mine and is said to be the only chained woman convict in Siberia.—London Tit-Bits.

Apples Without Cores.

Almost everybody has heard the story of the boy who asked his companion for the core of his apple, to which request the companion made the historic remark, "There ain't goin' to be no core." Now, Justice of the Peace David Barb of Clifford, Bartholomew county, has an apple tree, and that tree bears apples. Should any person ask for the core of an apple from the tree he would be doomed to disappointment, because the apples do not have cores. Justice Barb has brought some of the apples to this city and exhibited them. He says the tree that bears the apples never blooms in spring, but through some freak process it bears apples the same as other trees. These apples are without a core, and they are also seedless.—Columbus Cor. Indianapolis News.

The Pleasure of Raising Whiskers.

The enthusiasm of those engaged in the cultivation of whiskers is inspiring. A man with a full beard may in a lucid moment shave it off. But watch him closely. Within ten days he will show signs of returning to his old life almost as certainly as a murderer will return to the scene of his crime.—American Magazine.

Didn't Get a Chance.

"Did your son who went to the city to make his fortune deliver the goods?"

"No. He was caught with them before he had a chance."—Houston Post.

LIFE INSURANCE

THE pessimist and the prophet of woe have no rightful place in any consideration of the expediency of insuring life. But certain hard facts should be squarely faced by every man of moderate means who has anyone dependent on him. Hundreds of men are yearly rejected for life insurance who would have been accepted had they not delayed their applications until ill health had come upon them. Why do men in good condition take such a long chance of remaining well? It is an impressive fact that out of 8549 holders of policies in a leading life insurance company who died in the past year, only 64 died of old age. The remainder were carried away by disease or accident. Hence the wisdom of insuring early in life. The best years for saving are from 20 to 40, and no man should let that period pass without taking out an insurance policy. For that part of his career an endowment policy, which is likely to mature while he is still living and can secure the proceeds of it himself, is to be preferred.

There will probably always be poor old men, their ranks will be recruited from the successful men of an earlier date, and fortunate is he who has made certain provision by means of endowment insurance in the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada.

ORILLIANS MUST USE LESS WATER

Only Four Hours Use of Water for Lawns

The Water, Light and Power Commission, of Orillia, sent out notices to local water takers requesting the to use as little water as possible during the present dry spell, and restricting the use of water for lawn services to four hours daily. The circular says: "Owing to the fact that the present pump is not equal to supplying the demand for water caused by the prolonged dry spell, it has been found necessary to further restrict the use of lawn services to the following hours: 7 a.m. to 9 a.m., and 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Water takers will be required strictly to observe these hours for the remainder of the season, as the present rate of consumption frequently exceeds the capacity of the pump, and deprives the town of the reserve required for fire protection."

A BULLETIN ON THE CROP

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—In a bulletin issued to-day the Census and Statistics Office reports that according to the returns made by crop-reporting correspondents at the end of last month the weather of July was upon the whole favorable to the growth of grain crops. The conditions in the Northwest provinces were reported as generally excellent, representing a standard or full crop by 100, the average condition throughout Canada of fall wheat is expressed as 71.45, of spring wheat as 87.02, of oats as 87.40, of barley as [illegible], of rye as 83.03 of mixed grains as [illegible] and of flaxseed as [illegible]

The percentages of the standard condition of spring wheat, barley, and rye represent the promise of yields per acre for spring wheat of [illegible], for barley of five, for rye of two and for flax seed of [illegible] per cent. above the average yields per acre of the last five years. The condition of the oat crop promises a yield equal to the average.

All the field crops of Canada on July 31, excepting only fall wheat (71.45), hay and clover (74.57) and alfalfa (76.35) are reported as having a condition above 80, the range being from 82 beans and corn for husking, to 89 for potatoes and mixed grains.

In the three Northwest provinces spring wheat is reported as 84.66 in Manitoba, 89 in Saskatchewan and 88 in Alberta, the other grain crops being correspondingly high, barley, especially in Saskatchewan and Alberta being 90 per cent or over. Root crops in the Northwest provinces are also particularly good.

The condition of buckwheat in the Maritime provinces and in Quebec is 90 and over; but in Ontario it is down to 73.43. Flaxseed is above 80 in the Northwest provinces, and in Saskatchewan, where the great bulk of this crop is grown the percentage condition is 84.17. Sugar beet, grown for beet root sugar in Ontario and Alberta, is 86.44 for the former and 92.31 for the latter province.

The preliminary estimate of the yield per acre of fall wheat is 22.38 bushels, which for the harvested area in Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia of 825,800 acres indicates a total yield of 18,482,000 bushels, as compared with 16,396,000 bushels from 781,000 acres in 1912, this yield is 13 per cent. above that of last year.

The average yield per acre of hay and clover is estimated at 1.23 ton indicating a total yield of 9,396,500 tons from 7,621,600 acres, as compared with 11,189,000 tons from 7,633,600 acres of 1.47 ton per acre in 1912. Alfalfa, with an average yield per acre of 1.38 ton, shows an estimated total production of 143,000 tons from 103,250 acres as compared with 310,100 tons from 111,300 acres, or 2.79 tons per acre in 1912.

AN APPEAL FOR A PROPER BATHING PLACE

To The Editor of The Review.

Dear Sir—The bringing into police court and fining of four small boys for bathing in the river, is an incident which should serve to show those in authority the need in our city, of a place where, not only boys and girls, but citizens generally, may bathe without danger of being hauled into court as criminals. The officials of our Y.M.C.A. have long known the need of such a place in this city, and have been doing their best for the boys, giving free use of the pool in the Y.M.C.A. building together with instruction in swimming free, and many boys have availed themselves of these privileges. The citizens I am sure owe the officers who have made this a work of love, a debt of gratitude, but we should not stop there, but see to it that a proper bathing place, with dressing rooms, etc., be established. There are many places on the river, within easy distance from the centre of the city, where this [illegible] would be a much appreciated boon to many.

"CITIZEN"

The Review has on several occasions already called attention to the subject, and we are glad to find our readers taking an interest in it. Perhaps our civic authorities will take the hint and remove this grievance as soon as convenient.

CHIEF MILLER HAD MISHAP

Horse Pulled off Bridle and Ran Away With Children in Buggy

Millbrook Reporter.

Chief Miller had a runaway on Friday last while out at Cavanville which looked bad for a while, but turned out very satisfactorily. He had two of his smaller children in the buggy and left them in it when he tied the horse to attend to business he had in hand. The horse pulled off the bridle and ran away, pitching the children into an empty cellar amongst stones and weeds, etc. It was certainly a narrow escape but with slight bruises. The horse ran away down near Springville before being stopped.

A WONDERFUL BRIDGE

Largest Natural Span in America, [illegible] Not In the World.

The largest natural bridge in America, if not indeed in the [illegible] is located in southwestern [illegible] [illegible] is known as the George Natural bridge. Its total length between the [illegible] abutments is about [illegible] the width of the roadway is some [illegible] while the span in the clear [illegible] from the bed up to the [illegible] is [illegible] feet. At the bottom flows a [illegible] water course that during the [illegible] summer months dwindles [illegible] mere rivulet. Just what produced this work of nature has for some [illegible] puzzled the leading scientists of the country. It could scarcely have been created by the wear of water unless there was a very large and swift current flowing where the little brook is now. The general explanation given for the creation of this natural bridge is that volcanic action, occurring at some distant period of the world's history, was the active agency.

The existence of the bridge is of comparative recent knowledge to the public, though the Indians in that region have long known that there was such a work of nature. The red men often spoke of this bridge to the early settlers of that part of Utah, but little credence was ever given to their stories. About ten or twelve years ago it was first discovered by some mining prospectors. It is located in the heart of a very rugged region that is difficult of access. Of late years it has been visited by a great many tourists and sightseers. Very recently some travelers visited this freak of old Mother Earth in automobiles, and one venturesome motorist drove his car across the bridge, passing safely over the yawning chasm. The stone of which the span is composed is dark brown sandstone of an unusually hard quality, and the thickness of the span is twenty feet or more. Engineers who have made a careful examination of this bridge pronounce it perfectly safe and secure and fully capable of supporting an immense weight. The span is free from flaws or seams.—Wide World Magazine.

The Hoop Pole Man.

The Maine hoop pole man makes even better wages than his brother, the gum picker. The hoop pole man follows along the wake of the loggers. He barbers the face of the hillside of stuff that no one else wants. He is after the second growth, as the young birch and ash are called which spring up around the rotting stumps of great trees. The hoop pole man takes a horse with him on his tours. He cuts the poles and the horse hauls them to camp by daylight. Evenings the pole man fashions the hoops with a draw shave, sitting beside a roaring fire and pulling at his black pipe. Sometimes the poles are sold round, but the harvester who trims his own stuff and shaves the hoops receives 2 or 3 cents each for the finished product, and that pays.—Belfast Republican Journal.

FORTY THOUSAND MEN REQUIRED

Farm Laborers' Excursions—This Year's Wheat Crop Will Be the Largest in the History of Canada.

The wheat crop of 1913 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East to recruit and assist in harvesting the World's greatest bread basket.

The Governments of the respective Provinces state that forty thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. These will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which Company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run, and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a day shorter than any other route.

KRUPP'S GREAT FACTORY.

The Largest Single Industrial Plant in the World.

A recent census of the great Krupp works of Germany proves conclusively that it is the largest single industrial plant in the world, employing 68,726 workers. The number includes officials, clerks, skilled workmen and laborers. These workers, with their families, would make a fairly respectable city even in these times of large cities. On the basis of three persons to each worker the total would be more than 200,000, not to count the grocers, butchers, dry goods and clothing merchants and other business men who would be supported by the Krupp toilers and their families in addition. The total number directly dependent upon the Krupp works is in the neighborhood of a quarter of a million persons—a city as large as St. Paul.

Of the workers, 37,701 are employed in the steel foundry and gun testing grounds. Coal and coke amounting to 2,491,406 tons were consumed in the year from July 1, 1909, to July 1, 1910.

The steam engines number 509, developing 89,430 horsepower. In addition to having its own plant for the production of electricity, the firm possesses its own gas producing plant, which turned out 18,487,300 cubic meters (nearly 60,000,000 cubic feet) of gas. One of the important features of the works is the railway system, consisting of eighty-seven miles of track, fifty-three locomotives and 2,396 cars or "wagons."—Chicago Tribune.

THE TEMPTER

Adam Didn't Wait For Eve to Offer Him the Apple.

By KEITH GORDON.

The girl on the porch laid her book face downward beside her, a faint, skeptical smile visible about her mouth.

"How do you go about it?" was the question that her eyes asked of the radiant landscape. "It's all very well to say that a woman, if she has not a hump upon her back, may marry whom she will, but how would she go about it?"

The scratching of a match broke the stillness, and her meditations were suddenly precipitated from the general to the concrete. She glanced where a man's form bulked in one of the huge wicker chairs. With his hand forming a screen he was lighting a fresh cigar, seemingly oblivious to everything in life except that and a journal on engineering which lay in his lap.

He was her brother's best friend, and she had known him for years, not with much satisfaction, it must be confessed, since he was notoriously a "man's man," living in a man's world and regarding the rustle of feminine skirts with something of the same feeling that he did the humming of a mosquito.

But he was good to look upon—so good that a sudden, quick resentment shot through her heart at his indifference. It assumed the likeness of a personal affront, a sort of insult to her sex. It would serve him right if some girl should just make up her mind to marry him and do it, too, before he knew what he was about.

Meanwhile he had tossed away the match and picked up the journal again as imperturbably as if he were alone, a pair of half indignant eyes watching him with a combination of pique and amusement.

It certainly would serve him right, her thoughts ran on, if some lady should just wind him round and round her finger, make him fetch and carry at her beck and call, reduce him to a perfect mush of sentiment. Something in her steady gaze caused him to move uneasily, then look up.

"Did you speak?"

He had the perfunctory manner of a person who knows he must keep guard over himself or he will be guilty of some remissness. A heroic resolution to do his duty was visible in his face.

"No," she drawled. "I didn't speak. But if you don't mind very much I think I will. I'd like to ask you, for instance, if you have ever had a ladies' day?"

"A ladies' day?" he repeated helplessly, shaking off his eyeglasses with a characteristic movement, while his tormentor watched him as if he had been some sort of specimen that she had impaled upon a pin. Then a light dawned upon him.

"You mean such as they have at the clubs—a day when the place is given up to your sex and other matters go to the wall? Well, no. I don't know that I ever had."

"Don't you think it is time?" she ventured.

"Possibly," he admitted, but he still held the journal in a way that suggested a well nigh unconquerable desire to return to it. She stretched out her hand. Reluctantly he handed it over.

"Did it ever occur to you," she asked blandly, "that the creature who tempted Adam so successfully, who is at the bottom of everything, as it were, must be as—as intricate as your old engineering problems?"

"I have always considered Adam weak, very weak," was his evasive answer. "Men aren't like that nowadays."

At these boastful words a resolution that had been taking form in her mind became full fledged. She was inspired with the sense of a mission. Her neglected sex should find an avenger in her.

"You think you wouldn't have eaten of the apple, then?"

There was a new note in her voice. It was at the same time a challenge and an appeal.

As if it were something absolutely new it came to his mind that girls were delicate, helpless creatures, and a wave of tenderness for the sex swept over him. Still he was very positive that he wouldn't have eaten the apple, and something in the soft, babyish, yet dependent way in which she looked at him caused him to explain at great length why.

"Has talked fifteen minutes by the clock," she was thinking in high glee, but outwardly she was all deferential, honey sweet attention.

"I'm sure he wouldn't have yielded if he'd been like you!" was her earnest comment when he finished speaking, and at the words he was conscious of a pleasant expansiveness, a caressing sense of satisfaction as delightful as it was unusual. It was as if he were growing taller, broader and more severely strong before her very eyes.

"Go back to your reading. I'm not going to bother you another minute." She jumped up and, laying her hand on his arm, finished ingenuously: "You don't mind my bothering you, do you? A girl gets so tired of woman talk! A chat like this is like a plunge in a cold stream." And she vanished into the house and scurried to her room, where she threw a kiss to her image in the mirror, with the remark, "You're doing well for a beginner, my love."

Down on the broad piazza the man had returned to the closely printed columns before him, but after a half hour he gave up.

"I'm stale," he murmured, throwing the paper on the table. "Wonder where's she gone. Never before realized how interesting she is—for a girl. Had I ever had a ladies' day? Umph! That was funny!" And he smiled at the recollection of it.

For the next two or three days she avoided him as much as possible.

"I must give him plenty of line," she decided craftily, "and never let him suspect that he's taken the bait."

On the third day he proposed a long tramp to her.

"You don't want a silly thing like me," she protested, with modest self depreciation. "I can't talk about bridges and buttresses and caissons and all those interesting things that you know about. I shall only bore you."

"What was it you said the other day about the creature that tempted Adam?" was his laughing reply. "Perhaps I want to take up a new line of study."

"I just made him think I was the most dependent thing that ever lived," she confided shamelessly to her mirror that night. "My timid little feet could scarcely get over the ground without help, and as for climbing fences"—

She went off into a peal of laughter as she remembered how solicitous he had been about her getting over a fence that was in their way—and she who could turn a handspring as well as either of her brothers!

"Of course I couldn't do it if I really liked him," she murmured. Then the girl in the mirror averted her face quickly. "I'm just going to give him a much needed lesson, you know," she went on. This time the girl looked into her eyes for a moment. After that she threw herself on the bed and buried a hot face in the pillows.

As the weeks went by the startling conviction that there was one girl in the world who never bored him, never made him long to escape and get back to his own kind, came to be a certainty to the man. With the coming of this knowledge the world seemed a brighter, livelier place.

The idea of marriage, which had hitherto seemed as remote as that of suicide, came and lodged within his brain as if it were an old friend. He thought, with some scorn, of his former views.

* * * * * * *

They were standing under the big apple tree in the back garden. From the ground she picked up one of the round, smooth apples and began to eat it. Something in the action brought back to him the conversation they once had about Adam, and he wondered how he could ever have been so cross, so dense. He held out his hand.

"Please, Eve," he besought.

"But you are not like Adam," she began archly.

"No," he said meaningly. "He waited for temptation. I don't intend to wait!"

And that night she whispered to the girl in the mirror, "What Thackeray says is true!"

The Dispute.

A rabbit went out walking one day, and when he came home he found his burrow occupied by a weasel. He was greatly astonished at finding a stranger in his house.

"See here, Madam Weasel," he said, "what are you doing here? This is not your home. Please get out of my burrow."

"Your burrow, indeed!" cried the weasel. "I'll do no such thing. I am perfectly at home."

"Well, now," said the rabbit gently, "let's take the dispute to Grimalkin."

Now, Grimalkin was a cat, the judge of all controversies that came up in the forest, and so the weasel could do nothing less than consent to do as the rabbit suggested. They set out together and soon arrived before the judge.

"Come near to me, my children," said Grimalkin; "I am deaf."

They obeyed, not dreaming of any harm that might come, and the cat, casting out a clawed foot at each side, gripped them both and settled the dispute by eating them one after the other.

Moral.—People often ruin themselves by lawsuits. It is better to come to an agreement out of court.—French of Perrin.

Loafing.

"I loaf and invite my soul," sang Walt Whitman in one of his "barbaric yawps" that has sounded "over the roofs of the world." And it is no doubt the best, profoundest and highest thing ever said or sung about loafing.

The soul—if we may be so fortunate as to have one in the real and high significance of the word—will hardly come to our mundane aid, no matter how often we may invite it, unless we loaf. We do not in our ordinary business of living give it a chance to visit us. Like the virtues of art, it demands a large leisure and far horizons. That is why the poets and thinkers possess "soul" and we ordinary mortals do not. Our life is too narrow, too "cabined, cribbed, confined." Soul escapes or shuns us while we grope in our huddled and cluttered existence. We must "loaf" and invite it.

Loafing is good for us—now and then. As a habit it is very bad, but even a "good custom," as Tennyson assures us, would "corrupt the world" were it not for wholesome change and variety. And an occasional loaf, whether voluntary or enforced, may be salutary.—Columbia State.

PETES WERE HELD BACK BY AULD'S CLEVER TWIRLING

Locals Had Difficulty in Connecting and 13 Men Fanned

Thanks to the disturbances caused by the members of the Berlin Baseball Club, at Riverside Park yesterday afternoon mother earth is absorbing copious rains to-day and the citizens of Peterborough and the public in general, place on record their appreciation of the efforts put forth by the visiting brethren.

Gentle reader, the noise made by Jack White's Berliners as they hooked up with the Petes for the first of a farewell series, would start most anything. Fifteen miscellaneous clouts for eighty trips around the paths was the result of their performance and the game was well and truly won.

At the same time, Mr. Robert Auld who is not the young man who figured in the society event at Cobourg, a short time ago, had the local hirelings glued to the home plate and first base with monotonous regularity.

Thirteen times did he engineer the flight of the ball so that Davey Rowan's hustlers stood up and sat down again. These specialties distributed scientifically throughout the game made it possible for the Petes to get home but twice.

Mike Sweeney, he of the life-saving crew, assisted in the disturbance to the extent of four legitimate hits during his five trips to the plate.

BAD WRITING.

Sheridan, the Playwright, Had A Atrocious Hand.

Sheridan's writing was a scandal to his school and puzzled London in his day. He once wrote a "pass" to Drury Lane, and the doorkeeper stopped its bearer and immediately pronounced it to be a forgery, because he could decipher it! To make matters worse Sheridan was also uncertain in his spelling. A "which," a "where," and "whether" in his hands, for instance were as often as not deprived of their "aiches," and a "thing" was to him always a "think" and nothing more.

The atrocious writing of celebrities recalls the claim once made on behalf of Baron Bramwell that he wrote three hands: "one which he alone could read, another which his clerk could read and he couldn't, and a third which nobody could read," and the last named was his usual style.

Lord Curzon, when a young man at college, once found his bad handwriting stand him in good stead. Writing two letters, one to a relative, the other to a chum, he enclosed them in the wrong envelopes. It chanced that in the second letter he had made some uncomplimentary reference to his relative, and on discovering the mistake he had made he awaited developments with anxiety. There presently came a letter from the uncle. "I have tried to decipher your epistle," it ran, "but your writing is so atrocious that I cannot make head or tail of it. However, I guess the drift of it to be that you need some money, you rogue, so I enclose a cheque."

Bad handwriting is not always a handicap in life. The late Lord Goschen once said that his father attributed the foundations of his fortune to the fact that he was obliged to found a firm because he wrote such a bad hand that no one would take him for a clerk. Of Goschen himself, Mr. Arthur Elliot records that "his handwriting got steadily worse, and in his latter years he might have spelt as he chose. At length his script became undecipherable even by himself. He could not, when speaking in Parliament, make out what it was that he had put on paper, and he thus came in later days to abandon almost entirely his old practice of making notes."

Professor Blackie had a peculiar "fist." An elderly compositor on the Scotsman, however, knew nearly all about the Professor. One night there was a particularly difficult manuscript from the Professor. It was put before the expert, with an inquiry as to whether or not he could set it. "I could not do that," said the veteran from Inverury; "but if I'd ma pipes here I could play her."

"Fifty cents without gas, dollar with."

"How much where I furnish the light?"

OUTLAW LAFITTE.

Old Time Patriot Pirate of the Gulf of Mexico.

HE WAS COURTLY AND BRAVE

And as Mild a Mannered Man as Ever Scuttled Ship or Cut a Throat—He Boldly Faced Andrew Jackson, Won His Friendship and Fought For Him.

In the brave days of old Jean Lafitte, the patriot pirate of the gulf, ruled over a little outlaw kingdom of his own within a few miles of the city of New Orleans.

A picturesque figure was Jean Lafitte, with a graceful, courtly delivery about him which made him popular with many of the most estimable dwellers in New Orleans. Handsome, able, averse to the shedding of blood and even possessed of loyalty to the government whose excise laws he made it his business to break.

Lafitte was French. He drifted to Louisiana in the early years of the nineteenth century and set up in piracy in the bay of Barataria, a sheltered harbor on the gulf of Mexico, protected by a long island called Grand Terre, where Jean Lafitte dwelt in a house of brick, with broad and comfortable verandas, where one might loll at ease in a hammock, smoking and drinking lazily, while pirate chiefs filed in to bring reports of plunder taken and prospects ahead.

No crude or common pirate was this Jean Lafitte. He held a privateer's commission from the republic of Cartagena, which had been recently established in South America and has long since been forgotten, and this commission gave him the right to plunder Spanish ships. Lafitte's followers were a motley collection—black, white, yellow and red—restless and reckless rovers of the sea. Lafitte trafficked in silk and gold and negroes and sold his goods openly at auction even in the city of New Orleans.

He was popular, too; there is no doubt of that. Had it been otherwise he would not have been permitted to remain five years in Barataria. As early as 1809 we find governors of Louisiana thundering against him, but Lafitte went calmly about his business. Occasionally a revenue officer was killed in a brush with the pirates. Invariably Lafitte expressed his sorrow that bloodshed had become necessary. A case was brought against him in the federal court. The district attorney was a man named Grymes. Lafitte went to see Grymes, and the result of the visit was that the district attorney resigned his office and undertook Lafitte's defense. He and the lawyer who assisted him were promised $20,000 apiece for their services and got it. After the case was dismissed Grymes went to Barataria to receive his fee and spent a week feasting with the pirates, who treated him with princely hospitality and escorted him back to the Mississippi in a handsome yawl, laden with caskets of gold and silver.

Repeated attempts had been made to organize a military expedition to destroy Lafitte's pirate colony, but up to the year 1814 they had always come to nothing. In September of that year a British brig anchored six miles from Barataria pass, and its captain came ashore and offered Lafitte a captain's commission in the British navy and $30,000 if he would join the British in an attack against New Orleans.

Lafitte pretended to consider the offer, sending word meantime to a member of the legislature of the British captain's offer and declaring that he would never accept it. He sent another letter to Governor Claiborne, who had offered $5,000 for Lafitte's head and for whose head Lafitte in return, in a spirit of gay bravado, had offered a reward of $50,000. Lafitte suggested that the governor extend clemency to his pirates, who in return would aid in the defense of the state against the British. The offer was rejected, and an expedition under Commodore Patterson of the United States navy swooped down on Barataria unexpectedly, tore down the brick house, confiscated much plunder and drove out the pirates.

Jean Lafitte and his brother Pierre escaped and established themselves on the lower Mississippi. Meanwhile Andrew Jackson had arrived to undertake the defense of New Orleans. Jean Lafitte went boldly into New Orleans to see him, although the fiery general had declared he would have nothing to do with "these pirates and hellish banditti." There must have been a peculiar charm and persuasiveness about Jean Lafitte, for after the interview Jackson changed his mind, accepted the aid of the pirates and showed the utmost trust in them. And throughout the siege of New Orleans the followers of Lafitte showed themselves worthy of confidence. They were excellent gunners, and two of Lafitte's captains, Dominique You and a man named Beluche, were put in charge of ships. When the British had been driven away Jackson recommended that Lafitte and his men be granted pardon for all previous misdemeanors, and the thing was done.

Nobody seems to know exactly what became of Jean Lafitte and his brother. In 1816 we find Jean in Galveston, Tex., whence he was chased by the Spanish government in 1820. Later there came stories of cruises in the Caribbean. The call of the sea was too strong for the one time Baratarian. —Kansas City Star.

Our lives will be no higher than our aims.

When in doubt, tell the truth.

SETTLERS TO BLAME

Their Carlessness Responsible for Bush Fires

Toronto, Aug. 22.—That there are no forest fires of serious proportions in the forest reserves, but that a great deal of damage has been done in the more settled districts of Muskoka, Parry Sound and North Victoria owing to the carelessness of the settlers, was announced in a statement issued yesterday by the Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines. The Minister states that the fire rangers have done everything possible to prevent the starting of fires, and on the reserves and Crown Lands the Government have 575 rangers on duty, while on licensed lands there are 300 rangers. The great difficulty experienced by the Government is that the area of bush land is so great that it is almost impossible to prevent fires caused by the carelessness of settlers.

HE TOOK THE WRONG TRAINING

Jas. Donahue, a lumber man, who has been a guest at Castle Nesbitt for the past few days, was re-arraigned before Magistrate Dumble on the charge of being drunk.

On his appearance in court, he was so shaky that the court gave him free lodgings for a few days. This morning Donahue presented a much altered appearance, and solmenly promised to quit the booze for ever.

CARDINAL GIBBONS.

Eugenics is only a fad which is bound to pass out of existence, according to the views expressed by Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore. Criticizing the new eugenic law of Wisconsin, he describes it as an infringement on personal liberty. It is better, he contends, to let the question of marriage remain with the individual. The State, he says, cannot well legislate in such matters. Archbishop Keane, of Dubuque, Iowa, also criticized the law.

"BACK FROM THE WILD"

The Canadian Press Women, who journeyed to the end of the track with the Grand Trunk Pacific in June last have demonstrated the fact that women can see and feel and live to tell about it afterward. The clippings from the newspapers represented by these pilgrims reveal flashes of real genius; for instance, Nan Moulton writes:—

"The eyes that came back to Edmonton one morning last June, were all eyes, full of dreams come true eyes big with the bigness of mountains, eyes alight with the sun on waters, aware of evening spirits in the midst and a soul of opalescence that in the sweet long twilight softened and glorified the jade-green day loveliness of lake-jewels set in naked grey rings of rock.

The hundred pairs of eyes were warm with memories of gracious, enveloping hospitality, were sweeter because of hands touched and hearts touched and lives touched and interwoven silences as the train drew around curves of breathless beauty, as the face of lovely foamy cataracts ethealized some flat blue-green wash of fir, or the moon rose above black peaks and glinted strangely on lonely living snow."

WANTS CONCESSION

Germany to Extend Favored Nation Clause to Britain.

BERLIN, Germany, Aug. 21.—(C.A.P.)—Immediately the reichstag reassembles a measure will be laid before the house affecting the commercial relations between Germany and England and her overseas dominions. The bill will authorize the federal council to extend her most favored nation treatment to Great Britain, her colonies and other possessions. A step in this arrangement has already been in force with all dominions excepting Canada, who in 1910 obtained concessions on twenty-five articles in the German tariff in return for the suspension of article thirty-three and the third surcharge levied by the Canadian Government on all German products entering the Dominion.

Several previous attempts have been made to bring Canada in line, but without success.

MEXICAN PRESIDENT IS VICTORIOUS OVER REBELS

Peace is Being Secured in Mexico by Force of Arms and Conditions Are Reported to Have Improved—Nine Fights Against Constitutionalists in One Day Result in Victories.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 22.—(Can. Press.)—Nine fights between the federals and constitutionalists are reported to have taken place during the past 24 hours. All are recorded as federal victories.

According to the official reports, the military situation thruout the republic is greatly improved. The rebels are said to be generally disheartened and on the defensive in all quarters.

These official reports are practically the only source of information on which news for local consumption is based. The other side of the story rarely reaches the capital, because of interrupted communications and censorship of despatches at points outside the capital. In three of the fights reported, 175 rebels are said to have been killed while the federal loss is given at eight.

The situation about Torreon is now admitted to be slightly worse. It is understood the rebels control much of the country about that section, and that a thousand more are marching southward from Cuatro Cienegas, Coahuila, to reinforce those already there. Eastward from Cuatro Cienegas, Gen. Pena's headquarters at Monclova has reported a portion of his men to be cut off by rebels and in need of help. Gen. Joaquin Maas, who is marching northward from Monclova to Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, has been instructed to delay his movements in order to co-operate with Gen. Pena. The government expresses confidence that Pena and Maas will be able to check the southward movement of the rebels.

Great improvement in the situation in the State of Chihuahua is now reported by the government. No news from Guaymas, Sonora, has been received for several days past, except that the rebels in that vicinity are in a demoralized condition because of dissensions between the rebel leaders, Maytorena and Pesquiera. It is understood that the federal general, Ojeda, will attempt no advance in Sonora until he is reinforced.

Admissions are made that the rebels are gaining headway in the State of Sinaloa, south of Sonora. The governor, however, insists that this headway is not important. One of the recent exploits of the rebels in Sinaloa was the destruction with dynamite of a Southern Pacific Railway bridge 225 feet long.

Increased activity has been displayed lately in the State of Morelos, where the federal general, Juvencio Robles, has been given free hand to destroy the followers of Zapata. The newspapers today quote official reports from Morelos saying the state is free from rebels at last. These reports say the last of them, including Zapata, have gone south into the State of Guerrera. Previously large numbers moved north and now are almost encircling the capital. The official explanation is that they chose this direction, other exits from Morelos being closed.

Other reports published today, equally official, are to the effect that Genevevo de Lao, at the head of a well-organized band of rebels, is entrenched at Lepeite, Morelos, and that still other bands have been accounted for in the same state.

The government is displaying keen satisfaction over its energetic campaign of extermination. Scores of small towns have been destroyed, hundreds of families dispossessed, and a large number of young men shot. Since the followers of Zapata invaded the federal district, General Robles has destroyed seven towns within a few miles of the capital, including Ajurco, which was almost within sight of the city. In these destroyed towns only the churches were left standing, and they have been abandoned by the priests whose congregations have disappeared. Three more towns near the capital were ordered destroyed today.

In the capital's suburbs there are arriving daily hundreds of dispossessed refugees from destroyed towns who carry on their backs their personal effects.

The followers of Zapata are more active than ever in their campaign of destruction and personal outrages. They are raiding numerous villages and ranches and subjecting their victims to torture in the States of Mexico and Hidalgo, west and north of the capital. The government papers describe these outrages as "the last struggles of a wounded beast." For some days the badly informed public believed that Pachuca, capital of Hidalgo, was in danger of attack but they have been reassured by the government, which announces today that it was sending 500 reinforcements thither. Around Pachuca are a number of important mines. Americans and Englishmen are prepared to defend them.

El Pais reported today that there was a greatly increased rebel movement in the State of Jalisco. All the newspapers today print the news of the defeat of the rebel chief, Candido Navarre, near Silao, State of Guanajuto. The public previously had believed this state free from rebels.

The State of Zacatecas admittedly is infested by rebels but the government expressed confidence that it is able to maintain control there. Officially conditions in San Luis Potosi are reported to be improved. There has been some improvement lately in railway communication. The area in which actual traffic is still restricted is limited to the centre of the republic.

Horse's Victim Still Unconscious.

GALT, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Norman Sweltzer, the young man residing on the Hespeler road who was badly injured yesterday by a horse, is still unconscious at his home, and his condition is puzzling the physicians. It is thought that the horse reared and struck the man with its front hoofs. Sweltzer intended evidently taking the horse, a frisky animal, into the barnyard. He intended coming into town, and was to have left this morning for the west.

Already a large number of people are preparing to leave their favorite camp grounds, while the cottagers at Stoney Lake and Chemong will soon close their cottages for another season. The influx of American visitors both at Stoney Lake and Chemong this year has been very large.

FAMILY ESCAPES FIRE.

Cheesemaker, His Wife and Babes Nearly Perish.

KINGSTON, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Hiram Day, a Kingston cheese maker, his wife and two little children came within an ace of being burned to death last night, when the Mode Cheese Factory at Inverary caught fire and was burned to the ground. All four were sound asleep when the fire started from the engineroom. The Day family live in quarters adjoining the factory, and when Mr. Day awoke he found the entire place in flames. They had no time to dress, but escaped in night clothes. Mr. Day dropped out of the upstair window to the ground and Mrs. Day threw the children into his arms and then climbed out of the window herself, and was caught in her husband's arms. All escaped injury. The factory was valued at $3,000 and was insured for $2,000. Sixty boxes of cheese were destroyed on which there was insurance. Lieutenant Col. Frederick Ferguson and T. Thompson owned the building.

LEAPED FROM ROOF.

Score of Montreal Workers Forced to Jump Into Nets.

MONTREAL, Aug. 22.—(Can. Press)—Driven by fire to the roof of the Rideau Shoe Manufacturing Company's building in Maisonneuve this afternoon, a score of employes, including half a dozen girls, were forced to jump sixty feet into life nets. Many of those who took the leap were badly bruised, but only one, Patrick Keenan was seriously injured. He was taken to a hospital.

All of the 200 employes either left the building safely by the stairways or were rescued by firemen from the fire escapes. The flames started from an unknown cause in the basement and quickly shot up the elevator shaft filling the building with a blinding smoke. The building was completely gutted, entailing a loss of $125,000 fully covered by insurance.

Bryan Endorses Bill.

WASHINGTON, Aug 22.—(Can Press)—Supporters of the administration currency bill scored an important victory in the house Democratic caucus today when they brought to their aid an unqualified endorsement of the measure from Secretary Bryan, and defeated the proposed "insurgent" amendments that would have prohibited interlocking directorates in national or state banks incorporated under the proposed new law.

Secretary Bryan, in a letter addressed to Chairman Carter Glass, of the currency committee, approved the bill as it stands, declaring President Wilson had recognized fundamental rights of popular control in its provisions. He asserted that the plank of the Democratic platform against interlocking directorates was aimed chiefly at trusts, and he urged Democrats to "stand by the president," and not to load down the currency bill with any amendments that might endanger its early passage.

Extradition Upheld.

MARSEILLES, Aug 22—(Can. Press)—The decision of The Hague tribunal in the case of the Hindu, Savarkar, which upheld the British contention that despite the prisoner's escape and recapture on French soil, it was not a matter of French jurisdiction, was successfuly quoted by the prosecutor at the court martial here today of a French soldier named Vogel, charged with assaulting his superior officers and with desertion.

Vogel fled to Switzerland, but the Swiss government decided to expel him. After they put him across the French frontier, he was arrested by the French authorities.

The court held that The Hague decision disposed of the legality of Vogel's arrest and he was sentenced to ten years in prison.

Will Compete With German Lines.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—In announcing its intention to abandon the call at Queenstown on the western trip of its lines, the Cunard Steamship Company gave as a reason the danger of that harbor for the monster ships.

It is authoritatively stated, however, that the real reason is that the Aquitania, Mauretania and Lusitania will sail next year from a continental port in order to compete with the German lines in emigrant traffic. This is the Cunard Company's answer to the competition of the Hamburg American Line in the Boston service this year.

LINDLEY M. GARRISON.

President Huerta, in his note, refused all offers of mediation from the United States or any other country and demanded instant recognition from Washington. He said that he would tolerate no interference even though that interference might be characterized as friendly mediation. When Huerta sent his note the United States Embassy in Mexico appeared optimistic, and one was led to believe that Mr. Lind still hopes for a continuation of the negotiations. The above illustrations show President Woodrow Wilson, Secretary of War Garrison, John Lind, envoy to Mexico, and President Huerta.

OUTLOOK FOR CROPS IS GOOD

Mr. T. H. G. Denne Expresses Favorable Opinion on Crop Condition

(Saskatoon Star.)

T. H. G. Denne, sales and grain manager of the Quaker Oats Co'y, Peterborough, Ont., visited Saskatoon on Saturday on his annual tour of inspection of crops in the three provinces, in the interests of his company. To a reporter of the Star, who interviewed him at the King George hotel, Mr. Denne said:

"I find the crops much better than expected, and in my opinion the yield will be quite as large as a year ago, especially wheat and oats. The quality of the crop will depend very largely on the weather during the next two weeks. The The harvest in Manitoba South is in full swing. Saskatoon section is about one week later than Manitoba, and in the territory around Edmonton, Alberta, it is one week later than this territory.

"The Quaker Oats Company is more than pleased with business prospects ahead of the Saskatoon plant, which undoubtedly should in the future become one of the largest plants in the country," said Mr. Denne. "The financial situation will speedily correct itself, especially if the crop matures without frost." In his opinion, the immediate future depended largely on weather conditions the next three weeks. He was very much surprised at the many improvements to be seen in the city since he visited it a year ago.

Mr. Denne is accompanied by Mrs Denne, and is en route east to Peterborough, after inspecting the grain fields of the west. While in the city he was in consultation with Mr. Potter, the local manager of the Quaker Oats Company.

STORM AT SOO.

Heavy Loss Occasioned by Electrical Disturbance.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—During a terrific electric and wind storm which prevailed in the vicinity of the Soo for a couple of hours last evening, damage to the extent of several hundreds of thousands of dollars was incurred. Trees were blown down in every direction and buildings unroofed.

The inland steamship lines will be the heaviest losers, as the great steel coal unloading bridge which they had erected at the New Ontario dock, at heavy expenditure, today is lying a mass of twisted girders and cables across their railway tracks. For the past three months two hundred men have been employed in the erection of the bridge, in order that it might be in readiness to handle the fall supply of coal, and, according to a statement of Mr. S. L. Penhorwood, the company's agent here, would have commenced operations on Monday.

The crash came at 8.15 p.m., when the wind had gained a velocity of about eighty miles an hour. As the New Ontario dock handles the main coal supply of the city, it is expected that the setback in the handling of the coal supply may affect the prices very materially.

A split clothes pin will be found most serviceable in scraping food from griddles or pans. This utensil will not injure the receptacle.

WOMEN PROTEST.

Two Million Oppose Fortification of Canal, Says Delegate.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 22.—(Can. Press.)—"Two millions of women in America protest against the fortification of the Panama Canal" was the assertion made today at the fourth plenary sitting of the twentieth universal peace congress by Mrs. May Wright Sewell of Indianapolis. To this remark which drew a round of applause from the pacificists assembled in the Knights' Hall, the speaker added: "The canal ought to be free for the whole world and should be adorned with a statue of peace at its entrance."

Encouraged with the good will with which Mrs. Sewell's sentiments were greeted, Dr. William F. Slocum of Colorado Springs, a member of the Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of teaching, asked the congress to pass a resolution inviting the United States Government never to fortify the waterway. The congress, however, considered the proposal a novelty which had better be left over for action by a future peace congress.

Furniture Factory Burned.

GODERICH, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—About 2 o'clock this morning the Kensington Furniture Company was completely destroyed by fire. The loss was about $40,000, mostly covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is supposed to be spontaneous combustion in the finishing room. The flames gained such headway, fanned by a strong wind that the firemen could do nothing to save the buildings.

George Radenhurst Acting Judge.

OTTAWA, Aug. 22.—(Can. Press.)—During the absence of Judge Wismer, George A. Radenhurst of Barrie has been appointed to act as deputy judge of Simcoe County.

Will Confer With Pelletier.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—(C.A.P.)—Herbert Samuel, postmaster-general, who sailed on the Empress of Britain yesterday for Canada, tho declining, to disclose the nature of the business awaiting discussion between himself and Postmaster-General Pelletier, admitted that he hoped among other things to effect some improvement in the existing postal arrangements between the two countries. After a few days in New Brunswick, Mr. Samuel will proceed to Quebec, where Mr. Pelletier will meet him and accompany him westward. Included in his western itinerary are Winnipeg, Vancouver, Victoria, Edmonton, Calgary, Regina and Banff. He will return thru the United States, calling one or two days at Chicago, and afterwards return to Canada, where he will devote about ten days to Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal.

Sea Wall Along Road.

SARNIA, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—The next meeting of the county council here may see definite steps taken to have a sea wall constructed along the river road leading alongside the St. Clair River, throuut Sombra and Moore Townships, to prevent the wash from tearing away the road. It is alleged that the road is dangerous in some places. It is the intention of the county to ask the government for help with the work. A special committee of the council has been appointed to look into the matter.

O.R.A. MATCHES CONCLUDE IN DISCONCERTING SHOWERS

Cadet C. V. Fessenden of R. M. C. With a Score of 103, Carries Off the Big Tait-Brassey Match at Long Branch—Pte. Hawkins, the Bisley Winner, Experienced Reversal of Form.

LONG BRANCH, Aug. 22.—(Special.) With today's shooting, the O.R.A. closed the most successful meeting in the history of the Association. Altho the shooting all thru the meet was not as accurate as on former occasions, interest on the part of the militia and civilians was never aroused to so high a pitch as on the present occasion.

The sudden uprising of interest in rifle shooting in the present series, may, perhaps, be due, in a large measure, to the winning of the King's Prize at Bisley by Private W. A. Hawkins, who, altho not scoring anything out of the ordinary during the week, displayed remarkable skill and marksmanship in England. As to Hawkins' failure to display anything remarkable at the O.R.A., there may be something in his remark made at luncheon yesterday, "that being a good fellow had militated against his scoring on the ranges." Military men all agree that a man, after pulling down highest honors, invariably experiences a reversal of form for a short time.

Again, the new ammunition, while generally acknowledged to be better than the old, made good scoring difficult; officers of the O.R.A. claim that the scoring this year would have been just as high as last year had the old style ammunition been used, and declare that next year, when the men have got the range of the new mark VII., high scores will again be the order of the day.

The rain today put a crimp on any high scoring ambitions; the men may have entertained, many of them shooting their cards while the rain was so dense as to almost obscure the targets.

G. Cadet C. V. Fessenden, R.M.C., with a score of 103, won the big Tait-Brassey event, the last stages of which were shot off today, while in the same event the first battalion Q.O.R. carried off the Brassey cup, valued at $125 and $20, for first place with a score of 353. This event, however, has been protested and the Q.O.R. may have to relinquish the trophy. The Royal Canadian Regiment, with a score of 579, won the Tait Challenge Cup, valued at $250.

The only extra series data yet adduced by the statistical department awards Pte. W. S. Hendry, 77th Batt., first place in the 200 yard shoot, his prize money amounting to $14.25. The extra series aggregate was won by Lieut. G. Mortimer, C.A.S.C., who wins P. W. Ellis & Company's special cup.

The all-comers' aggregate scoring composed of aggregate of City of Toronto, Osler, Duke of Cornwall and York, Bankers and the lieutenant-governor's matches, was won by Sergeant W. A. Smith, who carried off the Ross rifle presented by Col W. C. Macdonald, and $14 prize money.

F. W. Sleeman, 48th Highlanders, with a score of 35, won first place in the Mackenzie match.

Sergeant W. A. Smith, G.G.F.G., with the splendid total of 380, and Lieut. E. L. C. Forster, 3rd C.E., 379, carried off first and second place in the militia aggregate, for which Smith receives the N.R.A. silver medal and badge and Forster the governor-general's silver medal and badge. ### Business Resumed.

WILLEMSTAD, Aug. 22.—(Can. Press.)—Traffic with the town of Coro, in the Venezuelan state of Falcon, following the government's defeat of the rebels, has been resumed and the Caracas government today authorized the Venezuelan consul here to forward vessels with merchandise to that port.

The situation at Maracaibo, the capital of the state Zulia and the principal seaport of Venezuela, is quiet.

Furniture Factory Burned.

GODERICH, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—About 2 o'clock this morning the Kensington Furniture Company was completely destroyed by fire. The loss was about $40,000, mostly covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is supposed to be spontaneous combustion in the finishing room. The flames gained such headway, fanned by a strong wind that the firemen could do nothing to save the buildings.

FOREST FIRES IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Big Timber Tract Burnt Over—Nova Scotia Also Suffers.

BRUNSWICK, Vt., Aug. 22.—(Can. Press).—A forest fire on the property of the Connecticut Valley Lumber Co. broke away from 300 men tonight, and was driven before a strong southwest wind thru a valuable grove of timber. By nightfall a million feet of cut timber, much valuable standing timber, a thousand cords of hemlock bark and 1000 acres of scrub land had been swept by the flames.

Shortly after the flames broke out, several acres of the old cuttings were burning. Every fire warden with all the deputies available hurried to the scene, while the lumber company turned all its available men into fire fighters.

Unless rain falls during the night, the wardens declare that many million feet of standing timber will be destroyed.

Forest Fires in Nova Scotia.

HALIFAX, Aug. 22.—(Can. Press)—A despatch from Yarmouth, N.S., says: Forest fires are raging all over this country. So dangerous is one between Forest street and Argyle street, near Arcadia, that men have been ordered out by the wardens today with teams hauling water. Heavy fires are reported in the woods near Belleville, lower Argyle, Westport and Lake Annis.

Sparks from Engine Start Fires.

KINGSTON, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Forest fires are raging along the line of the C.P.R. near Tichborne. A spark from the engine of a construction train is supposed to have started the fire. It did great damage to crops on the farm of Alexander Rogers, Jos. McKee and Alf. Steele, the farmers turned out and save their homes. A heavy fall of rain today helped to stop the spreading fire.

WILSON A TOOL.

U. S. President Criticized for His Mexican Policy.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—(Can. Press)—The Saturday Review, in a leading article today, savagely attacks President Wilson's Mexican policy. It says President Wilson "unconsciously is playing the game of those in the United States who want control of Mexican politics in order to fill their own pockets."

Concluding, the article says: "If he wishes to plunge his own country into a war that would last for years, drive Mexico back into anarchy and play the game of his own political enemies, he will continue his present policy and ~~try to~~ break down the Huerta regime. On the other side, is the alternative of accepting a trifling reverse of policy. Recognising facts, he will have to adopt one policy or the other. Neither may be pleasant, but there can be no doubt which one is recommended by humanity and common sense."

A little ochre added to the rinsing water will help to preserve the tone of ecru lace.

HARRY THAW HAS NEW TROUBLE TO OVERCOME

Thompson Says He is the Victims of a "Frame Up" and That Unless Thaw Family Put Up Money for His Defence, He Will Disclose the Details of the Escape From Matteawan.

SHERBROOKE, Aug. 22.—(Can. Press) Gentleman Roger Thompson, the New York chauffeur held under the Dominion immigration laws as having aided Harry K. Thaw, legally a lunatic, to cross the Canadian frontier, announced from his cell tonight that he was "up against it," and that if the Thaw family did not come to his rescue he would perhaps in justice to himself be forced to tell all he knows about Thaw's escape from Matteawan, and thus complicate the proceedings under which Thaw's lawyers hope to obtain his release on a writ of habeas corpus on Wednesday next.

Tonight Thompson removed the smoked eye-glasses he had worn since his arrest here, and openly admitted that the name Mitchell Thompson he had given the authorities was fictitious, and that in reality he is Roger Thompson, car salesman and dare-devil chauffeur, who drove the black machine which whisked Stanford White's slayer away from Matteawan on Sunday morning last.

"Sure I'm Roger Thompson," he said. "I need money and help now, and it's up to the Thaws. I was framed up in getting in this case, and they ought to stand by me now. I haven't a cent, and if they admitted me to bail I could not raise the money. Even if I could, I would be arrested if I crossed the New York State line. It's tough stuff. The other four fellows mixed up in the game made their getaway. But I stuck to Thaw to the finish, and I'm the goat. That's pretty hard."

"What about the details of the escape?" he was asked.

"Don't ask me," said Thompson. "I can't talk about that now."

Thaw in a cell in a corridor above "Gentleman Roger" refused even to admit he had ever seen him. "Oh, that man," he exclaimed. "You know I can't talk about him."

Thompson slouched in his cell coatless and collarless. Counsel has been employed for him by the Thaw family, and it was thru their efforts that Thompson's arraignment today as a violator of the immigration laws was postponed until Friday next. His lawyer is Louis St. Laurent of Quebec. Previously acting for Thompson alone. It was admitted by the chauffeur that "the Thaws" had retained St. Laurent and they expected him (Thompson) to "keep his trap shut." He added grimly that he thought they ought to do more than give him a lawyer. "All they want," he said, "is to keep my case separate from Thaw's. I wish I hadn't mixed up in it."

State Enlists Jerome.

ALBANY, N.Y., Aug. 22.—(Can. Press)—Wm. Travis Jerome, formerly district attorney of New York County, was appointed by Attorney-General Carmody today a special deputy attorney-general. Mr. Jerome was specially designated to represent the state in procuring the return of Harry K. Thaw to New York's jurisdiction. He was selected because of his entire familiarity with the Thaw case, gained in the two murder trials and as special counsel in several attempts of Thaw to establish his sanity by legal procedure.

It is not the present intention to send Mr. Jerome to Canada, where Deputy Attorney-General Kennedy is directing the state's case, but to employ his services in procuring the extradition of Thaw from any state to which he may be deported from Canada.

Attorney General Carmody said tonight he had reason to believe that Vermont would be the state to which the fugitive would be returned, and that the date would be next Wednesday. Earlier in the day a similar announcement was made by Acting Governor Glynn, and was embodied in a telegram to Governor Fletcher of Vermont, requesting his good offices in effecting an expeditious return of Thaw to New York.

Neither Mr. Glynn nor Mr. Carmody would discuss the source of their information, but it is known that the attorney general was in telephonic communication with his deputy in Canada. Some surprise was expressed at the apparent certainty of these officials that Thaw would be deported next Wednesday, as that is the date set for the hearing of his habeas corpus application at Sherbrooke.

Both gubernatorial claimants received communications during the day from federal authorities respecting the Thaw extradition. Secretary of State Bryan telegraphed to Mr. Sulzer and wrote to Mr. Glynn, apprising them that he would do what he could in the matter, altho hampered by lack of authority. A telegram to Mr. Glynn and Mr. Carmody from Secretary of Labor Wilson was of the same import.

Farmer Loses Almost All.

CHATHAM, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—The barns belonging to James Campbell, on concession 3 of Harwick, were struck by lightning and destroyed by fire during the heavy electrical storm that passed over this section at 6 o'clock this morning. Eleven pigs, 70 loads of hay, 350 bushels of wheat, and all of last year's beans were destroyed with the structure. His machinery and five valuable horses were saved. Mr. Campbell had just threshed this year's crop.

ASSAULT CHARGE AGAINST HERBERT YORKE IS HEARD

Complainant Says He Caught Her by the Neck at Her Home

Charged with assaulting Mrs. Smith of Western Avenue, Herbert Yorke faced Magistrate Dumble this morning, and pleaded not guilty.

The complainant, Mrs. Smith states that Yorke assaulted her at home, on Monday afternoon and also caused damage to the door. She alleges that Yorke caught hold of her by the neck, following words between them as Yorke and his brother were passing her home. He was then intoxicated.

Police Chief Thompson gave evidence to the effect that Mrs. Smith complained to him of Yorke's treatment toward her. At that time there were marks on her neck.

Yorke was sentenced to one month in jail.

SHOULD WE PRAY FOR RAIN?

The other day there appeared in the Review a letter from a reader requesting the prayers of the churches for rain. In a London paper there has been a discussion as to the efficacy of prayer, and many people have written and told stories of miraculous answers which they have had to their supplications.

But perhaps the most sensible of all the letters was one from a man who said he once prayed and prayed with faith that the life of a sick person might be spared. He began his prayer when the patient was declared to be "past praying for." His petition was granted. "It was a perfect miracle," he says, "performed in response to a prayer in perfect faith. But I have been since made to realize that my prayer was bitterly wrong, and that it would have been far better for me to have merely accepted the situation in the spirit of 'Thy will be done.' We mortals are so short sighted that it is impossible for us to conceive the evils that may result from what we believe to be a natural and simple wish whose fulfilment could have nothing but a good result."

This is not only good commonsense; it is good theology too and has the warrant of Scripture. We are too apt to forget, religious people in particular, that the Creator is running this universe, and does not need any directions from us how it ought to be conducted. Prayer is not the bringing of God into line with our ideas and will, but getting into line our selves with the Higher will.

POTATO BUG AND OTHER ALIENS

The origin of the potato bug has perhaps more often engaged the meditation of some Canadian farmers than the more classical problem of the "origin of evil." To many the one may involve the other, for this pest is certainly the source of much vexation and evil speaking among our rural population.

One old lady who was complaining to her pastor about the loss she had sustained through potato bugs, said, in humble and puzzled tones, "I often wonder why the Lord sent those bugs to annoy us. I suppose they serve some purpose?"

There is no longer any doubt as to the origin of this troublesome insect. Like the snake in the Garden of Eden, it is a trespasser in this fair Garden of Canada. It was originally a native of Colorado, and was unknown in Canada before the year 1870, when in that year it came over the line and settled first on a weed, and afterward took up its permanent residence on the potato patch. Like the loyalists who came over some years before, it has made a very industrious Canadian bug.

The history of the hardships experienced by this immigrant insect in its progress from the States makes more thrilling reading than that of the recent migration of Harry Thaw. Canadians in general would be glad if both those undesirable aliens would hike over the line again.

HOLIDAY READING

What do people read on holidays? Novels of course, Marie Corelli, Hall Caine, Charles Garvice, Eden Phillpotts the author of "Mrs. Wiggs"—anything romantic or light and with a dash of the sensational in it.

Poetry and philosophy, science or theology, these are not for holidays. The mind must have a rest, or must have something to take it out of itself. All this would be very reasonable if the people who talk of the need of light reading on holidays read any other kind when they were not holidaying. But the truth is our libraries are glutted with flimsy fiction all the year round.

It is useless to complain; most people will read the spiciest literature that is put down to them, like a child picks out all the currants in a bun.

COMPLICATION OF WOMAN'S ILLS

Yields to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Athens, Texas.—"I had a complication of diseases, some of them of long standing. I wrote to you for advice and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and some other things that you suggested. I must confess that I am much better in every way and have been relieved of some of the worst troubles. My neighbors say I look younger now than I did fifteen years ago."—Mrs. SARAH E. WHATLEY, Athens, Texas, R. F. D. No. 3. Box 92.

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or received so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In nearly every community you will find women who have been restored to health by this famous medicine. Almost every woman you meet knows of the great good it has been doing among suffering women for the past 30 years.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, many of them state that it has saved them from surgical operations.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Rev. J. L. Gordan, D. D., the popular preacher of Winnipeg, is making a holiday pilgrimage in England this month. Dr. Gordon has been in turn a mill-hand, errand boy, factory timekeeper, book keeper, agent, secretary of Y.M.C.A., and for the last 25 years, minister, and has a congregation of 2,000 morning and evening.

"Nothing happens in August, nothing happens except holidays," says the Daily Sketch. To some of us those don't happen either.

Clocks without hands or faces are now common in Switzerland. The timepiece stands in the hall, and when a button is pressed, by means of a phonographic arrangement, it calls out "half-past-five," or "five minutes to nine," as the case may be. These clocks would be valuable if we were all blind.

EXCERPTS

The Efficacy of Prayer

The Governor of Kansas, evidently is not as firm a believer as some people in the efficacy of prayer, since he has declined to issue a proclamation calling for a day of public prayer in an endeavor to relieve the drought in Kansas. While his attitude may shock some people, nevertheless there seems to be warrant and justification for it. It is almost too much to ask Deity to suspend the Laws of Nature in the interest of any particular community or any particular body of people.

Who knows but that while the farmers are clamoring for rain, men engaged in building operations, and others, are hoping for a continuance of the dry spell? There are more ways than one of looking at things.—Kingston Standard.

HARRY THAW AS A POET

MATTEAWAN, N.Y., Aug. 23.—The following verses were written by Harry Kendall Thaw in his room at Matteawan and found in the waste paper basket beside his reading table last December:

There are lights aflame on Broadway,
There are hopes and lives undone;
There are debts of sin no man can pay,
And Broadway bids them run.

There are vain regrets on Broadway,
There are secret sighs and tears;
For one must smile as well as pray,
And the weakling meets with jeers."

BROOKLYN TABERNACLE BIBLE STUDY ON THE MANNA FROM HEAVEN.

—August 24.—Exodus 16:2-15.—

"Jesus said unto them, I am the Bread of Life."—John 6:35.

REALIZING both their deliverance from bondage and the Divine providence exercised in their behalf in the overthrow of the Egyptian army, the Israelites were joyful. Moses composed a poem of recognized high standard. The men chanted it after Moses; and the women, under the leadership of Miriam, Moses' sister, took their timbrels, or tambourines, and joined in a chorus, their bodies swaying and their feet moving rhythmically in what is described as a dance.

Singing songs of praise constitutes one of the most profitable methods of worship. But we may be sure that they are acceptable to God only as they truly represent the heart sentiments. We fear, alas, that many hymns, like many prayers, never go higher than the heads of the offerers; indeed, we have sometimes feared that careless, irreverant singing might really be resented by the Lord as profanity—taking His holy name in vain. If so, the results would be the very reverse of a blessing, in proportion as the singer comprehended the impiety of his course. "The Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh His name in vain."

Gathering manna.

We do not mean by this that any unjust or cruel torments, future or present, would be the penalty; but that such a course reacts upon the irreverent heart to make it colder, less susceptible to Divine grace. Ah! if all Christians sang with the spirit and the understanding, and if none others sang hymns, the Heavenly echoes and fragrance would be the more acceptable to God.

Bitter Waters, Then an Oasis.

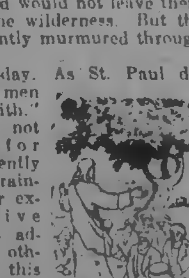
The journey toward the Land of Promise began. At length, fatigued and thirsty, they came to a fertile spot, where there was an abundance of water; but alas, it was bitter, or brackish! The disappointment was great. The people murmured against Moses for bringing them from the land of plenty to die in the wilderness.

The Lord's Wisdom guided Moses to a certain kind of tree, which, put into the water, made it sweet and palatable. Moses explained to the people that in murmuring against him they were really murmuring against God; for he was merely God's agent. A further journey brought them to Elim, a delightful spot where they rested and were refreshed.

The Scriptures explain that God had a special purpose in this leading of Natural Israel. He was teaching them helpful lessons which, rightly received, would prepare them, through faith and obedience, for Canaan.

The lesson to Spiritual Israel is still more important. If Natural Israel needed heart development and faith as a preparation for the earthly Canaan, how much more do Spiritual Israelites require for the heavenly Canaan! Can we wonder that God permits trials of faith and patience—"bitter waters?" Any saint of God may have tears in the trying experiences of the narrow way, but none is excusable for murmuring.

When the Israelites murmured against God and Moses, His mouthpiece and servant, it was because of insufficient faith. Those who truly believed in the Divine providence which had preserved them from the plagues of Egypt, and had brought them through the Red Sea, would reason that God would not leave them to starve in the wilderness. But the majority evidently murmured through lack of faith.



Jesus declared Himself the true manna.

So it is to-day. As St. Paul declares, "All men have not faith." But we do not blame them for this. Evidently birth, early training and larger experiences give some a great advantage over others, so far as this Age is concerned; for God has ordained that the Message of the present is for those who have the ear of faith. Whoever has an ear for God's Message and can exercise faith has a great blessing—opportunity of making his calling and election sure under the call of the Gospel Age.

We thank God that His Word teaches of an Age to come, wherein Messiah will bless with precious opportunities those who have not the hearing ear and responsive heart now, and that in the Millennial Age all blind eyes shall be opened and all deaf ears unstopped.

In answer to Israel's murmuring, God sent that night a great quantity of quail. One account of this wonderful supply has been criticized by some agnostics who thought it to mean that quail covered the ground to the depth of nearly five feet. The explanation is that quail, flying across the Gulf of Suez, in weariness flew close to the ground and thus were easily captured.

Next morning the ground was covered with whitish particles, a little larger than a mustard seed and tasting like a honey wafer. This was to be their daily supply. It required gathering and preparation; and this gave them employment, without which they would have been unhappy. It also helped them to remember the Sabbath; for none fell on the Sabbath but a double portion on the day preceding.

The Best Detective Story of the Last Ten Years

Britz then told the physician more fully how stubborn Sands had been in regard to the note the millionaire himself had taken from one of the Hindoo burglars.

"I'll admit it seemed strange," said Fitch. "But if you go on the assumption there is anything wrong behind it, you'll lose your point. Sands is as square as they make 'em."

"You don't think, then," asked the detective, "it is possible his infatuation for Mrs. Missioner would lead him to do anything to queer his rivals?"

"Most assuredly not," replied Fitch. "In the first place, he is not infatuated. Bruxton Sands is genuinely in love with Doris Missioner, and he is the kind of man who knows the sort of woman he wants. In the next place he wouldn't dream of doing anything underhand, even if he saw the other fellow was undoubtedly winning out. He always plays the game."

"Well, maybe he does," said Britz; "but from what I've observed in my journeying through life, this love game is one that is played without any rules. I've known men who wouldn't take a million if it were handed to them on a platter, yet who'd go pretty close to a mix-up with the Grand Jury to cut out a fellow who was after the same girl."

"You talk as if your experience in the heart line were all second-hand," said Fitch, smiling.

"Never been in love in my life and never expect to be," said Britz. "But I have eyes in my head and ears behind them. I also know what women can do to a man's common sense even when they don't know they're doing it. The lady who gets the loot isn't always a party to the crime."

"Well," responded Fitch, "I won't undertake to pit my experience against yours; but there's nothing of that sort in this case. Sands loves Mrs. Missioner about as much as a man can. He was fond of her before her marriage, and most of us thought he'd win her then. I don't know why he didn't, but I do know that from the day he learned of her husband's death he has been twice as attentive to her as before, and even in the days when she was the star bud of Auntie Parian's beauty show, his fondness for her was pretty noticeable. I remember particularly one Patriarchs' Ball when he grabbed every dance on her card and got her to sit out most of them."

"But he knows Griswold is trying to win her, too," said Britz, "and if he has any reason to think the other fellow has a good chance he might be tempted to put him down and out, even if he had to go to such lengths as taking the Missioner diamonds, and then throwing suspicion on Griswold?"

"Not a bit of it!" exclaimed Fitch. "I tell you, the man is dead square. He wouldn't do anything of that kind if Mrs. Missioner were the only woman in the world, as she really is, so far as he is concerned. You don't know Bruxton Sands the way I do. He may be short on conversation, but he's long on honor. He plays the game right out on the gridiron without any monkey business on the side lines, and you can just bank on that!"

Britz raised his glass and drank slowly, meditatively, until the ice chilled his nose. Then he set the tumbler firmly on the bar, faced Fitch, and said with an air of finality:

"If that's the case, Griswold's the man! He may have had assistance from Blodgett, but I doubt it. He's too foxy to trust his neck to a servant. As for Ali, I thought he might have turned the trick, but he didn't because if he had, he and all the rest of that Calcutta bunch would be well on their way to [illegible] their [illegible] temples by this time. There's now only Mr. Curtis Griswold to consider."

Fitch looked at him with a perplexed air. He had his own thought in regard to the identity of the thief but he recognized the detective's superior ability in solving the mystery and, being a scientist, he had an open mind.

"What causes you to suspect him?" he asked.

"I've had my eye on that young man for some time," Britz said. "There were two or three things connected with the arrest of Miss Holcomb that didn't please me a little bit. I didn't like the satisfaction he showed when suspicion was directed toward her."

"Did he seem pleased?" inquired Fitch.

"More than pleased—he seemed relieved," answered the detective. "Maybe Donnelly and Carson did some real work, after all, without knowing it. If they hadn't arrested Miss Holcomb, Griswold mightn't have shown his hand so easily."

"Have you any other evidence?" asked the doctor. He appeared to be gratified by the trend of the detective's thoughts.

"Several things," said Britz. "One of our Wall Street men tells me half a dozen inquiries about Griswold have been sent to the financial agencies lately. I had that end worked up, and I found out Griswold had been bumped by a bear raid."

"Hurt much?"

"Pretty badly. He tried hard to sell a block of suburban real estate soon after that."

"These things are only straws, however," said the doctor. "Of course, we'll have to have much more substantial evidence before we can do anything."

"Well, for one thing," returned Britz, "I expect to know in a few hours just where the diamonds are. At any rate, how they were taken out of the city, if they are not in New York. I've got a hundred men working the hotels to find out, and if you'll come down to Headquarters with me in a little while you can see the result."

The detective stopped short in his words as Curtis Griswold entered the bar. The clubman went to the cigar counter, lighted a cigarette, and by the impatient gesture with which he snatched it from his lips and threw it to the floor, he betrayed the fact that he had applied the flame to the cork tip. His manner was nervous, his face slightly drawn, and his hand trembled as he took another cigarette from the case and once more puffed at it in staccato fashion. He did not see Britz and Fitch, as they were at the other end of the bar. The detective's back was turned toward him while the doctor's face was partly hidden by the Headquarters man's head. Fitch looked over Britz's shoulder at Griswold, but Britz himself watched the clubman's reflection in a mirror.

"Get me a messenger!" Griswold said to the bartender, and as the man pulled the crank of a call box, the clubman took a card from his pocket and wrote a few lines hastily upon it. Then he called for an envelope, and when the messenger came, he handed it to him with a banknote, with a few words spoken in a low tone. The messenger gone, Griswold called for a brandy-and-soda, gulped it down in a way that showed his state of nervous excitement and, still without seeing the doctor or the detective, hurried out of the bar-room.

Britz gripped the doctor's arm.

"Go after that boy!" he said. "Find out where he is going, and join me at Headquarters. Make it quick, doc!"

Fitch hastened in pursuit of the messenger boy. Britz walked with quick strides to the subway, where he boarded a local for Bleecker Street.

The physician's pursuit of the district messenger who had carried the note from Griswold ended at the Thirty-Third Street Station of the Sixth Avenue Elevated Railway. All Fitch wanted to know was the destination of the note. Fitch, though an amateur, had acquired so much skill from association with the famous Headquarters man in efforts to free his sweetheart that it required no prompting to look over the boy's shoulder as he stopped to buy a ticket. While fishing in his pocket for a grubby nickel, the messenger momentarily held the envelope in such a position that Fitch was able to read both name and address. The doctor hastily jotted both on the margin of a newspaper, and then he crossed to the downtown station, and in twenty minutes knocked at the door of the detective's room in Police Headquarters.

"This must be the woman," he heard Britz say to Rawson, as he entered after a sharp "Come in!" The detective's finger rested on a name in a list of a dozen or more Rawson had submitted.

"Hello, doc!" said Britz. "I guess we've found her. These are the full names of all the Millicents registered in New York hotels, and my man reports this signature is exactly like the name attached to the note I found in the Indian's clothes."

"What's the name?" asked Fitch.

"Millicent Delaroche," answered the detective.

"That's the lady," answered the physician. "The same name is on that envelope Griswold gave the messenger. She lives in the——"

"Hotel Renaissance," said Britz decisively. "Doctor, I tell you we're getting warm. As the kids say, 'We're burning up!'"

A conference followed, in the course of which Britz, Fitch, and Rawson elaborated a plan to ascertain whether the jewels Millicent Delaroche mentioned in her note to Griswold were the original Missioner diamonds, or merely gems the clubman had bought for her. To learn that fact was not so easy as it sounded. With weeks at his command, Britz could have gained the knowledge in a roundabout way, but he had no such time. There were not even days to spare; there were not even hours to waste. Britz knew as well as if he saw it in black and white that the Orientals, both of high and low caste, were centering all their subtlety, skill, and ingenuity upon the possession of Mrs. Missioner's jewels—anyway, the Maharanee diamond—and he sensed the importance of anticipating them before the night was over. That realization was based on the assumption that the contents of the Millicent note as yet were unknown to the more important of the Hindoos. Britz knew the men he had caught in Bruxton Sands's room could not get word to the Swami nor to Prince Kananda before the morning. He had taken care to prevent that by rushing a note to the captain of the Tenderloin precinct, requesting that the prisoners, instead of being taken to the Night Court, should be held at least for the morning session in Jefferson Market. His zeal led him to lose no time in heading off the Orientals, even with the burglars bottled up for twelve hours or so. Had he guessed he himself had helped to convey the letter from the Hindoo captives to their Brahmin master, he would have been twice as zealous, though it is doubtful he could have worked much more rapidly than he did after his talk with Fitch and Rawson in the seclusion of his own office.

In pursuance of the plan arranged in that conference, Rawson went to the Renaissance and got from the management all that was known there concerning Millicent Delaroche. She was Mrs. Delaroche, whether wife, widow, or divorcee the management could not tell. She had been in the hotel several months; she had one of the most luxurious suites in the big building, and she seemed to be bountifully supplied with money. Her gowns were gorgeous, and when she went out, it was in an electric brougham she kept in the hotel's garage.

Mrs. Delaroche had few visitors. The most frequent was a man about town who sent many roses and huge boxes of bonbons to Madame's apartment. Did the management know him? Oh, yes. If his name was of any real importance to the interrogator, the manager did not mind telling it. What was it? Why, it was Mr. Griswold—Curtis Griswold, secretary of the Iroquois Trust Company, and a leading member of the Stuyvesant Club.

CHAPTER XX.

Kananda's Mission.

Kananda and the Swami, in the up town bachelor apartment whither they sped from the Fifth Avenue ball room, bent above a table on which were spread various diagrams. Ali, Mrs. Missioner's servant, stood at a respectful distance. He wore a concerned look that intimated he had been subjected to some pretty stiff questioning by his masters. At times his eyes furtively sought the scholar's face, but though in those moments they held some slight alarm, there was no such fear in them as when a glance from the Prince now and then swept his way. The high-caste Orientals paid little attention to him. They leaned over the table until their heads almost touched, studying diligently the papers that lay upon it, occasionally following the lines with pencils, and pausing to make hurried calculations on the margins of the sheets. At length the Swami leaned back and gazed fixedly at the Prince.

"It is evident we're on the right track at last," he said. "Chunda and Gazim could not have done their work thoroughly."

"They didn't do it at all, when it comes to that," answered the Prince. "Instead of finding only a loose end of the thread, they ought to have untangled the whole skein."

"However," said the Swami, "this note shows my original suppositions were accurate. The jewels were taken by the man who trod on the false diamond in the opera box."

"It looks as if that were so," Kananda replied. "The question is, where are they now?"

"The woman has them," returned the scholar.

"Unless," sneered Nandy, "she is beating our enterprising clubman at his own game. How do you know she hasn't sold them?"

"This note—"

"Oh, I know all about that," laughed the Prince. "It is plain you have not given sufficient thought to the ways of these Western women. If only you would take your head out of those esoteric clouds once in a while, and come to earth for a look around, you wouldn't be quite so ingenuous."

"But she says in this note she will have to sell some of the jewels," the Swami persisted. "That certainly indicates they are still in her possession."

"On the surface it does," said Nandy.

"But the woman when she wrote it could not have supposed it was to be read by anyone save Griswold."

TWELVE YEARS HORRIBLE TORTURE

Ontario Lady Suffered Tortures for 12 Years with Burning Eczema. "Fruit-a-tives" and "Sootha-Salva" Completely Cured Her.

MISS LAURA E. MATTICE

NEWINGTON ONT., Jan. 21st. 1913

"I was a dreadful sufferer from that awful complaint Eczema, or Salt Rheum, and this trouble bothered me for about 12 years. My hands and arms were chiefly attacked, and the pain and irritation were terrible. I consulted several doctors and tried every remedy I heard of, but nothing did me any good. Last June, when in Ottawa, a friend asked me to try "Sootha-Salva" Ointment and to take "Fruit-a-tives" at the same time. I had little hopes that this would be any better than the other remedies, but after I had taken two boxes of "Fruit-a-tives" and used one box of "Sootha-Salva", I was entirely cured and all the irritation and annoyance left me. My hands have been, ever since, perfectly free from the Salt Rheum, and I have had no return of the disease. I look upon the cure as wonderful, inasmuch as no physician was able to cure me, and I had tried every remedy that I had been told about, yet without the slightest benefit, until I used "Sootha-Salva" Ointment and took "Fruit-a-tives". "Fruit-a-tives" cooled the blood, and practically relieved the disease and the Ointment completed the cure.

I cannot sufficiently thank the proprietors of these medicines for my relief and I make this statement with the hope that some sufferers from Chronic Eczema or Salt Rheum, will read my testimony and try this wonderful ointment and "Fruit-a-tives", and get well. No one can estimate the torture of this terrible disease who has not suffered from it, and I want the good news, that a remedy has been found, to be known everywhere".

(Miss) LAURA E. MATTICE

"Fruit-a-tives" and "Sootha-Salva" will cure any case of Eczema, no matter how severe or how long you have suffered. Eczema is caused by impure blood, chronic indigestion, constipation and nervousness, but there is usually a tiny parasite or germ which attacks the skin and causes the burning and itching. "Fruit-a-tives" removes all impurities from the blood, tones up the stomach, improves digestion, and regulates the bowels. "Sootha-Salva" kills the germs of Eczema, allays the burning and inflammation, and stops the intense itching. If you are suffering with Eczema, no matter what you have tried for it, take the advice of Miss Mattice and use the wonderful combination of "Fruit-a-tives" and "Sootha-Salva".

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. "Sootha-Salva" is 50c box. Sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

OVER TWO INCHES OF RAIN FELL

The long-wished for rain, which began early yesterday morning, was much heavier than it appeared to be. Although it came down gently, it was persistent. An inch of rain at one time is considered a heavy fall. The rainfall of yesterday morning and forenoon totalled almost an inch and a quarter (1.22.) But to give good measure, pressed down and running over, it began again last night, this time to the accompaniment of an electric storm, and strong winds. The measurement for the second edition was 1.15, giving a total of over two inches and one-third (2.37.) As three inches is about the average monthly rainfall in this section, August is now almost up to the mark, as .22 of an inch had previously fallen. During July we had 1.51; June, 2.30; May, .81; April, 3.01; March, 2.59; February, .70; January, 1.85 inches.—W.P.

MOTORED HERE DURING STORM

Port Perry Man Had Unpleasant Trip Last Night

Mr. L. J. LeClair, a well known hardware man, who is registered at the White House, motored from Port Perry last night during the worst of the heavy storm that passed over the district. Mr LeClair reports that the storm was particularly fierce in the country.

MR. E. ELCOME IS MOUNTING BIG LUNGE

Little Trouble Experienced in Landing the Monster

Mr. Edwin Elcombe is mounting the big maskinonge caught off Big Island, near Bobcaygeon, a few days ago. Regarding the catch, the Bobcaygeon Independent has the following to say:

The big fish record was broken on Friday by Mr Chas. Nicholson, who works at the Gordon boat works. He was out in a motor boat with his family and was scudding along the north shore of the Big Island in the neighborhood of Berghaven, near Berghaven Boarding House reef. For the sake of doing something, they put out a trolling line, and to everyone's surprise, particularly the ladies, they were simply no time before they got a strike, and it was a strike that felt like the kick of a mule. For a moment Nicholson was not sure whether he had run over a rock, but he soon got wise to the jolt. Now Nicholson is no fisherman, he is a boat builder. Had he been one of these fancy fishermen there would have been a three column description of how the fish was played, but Nicholson is not one of the playing kind. Fishing with him is a business transaction conducted on business principles. When a fish is hooked, the business is to get him, so when Nicholson found he had something of the whole specie hooked, he decided the best way was to put a little more gasoline, and give it a run that would make it tired. So while the motor was putting on a sample of its best clip, Nicholson braced his feet and held on to the trolling line. The landing of the maskinonge was quickly accomplished, and with no more fuss than landing a chunk of drift wood. The fish was 49 inches long and 21 inches girth and weighed 34 3-4 lbs.

OUTLOOK FOR POTATO CROP

Fewer Colorado Beetles Than Usual This Year

The following statement has been issued by the Ontario Department of Education regarding the potato crop:

Reports regarding the probable yield of potatoes vary all the way from poor to good, the majority of the opinions favoring a fair return should timely rains occur during the remainder of the growing season. The drouth of midsummer is given as the main drawback to the crop. The size of the tubers are, so far, inclined to be small owing to drouth, but otherwise their quality is good. A number of the returns refer to the fact that there are fewer Colorado beetles than usual this season. This is attributed by some to the presence of an insect described by one correspondent as "a small, flat-ish bug," evidently Perillus bioculatus, var. claudus, which in its adult and nymph stages feeds upon the Colorado beetle, attacking both the adult beetles and the larvae, according to observations made during the past two years by Mr L. Caesar, of the Ontario Agricultural staff.

BABY'S GREAT DANGER DURING HOT WEHTHER

More little ones die during hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum and stomach disorders come without warning, and when a medicine is not at hand to give promptly the short delay too frequently means that the child has passed beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in the home where there are young children. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will cure the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

The contract for street paving was awarded to Foley and Gleeson, at a special meeting of the Board of Works last night. Two tenders had been submitted to the City Engineer, and he made his report last night.

The amount of the Foley and Gleeson tender was $62,745.37, while the tender of the Warren Co was $63,527.57.

The street paving will be carried out on George street, from McDonnel to the C.P.R. tracks; on Hunter street from Water to Aylmer, and on Charlotte street from George street to the G.T.R. tracks. About 18,000 yards of pavement will be constructed.

The pavement will be asphaltic concrete, which is very widely in use and giving good satisfaction. Foley and Gleeson, as stated before, laid the pavement at Lindsay, and have received a second contract. They have also laid pavements in many of the large cities.

The contractors say they can begin operations at once, and if not held back by conditions controlled by the city, can complete the work this year.

The Street Railway Company expect to have a shipment of rails for the new track on George street and Charlotte street, where the pavement is to be put down, some time in September.

ALD. DUFFUS WANTS REPAIRS MADE TO STREET CROSSINGS

The majority of the aldermen have a specialty. For instance Ald. Anderson and McIntyre never fail to impress the Council with the necessity of a bridge at the foot of London street and one near the C.P.R. bridge to serve East City. Ald. Johnston is forever seeking information relative to the progress of the Downie street creek proposition, while Ald. Duffus has as a hobby the improvements to street crossings. Last night at the Board of Works meeting, Ald. Duffus had a few more crossings in need of repair. These are at the Stewart and Park street crossings at the C.P.R. tracks, another on Smith street west where the G.T.R. passes. Then there are also some bad spots on Charlotte street and elsewhere.

Ald. Duffus had the satisfaction of learning that attention would be given to this question.

THE SPORTING WORLD

BIG CROWD EXPECTED AT KNOCKERS' DAY GAME

Brantford Expositor:

The "knockers" of the city will have their chance on Labor Day, when a "Knockers' Day" will be held to help the ball club along. No one blames President Nelson for the Red Sox' awful showing this year. He did all any one man could do to give Brantford a good ball team but through injuries to players, disappointments, etc., was up against it from the start. The attendance at the games had been very bad, though no worse than the team deserved, and the club will not finish with a big surplus, or even a little one, though J. J. is not yet dodging the bailiff. If every one who who has been handing out roasts to the club or the club's personnel will attend the games, the record for attendance here will be broken. Labor Day will wind up the season of the Canadian Baseball League, and there will likely be a big crowd out for the morning and afternoon games, to see the last of the present team.

Local horsemen found his work most satisfactory, and no doubt will be pleased to see him handle the bell again this year.

The judges of the stock exhibits will be appointed by the Ontario Government.

THE LOCAL MARKET

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 23.—Despite the inclemency of the weather there was a fairly large market this morning. Prices advanced a trifle, eggs selling for 24 and 25 cents, and butter from 30 to 32 cents. The bad weather held up the outside work on the farms, hence there was a good representation at market. Potatoes and apples are reported as scarce. The other quotations:

are not matters of every-day purchase, and therefore even the independently wealthy like to take the greatest care of them. Yet sometimes the functions of a single evening will ruin their appearance temporarily. ## RAIN WAS BOON TO FARMERS WHO FOUGHT FIRES

Yesterday afternoon the citizens living about Emily Creek had a scare from fires that were raging in that locality. The fires have been bruning for a couple of days, and it was feared that if a strong wind arose that damage would result. Yesterday the wind rose and carried the flames rapidly towards crops and farm dwellings located in the danger zone.

A fire brigade was organized among the farmers, and all farm work was suspended till they fought the foe. The work was very fatiguing, and not any too effectual. Consequently the heavy rain last night, besides watering the parched ground in all sections of the country proved a special boon to the farmers located about Emily Creek. The heavy downpour gave the fire the setback which all yesterday's wearisome labor was unable to effect.—Lindsay Warder.

ELEMENTS COMBINED AND MADE FIERCE STORM

Grain and Orchards Were the Chief Sufferers in the Country

Lightning, thunder, rain and a heavy wind, contributed last night to one of the fiercest storms that has visited this vicinity for some time.

No serious damage is reported, although considerable grain and some trees were blown down and orchards also suffered.

One gentleman, a resident in the neighborhood of Prince street, was so alarmed at the nearness of one of the thunderbolts that he thought his house was struck, and upon putting his head out of the front door, he declares that there was a strong smell of fire.

His alarm on that score was relieved by the mighty deluge of rain that was pouring down at the time. Many people in the vicinity were sure something was struck, and the gentleman in question was not satisfied that it was not his house until he had made a thorough inspection of the outside of his premises this morning.

He describes the bolt as being like the sharp crack of a rifle, but with a tearing, or ripping sound.

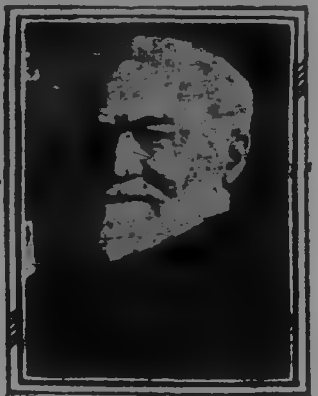
JEROME AGAINST THAW; CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

Has No Doubt He Says That Thaw Will be Returned to Matteawan Asylum.



ANDREW CARNEGIE

Andrew Carnegie is an American citizen by virtue of naturalization papers obtained by his father while Andrew was a minor.

The elder Carnegie came to Pittsburg when Andrew was twelve years old. Seven years later he became a naturalized American citizen. The son being only nineteen years old required no naturalization to obtain the full rights of citizenship.

Andrew Carnegie voted in Pittsburg for years and took an active part in politics there. Among his cherished possessions are his father's naturalization papers. He has often expressed pride in being an American.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Colebrook, N.H., Aug. 25—Wm. Travers Jerome, former district attorney at New York, arrived here this morning driving his own automobile on his way to Sherbrooke, to take charge of the Thaw case for the New York authorities. He expects to arrive at Sherbrooke during the day.

"I have no doubt," Jerome said, "that Thaw will be returned to New York and again confined to Mattewan. I am confident of this outcome of the case."

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 25—There are no new developments in the Thaw case and interest centres around the arrival of Jerome.

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 25—Harry K. Thaw, reconciled with his Canadian lawyers to the procedure to be followed on Wednesday next, when, according to present plans, he will be arraigned in the superior court on a writ of habeas corpus, spent a restful Sunday in the Sherbrooke jail, and announced last night that no matter if Wm. Travers Jerome did take charge of New York State's case, he (Thaw) was not fearful of the outcome.

"I faced the death chair twice," said Thaw. "Why should I worry about going back to Mattewan?"

LABOR

The Report to the Gazette on Local Conditions

The report of the Labor Gazette on Peterborough conditions is as follows:

The general condition of labor for the month of July was active. Building operations were in excess of those of last year. There is a great scarcity of moderate priced houses to rent, and with the starting up of the new industries there is likely to be a big demand for houses next year. The Vermont Marble Company and the Henry Hope Company expect to have their buildings up this fall, and in operation by the first of next year. The Bonner-Worth Company are putting up a large addition to their present plant and will install $30,000 worth of new machinery. They expect to double their output this fall. The material for installing the Hydro Electric lighting system has arrived and the poles are being erected. There is plenty of outside work to keep unskilled labor busy. The city is going to pave some of the principal streets and the Gas Company is putting in a high pressure main, and the Machine Telephone Company is putting in conduits for their wires. The Bell Telephone Company in this district have been laying off a number of their hands. A gang of over sixty are erecting a line from Peterborough to Perth, but other lines are being held over for a time. The Canadian Pacific Railway are building a new siding and depot, having acquired the buildings and property along the river.

The farmers were very busy, as is usual at this time of the year. It is stated that there will not be as good a yield of wheat, oats or hay this season as last summer, frost and drought being accountable for this. There is still a scarcity of farm help. All the factories are busy.—Labor Gazette.

Brown boots and shoes should be rubbed over with a slice of raw tomato before the polish is applied. This cleans and removes the stains quite easily.

ICE AT THE LAKES

Mr. J. S. Knapman, who returned to the city this morning from Stoney Lake, reports that a thin coating of ice was visibile on pails of water that had been exposed over night.

CAPT. EARCHMAN HAD TO "HOOF" IT

Made 150 Mile Trip to Make Railway Connections

To travel 150 miles partly by canoe and on foot is by no means an easy task where cement walks and smooth paths are scarce, but such was the experience of Captain A. Earchman of the Hudson Bay Railway Construction Camp near Nelson, Hudson Bay, who is in the city for a few days. Captain Earchman travelled partly by canoe and covered considerable distance on foot before he could reach the nearest station. The journey took about eight days. However, Capt. Earchman is by no means a tenderfoot and he rather enjoyed the journey.

SHOOTING ON THE HOLIDAY

Special Conveyances Will Leave the Armories

The rifle ranges will be closed both on Thursday afternoon and on Saturday of this week, but will be open all day on Labor Day. Special conveyances for shooters will leave the armories at 9 o'clock. A good days sport is anticipated by the local marksmen.

26 MEN WERE FINED FOR TRESPASSING ON C.P.R. TRACKS

Track Used as Footpath For More Than Twenty Years

Milton, Ont., Aug 25 — Twenty-six men were fined twenty-five cents each by Police Magistrate Dice for trespassing on the property of the C.P.R. by walking on the track to and from their work. All are employed at the brick works and live in Milton. The track has been used as a footpath by the brickmakers for more than twenty years, but it is understood that the railway company intends to stop track-walking wherever its lines run. The defendants were warned that more than a nominal fine would be imposed in case of future convictions. The complaint was lodged by a railway detective, who was sent here to work up the case.

PLAYING BALL ON SUNDAY

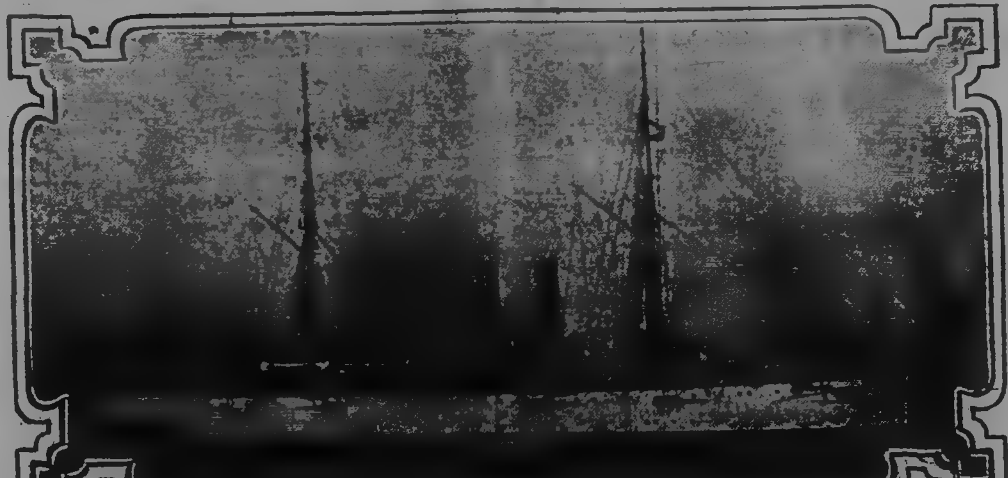
UNITED STATES BATTLE SHIPS NOW IN MEXICAN WATERS

THE U.S.S. LOUISIANA.



THE U.S.S. TACOMA.

American war ships are now in Mexican waters to protect the interests of the United States.

The battle ships Louisiana, Michigan, Tacoma and New Hampshire are at Vera Cruz, and the South Carolina is at Tampico.

SOLUTION OF MEXICAN PROBLEM IN FEW DAYS

But There is Nothing to Show What Stand Huerta Will Take.

Mexico City, Aug. 25—The situation here is extremely complex, and developments are problematical. Persons closely in touch with the international situation will admit nothing on which one can base prognostications of future developments. It is generally admitted, however, that the next few days are expected to bring forth the solution one way or another. Persons close to President Huerta admit that they are unable to tell what stand he will take eventually, but are certain he will take no action until after the United States answers the Gamboa note.

BOLD YOUNG MAN RECEIVES GIFT OF $100

Eighteen Year Old Youth Captured Burglar

COBOURG, Aug. 25—Admirers of the dash of William Kennedy, the 18-year-old youth who caught Charles Rogers, while the latter was burglarizing the Kennedy House, and secured him after a desperate encounter, met recently, as a mark of their appreciation of his valor presented Kennedy with $100 in gold and a watch-fob.

BUGLER HILL SHOWED THE PROPER SPIRIT

Should Not Have Been Dismissed on Account of Flag Incident

OTTAWA, Aug. 25—The action of the officer commanding the 95th Fusiliers in Saskatoon in dismissing Bugler Hill for resenting the flaunting of the American flag by a woman in the face of the regiment on July 31 has not been sustained by the Minister of Militia and Defence, who maintains that the evidence asked for and submitted does not warrant his dismissal from the service on that account.

An Ancient Clock.

A very old clock which used to stand in the gallery of the old Parish Church at Peebles was presented to the Peebles Town Council by Bailie Forrester a few days ago. Mr. Forrester had come across the clock in the shop of Robert Hislop, watchmaker, who has just retired from business. The clock was made in the year 1782 by John Winter, a Peebles clockmaker, and engraved on the back were the names of James Reid, Provost; Thomas Alexander and John Grieve, bailies; John Fotheringham, Dean of Guild, and John Hislop, Treasurer.

INSANITARY CONDITIONS IN SLAUGHTER-HOUSES

Woodstock, Aug. 25—Members of the Woodstock Board of Health are, like those of Sarnia, inclined to turn vegetarian since visiting the slaughter houses sending meat to this city. They were disgusted with the filthy and insanitary conditions, and Dr. Bentley, the District Officer of Health, in a report on them scores them unmercifully and advises a regular inspection by the local Board.

Acting on this they have asked the Council to appoint a man to inspect slaughter houses, dairies and other food producing places, he to devote his whole time to the work, and receive a good remuneration. Council will not meet until September 8th and nothing is known as to how the request will be received. Dr. Bentley is not complimentary to the sewerage system and suggests necessary reforms in it.

BLACKSMITH WAS INJURED

George Bathgate Was Removed to St. Joseph's Hospital

A few minutes before two o'clock to-day a very serious accident befell Mr. George Bathgate, the blacksmith, on Hunter street east. He was engaged in repairing a pump and had it on the fire heating the work. Some water in one of the cylinders had no means of escape, and an explosion resulted. Pieces flew in all directions. One piece struck Mr. Bathgate in the stomach and threw him up against a bench. He received many scratches around the face and arms, and when Dr. Sutton arrived he deemed it advisable to have him sent to St. Joseph's Hospital. Whether or not Mr. Bathgate is suffering from internal injuries is not known.

Frills which are to be goffered should first be ironed out smoothly in the ordinary way, and the goffering irons used afterwards.

ENGAGEMENTS "POSTPONED"

Intense Resentment Towards Jack Johnson in London

Canadian Press Despatch.

London, Aug. 25—Jack Johnson's music hall engagements in London have been "postponed" on account of the intense resentment displayed on all sides. It is understood that "postponement" will be made permanent later, as the licensing authorities have threatened to raise trouble if the engagements of the pugilist are maintained.

A DOUBLE DROWNING

Hamilton, Aug. 25—A rowboat, a pair of oars and a boat's seat, found floating side by side near shore, between Willow Point and Oaklands, last night gave substance to a rumor which spread through Hamilton that a man and a boy had been drowned in the marsh. A cry for help, according to a report which could not be traced to its origin, was heard coming from the marsh early in the evening. The boat and apparatus were discovered just before midnight by Roy Reid, 25 Inchbury street, and Leonard Guest, 139 Woodbine Crescent, who notified the police.

Constables Barwell and Kay went out to the scene and instituted a search, but owing to the intense darkness were unable to discover anything or anyone.

The boat was removed to Bastein's boathouse, where a careful examination revealed no identifying marks.

Many a man's success is due to his ability to obtain fame by adding two and two together.

PREMIER BORDEN OPENS TORONTO EXHIBITION

Record Attendance for Opening Day Million Mark is Sought.

Canadian Press Despatch.

TORONTO, ONT., Aug. 25.—Following the first official luncheon, Premier Borden at 2.30 this afternoon pressed the button which officially set in motion the Canadian National Exhibition for nineteen hundred and thirteen. The gates were opened at eight this morning, and judging from the crowds passing through at an early hour the attendance promised to be a record breaker for the opening day, giving a good step towards the million mark, which is the aim of the management.

A LOCAL COMPOSER

Mr. Asa Huycke Is To Publish a Pretty Song In the Fall

Mr. Asa Huycke, who is well known in Peterborough as a singer and is a soloist at Murray street Baptist church, is not generally known as a composer.

Mr. Huycke, while he is a very modest young man, has lofty aspirations in the musical world. His head is teaming with tunes, and one of these he has set to some words by Mr. J. L. Milligan, of Peterborough.

The song was played over and sung to a representative of The Review and he pronounced it very pretty, and is sure it will make a popular "hit."

A copyright has been taken out on the song, and it may be published in the fall.

BATTLE OF THE PLAINS OF ABRAHAM

To Be Produced By the Movies and Shown the World Over

QUEBEC, Aug. 25—Quebec has been selected for the scene of the most important moving pictures ever taken on this side of the Atlantic. The Kalem Company of New York, London, Paris and Berlin, are installed here with artists and material to take five one thousand feet reels of film which will be shown all over the civilized world. The title of the big picture is "The Battle of the Plains of Abraham," and it will serve to make known the historic events which led up to the molding of new France into the Canada of to-day, one of England's richest possession.

Unearthed a Palace.

Mr. J. Garstang has recommended excavations at the buried city of Meroe, on the Nile. He has discovered a palace, a bathroom in perfect preservation, the walls of an acropolis, quays and a harbor. A bronze head with inlaid eyes, larger than life—an excellent piece of Greek art—was also unearthed.—London Times.

CONSPIRACY IS ALLEGED

Sulzer Supporter Would Indict High Officials

Declares Money Was Freely Used Against Governor Sulzer.

Canadian Press Despatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25. Alleging conspiracy put Sulzer out of the Governor's chair, Lynn J. Arnold, of Albany, a prominent Sulzer supporter, at the request of the District Attorney's of New York and Albany counties, has asked for the indictment of Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, Aaron Levy, leader of the Democratic majority in the assembly and Senator J. J. Frauley, chairman of the committee which investigated Sulzer's campaign contributions and pressed for an impeachment. Arnold repeated the declaration that money had been freely used against Sulzer.

BYE-ELECTION CANDIDATES IN EAST YORK

Geo. S. Henry for Conservatives and Albert Chamberlain for Liberals

Toronto, Aug. 25—George S. Henry was nominated as candidate for the forthcoming by-election resulting from the appointment of Alexander McCowan, M.L.A., as sheriff of York County. Never in the Conservative annals of the riding has there been a larger convention or a keener contest for the nomination, and Mr. Henry received a majority of eighty-nine votes over H. H. Ball, the next in line.

Toronto, Aug. 25—Albert Chamberlain of 364 Indian Road, was unanimously nominated to carry the Liberal banner in the coming East York by-election at a meeting of delegates held in the Markham town hall Saturday afternoon.

CANON STRONGLY CONDEMS MODERN-DAY DANCES

Huge Sign Falls.

The largest electric sign in the world crashed to the ground while being placed in position outside the London Opera House, London, England. Part of it, a large portrait in glass of Mdlle. Polaire, 20 feet long and 15 feet wide, was being drawn in a horizontal position when the chain snapped. It collapsed with a tremendous noise, glass being scattered in all directions. A simple incident was that only a few seconds before the chain broke a little boy who was watching the hoisting operations remarked: "Wouldn't there be a mess if that chain broke!"

TWENTY-FIVE BRIDGES WERE SWEPT AWAY

Much Damage Done by Rain in Hamilton Township

COBOURG, Aug. 25— For weeks farmers have been crying for rain, but Friday night's deluge was rather more than they were prepared for. It is estimated that fully twenty-five bridges were carried away in last night's flood in Hamilton Township alone, and that at a small estimation it will cost that municipality $2,000 to repair them. The water had been so low in the creek that mill-owners were not prepared for a freshet.

A Disgrace to Civilization, He Declares From His Pulpit.

London, Aug. 25—"Evils which flourish unrebuked" was Canon Newbolt's reference to modern dances, which he strongly condemned, preaching yesterday afternoon in St. Paul's Cathedral. Canon Newbolt asked, "Would an indecent dance, suggestive of evil and destructive of modesty, disgrace our civilization for a moment if professed Christians were to say, 'I will not allow my daughter to turn into a Salome even although Herod were to give me half his kingdom, and admittance to the much-coveted society of a world which persuaded itself that immodesty is artistic, and that anything is permissible in society which removes intolerable monotony of its pleasures.'"

THE SOCIETY NOVEL.

It was the same with books. They knew the outcry which went forth regarding the character of books which found their way to drawing-room tables. An age which was shocked at a marriage service welcomed for its sons and daughters the sex problem dressed up in the nauseous unreserve of the society novel, and this in spite of feeble protests which no one regarded. A few more consistent, God-fearing lives would yet save England from the deadly peril which waited upon Godless materialism.

A CIRCLE WEDDING

The following is an account of a wedding which took place in London, England:

"On Thursday, July 24th, Mr. W. Henry Miller, hon. secretary of the Chating Cross Circle, was married to Miss Susannah Stevens, a popular member of the same circle, at the Ethical Church, Queen's Road, Bayswater, Dr. Coit, President of the West London Ethical Society, officiating. In its studied simplicity the ceremony was a striking contrast to the conventional church wedding. There was all the beauty of a beautiful building consecrated to the higher thought, the beauty of beautiful pictures and statues and medallions, but of the "madding crowd" bustle there was none. Only a few special friends were present. The ceremony began with the reading of Shakespeare's beautiful lines commencing: "Let us not to the marriage of true minds admit impediments," and, after a short discourse propounding the philosophy of marriage from the ethical standpoint, each of the "contracting parties" was called upon to plight troth in practically identical terms. A novel feature of the ceremony was the exchange of rings, a practical avowal of the equality of the sexes. Mr. and Mrs Miller are spending their honeymoon in Yorkshire."

This is surely culture gone mad. One wonders what Shakespeare would have thought of this affair. "The marriage of true minds" needs no ceremony, and the immortal bard was not thinking about a wedding when he wrote that. These attempts to do away with any distinction between the sexes defeat their own end and only accentuate the distinction.

A man does not marry a wife because she can fully understand Shakespeare's sonnets, and some would sooner have one who didn't, but who understood how to live like one of the great dramatists heroines.

No doubt the precious members of this circle would pity a woman like Miranda in these days; but these were the women that Shakespeare loved, and if he were living in London to-day he would be the last man to attend a "Circle wedding."

LOGIC AND LIBERALISM

Logic and Liberalism are supposed to be synonymous terms. Dr. J. A. MacDonald of the Globe is, or will be one of these days, canonized as the apostle of peace. He looks upon armies as unnecessary and foolish and if he had his way he would reduce the navies of the world.

He would establish Free Trade between Canada and the States because it is logical to do so. There are no two sides to any question, except the logical and the illogical sides. The Globe puts everything to this all-decisive test: is it logical? It does not matter two straws how the proposition works out in practice, the chief and only question to be observed is, is it logical?

We have no desire to labor this point, but we do want to emphasize the logicality of the Globe, for it is important to the clear understanding of its attitude on the navy question.

War is a curse, says the Globe. This mad increase in armaments, the building of navies ought to be stopped.

So far, so good, the Globe is quite logical. But when it comes to facing the question whether Canada should make any attempt to defend her interests on the sea, the Globe seems to lose control of its logical head. Dr. J. A. Macdonald goes red in the face, his chest swells with national pride, volumes of rhetoric flow from his lips as he waves the banner of autonomy, and proclaims "Canada a nation." He mocks at the weakling patriotism of Mr. Borden and declares for a real Canadian navy, manned by Canadian blood bone and sinew.

There is such a thing as Canadian jingoism, but apart from that the position is an absolutely illogical one from the Globe's point of view. We are told that the increase of naval armaments is madness. And then the Globe advises Canada to go mad just for the sake of proving that she is a full blooded nation.

No mere contribution to the finest of all navies, which might possibly curb the madness of Germany and Austria, will suit the Globe; it must have a navy that will command the respect of the nations of the world, and make the bosom of Dr. J. A. Macdonald glow with national pride.—Logic and Liberalism are supposed to be synonymous terms.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Review had a sublime pun the other day on the name Thaw. The Brantford Courier commits a most atrocious outrage on the same by saying that the escaped lunatic cannot be regarded as "our sweetly Solemn Thaw." Cut it out!

Sir Oliver Lodge who is the new President of the British Association is expected to make an important pronouncement on the relations between the material and the spiritual worlds in his Presidential address. Many people are anticipating some revelation on the future life. We will venture the prophesy that when Sir Oliver has finished speaking and the papers have finished talking about him we will begin again to wonder about it all.

Sir Gilbert Parker the famous author is on a visit to Canada. It is five years since he was here before. He is a native of Ontario but settled some years ago in England and has taken some part in English political life. But his chief forte is literature, especially the historical novel.

EXCERPTS

SELF-MADE POET.

John Masefield was born in England in 1874, had very little schooling and no higher education, roughed it in early life, went to sea, tramped in different countries, was wild and dissipated at times, but recovered himself and has written some striking things. Following is one of his shorter poems:

TWILIGHT.

Twilight it is, and the far woods are dim, and the rooks cry and call,
Down in the valley the lamps, and the mist, and a star over all,
There by the rick where they thrash is the drone at an end;
Twilight it is, and I travel the road with my friend.
I think of the friends who are dead who were dear long ago in the past;
Beautiful friends who are dead though I know that death can not last;
Friends with the beautiful eyes that the dust has defiled,
Beautiful souls who were gentle when I was a child.

It Sometimes Happens.

"Do you remember that little, water eyed, lazy chap we had here three or four years ago?" asked the head of the firm. "Binks, I think his name was. I discharged him for incompetency."

"Binks?" the assistant manager replied. "Oh, yes, I remember him well."

"He came in to see me today."

"Did he? He went from here to New York, didn't he? I suppose he was wearing a silk hat and an overcoat with a fur collar."

"That's the funny thing about his case. I can't understand it. He was all run down at the heels and wanted to know if I would give him 50 cents."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Stickler For Principle.

"Will you be my ownest own for ever and ever, darling?" pleaded the lover.

"Do be reasonable, Percy," softly remonstrated the lady Socialist. "You know I don't approve of granting special privileges or encouraging monopolies; so please put your question in another form."—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

Napoleon's Loss.

"Shall you return to power, sire?" asked Napoleon's secretary as they departed together from the field of Waterloo.

"I fear me not," said the emperor sadly. "That book nosed warrior the Duke of Wellington appears to have captured my return ticket."—Harper's Weekly.

Proud of His Coin.

"Sir," said the haughty aristocrat, who was as proud as he was poor, "you ought to be proud of the fact that I even recognize you."

"I am," rejoined the self made man. "It shows that I have money."—Chicago News.

Even Then.

First Antediluvian (in Methuselah's time)—What's the discussion about over there?

Second Ditto—Same old topic, whether a man aged 320 ought to marry a girl of 140.—Puck.

LIFE OF UNDERGRAD

HUMORS OF THE GREAT BRITISH UNIVERSITIES.

Mixed Recollections of the Miracle on Mount Carmel — David Jones of Cardiff Was a Hard Man to Find at College, but the Welshman Described Him at Last—Strange Coincidence of the Lawn.

At a Cambridge college several mathematical undergrads were amusing themselves by asking each other queries difficult to solve. One of them propounded this curious puzzle:

"Three snakes at the Zoo began swallowing one another, each starting at the tail. Of course, they eventually formed a circle, which got less and less as the trio all were more and more swallowed. What did the circle at length become, and what was the final result of the threefold swallowing?"

One of the most laughable stories of Cambridge is that of the undergrad from Selwyn who went up before the Theology examiners for his viva voce. They sat round the table, and he came with trembling knees to stand in front of them, for he had paid more attention to sport than to Scripture, and his recollections of the various books to be learned were very hazy and confused.

Mixed Recollections.

"Now, sir," said one of the stern examiners, "can you narrate for us the miracle on Mount Carmel?"

"Yes," stammered the quaking youth, "yes, I—er—er—think so."

"Very well, go on."

So he began, getting more mixed as he proceeded, till he had unfolded to their astounded ears an extraordinary version of this well-known portion of Scripture. For this was his account of it:

"And as he entered in at the city gate, there looked down on him two or three eunuchs. And he said, 'Throw her down.' So they threw her down. And he said, 'Do it the second time.' And they did it the second time. And he said, 'Do it the third time.' So they did it the third time. Yea, unto seventy times seven! Last of all the woman died also. And they gathered up the fragments which remained, and filled seven baskets full, and they took them away, and hid them by fifties in a cave."

Needless to say, that budding theologian did not satisfy the examiners, nor did his name appear on the pass list.

Indentified at Last.

It was at Jesus College, Oxford, that one of the most laughable stories connected with that University originated. Jesus College is chiefly patronized by Welshmen.

A Cardiff resident, visiting "the city of spires" for the first time, bethought himself that at Jesus College was a young man he knew in the Welsh capital, so he resolved to call on him. Accordingly he tackled the porter of the college.

"Is Mr. Jones in?"

"Which Mr. Jones?" was the reply. "There are twenty-seven Joneses in his college."

"Mr. Jones of Cardiff, sir."

"There are eighteen Joneses from Cardiff," exclaimed the porter, impatiently. "What's his Christian name?"

"David, sir."

"There are ten David Joneses from Cardiff here," answered the official. "You must be more explicit. What kind of hair has he?"

"Red, sir."

"There are six David Joneses from Cardiff with red hair in Jesus," said the porter. "What kind of eyes has he?"

"Well, just a wee bit of a cast in them," was the reply.

"There are three David Joneses from Cardiff with red hair, and with a slight cast in their eye," burst from the angry man at the lodge. "Has your Mr. Jones any other peculiarity?"

"He's a bit lame on one foot, sir."

"Now, why didn't you say so at first? Up the stairs, first to the right, second to the left, third to the right again. At No. 55 is the only David Jones from Cardiff with red hair, a slight cast, and a lame foot. Why didn't you say so before?"

It was on the beautiful lawns of Trinity College, Cambridge, that a don who each night looked from his window long after the gates were closed always saw one undergrad running across the turf to his staircase. Now, crossing the lawns at Cambridge is a serious offence, so the don watched one night, and unexpectedly startled the offender with "Now, sir, who are you? I never look from this window about midnight without seeing you crossing that lawn."

By Mathematics.

But this undergrad was equal to the occasion. He looked up with the smiling innocence of a cherub, as he answered, "Now, that's curious, sir. For I never cross this lawn at midnight but I see you looking from that window."

The sheer impudence of this reply so astounded the don that he shut the window in wrath, and said not a word more about the transgression, which, of course, was not repeated.

Here is a story of the viva voce at Cambridge. The examiners were putting a young would-be Bachelor of Medicine through his facings, and he had not that intimate knowledge of certain details they so much like to see in candidates. Hence he soon saw failure written on their faces, and he got mad. So when one old fogey blandly inquired:

"Now, Mr Jackson, please tell us this: If I were to strike you unexpectedly hard on the chest, what muscles should I move in doing that?"

"You'd move the extensors and reflectors of my right arm, sir," exclaimed the student, triumphantly, "for I should jolly soon hit you back!"

That undergrad scored at the moment. But he did not get his M.B.

Two Serious Matters.

"There are two things," remarked Fog in a contemplative mood, "that I don't understand. One of these is how the world got along before I came into it, and the other, how it is going to get along after I have left it."—London Opinion.

Farm laborers' special trains will leave Toronto at 8.30 a.m. on Aug 22nd, via Hamilton and London, and at 2.00 p.m. on Aug. 25th and Sept. 5th, via Guelph, Berlin and Stratford. This is an exceptional chance to visit the West, which is truly called the land of "Golden Opportunities," and many prosperous farmers and business men now residing in Western Canada can trace the origin of their good fortune to a "Farm Laborers' Excursion." The route as via Chicago is an attractive one, many large cities and towns being passed en route, which breaks the monotony of the journey, there being something new to see all the time. The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway is the shortest and quickest route between Winnipeg-Saskatoon-Edmonton, with smooth roadbed, through the newest, most picturesque and most rapidly developing section of Western Canada.

HE STAYED AWAY.

Civil War Enoch Arden Didn't Disturb Wife's New Home.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 Captain Lewis B. Hunt, who fought thru the civil war, sent word to his family in Buffalo on April 6, 1863, that he had been honorably discharged from his regiment and that on the next day he was about to start for his home. He had a wife and a little daughter.

A few days later Captain Hunt's uniform reached his family, but he did not appear, and some months later there came word from the south that he had been killed. After a lapse of time Mrs. Hunt remarried and a few years ago died. The captain's daughter grew up and became Mrs. Miller French. She made her home at Matakanie, Oregon.

A short time ago a woman friend out there told Mrs. French that she had just successfully applied for a pension and suggested that Mrs. French do the same thing. She did so, and to her amazement learned from Washington that her father was alive and was himself in receipt of bounty from the government. His home was in Tarrytown.

Mrs French hastened there a few days ago and found him still hale at the age of eighty-four years. He said that he had returned to Buffalo ten years after sending the letter from the south, but upon finding that his wife had remarried decided to drop out of her life to spare her embarrassment. He agreed to make his home in the future with his daughter in Oregon and they will start for there in a few days.

The Best Detective Story of the Last Ten Years

"How do you know she didn't intend to deceive him?" asked Kananda. "It's a good thing you chose the scholar's life in early youth, my friend. As a society man, you'd make an exceedingly interesting, but distressingly hopeless 'innocent abroad.'"

Nandy had learned his philosophy of femininity in one of the swiftest sets of Cambridge town; in the most exclusive London clubs; in the Olympian gatherings of Heidelberg students, and in the most fin-de-siecle circles of the gay capital. Whatever his theory, there was nothing hesitant about it. He held in regard to the sex only the most settled opinions.

"It seems to me," said the Swami, "that your conclusions are pretty far-fetched. But I bow to you, Prince, in the matter of social law. Perhaps I know a little more about the higher mysteries, but when it comes to cotillons, you take a baccalaureate degree."

There may have been a shade of irony in his words. If so, Kananda, for all his subtlety, failed to notice it.

"I think you are clouding the question needlessly when you take it for granted the woman who wrote this note is not true to Curtis Griswold's interests." And the Swami tapped the table meditatively with the scrap of paper the man with the glistening eyes had filched from the camera board in Burlen's workshop. "Wouldn't it be a good deal more direct," said the Swami, "to continue to take it for granted she is sincere—that she received the jewels from Griswold, that she still has them, and that she will not part with any of them until the clubman has refused to comply with her request for money?"

"Yes," Kananda admitted. "We'll work along that line for the present. Now then, where's the woman?"

He turned to Ali with a piercing look. The servant salaamed.

"Excellency," said he, "we have verified the address heading the second note. She is there."

"It is well," said the Prince curtly. "Go!"

He turned to the Swami, and, standing with one foot on his chair, raised his elbow to his knee and lowered his chin to his hand.

"I believe we're close to the end of our quest," he mused. "I have a feeling we must get the Maharanee to-night, if we are to recover it at all. we have played a waiting game for many months, and it is time now to act. You are prepared?"

"I am prepared."

"You will not stay your hand when it comes to the point?"

The Swami did not answer. He sat with folded arms staring at the documents on the table. It was in an altered voice that at length he spoke.

"Prince," he said, "already the sacred gem should be ruby red with the blood that has been spilled for it. There is something in the air of this strange land that makes it distasteful to me—the thought of further bloodshed. Regain the jewel we must but I would it could be done without new sacrifice of life."

An expression of demoniacal scorn overspread Kananda's features until he confronted the sage with the face of a gargoyle.

"And the brethren?" he asked angrily. "Can it be you have a thought for these Western dogs when your own brothers of the faith are suffering the shame and pain in which we left them? Has your heart turned to water?"

The Swami did not answer. Still with folded arms, he kept his gaze on the papers, his features set in quiet determination.

"Are you afraid?" pursued the Prince. "Does your soul shrink, your hand draw back, now that the appointed hour is nigh? Are you a true believer and master of the faith, or"—and he almost screamed the words—"an apostate?"

The Swami's copper face turned a darker shade. A flash of fury seared his eyes as he raised them to those of the Prince. He lowered them again, however, and said stolidly:

"I am unable to conquer the feeling that it cannot be for the good of the brothers to wade through blood as did our fathers for possession of what, after all, is simply a stone. I know what it means to the chosen ones—to have that stone taken back to the Temple. I feel more keenly than you can feel the yearning they send across the seas for the success of our mission. But, Prince, the Maharanee diamond, in its journey across the world has been purged perhaps of the scarlet stains that were upon it. Can we not take it back in all its present purity? Are we not skilled enough in the ways of the East to recover our own without bearing death to the men of the West?"

Kananda spurned the chair away and, gripping the table with both hands, leaned toward the scholar.

"Listen to me, master," he said savagely. "It was all these possibilities my father anticipated when he sent me as your companion in this enterprise. He knew I was experienced in the wiles of these Western dogs. He was aware that in the English universities and the British capital, as well as in the cities of the European continent, I had mingled with them in their pastimes and in their homes that I had seen and heard their puerile philosophy—that I had studied their womanish religions, and that I had experienced all the soul poison by which their so-called civilization turns men to children. Can you guess the orders the Maharajah laid upon me when he bade me come with you?"

The Swami still maintained a dignified silence.

"I will tell you," continued the Prince. "My father said, 'The time may come, my son, when your friend, the great teacher, quails from that which is before him. If it comes, then when it comes, strike as swiftly and surely as you would strike to save your throne.' And I will strike, my master!" Kananda added, grimly resolute. "If you flinch from any necessity that arises in carrying out this task of ours, I will warn you once—even as I am warning you now—and then, if you still stay your hand or seek to save the least of those who may stand between us and the sacred jewel, by Heaven I'll kill you!"

The scholar's imperturbability was proof against Kananda's violence of word and manner. The only sign he gave was a slight tightening of his fingers as they clasped his arms, and a lightning look straight into the eyes of the young man across the table. It was in a tone of perfect control that he replied:

"Death, when it comes to myself, is the least of my concerns. You may strike when you will, Your Highness. I am a master of the faith, but, none the less, a servant of the throne. My life belongs to your royal father to do with as he pleases. And since you tell me that you are the long arm of the Maharajah: it is at your disposal, too."

His calmness reminded the Prince of his own Oriental origin. The vehemence of speech he had acquired in Western lands slipped from him like a loosened robe. In an instant, under his outward seeming of an English or American man-about-town, he repossessed the composure of his race.

"Sorry," he said, with a little forced laugh. "Rather bad, you know, to take things to heart that way, but this really is a serious proposition and we mustn't fall down on it. As we are so near success, I will tell you it is a question not only of piety, but of politics. There is a dash of military statecraft. The Maharajah has a pretty well-rooted idea that the permanence of his reign depends on restoring the diamond to the Temple."

The sage looked at him interrogatively.

"Funny, I know," continued Nandy, "but, after all, it is the twentieth century, and the P. and O. boats take some pretty restless people to India. Those busybodies have stirred up a good deal of discontent in our part of the world, and my father is an observant man."

"I had no thought of giving up the quest," the Swami explained. "All I wished to do was to move more deliberately. I believe we can recover the stone without great violence, and I incline to these Westerners' views far enough to think it would be better for our religion, for your father, and for the brethren—to say nothing of ourselves—if we could do so. The easiest way sometimes really is the best."

"I know all that," insisted the Prince, "but we have not the time. This hunt is drawing close to a hot finish. You forget that we have the cleverest detective in New York—one of the cleverest in the world—to beat. If he got the diamond, he would not recognize our claim to it for an instant. He'd turn it over to Mrs. Missioner, and we would not stand the ghost of a chance in any court of law. This is a case where we must help ourselves to our own. Besides, there is Griswold. How do we know he is not getting ready to flee with the jewels to-night? They may be in his possession, or he may have given them to the woman who signs herself Millicent."

The Prince paused, framed his fingers tip to tip, and looked between them at the note as if peering into a crystal gazer's globe.

"I am convinced the woman has the necklace," he went on. "Our men have had time to search Griswold's apartment from end to end, and the other men's, too. If they had found the jewels in either place, we would know it by now. The whole question presents itself clearly enough to my mind. The old French proverb holds good, cherchez la femme."

The Swami arose. As he did so, Ali re-entered the room with more salaams, and extended toward his master a silver tray on which lay a tiny scroll, written in minute hieroglyphs of the Orient. The scholar broke the seal and scanned the paper swiftly. A slight exclamation betrayed that the information contained in the little scroll broke through even his magnificent reserve. A hurried reading sufficed to destroy all that young man's recently gained calm. He fairly buried himself into a sealskin coat, and thrust his head into an opera hat.

"Quick!" he said, "we have not a moment to lose!"

It would have been well for Britz if the young photographer had acquainted him promptly with the fact of the disappearance of the Millicent note. The detective's acute intelligence would have argued from that incident the need of even greater haste that he was making in pushing his pursuit of the Missioner diamond to a close. But Burlen, conscience-stricken though he was, was loathe to send the information to the Headquarters man until he could have time to make further and more exhaustive search of his shop, as well as of the courtyard in the rear of the building on which its windows gave. It was dark in the court, and the imperfect light of his candle made his search so slow that by the time he was sure the note was gone beyond possibility of its recovery it was too late for him to find Detective Britz at Police Headquarters. When his messenger returned with the report that the Central Office man had left his room, and that no one in the Mulberry Street building knew where to find him, Burlen became so alarmed that he hastened to Headquarters to try to take up the hunt for Britz from that point. He was as unsuccessful as his emissary, and he spent many anxious hours in the waiting-room, hoping for the detective's return. The photo-engraver tried to console himself with the thought that the negative had been spared, and he therefore had been able to send to Britz's office the hundred fac-similes of the "Curtis dear" missive his customer had ordered. But it was poor consolation when he recalled the earnestness with which the detective had enjoined upon him not to let the original leave his hands. Burlen was an exceedingly uncomfortable young man during all the time he waited the sleuth's return. His discomfort did not cease as the hours dragged by.

But if it would have been well for Britz to have that knowledge in regard to the strange vanishment of the Griswold note, it would have been better for Curtis Griswold if Dorothy March had not become conscience-stricken in respect of him that same evening. For little Miss March, being of Puritan stock, as soon as she persuaded herself that she might have made trouble for Mrs. Missioner's admirer by talking too freely to the bland man from Mulberry Street in the cozy corner of the Forrest Theatre, resolved to repair the mischief as rapidly as possible. She, therefore, sent a little note to the clubman, asking that he make it a point to see her in the course of the evening; and in the note she gave him a list of the several functions she intended to take in. The ball Mrs. Missioner attended, and at which Griswold scored what he regarded as a distinct gain in parading the wealthy widow before many of their acquaintances as a receptive recipient of his attentions, was only one of the affairs on Dorothy's list. Griswold received the note too late to come up with Miss March before the ball, so he decided to meet her at a later dance. The decision upset one of his plans—the most important he had formed for months, although he did not know its importance at the time. It had been his intention to go from the Fifth Avenue ballroom to the Hotel Renaissance, and if he had not received the note from Miss March, he would have done so even though he might have escorted Mrs. Missioner to her home and passed a short time with her in the interval.

Dorothy's request flattered the clubman's vanity so greatly, however, that he did not hesitate to defer his visit to the Renaissance in order to keep the interesting appointment the debutant, with more consequence was that by the time Griswold's interview with little Dorothy March was at an end the hours had passed beyond the [illegible] to which even his ingenuity could stretch conventionality far enough to make it practicable for him to see Mrs. Desroche that night.

Dorothy was dancing abstractedly when Griswold found her. She was so impatient to adjust the harm she felt she had done him that she saw him from her partner's shoulder before he picked her out from a score of other comely young women on the floor. Miss March instantly wearied of the waltz, to the dismay of the youth whose arm encircled her, and who rather fancied himself as a dancer. She lost no time in having herself escorted to a small conservatory, where she dismissed her partner with scant ceremony, and where, a few minutes afterward, she was joined by Griswold.

Even then the debutante's unwitting tangling of the threads of Griswold's fate might not have had such influence upon his future if she had approached her subject with directness. Had she told Griswold at once what she had said to the detective concerning his skill as a draughtsman, the clubman's suspicions would have been aroused, and he might have taken steps that would have had a marked affect upon the development of the great Missioner mystery. But Dorothy was too fluttered, too prettily remorseful, to go straight to the heart of the subject, and in her innocent endeavor to post Griswold in respect of her chat with Britz without making him think she was a gossiping little busybody, she protracted her interview with the clubman through so many dances that when it ended Griswold persuaded himself the morning would be ample time to do that which he felt must be done to avert the probable consequences of Dorothy's girlish frankness. His vanity again played its part, too, for when he had thanked little Miss March for what he was pleased to consider her interest in him, and when Dorothy, having signally failed to impress upon him the impersonal nature of her conscience stroke, found herself in a further flutter of bewilderment, Curtis Griswold proceeded to parade her up and down the dancing floor as effectively as he had shown off the rich and beautiful widow in the larger ballroom a little farther up the Avenue. Griswold prided himself on his versatility. He argued that it was as easy for him, as he would have expressed it to his club intimates, "to put a filly through her paces" as it had been to advertise the fact before the whole ballroom that Doris Missioner, the fastidious beauty and worshipped possessor of many millions, apparently was on the point of accepting him as her second matrimonial venture.

ADVERTISING

A STORE'S importance is rightly judged by its advertising. Not altogether by the size of the advertisement, but by size and tone, and quality of announcement.

What the store has to say is one thing. Quite as important is how it says it.

Given that the clerical force is competent and up-to-date, it will say, over the counter, the very best to be said in reference to the goods enquired for. It may, and should, suggest other goods, not in the customers view.

This implies that the customer is in the store. But what brings him or her there? The wish to buy and the belief it is a good place to buy at.

How is this learned of?

By advertising. The advertisement is a message, an intelligent middleman, doing service between seller and buyer. The space talks to thousands, even while the store is closed for the night.

Use The REVIEW and tell the story of your store and its opportunities for good service.

And He Refused to Tie the Knot

The new marriage law prevented another "outside" marriage here this week, says the Cobourg Star. A young man from Rochester came here and met his young lady friend from Toronto. They secured a marriage license, and went to a minister's residence to have the nuptial knot tied. The minister on questioning them, found they could not qualify under the new marriage law and refuses to marry them. The license was returned to the issuer, who returned the money and tore up the license.

FORTY THOUSAND MEN REQUIRED

Farm Laborers' Excursions—This Year's Wheat Crop Will Be the Largest in the History of Canada.

The wheat crop of 1913 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East to recruit and assist in harvesting the World's greatest bread basket.

The Governments of the respective Provinces state that forty thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. These will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which Company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run, and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a day shorter than any other route.

"Going Trip West," $10.00 to Winnipeg, plus half-cent per mile from Winnipeg up to MacLeod, Calgary or Edmonton.

"Return Trip East," $18.00 to Winnipeg, plus half-cent per mile from all points east of MacLeod, Calgary or Edmonton, to Winnipeg.

Going Dates.—August 18th —From all stations Kingston to Renfrew inclusive and east thereof in Ontario.

August 22nd—From Toronto and West on Grand Trunk Main Line to Sarnia inclusive and south thereof.

August 25th—From Toronto and North Western Ontario, north of but not including Grand Trunk Line Toronto to Sarnia and east of Toronto to Sarnia and east of Toronto to Kingston, Sharbot Lake and Renfrew, including these points.

September 3rd—From Toronto and all stations in Ontario East of but not including Grand Trunk Line Toronto to North Bay.

September 5th—From all stations on Grand Trunk Line Toronto to North Bay inclusive and west thereof in Ontario including C.P.R. Line Sudbury to Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, but not including Azilda and west.

A review of the barley crop in this vicinity shows that particular grain to be fairly plentiful. One farmer had a yield of fifty bushels to the acre on one part of his farm, but this is above the average. The straw is reported short.

OSHKIGMONG

Special Correspondence.

Oshkigmong, Aug. 23—Mr. and Mrs. F. Stein, Miss and Master Stein, of Rochester, N.Y., are the guests at the Oshkigmong House. On their arrival Mr. Stein was quite ill, but, pleased to report, he is now able to be out on the lake.

While John McCue was fishing off the dock at the Indian Village, hooked and landed a black bass which weighed six and a half pounds.

Mr. John Wallace and his friends of Chicago, Ill., were at the Oshkigmong House Monday and Tuesday of last week.

A forest fire was just starting in the back part of the reserve when the rain came and extinguished it.

A very phenomenal occurrence transpired to Mr. Wm. Taylor, sr. on one of his fishing expeditions. As he was about to land a little maskinonge, weighing about three pounds, an extraordinary sized fish came up either to rescue the little musky or to have it for its supper. William did not stop to find out, but it was quite observable that the little musky was a subject for a breakfast either for William or the lunge. The big fish vigorously seized the captured musky between his two enormous jaws and had his sharp teeth fastened to it. At this crisis the tug-of-war began, William holding the upper end of the line and the lunge the lower end. William would pull him up to the boat and the big fish not liking the looks above him would dart away with the line to its full length, William holding on to his end.

After repeating the manoeuvre several times the big fish finally made off with the victim, leaving Williams lamenting over the loss of the big and the little fish. Williams says he has been fishing for fifty summers, but has never seen a fish to equal this particular one in size.

Thursday of last week Mr. J. H. Prosser, of Keswick, and a former teacher here made a flying visit here.

SEPTEMBER AN IDEAL MONTH

In the Algonquin National Park of Ontario, the month of September is one of the most beautiful of the year. The "Highland Inn," situated on Cache Lake 2,000 feet above sea level offers all the comforts one may desire at reasonable rates. The region is a natural playground of over 2,000,000 acres, and those who love nature and the wild things that live in her confines can enjoy themselves their heart's content. Algonquin Park Station, where the "Highland Inn" is situated is only 168 miles west of Ottawa and 200 miles north of Toronto. For any one whose nerves are troublesome, or through over-work needs a rest, or whose health is run down, there is not a more delightful place in America. The log cabin which was operated this year on Smoke Lake has become very popular and has been patronized by a large number of people. The camp is called "Nominigan" the Indian word for Balsam and is situated in a delightful spot in the centre of one of the best fishing districts and surrounded by beautiful scenery.

Write to J. E. Colson, Manager, "Highland Inn," Algonquin Park, Ont., for all particulars and illustrated booklet.

MLLE. SOREL'S HATS.

French Actress Who May Marry Lord Rosebery.

VELVET HATS WORN BY MLLE. SOREL.

Mlle. Sorel is one of the best known women in Paris. Not alone is she one of the famous actresses of the French stage, but she has the distinction of being one of the most beautifully gowned women of her day. In fact, in certain costumes she strongly resembles the grand dame of the ancient regime. The hats pictured are ones Mlle. Sorel is now wearing in the City of Light. Lord Rosebery, it is said, is seeking the hand of this accomplished Frenchwoman in marriage. As the three ambitions of his life—marrying the richest heiress in England, being prime minister and winning the Derby—have all been accomplished, it is not unlikely that Mlle. Sorel may become the second wife of this noted statesman.

Blouses For Every Day.

The satin blouse has taken the place occupied by the lingerie shirt waist of several seasons ago. The prevailing style of making these blouses on peasant lines without boning gives every woman a chance to supply herself with several at moderate cost.

The satin blouse should always have a muslin or pongee lining to prevent the moisture of the skin from coming in contact with the outer fabric. This lining should be cut exactly like the outer one and tacked in place at the armholes. There is no waist belt except on the outside made by a band of satin ribbon the color of the blouse. This is stitched on one side on the fastening for a quarter of an inch, and its two ends are then brought round the waist and fastened with a hook and eye in front. Below the waist the lining and the satin are something on the order of a man's shirt, without fullness and opened at the sides. This prevents the danger of the blouse riding up above the skirt.

IN FIGURED SATIN.

Healthful Laughter.

The habit of laughter is one well worth acquiring. Not the habit of silly smirking or meaningless giggling over nothing, but the well developed sense of fun and humor that renders it easy to find amusement in situations and circumstances that otherwise might be mournful, or at least trying, and which bubbles forth in merry and genial laughter.

Such habit is not always easy to acquire, especially when the natural taste and temperament lie in other directions, but, once established, it more than repays the effort of attainment. The ready laugher usually is blessed with good temper, good digestion, good hold upon life generally, and not only enriches but prolongs life for sundry less fortunate fellows. Who has not known a man or woman whose hearty, jovial or silvery laughter made all the world seem better? The good laugher, other things being equal, may be set down as a good citizen and a good friend.

Some women will believe anything that is unbelievable.

Cookery Points

When Raspberries Are Ripe.

For breakfast raspberries can be served, cold and fresh, with cream, or they can be daintily served in glass dishes with a little sirup poured over them. To prepare them in this way choose plump, perfect berries and put them in a china or porcelain or glass dish. Make a sirup of equal parts of sugar and water boiled for ten minutes and pour it, hot, over the berries. Put them immediately on the ice and chill all night.

Raspberries can also be prepared in this way for luncheon and can be given a more piquant flavor if stemmed currants, half as many as there are berries, are added to them.

A hearty raspberry pudding, which is wholesome enough for children, is made thus: Thicken a quart of hot milk with a tablespoonful of flour rubbed smooth in a few tablespoonfuls of cold milk. Cook it for ten or fifteen minutes. Then add a saltspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of vanilla, a cupful of fine breadcrumbs, the beaten yolks of four eggs, half a cupful of granulated sugar and the stiffly beaten white of one egg. Butter a baking dish and put the batter in it. Cover it thickly with fresh raspberries and sprinkle them generously with sugar and a few fresh, stemmed currants. Bake it in a moderate oven until it is firm. Then make a meringue of three egg whites beaten stiff and sweetened with four tablespoonfuls of granulated sugar and brown it in the oven. Serve either cold or hot with cream.

Raspberry Dumpling.

Raspberry dumplings that are light and delicate are made in this way: Boil a cupful of water with two tablespoonfuls of butter and add a cupful of sifted flour. Stir over the fire until the butter leaves the sides of the pan, then take from the fire and cool. Add four beaten eggs, two-thirds of a cupful of flour mixed with a scant teaspoonful of baking powder and pat it out in a thin layer. Cut rounds the size of the saucer of a teacup and on each round put two tablespoonfuls of berries. Pull the dough up to cover the fruit and bake in a buttered pan for thirty minutes in a moderate oven. Brush the dumplings before baking them to give them a glaze. Serve them hot or cold with a sauce made of raspberries and sirup or with hard sauce.

Delicious raspberry tarts can be made by cooking paste in patty tins, filling the shells with rice or beans in waxed paper to keep the paste from bubbling and filling the shells with fresh raspberries covered with sugar and whipped cream.

Raspberry Pudding.

A delicious raspberry pudding is made in individual portions. Have ready well buttered individual pudding or custard cups. Make a dough of two cupfuls of flour, a teaspoonful and a half of baking powder, half a teaspoonful of salt, all well sifted together, and enough milk to make it of the consistency to drop from a spoon. Fill each of the little cups about a third full of raspberries and cover them with dough. Be careful to let it reach only to within an inch of the tops of the cups. Steam it, tightly covered, over boiling water for twenty minutes and serve immediately with hard sauce.

For the sauce cream a cupful of granulated sugar with half as much butter. Beat the whites of two eggs stiff and add them to the butter and sugar and beat a few moments longer. Add a tablespoonful of brandy and a little grated nutmeg and put on the ice for half an hour before serving.

Raspberry Bavarian Cream.

Raspberry Bavarian cream is a hot day dessert which does not require freezing. To make it soak half a package of gelatin for two hours in half a cupful of cold water. In the meantime mash a quart of raspberries with a cupful of sugar and let them stand together an hour. Whip a pint of cream to a stiff froth. Strain the raspberry juice and pulp free from seeds through a wire strainer. Pour half a cupful of boiling water on the gelatin and strain that on the juice. Put the liquid in a porcelain basin and stand it in a pan of water with ice in it. Beat the liquid and when it is as thick as custard stir in the whipped cream. Pour the whole into a two quart mold and put it in the icebox to harden. Serve with whipped cream.

Pineapple Sponge.

Soak one-half package of gelatin in one-half cupful of cold water, dissolve over steam, add one cupful of grated pineapple and the juice of half a small lemon and sweeten to taste. Stir over cracked ice until the mixture begins to thicken, fold in the stiffly beaten whites of six eggs, turn into a wet ring mold and place on ice until firm. Unmold and serve with the center filled with whipped cream slightly sweetened and flavored with a few drops of vanilla.

A GOWN FROM PARIS.

And How the German Empress Came to Wear and Praise It.

The question whether the German crown princess ought or ought not to have ordered a dress from Paris has been hotly argued in Germany recently, and apropos the following story has been told in a German paper. It happened some years ago at the Kiel regatta. This fashionable festival had united the emperor and the empress and their suit and some French people of the highest rank. Wilhelm II. was charmed by the elegance of the Parisian toilets and asked Princess Radolin, the wife of the then German ambassador in France, how it was that she was able to dress so well.

"Oh, your majesty," was the answer, "I say to my dressmaker, 'Make me a dress!'"

"I should like the empress to wear a dress as elegant as those you Parisians wear, but she will never consent to have her clothes made in Paris. How can I manage it without rousing her suspicions?"

"Your majesty," replied the princess, "it's very simple. If you would give me a dress which fits the empress perfectly and if the empress will open an account with X. I will see to it."

Accordingly some time after a large box came to Potsdam from the Rue de la Paix. The emperor had it opened and presented the dress to the empress, requesting that she would favor him by wearing this "Berlin made dress" at the next opera. The empress consented without enthusiasm.

A few days after when she entered the opera a murmur of admiration ran through the house. The ladies of the court admitted to the imperial box hastened to compliment the empress upon her superb toilet, to whom the empress replied:

"There, now! And there are people who pretend that one can only be well dressed in Paris!"

Discolored white muslin blouses can be made a good color if soaked over night in water to which a little cream of tartar has been added.

After 25 Years of Misery, this Man Walk, Works and Feels Fine Again

Right away—the first day you start to take RHEUMA—the Uric Acid poison begins to dissolve and leave the sore joints and muscles. Its action is little less than magical.

RHEUMA works so speedily you actually can feel the Rheumatism leaving the body. A bottle costs but 50 cents, and if you are not satisfied Warne Drug Co. will return your money. Read this:

"I wish to state to you the facts and nothing but the facts. I bless the day a friend brought me a 50-cent bottle of RHEUMA. I used one-half of it, and it did me more good than all the other medicines I ever tried. I had been afflicted with Rheumatism all over my body for more than 25 years; I could not walk, and was a broken-down man. During that time I spent a small fortune trying to be rid of the horrible disease, but without help. However, Rheuma reached my case, and I thank God I can again use my feet and do my work.

"Before taking your medicine I was staying with a daughter on her farm and despite her loving efforts to tempt my appetite, I could not eat. After I had taken RHEUMA two days my appetite returned. Yours for prosperity."—Prof. H. H. Kolling, 7 8 Ninth St., Richmond, Ind., Oct. 10 1912.

OPENING SAFES BY MUSIC.

Latest Scheme of the Makers to Foil the Busy Burglar.

To make safes burglar proof by abolishing all locks, keys and keyholes Mr. Thorne Baker of London utilizes the well known sensitiveness of a tightly stretched wire to respond to its own musical note. The wire is in the safe. To open it one must blow a trumpet or sound a tuning fork in the precisely correct key. The wire is connected with an electric battery. When the note is sounded the wire vibrates and turns on the current which operates the locking mechanism.

As a greater safeguard Mr. Baker puts three wires, tuned to three different keys, and each operating a lock. So it is necessary to sound three different notes on the bugle, trumpet, organ or tuning fork in order to open the safe.

The one evident objection to this locking apparatus is that one or more of the wires might get out of tune, in which case the safe could not be opened until the right key was found.—New York World.

LIVELY TIME AT RIVERSIDE AS BERLINERS WERE UNRULY

Visitors Forfeited the First Game and Made Farce Out of Second Contest, the Final Score Reading 30 to 5.

Umpire Jack Daly had the time of his life as he sought to officiate at the double-header at Riverside Park Saturday afternoon, and while Daly was trying to weather the storm on the diamond, a big crowd of fans enjoyed one of the biggest programs of the season.

It was evident that Umpire Daly was not feeling any too well. A fan seated on the west fence must have passed some remark to the umps as that official retorted by using nasty language and he also threatened to throw the unknown fan out of the park. This happened as Daly walked from the Peterboro bench to the plate to call play in the first game.

As Brant, the first man up, was passed Bramble, who was twirling for the visitors, argued with the umpire and Daly ordered him to leave the grounds. Bramble, after some delay, left the field but not the park, and when a couple of innings has passed Umpire Daly discovered him seated on the high fence east of the main grand stand. Bramble after receiving another command from Daly in which Manager White also joined disappeared.

The game proceeded merrily to the sixth innings with the visitors one run ahead and the probabilities being a Berlin victory as the Petes could do nothing with Bradshaw. Just about this time, Bramble reappeared on the top of the fence at the entrance, and at this stage of the game Daly encountered trouble with Eddy Burns, who objected to a strike called on him.

Burns refused to respond to an order to leave the limits and remained arguing with the umps, and Daly said afterwards the player used offensive language. But this was not all. Burns raised his bat as if to strike the official, and after some threatening manoeuvres struck the mask held by the umpire. Then he left the home plate and sauntered to the bench. Daly had no sooner started the game again when he noticed Bramble on the fence. That player failed to respond to a cast iron look whereupon the umpire declared the game forfeited by Berlin. Bramble had also called out something that could not be heard at the press box.

Gloves were thrown about by the visitors; McEvoy hurled his pad towards the bench and there was a general hot time.

Daly walked over to the Peterboro bench and was joined a few minutes later by Manager Jack White, who wanted to know the meaning of the decision. Umpire Daly made the explanation and then he was called by White.

Daly said he would report to President Fitzgerald and then Manager White accused the former of having written another letter to the President and said he knew all about it. Furthermore, Manager White accused Daly of "setting them up" for the Berlin players, and then "hooking" them on the field. For these statements Daly said White would be fined and reported.

When the second game was called the fans saw a real burlesque. Not one of the visitors was found in his regular position. Sweeney the regular first baseman was on the mound while shortstop Getsie was behind the bat. McEvoy went to short, Bradshaw to second, Auld to third, White to first, while Beltz, Dinsmore and Schaefler took the outfield.

A pair or three runs before the Petes counted. It was very ably evidenced that the visitors were out to make the game a farce as Bradshaw, Auld or Schaefler could have been sent to the mound in an attempt to hold the lead. No such move was made and when the Petes started to hit, the ball was thrown high wide and handsome. Very little if any effort was put forth by the infielders to get the batted balls and hits to the outfield, which went for doubles, triples and home runs. McEvoy almost threw the ball to the Quaker Oats Mills two or three times, and finally the umpire chased him out of the game.

The score:—

BATTLES IN THE BLOOD.

Antitoxins Fight the Germs of Their Particular Disease.

When any animal has a certain disease its body produces large quantities of the particular antitoxin that will fight that disease. If the blood of this animal be introduced into another animal the latter will get the disease, but in a milder form, and will at the same time be stimulated to secrete large quantities of the antitoxin. It is now capable of resisting an attack by an army of powerful germs and becomes "immune" to the real disease.

If its blood be drawn and filtered to free it from red and white corpuscles the serum that is left is merely the watery part of the blood heavily charged with the antitoxins of that disease. This, injected into the blood of a person suffering from it, reenforces the antitoxins already there and speedily routs the enemy by neutralizing the poisons that the toxic germs are liberating.

Serum is prepared in two ways—one by taking it from the blood of another animal, the other by a culture from the blood of the patient himself.

There are only one or two diseases that can be cured by medicine. In all others the medicine is given merely to stimulate the natural production of antitoxins. If we knew how to make an antitoxin for every disease we should have no more use for medicine. The number of diseases for which antitoxins are being discovered is multiplying year by year.—New York World.

Fun In Space.

"I'm no coward," said the earth.

"No, but you have two great fears," said the sun hotly.

"And those are?"

"The hemispheres."

"You've forgotten the atmosphere," put in the moon. And the comet, who had no business to be there wagged his tail with joy.

THE JUVENILE TACTICS OF THE BERLIN PLAYERS

It would not be a very big surprise to hear of the suspension from the Canadian League of the Berlin Club or that a heavy fine had been imposed by President Fitzgerald.

Umpire Daly took the proper proceedings in ordering both Bramble and Burns to leave the grounds. Then the two players acted like a couple of juveniles at play.

There was certainly no excuse for the action of the Berlin players during the second game. A blind man could have understood what was meant and also what transpired. Manager Jack White had won the admiration of Peterborough fans for his splendid success since taking charge of the team, but those high opinions must have taken a big flop Saturday afternoon.

It was useless for the local players to try and give the fans a real exhibition. That was quite plain.

NOMADS WON FROM OSHAWA

At the exhibition grounds Saturday afternoon the Nomads defeated Oshawa in a first round game of the Connaught Cup, the score being 2-0 for the locals at half time and 5-1 at the finish.

FRISKY SENATE PAGES.

They Are Great Mimics and Discuss Burlesque Legislation.

They are the greatest mimics in the world. They can take off the idiosyncrasies and humorous peculiarities of the senators to a "T."

Sometimes when the senate is not sitting and too many visitors and page bosses are not around to observe the proceedings the pages themselves go into a solemn senatorial session. One will impersonate the vice president another the chief clerk, and so on. Various other boys will pretend to be either their favorite senators or the senators of home states. Each boy occupies the seat to which the real senator is entitled.

Bang! goes the vice president's gavel and the extraordinary session of pages has convened. There is always an argument as to which senator shall be recognized when the regular order of business is reached. Every conceivable current subject is discussed, with a goodly sprinkling of "baseball legislation," which always carries with it a rider by which each page senator shall be entitled to an annual self renewing pass for all the season's games.

A bill which is almost sure to be introduced is one which proposes to increase the salaries of the pages and shorten their hours of duty.—Robert D. Heinl in Leslie's Weekly.

Hit Them Both.

"You remember old Si Collins, what used to be around here last season, don't you?" remarked the station master at Seekouk.

"You mean the chap that always had a way of doing things differently from any one else?"

"That's the feller," replied the station master. "Well, he committed suicide 'bout a month ago."

"Why, that's terrible! But did he do that differently too?"

"Differently!" ejaculated the station master. "Why, I should say he did. Say, that feller went out and bought a couple of quarts of gasoline, drank her down, then lighted up his old clay pipe and started a-smoking. The folks hereabout wanted to have services held over the remains; but, Lor', all we ever found was a section of Si's old vest that somehow got ketched in a tree. Well, Si was bound to do things different."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Checking It Up to Father.

That parents should exercise the greatest care in speaking of family secrets in the presence of little children was proved by the experience of a North avenue resident recently:

The man in question was visiting a maiden aunt, who is extremely stout and very sensitive about it.

A four-year-old boy who accompanied his father looked very carefully at the rotund form of his relative and then inquired, with a friendly smile:

"Aunt Myrtle, you don't have to put ashes in the bed to keep from slipping out, do you?"

Then when the man held up his hands in consternation the youngster exclaimed:

"There, papa; she says she doesn't."—Youngstown Telegram.

A Word For the Mustache.

Dr. Paul Krager, a well known physician of Vienna, affirms that the mustache has a distinct value for the health. He believes that its utility lies in protecting the nose against the invasion of dust and bacteria. Recording 500 cases of severe headache and throat and nose trouble among his men patients, he found that 420 of them had their upper lip clean shaven. One has only to consider the function of the eyelashes in protecting the eye from dust and small particles to see that there is nothing unreasonable about the doctor's conclusion.

A Royal Proxy.

Prince Arthur of Connaught used often to take the place of King Edward on ceremonial occasions, and now he carries the proxy of King George even more frequently. "They ought to print a line on my visiting card, 'monarchs understudied on shortest notice,'" once suggested the prince.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES AT TEMPLE AND CEMETERY

The Late Arthur Jones Laid at Rest in Little Lake Cemetery

Unparallelled by any funeral of a layman ever buried in this city, was the funeral on Saturday afternoon of the late Arthur Jones, who died last Wednesday as a result of injuries received at the Canadian General Electric Company on Tuesday.

The body was conveyed from Belleghem's undertaking rooms to the Salvation Army Temple, but long ere the remains arrived, the Temple was filled to its utmost capacity.

The service opened with the whole Corps singing one of the late member's favorite hymns and many tears were shed before it was completed. Mrs. McElheney then spoke a few few words of sympathy to the heartbroken wife and family, and she prayed that the Almighty would strengthen them to withstand their affliction. Many a smothered sob escaped from the vast assemblage as "Ever Remembered" was intoned by Mrs. C. Gadd, and also while the Salvation Army band assisted by representatives from the 57th Regimental band, played the dead march. A dead-like silence fell as Adjutant McElheney slowly read in a clear voice that beautiful passage recorded by St. John, in which we are told: "In my Father's house there are many mansions. If not, I would have told you; because I go to prepare a place for you. And if I shall go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and will take you to myself; that where I am, you also may be." After he had finished reading the officer spoke of the late brother Jones as being one of their most revered members and he prevailed upon all those present to be prepared when the inevitable call summoned them. Prayer was then offered up, and while the band played the Dead March, the Temple was vacated and the body carried to the hearse.

The funeral procession, which consisted of the band, followed by the hearse and mourners, the members of the Salvation Army Corps, and a large representation of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workmen, of which the deceased was a member, slowly made its way on Simcoe street and down George street, en-route to the Little Lake cemetery, the band playing the Dead March. Thousands lined the streets, and as the funeral cortege passed through the business section of the city, all business was temporarily suspended.

Among the many beautiful floral tributes were wreaths from the St. George's Society, 57th Band, Electrical Workers and Gates Ajar from the Salvation Army Corps. The instrument, tunic and hat of the deceased were also placed on the casket.

On arrival at the cemetery the band played "Hiding in Thee" and the gathering sang "When the Roll is Called up Yonder." Prayer by Secretary Gandy followed, after which Adjutant McElheney read the burial service.

The pall bearers were Messrs. R. C. [illegible] and T. Lang; Bandsmen T. Yost, E. Hensley, and two representatives from the Electrical Workers, Messrs. C. Gray and H. Barnes.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

At the Salvation Army Temple last night, a memorial service was held, when Bandsmen A. E. Sandford played "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," and Band Sergeant Brown sang "Some Day We'll Understand."

Bandmaster Peryer in the course of a short address referred to the life of their departed comrade, and mentioned the fact that the deceased was the oldest member so far as band service, in the Peterborough Corps, he having served for thirty-two years in England and this city.

Mrs. McElheney also spoke and the Adjutant gave the sermon. At the conclusion of the service "The Roll Call" was played by the band.

FIRES OUT IN HALIBURTON

No Loss Suffered by Settlers Says Reeve Gorrie

The Reeve of Haliburton, Mr. Alex Gorrie, has sent out word to the effect that the recent steady downpour of rain has put out all the fires in the district. Not a single settler, he says, has been burned out, and the loss will not be heavy, as the fires were mostly confined to cut-over timber lots.

"SAFETY FIRST" MOVEMENT

To be Inaugurated by Grand Trunk Railway

ing to the progressional policy which characterizes that System, announces that "A Safety First" movement has been inaugurated. The large railway companies both in Canada and United States, have all started to work along this line and the result has been very evident. The idea is to inculcate on all employes the necessity of safety for themselves, the general public and the company loss of property. Mr Howard C. Kelly, vice-President, has issued an official circular, calling the attention of officers and all employes to the "great importance of an organization for the prevention of injuries and damage to property."

Mr. Frank Sandy stated to the Review that as yet he has not received a circular, but expects one. He knew this organization of "A Safety First" was to be established and he speaks very highly of it, and says that it greatly assists toward the safety of the travelling public.

A Safety Engineer will be appointed for each division who will inspect the lines, terminals and shops and confer with various officers on matters pertaining to safety.

Practical instruction will be given.

MEAT SUPPLY REPORTED SHORT

Prospects Are Not Bright for the Future

No doubt many citizens have noticed how the price of meat has gone up these past couple of years, and wonder what the cause is. Buyers for local firms state that they have great difficulty in obtaining an adequate supply. They also state that prospects are not any too good for the future because of the scarcity of hay and the shortness of straw. Farmers who used to keep a flock of sheep, using the roadside for a pasture, have been compelled to discontinue this practice because of dogs and also the large number of "speed fiends" with autos and motorcycles. All these things it is claimed, assist in keeping the price of meat very high.

BUTTER WILL BE HIGH.

There is not the least doubt but that butter is going to reach a high mark this fall or winter. One case is cited where a farmer's better half absolutely refused to pick a crock of butter for a customer, within the near future and charge at the prevailing price.

WESTERN CANADA'S BUMPER WHEAT CROP

Thousands of Men Required—This Year's Harvest Promises to be the Largest in the History of Canada

According to present indications the wheat crop of 1913 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East to assist in harvesting the world's bread basket.

The Governments of the respective Provinces state that many thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. These will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which Company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a day shorter than any other route. Dates, rates and conditions will be announced in a few days. eod

How many people realize the fact that children are just as liable to require glasses as older people.

Many children who are backward in school and considered stupid, are not really so, but are laboring under difficulties on account of not being able to see properly. They are young and do not realize that they do not see as well as their companions and of course their parents don't know it either. But it is the duty of parents to have their children's eyes examined and see if they require glasses, because school work is hard enough for children without their being handicapped with poor vision. ## THAW'S OLD FOE LOOKS FORWARD TO BIG FIGHT

Prisoner is Busy With Publicity Plan and Sending Out Messages.

Canadian Press Despatch.

SHERBROOKE, QUE., Aug. 26.—"We hope to get Thaw back in Matteawan, where he belongs, but it looks as though we are all in for siege," said W. T. Jerome, this morning, he speaking of the possibility of a long drawn-out fight in the courts over the constitutionality of Canada's Immigration act, under which it is proposed to deport Thaw.

Thaw continues to show little interest except in his publicity plan and the mailing and telegraphing of statements to papers in Vermont to-day.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 26.—As evidence of the cordial personal relation established between John Lind and Huerta, the President to-day placed a private car at the disposal of Lind who accepted the offer and will occupy the car to Veracruz en route to the United States.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 25.—(Can. Press.)—The arrival of Wm. Travers Jerome, Harry Kendall Thaw's old prosecutor, the assumption by Ex-Gov. Wm. A. Stone of Pennsylvania, of the position of spokesman here for the Thaw family, pending the coming of Roger O'Mara, the Pittsburg detective, and the injection into the case of renewed talk of it assuming international aspects, were the chief developments of the day in Sherbrooke since Stanford White's slayer fled from Matteawan.

If Thaw was terrorized by Jerome's coming, he succeeded in concealing his feeling to all who visited him in his cell. Again he spoke of Jerome sneeringly, calling him "Willie" and insisted that his lawyer reissue a summary of Jerome's remarks made in 1908, when he said that no one had ever contended Thaw was insane.

Of the lighter incidents of a day of excitement — exciting principally because of what might happen — was Thaw's show of temper over the fact that his breakfast was ten minutes late, and his continued erratic statements relative to plans for the publicity campaign which he regards as more important than any legal aspect of his case.

The possibility of an international twist in the case came from ex-Governor Stone, who raised the point that a Canadian, embroiled in the Dominion's ironclad immigration law regulations, would doubtless have a right to appeal to the courts. Thaw, it has been said, would have no such privilege, no opportunity to appeal should he be ordered deported, except to the minister of the interior at Ottawa. Mr. Stone regarded this as contrary to the treaty between Great Britain and the United States guaranteeing to American citizens before Canadian courts the same rights as Canadians.

"In my opinion," said Mr. Stone, "the snow will be deep in Sherbrooke before Thaw leaves Canadian soil."

None of the contingent of Thaw's Canadian lawyers would commit themselves as to whether they shared Mr. Stone's views, altho all of them conceded that the constitutionality of the drastic immigration law—a comparatively new one—had never been tested in the courts.

DRAGOONS IN JAIL

Two Toronto Men Suspected of Firing Kingston Building.

KINGSTON, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Two government detectives have been in the city for several days, working on a case in which two members of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, Toronto, may have to answer serious charges. At the present time the dragoons are locked up at Tete de Pont Barracks, on suspicion of having set fire to the riding stables at the Royal Military College, two months ago.

As yet the military authorities state there has been no charge laid against the men, but it is believed that the two are being put thru a rigid examination by detectives, and that they are not being allowed legal advice. For this reason some of their friends are complaining, saying that they are not being given a square deal.

Mining Company Fined $100.

KINGSTON, Aug. 25.—(Can. Press.)—The Ontario mines department today prosecuted the Perth Road Mining Company before Justice of the Peace Hunter, on charge of violating the statutes with regard to the sinking of shafts and not using elecricity. A fine of $100 was imposed.

NEW RECORDS BY AIRMAN

PRIZE OF $25,000

Canadian Press Despatch.

BEADNELL, ENG., Aug. 26.—Harry G. Hawker, who yesterday flew 495 miles in [illegible] minutes, breaking all previous seaflight records, this morning resumed his flight around the coast of England and Scotland in the hydroplane, for a prize of twenty-five thousand dollars. The time limit for the entire sixteen hundred miles is seventy-two hours.

Johnson Cheered.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—(Can. Press.)—Jack Johnson, the pugilist, says that he is going to give the public music halls, where he is billed, a two-days' test to find out if the public want him to show. If they do he will fill his engagement.

He entered a box tonight at the Euston Theatre of Varieties and was loudly cheered. Two performers, who had taken a prominent part against Johnson in the controversy that has been waged over his promised appearance, were unable to finish their turns owing to the demonstration in his favor.

TRIAL OF LABOR MEN IS ON TODAY

Already one Hnndred and Sixty Men Stand Accused

HEARD IN BATCHES

Canadian Press Despatch.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 26.—Unique in the history of this province is the situation facing Nanaimo and Ladysmith courts, where the preliminary hearings of the men arrested on charges of rioting and assault during the recent labor troubles, commence to-day. One hundred and sixty men are now accused and this number will be augmented daily. The men will be tried in batches and it is thought that five or six batches will cover the cases.

Three batches will be charged with rioting in Nanaimo, Extension and Ladysmith, a fourth for the intimidation of Jno. Weeks and a fifth for assaulting a constable.

CO-OPERATION THE CURE

Earl Grey Advances it as Remedy For Trust Evil.

GLASGOW, Scotland, Aug. 25.—(Can. Press)—Co-operation as the basis of the ideal state of the future was the keynote of the address of Earl Grey, former governor-general of Canada, at the opening of the congress of the International Co-operative Alliance here today. Co-operation would put a barrier against the tyranny of the trusts, he said, and would reconcile the warring forces of labor and capital.

Six hundred delegates were present, representing 20,005,600 members of co-operative societies in America and Europe, and Earl Grey's views, enunciated with much fervor, were warmly applauded.

He declared that the application of the co-operative principle to the industrial life of Great Britain, the United States, France, Germany, Denmark and Ireland was proved by the substitution of organized distribution for unorganized distribution, co-operative buying for individual buying, co-operative transportation and marketing for industrial selling, and the co-operative use of power for individual use of machinery. The wants of both producer and consumer could thereby be met more effectively at a smaller cost.

In the civilized world, the remarkable growth of the co-operative movement justified the confident expectation that a day of new social order was at hand.

"Altho the delegates," continued Earl Grey, "might be separated by differences of race, language and religion, they had met as one people under the flag of co-operative fraternity, carrying in their hearts the same motto: 'Each for all and all for each.'"

"All who had in their hearts the well-being of their fellowmen," he urged, "should do their utmost to promote the transition from present conditions to a social state in which the spirit of fraternal co-operation should prevail."

AUTO HITS TREE

One Man is Killed and Two Women Hurt in Buffalo.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Aug. 25.—One man believed to be Henry Stensel of 1310 Wells street, Chicago, was instantly killed, and two women, who give the names of Mrs. Elizabeth Burr of 329 Division street, and Mrs. Henrietta Faxon of No. 262 Strauss street, Buffalo, were injured when an automobile driven by Stensel, collided with a tree on the Buffalo-Niagara Falls boulevard, near the city line. A man giving his name as Arthur Schmidt of No. 1211 Fillmore avenue, Buffalo, and a four-year-old boy, who Mrs. Faxon says is her son, escaped injury.

A car bearing license No. 2150, was seen by an automobile party, racing along the boulevard towards Buffalo, shortly before the accident. Where the accident occurred, there is a curve in the boulevard, and in attempting to round Stensel drove his car into a tree. The car also struck two nearby telegraph poles, breaking one of them off near the ground. All five of the occupants of the car were thrown from the car.

The driver's neck was broken. Mrs. Burr was severely bruised about the body, while Mrs. Faxon's left leg was broken. Both women told Coroner Scott that it would be useless attempting to notify their husbands, as they were railroad men and not at home. They refused to talk.

CANADIAN NATIONAL IS INAUGURATED BY PREMIER

Makes Reference to Heroism of Pioneers Who Are Responsible For What Canadians Enjoy To-day—A Record Attendance.

TORONTO, Aug. 26.—The Canadian National Exhibition was launched yesterday amid perfect weather and with a record first-day crowd in attendance.

It began with the opening of the gates in the morning, when a huge cavalcade of stalled vans, tradesmen, sightseers and a swarm of children flooded pell-mell into the grounds. It glowed more fiercely as the morning progressed, but the great shout which burst thru the roof of the dairy amphitheatre, mingled with the strains of the "Maple Leaf," as Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden contributed the dignity of his position to the formal opening, set enthusiasm buzzing with a new impetus.

One thing pointed out was the courage, faith, and foresight of those who from earlier days until now had laid their shoulders to the wheel. Talk of expansion before established success was there would be futile.

"There is not one in Canada who is not willing to pay a tribute to these men whose work is seen here today," said the premier, and the sentiment was echoed to the roof. He then paralleled the growth of the movement with that of the country. Both had similar small beginnings, but both were waxing tremendous, and the same British flag floated above.

"We sometimes doubt that there were times with the builders when doubts overshadowed faith," he said. "But we rejoice that great success has crowned their efforts."

The happy reference to the exhibition as an "object lesson," where science, art, practice and imagination were spread forth had more in an educational way than mere civic or provincial importance. It was of national significance.

Then there was the value of showing to people the wealth of their own country, the estimate of which they hardly realized. This brought individuals in closer contact with each other, and made them sympathetic of each other's ideals and viewpoints. The modest reference of Mr. Borden to the part he had played in public life evoked rounds of applause from the crowded chamber. He had always endeavored to fulfil his duty as it lay before him. This was his idea of citizenship, to live up to what his country demanded. He considered it a duty and a pleasure to officiate on this occasion.

The Royal Irish Guards then broke into melody, and the crowd spread cheering thruout the grounds.

The first of the directors' luncheons bubbled over with goodwill and optimism. An imposing array of prominent Canadian citizens graced the head table and shared with obvious delight in the interest of the day.

Mr. Borden, who was called upon, applauded in brief manner the worthy support which those responsible were giving to the enterprise. He pointed to the self-sacrifice it entailed upon some, and regarded his being able to say it as one of the greatest pleasures he had found in his relationship with Toronto.

"It is my earnest and confident hope that in the future even greater success will attend it than in the past."

There was a touch of solemnity and incidentally of standard British sentiment about the formal ceremonies. With bowed heads the listening crowd heard the divine sanction invoked by Rev. Prof. Law.

"The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof," he prayed. "We humbly invoke Thy blessing upon this enterprise. Thou art the Master of all craftsmanship and [illegible] we pray that this Exhibition may prove to the good of all and the detriment of none."

The grounds have sprung into the first thrilling round of their existence. Practically every exhibit is in place and the crowds have already begun to seek out their favorite displays.

The Midway has wakened to appreciation of the extension of space and the more logical allotment of tents. The new distribution, if anything, works towards the increase of advertising possibility, and the din is accentuated by the addition of many more enterprising vendors. But this is what the public wants and what the directors are going to give them. Everything bigger, everything better and more of it.

The wire is down and the big fair is well off.

The total attendance on opening day at the Exhibition was 82,000. This marks an increase of 6,000 on that of last year on the same occasion.

The directors are jubilant over the situation, and reckon that with similar increases in ratio as the days progress the million mark will easily be attained. Simple calculation will show how this works out when it is borne in mind that the sum total for 1912 exceeded 900,000.

The police and fire casualties of the day were small. A short run in the morning to quench some carelessly ignited tar and an evening spin on an alarm caused by a burning rocket striking a tent cover alone kept the firemen busy. The ambulance was requisitioned once to carry a fainting woman out of the press of the crowds.

SULZER RANKS ARE BROKEN

Impeached Governor's Backers Tell Different Stories.

ALBANY, N.Y., Aug. 25.—A possible breach in the ranks of Gov. Sulzer's supporters was indicated by the statement today of former Judge D. Cady Herrick, who leads the governor's legal forces in the impeachment matter, that "counsel for Governor Sulzer have nothing to do with any alleged criminal proceedings against Charles F. Murphy, Senator Frawley or Assemblyman Levy, and are not pursuing any investigation of a criminal character against anyone."

On the other hand, Judge Lynn J. Arnold in New York, and others in Albany in the confidence of Gov. Sulzer, reiterated the declaration that steps to procure indictments already have been taken both in New York and Albany Counties.

DISGRACEFUL CARLESSNESS

Much Money Wasted on Vancouver Schcol the Magistrate Finds

Canadian Press Despatch.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 26.—Magistrate Alexander, who recently held an inquiry into the alleged irregularities in the management of the Vancouver schools, reports to the Government that many thousands of dollars of public funds have been thrown away through the lack of business management. Much disgraceful carelessness is attributed to the contractors.

Electricians Join Strike.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—(Can. Press.)—A strike of house painters and decorators in London for increased wages, which was followed by the employment of non-union painters at the admiralty, has brought about a strike of electricians under the control of the office of public works in protest against the employment of "blacklegs." Among the electricians involved are those employed at Buckingham and St. James' palaces, colonial and foreign offices, the Tower of London, the museums and general postoffice.

Appendix Taken From Babe.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—The youngest person ever operated on for appendicitis, according to physicians here, is Robert Searzino, 11 months old, who had his appendix removed this afternoon at the American Hospital here. The child is said to be sustaining the shock of the operation well, and physicians at the hospital assert that he probably will recover.

The operation was performed by Dr. Max Thorek, chief of staff of the American Hospital, assisted by Dr. Marco Furno, the Searzino family physician. Nine minutes were required to perform the operation, and in less than half an hour the infant was [illegible] and able to recognize his mother, who stood beside the cot on which the little patient lay.

READING OF MESSAGE IS POSTPONED TILL WEDNESDAY

G. T. R. Must Pay Share.

GUELPH, Aug. 25.—(Special).—The sewerage and public works commission sent in the bill this morning to the G. T. R. authorities at Toronto in connection with the building of the subways and the other work in which the railway shares the cost with the city. The railway's bill against the city was $9,156, against which the city has accounts amounting to somewhere about $13,000. The city has expended upwards of $[illegible] in connection with the subways, so that debentures will have to be issued for between $17,000 and $18,000.

MILITANTS BURN COUNTRY HOUSE

Did Not Know of Truce Arranged by Their Leader.

Canadian Press Despatch.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Evidently not having heard of the supposed truce between the Militant Suffragettes and the Government, some of Mrs. Pankhurst's followers burned a fine country house in the suburban town of Finchley this evening.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—(Can. Press)—Rumors which have been current of a truce between the militant suffragettes and the British Government seem to find support in a letter written today by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffragette leader, to her followers, advising them to take a holiday for the present. She says:

"I am gathering up strength for a renewed battle when the holiday season is over. I hope that every one of you also will take advantage of the present lull in political activity to take the rest and change you have all so richly deserved."

Another indication that an agreement has been reached is the cessation by the authorities of the enforcement of the provisions of the "cat-and-mouse" act. Out of forty-three suffragettes sentenced to imprisonment for various offences, only one is now in jail. Most of the rest of them are following their ordinary avocations, and no attempt is made to re-arrest them.

It is widely believed that Mrs. Pankhurst has at last agreed to a truce in order to strengthen the hands of those members of the British cabinet who are working to make the enfranchisement of women a government measure.

WELL KNOWN ARTIST DROWNED

He Painted Indian Studies in Parliament Buildings.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 26.—Edmund Morris, the Toronto artist who painted the Indian studies that hang in the parliament buildings, was found drowned in the St. Lawrence River at Portneuf yesterday morning. The discovery was made by one of the parties that have been searching the banks of the river since Thursday last, when Mr. Morris left his lodgings at Portneuf, leaving behind him his keys and instructions to his landlady to communicate with his relatives.

No reason can be ascribed by his friends for his action beyond the fact that his health has been seriously undermined lately and his actions consequently were erratic. He was subject to fits of despondency and it is not unlikely that it was during one of these that he determined to make away with himself. Edmund Morris left Toronto several weeks ago for Portneuf, where he was in the habit of spending his summers on sketching expeditions.

Immediately that word was received in Toronto of his disappearance, Mr. Cochrane of Lennoxville, a brother-in-law, was communicated with and proceeded to Portneuf, and is now making arrangements to have the body brought to Toronto for interment. Another brother-in-law, Horatio Walker, resides at the Island of Orleans, and Mr. Morris had paid his sister a short visit there just previous to his disappearance.

Edmund M. Morris, A.R.C.A., was born at Perth, Ont., in 1871, and was the youngest son of the late Hon. Alexander Morris, lieutenant-governor of Manitoba and subsequently leader of the opposition in the Ontario House.

SUICIDE FACT

Schoolboy and Girl Affair Ends in a Tragedy.

ROCKLAND, Maine, Aug. 25.—A suicide pact, for which no motive can be ascribed by the parents or friends of the couple, brought swift end yesterday to a high school romance which was to have resulted a few week hence in wedding bells. The victims of the tragedy are Carl Wilbur Perry and Angelyn T. Spear, both of whom are descendants of the city's oldest and most influential families. Perry is 20 and a son of Benjamin C. Perry, a retired lime merchant. Miss Spear is 19, and the daughter of Mrs. Alice Spear.

The young couple left home yesterday forenoon for a motor boat trip among the islands. With the coming of dusk and no word from them, the parents began to suspect an elopement. When this morning brought no tidings the matter was placed in the hands of the police.

Canada's Trade Grows.

OTTAWA, Aug. 25.—(Can. Press.)—The customs department statement for July and the first four months of the current fiscal year, indicates a most striking growth in Canadian trade.

Total trade for July was $100,357,000 as against $91,425,000 in July last year. For the four months total trade totalled $[illegible] compared with $328,625,000 in the same period of 1912.

Mexican Authorities Request Another Day to Consider Proposals.

Canadian Press Despatch.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 26.—With all preparations made for the reading of the special message on the Mexican situation to a joint session of both houses of congress at three o'clock this afternoon President Wilson at the last minute postponed the reading of the message until Wednesday at the request of the Mexican authorities, who want another day to consider Special Representative Lind's proposals.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—President Wilson tonight took the senate committee on foreign relations and the house committee on foreign affairs into his confidence and to the members made known the history of the administration's handling of the Mexican problem, including the president's efforts to bring about peace in the southern republic.

The president read to the congressional conferees the message he will deliver to congress tomorrow unless some word is received from Mexico City between now and the hour set for the reading of the message, 3 p.m. tomorrow. There is no hope of Huerta changing, said a message received at midnight. In addition to the message outlining all that has been done, the president read to the members the note which Commissioner of Mediation John Lind presented to Huerta, and which contained the president's four proposals for settling the war, and the reply to that note by President Huerta.

In his message the president advised a policy of non-interference on the part of the United States for the immediate future in dealing with the Mexican problem. He pointed out that this, it appeared to him, was the most sensible course to pursue.

He does not advocate the lifting of the embargo against the revolutionists in Mexico obtaining arms and ammunition in the United States. To the contrary, he advised an enforcement of all neutrality laws permitting no faction to obtain munitions of war in the United States.

In the discussion of the message and the two notes the president indicated how serious a problem the Mexican situation is, and said the question should be treated seriously by both the executive and congress.

The congressional advisers were made acquainted with the whole situation. They were informed as to what pressure was being brought to bear on Huerta by England, France and Japan, and of financial condition, both regarding provisional government and the revolutionists. This latter picture which the president drew was not encouraging so far as the belligerents were concerned. It showed a depleted treasury in Mexico City, and the revolutionists in equally as bad a condition.

The president did not monopolize the evening with his message or the expression of his views. From each of the congressmen present the president obtained an expression. A poll of the visitors showed that all agreed with the president's view in regard to the treatment of the problem. All endorsed the police he had pursued in the past, including his sending Commissioner John Lind to Mexico City.

As the matter stands at this hour, the two committees in congress which will have to be the president's steering wheel there, are fully acquainted with the whole story of the present revolution, and what has been done by the administration to prevent a clash between the United States and Mexico, and to bring about the peace of that country.

Owing to the president's wish to keep the question open to the last minute until the hour he reads his message the congressional visitors were pledged to secrecy. After the conference the president made it known that the matter must be treated somewhat confidential until hope had been abandoned. This hope will not be abandoned until he starts for the capitol, which will be about 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Envoy Lind to Return.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 25.—(Can. Press). President Wilson's personal representative, John Lind, will leave the Mexican capital tomorrow, proceeding to Vera Cruz.

Mr. Lind called on Foreign Minister Gamboa today to say good-bye, but there was nothing in their conversation regarding the resumption of negotiations or to indicate that Mexico would recede from her position.

Mr. Lind will sail from Vera Cruz at an early date, presumably on a battleship. It is expected that William Bayard Hale, who has been in Mexico City in an official capacity, will accompany Mr. Lind, or leave soon afterward.

Rumors persist that Gen. Trevino, who has been summoned to the capital, will become provisional president, but confirmation is lacking, and this report is offset by another that Gen. Huerta has called in most of the retired officers and many of those on detached service to report for duty.

Gen. Felix Diaz, who is on his way to Japan as special Mexican ambassador, is also said to have received a summons to return to the capital.

Will Celebrate Napoleon's Defeat.

KELHEIM, Bavaria, Aug. 25.—(Can. Press.)—All the German sovereigns, including Emperor William as King of Prussia, and the heads of the city republics of Hamburg, Bremen and Lubeck, have assembled here as the guests of the Prince Regent of Bavaria, to commemorate in the Great Hall of Liberation the defeat of Napoleon in 1813.

Besides the rulers, who thus meet for the second time this year, the little Town of Kelheim, of only 4000 inhabitants, is entertaining 10,000 visitors, who have traveled here over the single track railroad or in automobiles from all parts of Germany.

THE HAMILTON TIMES ASKS QUESTIONS

The Hamilton Times asks a few questions, one is, Why Mr. Borden went back on the policy of 1909—"If a Canadian Navy was all right in 1909, what made it all wrong in 1911?"

You can generally judge of people's capacity by the kind of questions they ask. When we are children we speak as children, and we ask childish questions. The Hamilton Times displays a sweet ingenuousness which if it were found in a younger person, would be most charming. The answer to this particular question is very simple and a little reflection, or a little less party blindness on the part of the Times would have brought the necessary enlightenment.

The Times knows that Mr. Borden has not gone back on 1909, but 1909 has gone back on him. The Rainbow and Niobe proved a failure. Mr. Borden was not responsible for the policy of 1909. He consented to it as a loyal Canadian, and as all parties in Britain consent to the foreign policy of the Government in power at the time, for the sake of presenting a solid front to the world. When Mr. Borden came into power and was personally responsible for this naval business he saw that the Rainbow-Niobe experiment was—not a success, and that it would soon put the country into the Bankruptcy Court, and he went to England for advice. He might have gone to Sir Wilfrid or the Hamilton Times, but he did not, he went to the biggest naval concern in the world. He took in as much knowledge of the situation as he could and thought upon the matter, and decided that for the present, at least, the only practical thing to do was to contribute three battleships to the British Navy which was defending our coasts. The Times, with all its simplicity, would not pretend that the Canadian fleet of two obsolete ships made the Canadian sea-line invulnerable.

Mr. Borden took a practical view of the situation, he was not thinking of whether he was consistant with 1909 but whether he was doing what was just and fair by Canada and by the Mother Country, who was paying for our naval defence.

More might be said in the way of explanation and perhaps the Hamilton Times is still in the dark, if so, how great is that darkness!

STIMULANTS AND THEIR EFFECTS

The use of alcohol as a medicine is an old fable which dies hard with many other beloved illusions. Even doctors have differed upon the question of its value as a stimulant in extreme cases. But there are few up-to-date physicians who do not, in their sober moments, condemn the drug as "a dangerous expedient.

That alcohol does stimulate, no one who has seen or felt its effect upon the human species will, for a moment deny. It certainly can set the wheels of the human machine going at a terrific rate, and in some cases precipitates the "driver" into the ditch

But in using a stimulant the thing to be considered is the after effect for most stimulants are reactionary, and alcohol is, perhaps the most violently reactionary of all popular drugs, the latter end of those addicted to it is worse than the first.

Professor Ewald of Berlin University is emphatic in his denunciation of alcohol as a stimulant. He says he has reached the conclusion that in no infectious disease has the value of alcohol been proved, and that it diminishes the natural resistance to the inroads of the disease.

In cases of failing heart it may act as a temporary spur, but the subsequent depression often proves fatal, and this may account for a great many deaths from heart failure which might have been averted had less violent means of reviving the patient been used. Alcohol therefore, instead of helping a patient often enough handicaps him by lowering the blood pressure.

One of these days, when politicians and preachers have tired of squabbling over Local Option and "Abolish the Bar," the scientist and the doctors will get on the war-path. Meanwhile these men can do much in a quiet way, without any spectacular and noisy temperance propaganda for personal and party ends, by a process of education among students and patients, and instil a little common-sense into the people along with scientific and medical enlightenment. This may be a slow process but it is the most effective in the end. For the stimulant of extreme temperance "reform" is as reactionary upon a sick community as alcohol is upon a sick patient.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Jack Johnson is not being entertained very hospitably in London. The English people have not that intense hatred of the colored race us some Americans have. But it is not the color of the pugilist's skin that the English people object to, but the color of his character.

Canadians who are inclined to sneer at the insignificant loyalty of Fiji ought to know that the dusky Islands of the Pacific are among our most promising customers in flour.

Poetry has its uses even in these prosaic days; it saved a man from jail in Toronto the other day. The man, who was up for some petty offence, said that he had been a member of the Royal Marines and had three good conduct badges. The Magistrate, who was also a colonel, looked skeptically at the prisoner. The Crown Attorney then broke into Kipling:

"A blooming hermaphodite,
  Soldier and sailor too,
But to stand and be still
To the Birkenhead drill
  Is a d— tough billet to chew!
But they done it—
  His Majesty's soldiers and sailors too."

The Magistrate's military heart was melted at this recital, and he said to the old Marine: "You can go, but stick to the red, white and blue."

Poetry still has its uses.

TO THE MODERN QUACK.

(After reading the early history of medicine.)

To makers of fortunes gigantic,
  Quack venders of potions and pills,
Who now give us nothing romantic
  Except your advertisement bills,
Consider the wondrous concoctions
  Put up in the bottle or box
By doctors aforetime and, wasting no more time,
  Just pull up your socks.

"Digestion," they'd ask, "misbehaving?
  Or: "Blisters on both of your heels?
Tut, tut! Take an ivory shaving
  Thrice daily an hour before meals."
Such sorts of medicinal dainties,
  Backed up by a ponderous mien,
They'd foist upon folly as certain of jollity
  Well curing the spleen.

They'd (almost) put up in a flagon
  And afterward offer for sale
Pink hairs from the head of a dragon,
  Blue tufts from a unicorn's tail.
And, could they have only got at them,
  No doubt they'd have mixed with their drinks
For troublesome tummies the wrapping of mummies
  Or chips off the sphinx.

But you, did we ask that a pimple
  Be cured with a balsam of bats,
Would only look hopelessly simple
  Or rudely ejaculate, "Rats!"
Come, give up your commonplace nostrums.
  Present something quaint to our view.
Those picturesque liars could always find buyers,
  So why shouldn't you? —Punch.

The Irony of Fate.

"Pa, what's the irony of fate?"

"I'll try to explain it as well as I can. I once had a strong desire to save up something for a rainy day. I denied myself many pleasures so that I might put by a little from time to time, and at last I had quite a neat little pile."

"What happened then?"

"One night your mother became possessed of a foolish idea that she smelled smoke, and when she stuck her head out of the window one of our neighbors turned in an alarm. The department quickly responded, and before I could get my trousers on they had knocked a hole in the roof and absolutely ruined everything I had saved up for the rainy day by pouring water on it."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Set Up Job.

"Are you the man from Sodder & Co.'s to do the repairing of the water pipes?" asked Mr. Subbubs.

"Yes," replied the plumber, "and Mr Sodder says it'll cost you $60."

"What? Why, he hasn't seen the job. He doesn't know how much I want done."

"Mebbe not, but he told me how much to do."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Suspicion usually finds what it is looking for if it looks long enough.

"I AM SATISFIED I COULD NOT LIVE

If It Were Not For "Fruit-a-tives", The Wonderful Fruit Medicine

FENAGHVALE, ONT., JAN. 29th, 1910

"For thirty five years (and I am now a man over seventy) I have been a terrible sufferer from Constipation. No matter what remedy or physicians I employed, the result was always the same—impossible to get a cure. About 2 years ago, I read the testimonial of Hon. John Costigan regarding "Fruit-a-tives" and I decided to give them a trial. I have used "Fruit-a-tives" ever since. They are the first and only medicine that suited my case. If it were not for "Fruit-a-tives", I am satisfied I could not live" JAMES PROUDFOOT.

Mr. Proudfoot is one of the prominent farmers of Prescott County and has been Treasurer of Caledonia Township for years. "Fruit-a-tives" is sold at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50—trial size, 25c. by dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

THE MARKET

Latest Quotation in Grain, Dairy Products, Live Stock, Etc

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Influential buying in the final hour turned a weak corn market into a strong one today, prices at the close showing a net advance of ¼c to ½c. Wheat finished a shade to ⅛c higher, oats unchanged to ⅛c up, and provisions irregular, 7½c lower to 5c higher. The uplift in corn came on reports of scarcity in various sections. Buffalo said hardly a car of spot corn was for sale there. Kansas points were said to be out of corn and using wheat for feed. Tennessee farmers reported that for the first time in the state's history, except after floods, the bottom lands have failed to make a corn crop. From Nebraska came reports of an expert that in the last three weeks the crop there had gone back 24 per cent., and that no relief was in sight.

The Liverpool market closed ⅛d to ¼d lower on wheat and ¼d higher on corn.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

MONTREAL, Aug 25.—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, 1700 cattle, 2200 sheep and lambs, 1000 hogs and 700 calves were for sale this morning.

Common bulls were in good demand and a number of car loads were taken by New York, Boston and Buffalo purchasers, and several cars were also taken for Toronto, at $3.25 per cwt. The supply of good to choice butchers' cattle was smaller than usual, and prices show an advance of 25 cents per cwt., as compared with a week ago. For full loads of choice steers $6.75 was bid freely, which sellers refused, and eventually buyers were forced to pay $6.75, the price asked. Canners' bulls and cows were more plentiful.

The tone of the market for western lambs was stronger, and prices were 25c per cwt. higher than a week ago, but, on the other hand, the market for Quebec lambs was weaker and 25c per cwt. lower. Sales were made at $5.75 to $6 per cwt. Sheep were unchanged. Demand for calves was good and the supply was small. A stronger feeling developed in the market for hogs. The demand from packers was good and an active trade was done.

WIRELESS ON TRAINS.

Telephone System Will Be Tried on Pennsylvania R. R.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 24.—The Pennsylvania Railroad is soon to install a wireless telephone system on the trains of that road for the use of the engineers and conductors, and it is said that the new scheme will go far toward the prevention of accidents. Preliminary tests have already been completed over the Huntington and Broad Top line and the freight and coal cars of this system are being equipped with the new wireless system.

An ordinary headpiece instrument is installed in the cab of the engine, for the use of the engineer, while the mouthpiece can be attached to some part of the trainman's uniform so as to leave his hands free to perform his regular duties.

So perfect is the circuit formed by the steel rails, that it is said, despite the noise of the train, that an engineer can hear better than if the person he was conversing with was but a few feet away.

Will Not Receive De La Barra.

PARIS, Aug. 23.—(Can. Press.)—The Agence Nationale says it is practically certain that both President Poincare and M. Pichon, the foreign minister, will decline to receive Francisco de La Barra, the former provisional president of Mexico, who recently was appointed minister to France. His position, it is added, is considered similar to that of General Felix Diaz, the special ambassador now on his way to Japan, whom the Japanese Government has refused to receive officially.

Harvesters Resent Head Tax.

SARNIA, Aug. 23.—(Special.)—Some 1500 harvest hands cut things loose at the Port Huron end of the tunnel last evening, when they were detained while $4 was taken from them for the head tax. This will be paid back when they leave the United States near Winnipeg. The police were called when a large number got tight and caused a riot. During the trouble windows and furniture was smashed at the detention room. All were allowed to proceed to the west.

BRITZ OF HEADQUARTERS

The Best Detective Story of the Last Ten Years

BY MARCIN BARBER

Supplied exclusively in Canada by the British and Colonial Press, Ltd., Toronto.

All of which resulted in Griswold's long stay at the dance, in his ride with Dorothy to her home in an automobile otherwise occupied only by a satisfactorily selfcentered chaperon; and in his waste of further time at one of his clubs after parting with Miss March and her duenna—a waste of hours any one of which might have been made as useful to him as a year of ordinary time. He was further disposed to procrastinate in this crucial moment by the success of the Headquarters man in throwing all suspected persons off their guard by keeping Elinor Holcomb in the Tombs. Through all his work on the Missioner case, Britz had been beset with requests from Mrs. Missioner, Sands and other friends of the widow's secretary, to permit them to give bail for her. Sands and Mrs. Missioner were particulaly insistent in their desire to see Elinor at liberty. Fitch, though normally his wish to see his fiancee free must have been stronger than that of anyone else, was partly reconciled to her protracted imprisonment by the detective's frequent assurance of her ultimate vindication. Moreover, the doctor, in consequence of his work on the case with Britz, had direct knowledge of the importance that the suspicions of others would not be alarmed. He had been with the detective when the card of Bruxton Sands was discovered in the possession of the old curiosity shop man; he knew of the note addressed to "Curtis dear" and signed "Millicent," and of the desperate attempts made by the Hindoos to find the diamonds. So Fitch did not bother the sleuth as much as did other friends of Elinor's and it was well; Britz was several times at his wits' ends to dissuade Mrs. Missioner and Sands from going to the District Attorney and offering a heavy security for Miss Holcomb's appearance in court. However, Britz had held them off, and it followed that Griswold nursed the delusion that Elinor and Fitch and Sands were suspected so strongly by the Central Office men that no search for evidence against anybody else was in progress. Donnelly and Carson also fostered that misconception on the clubman's part by their unabated activity in hunting proofs of the girl secretary's guilt. Those worthies spent every day of their work on the case in tracing Elinor's past, and in efforts to couple Fitch with her suspicious theft of the jewels. Furthermore, being the sort of men who would rather win credit for detective work than do anything quietly in the way of real detection of crime criminals, they could not refrain from expressing their belief in Elinor's dishonesty at every turn. They talked liberally to the seasoned reporters in the newspaper rookeries opposite Police Headquarters, to the newspaper men in the police stations, and the magistrates' courts, and to the several star reporters of the more enterprising morning papers who had been assigned especially on the [illegible] Every word they uttered hinged their evidence in the return [illegible] against Miss Holcomb, and, with exception of two or three [illegible] sapient newspaper men who counted the opinions of Donnelly [illegible] Carson because they knew Britz [illegible] doing the real work, and he [illegible] had as yet made no revelations [illegible] reporters quoted them at great [illegible].

Therefore, practically all the [illegible] York papers published stories in [illegible] Elinor Holcomb was tried, convicted and sentenced in advance of her arraignment for the theft of the Missioner necklace. Over-enterprising [illegible] day papers went so far as to publish page stories, purporting to be psychological studies of the mental bent that made the trusted secretary of a multimillionaire society woman, with a comfortable career in expectation, throw all chances to the winds by yielding to a momentary feminine impulse to possess herself of glittering baubles. Those psychological studies were interesting to the multitude, and might have been worth publishing had they been based on either psychology or truth. They had their effect on Griswold, though, and a consequence of that fact was that the clubman's mind was at ease so far as the possibility that he would be connected with the disappearance of the gems was concerned.

So Griswold did not go to the Renaissance that night, nor did he disturb Mrs. Delaroche with a telephone message, although an instrument stood on a convenient desk in her boudoir, and an extension wire connected it with a duplicate device that rested on a little Russian table beside her bed. It would have been the work of a moment for Griswold to get into conversational touch with Mrs. Delaroche, and he would have had the excuse of replying to her urgent and somewhat petulant note—if he had received it; unfortunately for him, he never had seen that missive. Kanada's guess in regard to the activity of his followers, Chunda and Gazim, was accurate for those adroit Orientals had stolen the missing note from Griswold's apartment before it came under the observation of "Curtis dear," to whom it was addressed. "Altogether, once more, as he would have expressed it, things were not "breaking" for the suave secretary of the Iroquois Trust Company.

CHAPTER XXI.

Stop, Thief!

Millicent Delaroche slept soundly. Hers was the type of beauty that retains its freshness through indulgence in creature comforts. Not all her fondness for amusement could lead her to rob herself for many nights of the repose she instinctively knew was essential to the preservation of her charms. She was the sort of woman, past thirty, who retains a false youth sometimes more effective than the immaturity which is measured by the calendar. Her complexion was as delicate as a debutante's. Her eyes were brighter than those of the average athletic young woman, and no silver thread shot the dusk of her luxuriant hair. All this was due largely, she was convinced, to her lifelong habit of sleeping early and often, and of resolutely refusing to let her slumber be disturbed by any such restless things as dreams, which, after all, are the mere ghosts of thought—and too much thinking was not one of her foibles. The beauty of Mrs. Delaroche was, in short, the kind that leads the lowly worshiper of Buddha to hang garlands about the necks of sleek, white zebus in the temples of the East; which causes the Alaskan aborigine to carve the smooth surface of his totem poles and which prompts the benighted black of darkest Africa to lay offerings at the feet of his Mumbo Jumbo. Most men who saw Mrs. Delaroche felt a strange impulse to place burnt offerings upon the shrine of her loveliness. Hers was the beauty of a Ninon, a Sappho. It was its own excuse for existence, and 'twas well it was, since no other reason could be advanced by any man for his adoration of the magnificent Millicent.

Though Mrs. Delaroche slept profoundly, her external senses were not wholly unvigilant. Long study of herself had made her sensitive to disagreeable impressions that were purely coporeal; and so, though no intrusive vision of mind could interrupt the fluid calm of her beauty sleep, a slightly uncomfortable feeling at the precise spot whence her tresses swept upward in an elaborate coiffure or parted in the braids of negligee had the effect of arousing her as no mere dream possibly could have done. It required many seconds, allowing for the habit of her mind, and the fact that she suddenly was recalled from deep repose, for Mrs. Delaroche to realize there was a hand beneath her pillow, and that hand was not one of her own. Rigid with fright, she waited an instant to assure herself she had not committed the innovation of dreaming, then she made a swift reach for the alien hand—too late. It had been withdrawn swiftly in the few moments requisite to complete comprehension of the situation, and if Mrs. Delaroche had not been so certain that she never dreamed, she might have thought she still was sleeping. Hasty exploration of the space beneath her pillow, however, told her the midnight hand had not gone away empty. Realizing that, she was broad awake in an instant. She sat erect so swiftly that she bruised her forehead slightly against something cold and hard and round and smooth that was immediately pressed menacingly to her head.

"Don't move, or you'll get this!" said a rough voice.

Mrs. Delaroche gasped, and despite the hand, sank back again to her pillow. She could still feel, however, or fancied she could, the icy rim of the metal that had touched her brow. This was a great feat of imagination for Mrs. Delaroche.

"That's right; lie still!" continued the voice. "If you know what's good for you."

The woman, after several agonized seconds, summoned courage to say in a choked whisper, "But——"

"Never mind talking now," said the voice again. "I told you to keep still and you'd better do it!"

Rough though the voice was, it was carefully subdued. It could not have been heard in the corridor. Mrs Delaroche drew a deep, fluttering breath, and was evidently on the point of making another attempt to speak when the metallic ring touched her forehead again, chilling her to silence and the voice went on:

"See here, lady, I've got no time to waste with you. Just you stay where you are, and don't make a sound, unless you want to get this!" and the metal was pressed a little harder to her forehead. "I am going to get out of this room quietly, and I'm going right now. If you make any noise for the next five minutes, I'll blow your head off!"

Ice water seemed to course through the woman's veins. She dared not move a muscle, nor did she essay to speak again. As far as her benumbed senses could tell her, there was no irresolution in that raucous voice, nor in the contact of the weapon against her shrinking flesh. She did as much thinking as it was possible for her to do, and concluded she at least must pretend to obey the command for silence until the burglar should go far enough away to give her a chance of escape. The door of her boudoir, with a strong thumb-bolt on its inner side offered protection could she but reach it. She knew its exact situation, and in spite of the darkness, could have made her way to it without swerving. But to do so she must cross half the width of the bedroom, and after the burglar's latest words she did not doubt he would put his threat into execution before she could reach the floor. So she lay still, trembling in every inch of her unseen loveliness, hoping for an opportunity to dash through the boudoir door and summon help ere the thief could escape from the hotel. She had a fair supply of animal courage, and if she had not been taken at so great a disadvantage might have made a fair fight for that which the burglar had taken from beneath her pillow. But life fitted her altogether too comfortably at all points to risk any hopeless daring of danger. She lay still.

The cold pressure was removed from her forehead, and the burglar moved about the room. The thick carpet and doubtless the felt soles on the man's feet as auxiliaries, made his steps soundless. He went from her dressing table to a writing desk, lighting each in turn with a vivid circle of rays from an electric pocket torch, but holding the little illuminating device always in such position that no faintest gleam fell upon himself. Not for a moment, however, did he slacken his alertness sufficiently for Mrs. Delaroche to have a good chance to get to the inner room. He pretended to search thoroughly several places where money or jewels might be kept, but even to a woman of her slow wit, it was apparent he did so in a half hearted way. Millicent felt assured the man knew just what he had taken from beneath her pillow, and that he was satisfied with it. He showed that to be true when he gave up the pretended search without so much as trying the handle of a small safe in a far corner of the room. Returning to the bedside, he renewed his warning throwing so much savage meaning into his words that Mrs. Delaroche was certain there was no pretence about that.

AUSTRALIA TO ATTEND.

Commonwealth Will Be Represented at Defence Conclave.

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 24.—(C. A. P.) It is officially stated that Australia will be represented at the imperial defence conference, which is to be held in Canada at the end of the year. The delegation will be chosen later and will include either Premier Cook or Minister of Defence Millen, probably the latter. The date and place of the conference are now subjects of negotiations.

Mr. Millen, referring to the suggestion that the dependencies should supply the nucleus of an eastern force for the defence of the empire, suggests that the matter should be referred to the forthcoming conference, adding that "anything that will tend to establish in the Pacific that naval power which he thought was secured by the 1909 agreement, must be agreeable to Australians."

ABOUT THE CHURCHES OF DOMINION

Methodists Have Been Passed by the Presbyterians in Numbers

A man is fairly certain to look up a preacher at least once in his lifetime, and that is when he is married. When he is to be buried someone else must find the minister and it is often a difficult problem whether he should be an Anglican or a Baptist, a Methodist or a Presbyterian.

There seems to be one other time in a man's life, repeated too every ten years, when he expresses his preference for one church or another, and that is when the census taker appears. The old maid in Toronto and every woman in the boarding house wanted to know her age and that there was nothing in the bible how about taking the census and she objected but finally had to tell. According to the reports of religious affiliations in Canada most men have a church preference when pressed for an answer, and out of the 7,206,643 reported by the last census only 488,785 were assigned to the column having no preference or belonging to the smaller denominations. When you subtract from this the Lutherans, Disciples, Quakers, Reformers, United Presbyterians, Christian Scientists and a number of other smaller bodies, the number without any preference is extremely small.

It was conceded before hand that Roman Catholic Church should have the largest following, though in this as in others a large number are merely nominally affiliated and the church means very little to them. The complaint comes from Scotland that Canada is robbing her of her very choicest sons and daughters, and the most of them rank as Presbyterians, so that body comes in second taking the place held by the Methodist church ten years ago. Will they be one church by the time the next census is taken? The church in China promises to be the first great union church in a nation unless Canadian churchmen get more speed than they have thus far. A study of Chinese immigration, too, affords some interesting facts, not the least of which is that paying a head tax of $500 each as they do for the privilege of coming into Canada, they contributed to the Dominion and Provincial treasuries the sum of $4,523,500. This is after the cost of collection amounting to about $20,000 has been deducted. All the churches in Canada contributed in the same time for mission work in China and other foreign fields, for the great home mission work in New Ontario and the West and for the work in the leading cities, about $2,750,000. The Chinese immigrants therefore pay all the missionary bills of all the Canadian churches.

British immigrants still reach the four corners of the globe but Canada is the mecca for more than one-half of them. The recent steps to provide agricultural, domestic and manual training at the expense of from two to three million dollars annually is a great step in the right direction, and only through technical education can the men and women of the Dominion reach a high standard of efficiency, and the government alone is in a position to provide this. A leading Review in the United States in a recent issue credited Canada with being more far-sighted and fore-handed in this sort of training than any of the other Anglo-Saxon peoples at [illegible]

DEATH TO THE MOSQUITTO

Some Interesting Expermonts—Oil Only Partial Cure—The Swamps Should be Drained

During the last two decades a variety of methods have been tried with a view of exterminating the mosquito in various parts of the United States. In addition to being a source of irritation and discomfort the insect is also a menace to health as it spreads malaria. The pest has always been particularly bad along the New Jersey coast, as it breeds by millions in the salt marshes adjacent to the sea.

The first method which offered any prospect of success was the application of oil to all stagnant bodies of water. This, however, was found to be very expensive, and succeeding in effecting only a partial relief. The secret of the only permanent remedy has been found to lie in the draining of the marshes. This has been carried on at Staten Island under the direction of competent engineers, and, as a result, the mosquitos have been almost exterminated.

In the case of stagnant inland waters oil can be used to good effect or the depressions can be filled in. Before this method of fighting the mosquito was adopted the cases of malaria in one year on Staten Island numbered 120. Subsequent to the draining of the marshes the number of cases reported was 2. The figures speak for themselves.

YOUNGER CONVERTED

Celebrated Jesse James Lieutenant Startles Revival.

LEES SUMMIT, Mo., Aug 25.—The religious fervor of a thousand persons packed into the improvised tabernacle housing the revival meetings of the Christian Church at Lees Summit last night had lulled, the song of invitation was being sung, then a huge man arose, picked up a little woman, kissed her and went forward. It was Cole Younger.

There was no halt in the singing, but a wave of applause drowned the voices for a minute. Old friends down in front tucked their song books under their arms, clapped their hands in fervor and the spirit spread throughout the tabernacle, receded and died out.

The last line of the song was followed by shouts of "Amen." It marked the slow swinging pendulum of Coleman Younger's life from one extreme to the other. The big man carried with him to the altar rail twenty-eight bullet wounds. He was the right hand man of Jesse James and was in many train hold-ups and other desperate crimes.

The evangelist uttered a fervent prayer over those who went homeward and closed the service, inviting friends of Younger to remain and shake his hand. There were a thousand in the meeting. A thousand remained.

THRACE IS A DESERT.

Pierre Loti Tells of Abominations of the Bulgars.

LONDON, Aug 25.—(Can. Press.)—The Sublime Porte has opened direct negotiations with the Bulgarian delegate, M. Nochevitch, who has remained in Constantinople since he went there at the outbreak of the second war to negotiate an understanding with Turkey. It is understood that the Porte remains firm with regard to Adrianople and Kirk Kilisseh, but is prepared to make concessions in other quarters.

Pierre Loti, the French writer, under Constantinople date, sends to The Daily Telegraph a vivid story of his impressions on visiting Adrianople, and the surrounding districts. M. Loti says:

"The Bulgarians have made of Thrace a desert surpassing in abomination everything I had been told and all that I imagined. With what fury have these Christian liberators worked in order to accomplish so much destruction in a few months."

He describes orgies and massacres and violation and desecration in all the Turkish villages, and asserts that Adrianople itself only escaped by a miracle, because the Turks arrived a day earlier than was expected, and so defeated the Bulgarian plans for a similar massacre there.

SEPTEMBER AN IDEAL MONTH

In the Algonquin National Park of Ontario, the month of September is one of the most beautiful of the year. "The Highland Inn," situated on Cache Lake 2,000 feet above sea level, offers all the comforts one may desire at reasonable rates. The region is a natural playground of over 2,500,000 acres, and those who love nature and the wild things that live in her confines can enjoy themselves to their heart's content. Algonquin Park Station, where the "Highland Inn" is situated is only 169 miles west of Ottawa and 200 miles north of Toronto. For any one whose nerves are troublesome or through over-work needs a rest, or whose health is run down, there is not a more delightful place in America. The log cabin which was operated this year on Smoke Lake has become very popular and has been patronized by a large number of people. The camp is called "Nominigan" the Indian word for Balsom and is situated in a delightful spot in the centre of one of the best fishing districts and surrounded by beautiful scenery.

Write to J. E. Colson, Manager, "Highland Inn," Algonquin Park, Ont., for all particulars and illustrated booklet.

A SHIP THAT WILL NOT SINK

Lessons From the Sinking of Titanic, an Ingenious Invention

A Swansea captain claims to have invented an unsinkable ship in which he has kept in view the sinking of the Titanic. Here is Mr. John Rees' description of the model and the experiences she had to undergo in his severely critical experiments:

The model—a very shipshapely one—was scaled at one-eighth of an inch to the foot to represent a steamboat 410 ft. long, 72 ft. wide, drawing 21 ft. of water. It would thus be a little over 4 ft. in length and 9 in. wide. Placed in a tank of water, through five hatchways, with copper ore down to the Plimsoll marks painted on its side by, I was given to understand, a Lloyd's surveyor friend of the inventor. I was then invited to do what I liked with it. To make the test a thorough one straightaway, I tilted the little vessel sideways until the water flowed in through the open hatchways and filled the whole interior up to deck-level, and then let go. She immediately righted herself and floated easily and buoyantly, with the deck just a suspicion above water-level. Catching hold of her bow and stern, I next pressed her well down under the water and then let go. She immediately bobbed up to the surface and floated exactly as before.

In other words, a vessel carrying her full cargo of copper ore, a very heavy one, occupying relatively little space, filled up, in addition, to deck-level with water from a presumed leak, all her bulkheads having presumably given way, floated easily, with her deck barely awash. Each section of the hold of the model communicating with its hatchway was bulkheaded off, and with the less severe test of filling only one, two, or three of these the deck would, of course, be considerably higher out of the water. With the whole of the cargo shifted and still full up with water as well she had a corresponding list, but there was still three-quarters of her deck well out of the water.

CALF RAISING

Pointers From the Experience of a Practical Farmer

We raise yearly a large number of calves and, being scarce of help, are forced to economize time and labor. So we have contrived a speedy means of feeding, with the result that the work has become a genuine pleasure, and is now completed in a few minutes, says a writer in the Canadian Countryman.

Near the dairy house is a small pasture field, where in Spring we turn the young calves. In it we have built a set of bales in the fence, this latter having been removed as far as the bales extend.

They are made to open and shut like ordinary cow bales, and when closed are held in place by a wooden peg placed in a hole just behind the stanchion or standard. There is just room in each bale for one calf and each calf has a pail of its own placed before it in a sort of box, which prevents it from being upset.

After separating we carry warm milk, without the foam, to the calves in galvanized iron pails, which are always left in their place in the feeding season. The calves soon learn their places and rush into them as soon as they see the feeder approaching. The bales are then closed until they have finished. All we have to do is to wait and free them.

Years ago we used to feed each calf separately, and many a comical scene was enacted. Still, the comical side did not always appeal to us then, and we fully appreciate the saving of time and trouble in the new method.

Daring Decolletes Lightly Veiled and Drop Shoulder Seams Lengthened by Long Filmy Sleeves.
Copyright by N. Y. H.

WHEN dresses are not actually décolleté this season they are decidedly transparent, and when they are not transparent they are covered by filmy laces that give them a look of diaphanous filminess. Slashes add to the general undressed look, and under lightly veiled shoulders the only attempt at lining is of pale flesh pink chiffon, or at the most crêpe de Chine. Stockings are of silky transparency, often flesh colored, with open sandal tops on high heeled shoes, are one of the anomalies of this fashionable undressing that is upon us. Contrasting velvet hats, which have been a feature of the summer season, only offset by their great contrast this modish gauziness, and the huge butterflies and butterfly bows that are posed on them add a delightfully airy touch to them.

This style feature of excessive filminess which has been growing steadily during the entire season reached its height during the last Paris race meets, for the warmer weather allowed every one to appear in the lightest of clothing. Transparent sleeves and yokes and deep décolletés gave a strange and undressed look to afternoon gowns.

In one robe of white taffeta, draped as to skirt and banded about the middle with a filmy black Chantilly lace corselet, the whole upper part of the gown was of white chiffon, the lining describing a deep décolleté without shoulder straps, held in place evidently by the outside chiffon only. Transparent sleeves showed equally transparent cuffs of the Chantilly. Made of lapped breadths, the skirt slash opening disclosed an underskirt of [illegible] pleated chiffon. With this costume was worn a hat having a small velvet crown outlined and hidden by the wide [illegible] ruffles of Chantilly lace and gartered between with a satin ribbon, two or three new skimpy aigrettes being thrust in at the back. In the same group of pretty women two other gowns showed two still different types of filminess. One, of white satin and appliqué lace, had a skirt to the waist line in pleats and was fastened to twelve or fourteen inches depth with tiny round buttons. The lace tunic, long sleeved and laid transparently over the shoulders, fell below the belt unevenly, longer on one side than the other. Narrow white satin revers outlined the deep pointed décolleté, repeating effectively the skirt material on the corsage, and the space was filled in with soft lace, folded fichulike and pinned together with a brooch. Small, of velvet and slightly rolling at the sides, the hat worn with this had a white aigrette posed at the back.

The third fashionable figure of the group wore a black satin skirt, the front looped up under a horizontal fold. A short bolero shaped green satin coat, reverless, collarless and cut away in front and dropping to a point in the back, disclosed a white satin vest. Under this vest there was, curiously enough, no sign of a blouse, the V-shaped upper edge having a narrow lace frill; a deeper one showing below the short coat sleeve. This untrimmed look to the coat and the lack of a blouse gave a novel air to this afternoon tailored suit. A velvet hat with a satin crown was worn with this suit, ornamented with paradise plumes.

Evening dresses are a combination of draped and slashed skirts with gauzy tulle and lace covered shoulders. At the back they are often décolleté to the waist line. In one lovely brocaded silver dress the waist showed not a scrap of the skirt material. A tulle tunic, crystal embroidered, sleeveless and dropping to a little below the hips, was posed over the chiffon on the waist and dropped over the skirt to about hand depth. Outlining the décolleté, a long red tulle scarf, passing over the shoulders and veiling the widely separated edges of the tunic top, was caught at the belt with a jewelled buckle, tying lower down in a simple knot, thence sweeping down over the train.

Gowns both for afternoon and for evening wear in the latest models look as if they were a size too small because of the way they seem to shrink away on the figure and their fair wearer to be apparently emerging therefrom in all directions. A very curious gown on these lines worn by a French actress noted for her modish clothes has a white satin skirt that is frankly hitched up in the front, and silken ankles and prettily strapped satin slippers are in plain view. [illegible] the back of the gown, which drops much longer behind. This up in front idea is further accentuated by a short satin tunic skirt, which takes the line of the bottom line of the skirt, and which is covered by crystal pailletted net that is in shape nothing but a wide piece of material [illegible] middle and belted in with a satin girdle. The waist lining is shaped like a low necked corset cover with silver straps. The waist top is of net, the V shaped neck outlined with an untrimmed neck ruffle, and the sleeves are simply long scarves of net caught together at intervals. Roses thrust into the belt give the touch of color that all the white gowns of to-day have.

Skirt slashes disclose shapely ankles in both the long and the short evening gowns. A vivid red evening gown of Liberty satin had slashes formed in the new manner by the crossing of draperies fastened together only by little ornaments. The girdle was in the new movement, downward toward the back and laid in many folds as if to conceal the natural slenderness of the waist line, or any trace of it, for that matter. A layer of red chiffon over white chiffon composes the corsage, with inset shoulder yoke of silver lace and a little lace apron tucked under the skirt folds in front, both edged with silver fringe. Stockings match the gown, and the shoes match the silver lace.

Very decorative are the many new afternoon gowns seen at the race meets, of white lace or tulle mounted over black satin. In one, where the white tulle skirt was mounted over one of black satin so narrow as to preclude any chance for an under petticoat, the white tulle, which was not quite so scant, was gathered into a reversed Cluny lace edge at the hem. Black chiffon replaced the satin on the under corsage, posed over white chiffon. The open décolleté fronts were partly veiled under a tunic of Cluny lace. This tunic hung long in some places, shorter in others.

The little poke bonnet worn with it was adorable, the bonnet part of black velvet and the brim of wired Chantilly lace outlined with velvet folds, and a bunch of white aigrettes was posed diagonally at the back. Half hidden under the blousing corsage a jewelled link belt was discernible. A velvet handbag with fringed seams was an answering note to the bonnet.

Among daringly low cut gowns that were worn in the Paris season was one of old blue taffeta combined with white Alencon lace. Slashed down the centre front, the taffeta skirt was caught together by taffeta cravat bows. The narrow girdle was blue, also the lining of the corsage which reached up to just about the bust. The front of the corsage was a filmy fichu crossing of lace, and a second covering was on bolero lines outlined with a tiny frill. As the bolero edges were wide open they combined in charming fashion with the fichu lines. Short puffs of lace made the sleeves. Slipper ribbons laced over the stockings. A black velvet hat with a wide brim had an outer rim of black lace, and a paradise ornament was placed at the back. In another gown, the transparency was gained by having two thicknesses of accordion plaited muslin on the skirt, white over a pale pink. Pompadour taffeta, dropping below the waist, was belted in with a wide black satin sash, the ends falling in front. A full accordion pleated sleeve gathered into the drop shoulder seam, which also had a frill of lace and finished in a narrow cuff at the wrist with a double pleating. On the large white Leghorn hat a paradise ornament was caught to the hat in the pretty new fashion with a quaint little Louis XVI bow of ribbon.

Natural Waist Line Loses Favor.

NOTHING is more distressing than to see a girlish figure garbed in styles much too old for her youthful contour. For there are distinct style lines for the junior figures that set off their too great slenderness or their premature embonpoint.

The natural waist line on such dresses and suits is seldom in great favor, for it usually cuts the figure into badly proportioned halves; so either the waist line of Directoire depth or the long waist line, such as is used this season under the name of Balkan, is appropriate for the curves of youth.

From a French play comes a quaint frock full of youthful charm. [illegible] Directoire in style, it has [illegible] new skirt lines, scant at the back, with a tendency to fulness in the front. Even though this fulness is caught in at the hem, one senses it is still there. The skirt is made entirely of one material, but in front the stripes are pleated so that the white stripe of the batiste is hidden and only the red shows, which makes it look like a panel. Though the pleats of the front panel are unstitched, they are, nevertheless, caught down by hand at the hem. The waist is of plain red batiste, long sleeved, with lapels flatly piped and with cuffs of the striped material. The tucker between the wide open lapel fronts is of pleated unstitched batiste. Such a dress is far from the usual type of gowning, and on a young lightly corseted figure is adorably picturesque for country or shore for either morning or afternoon.

There are novelties in cotton voiles and crêpes that are specially appropriate for girls' summer costumes. Among these perhaps the newest and prettiest are the flowered and sprigged crêpes. They are light, gauzy and, not the least thing in their favor, may be washed and shaken out without ironing. The tiny designs are rather thickly showered over the white background, but they may also be found printed over delicate tints, such as pale yellow, green or pink. Sometimes the motif is a little Louis XVI fleurette, sometimes one of the bright Munich conventionalized forms.

In the voiles there are some marquisette weaves that are almost lacy, and indeed there are muslinlike cottons that are interwoven to form lace designs so that at a distance they give that impression. Some of the embroidered crêpes and voiles, in very wide materials and machine embroidered in wide scalloped borders, make quaint little afternoon or even informal evening gowns. They have the advantage over those of the linen or cotton lingerie. They are made up without drapery; sometimes around the mid-skirt will be found one or more pleated frills of lace or voile, if the border is not knee deep. The waist is generally a sort of modernized Directoire, with the abnormally long sleeves and frill hidden hands; the blouse fronts open widely in V to the waist and are filled in with tulle fichu and frills.

Ropes made of little colored pearls are used on these dresses, sometimes catching up a few folds of drapery, sometimes lacing through embroidered rounds and motifs. These summery robes, too, are often worn over a slip of some pale tint of charmeuse, and the tango sashes vary its appearance when they are tied in the different fashions.

Fresh from Paris.

YOU can always tell the woman who has just come back from Paris these warm summer days. She has on all the latest wrinkles of the Paris creators of women's garb, and she looks curiously detached from the rest of the feminine element that finds itself marooned in the hot city streets. Coming down town in a street car recently was a pretty American girl whose conversation showed she had just landed. She looked French from top to toe in spite of her nationality, and everything she had on was carefully looked over by the other woman passengers. She wore a dark blue crêpe de Chine dress belted with crêpe, but a second belt of lighter satin started at the sides of the crêpe belt and, dropping at the back, tied low with fringed ends. In the deep pointed décolleté of the corsage was inserted a filmy white tulle surplice frill, and the long crêpe sleeves were finished with a wide scant double frill of the same tulle. Her hat was one of those new little Watteau shapes of dark blue velvet, jammed down over the head and posed jauntily on one side of it, and the flat coiffure of dark hair made deep wavy lines over forehead and cheeks. A fine veil had one little chenille spot that looked like a mole, which threw into relief a beautiful pink and white complexion. A blue velvet sunshade had a handle that was covered with velvet also. The black silk stockings were in wide stripes made by the weave. Plain shoes were worn with steel buckles. A black taffeta bag, embroidered in little pompadour sprays, had a silver chased clasp and slides on the handle.

Fashions in Materials.

A PLAIN long sleeved corsage with seamless kimono shoulders was seen in a New York shop recently. It was cut out in a deep V in front, was outlined by a white lace Medici ruche and little rolled back curved lapel of black taffeta, both caught together at the girdle top with a cabochon ornament. From this point a black taffeta sash started, passing around to the back and widened by a second turn about the waist. One long separate end hung from one side of the front to knee depth.

Sprigged taffetas are sometimes combined with plain shantung or satin. One model had an original sash, or rather sashes, for there were really two, both of the sprigged red taffeta used for the frock. The upper girdle, swathed about the figure up to the bust line, was placed above a narrow black velvet belt, the lower edge tucking under it, and the lower girdle was swathed about the figure to hip depth, the upper edge of it passing under the velvet belt. This gave the effect of a tremendously wide girdle with a black velvet belt in the centre.

ROWANITES MADE IT AN EVEN HALF HUNDRED RUNS

Score at St. Thomas Was 20—8, Making it Fifty Runs in Two Games

The Petes have scored so many runs in the last two games that room could not be found for particulars in the summaries. The total of fifty looks like a sure record, although if Dan McCabe were here just now he might be able to dig up some statistics that would beat the Rowanites. However, they don't score half a hundred runs every two days in organized baseball.

The extra twenty runs were garnered at St. Thomas yesterday when Manager Ort sent Hughey, a new pitcher, against the invaders. When Mr. Hughey became disgusted at the turn of affairs, Ort journeyed to the mound.

Of the thirty-two safe cracks registered, the Petes got eighteen, Brant, Trout and Swartz getting the extra-base bills.

Belting started out to heave, but gave way to Tracey in the fourth.

NORTHCLIFFE COMING.

British Publisher on Way to Canada in Interest of Golf.

LONDON, August 23.—Lord Northcliffe, owner of The London Daily Mail, and a majority shareholder of The London Times, to say nothing of fifty other papers and periodicals, sailed for Montreal yesterday on the Empress of Britain.

He will then go to Newfoundland to look over some property there, but one of the objects of his trip is to be present at the golf championship in which English professional cracks are taking part.

Lord Northcliffe is putting up the money for Ray Vardon's expenses in America, and has guaranteed to make good any amount that may be needed. It was he who persuaded the English professionals to take part in the American competition, for he is tremendously interested in the "ancient game" and has set his heart on England winning the trophy.

"I don't mind what it costs," he is reported to have said to Ray Vardon when the players left for America, "but bring back the championship."

So keen is Lord Northcliffe on the game that he has laid out on his estates, close to his magnificent home, Sutton Castle, Surrey, private links for himself and his friends.

He is interested in all forms of British sports and is one of the large financial supporters of the Olympic games.

It is said he offered to put his name down for the whole of the $500,000, which now is being subscribed for training the English competitors, on conditions that he should be allowed to choose the English team, and practically to run the show, apparently for the benefit of his newspapers. The Olympic games committee thought it better that contributions should be national.

Man's proposals this time of year are often like the much advertised bathing suit at $2.98—liable to shrink into nothingness by the time buying coal becomes necessary.

Which Is More Urgent?

Fire Insurance

Important? You fully realize it. You would not allow your house to remain uninsured over night.

Your house may never burn. Comparatively few buildings ever do.

If your house does burn, your property is destroyed, but you can still provide for your loved ones. Your income remains unaffected, your earning capacity unimpaired.

If your house is not insured at all, or for an insufficient amount,

YOU Carry the Risk

Your friend has had his home insured these thirty years and has had no fire. He has been fortunate in that, though he has nothing now to show for the money paid out.

Life Insurance

Important? Oh yes, you intend to insure after awhile when "a little better able to do so."

You will surely die. All men do. You are more likely to die within a week or a year, than your house is to burn.

Death destroys at once and irrevocably, in whole or in part, the income that provided for the daily wants of those you love, the income that was counted on to feed and clothe and educate your children.

He is one of the most enthusiastic riflemen of the Dominion and won his place on the team at the Dominion Rifle Association meet here last fall. LIEUT. COL. J. DUFF STUART.

Lt.-Col. Duff Stuart is the first commandant to win his place on the team by actual marksmanship. He has been for many years a familiar figure here at the matches of the Dominion Rifle Association and is recognized as one of the leading marksmen of the Dominion. ## WHAT WILL THEY DO?

South Africans Seem in a Quandry Regarding Defence.

CAPETOWN, Aug. 24. (C.A.P.)—The banquet to the officers of H.M.S. Australia and Sydney was a notable one, says The Times correspondent. The speeches may have left the visitors somewhat puzzled on account of the apparent discrepancy between word and deed, but the speakers made no attempt to conceal their consciousness of unfulfilled obligations. Sir Frederick De Wall in addressing the crews, emphasized the value of a local navy in deepening national sentiment, and also insisted on the duties attached to common Imperial citizenship. "It is necessary," he said, "that not only the people of the mother country, but all the sons of the empire should realize and feel that there is a unity of empire and in that unity there is a necessity for them to all stand shoulder to shoulder." He repudiated the view of General Hertzog that there is anything pernicious in union governments consulting with the imperial authorities regarding the best form of South African naval co-operation.

Dry Weather Delays Crop.

KINGSTON, Aug. 24.—(Special). Thruout the county of Frontenac the dry weather of the last few weeks had a bad effect on the late corps, particularly potatoes and roots of all kinds. Earlier promises of record crops in these lines have been dispelled. Potato vines have been burned up by heat and the roots have suffered severely. The result will be that the crop will be much poorer than was expected.

The weather has been on the whole, favorable to corn, which is coming along well and will be well in advance of the output other years. There is a large acreage, and on account of the shortage of straw, it will be a great benefit to farmers.

Married at the Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS, Aug. 24.—(Special.)—Morris J. Thayer, a Toronto costumier, and Miss Dana Oberlander, a music teacher, were lovers in England, but Miss Oberlander would not hear of being married in Toronto, nor would she become Mrs. Thayer until her lover would promise to take her back to England on their honeymoon, so they started from Toronto this morning, spending thirty minutes here, during which time they were married by Alderman Riley. Then they left for New York to sail for England in the morning.

Tug Held for Damages.

SARNIA, Aug 23.—(Special.)—For running down the gas buoy on the middle ground in the St. Clair River, between here and Port Huron, the steam tug Annie Molles of Sarnia was seized yesterday at Detroit on the bill of damage, which amounts to $1500. The owners of the tug have signed a bond for $3000, and the tug was released late last night. The boat tows the sand barge Ontario between here and Windsor.

France Will Exhibit.

PARIS, Aug. 23.—The present understanding of the French Government's attitude toward the Sacramento exhibition is that, altho the government has already agreed in principle to participate on a large scale, participation depends on the extension of copyright, suppression of false origin marks and the granting of special customs privileges.

If Senator Perkins' bill for the extension of copyright to foreign designs, making manufactured articles valid for five years, passes, he French contribution to the exhibition will probably be large, but the government insists on protection for its exhibits from foreign free imitations.

Meanwhile Turkey Hangs On.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—(Can. Press.)—Vienna correspondent of The Daily Mail declares that the powers have been unable to agree on any plan to coerce Turkey. France opposes any financial pressure, while Germany objects to moral pressure. Neither Austria nor Russia appears inclined to assist Bulgaria, and there is little doubt, according to this correspondent, that Turkey will retain Adrianople.

ONE WEEK NEEDED.

A Little More Fine Weather and Bumper Crop is Assured.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug 25.—(Special.)—One more week of present weather and the crop will be a bumper one in the richest part of the wheat belt, was the opinion expressed by A. E. Rosevear, general freight agent of the G.T.P.

Representatives of different governments in the clearing shed are all optimistic in regard to prospects, and entirely satisfied with the quality and number of men allotted to each province. The demand from Saskatchewan is being fairly met and farmers of Manitoba have all the help they require in the meantime.

The Manitoba distribution has been fairly even all over the province, and there are no urgent demands at clearing headquarters for more men, altho more men could readily be absorbed if they were on the spot to send out.

The C.P.R. sent out two special trains this morning, one to Regina district, and the other to Deloraine with about 1000 of the later arrivals.

The general condition of special harvester help at present, is, that there will be yet required about 8000 men in the Province of Saskatchewan, and that Manitoba will receive all the help required immediately.

Outlook in Saskatchewan.

SASKATOON, Sask, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Comparative calm once more reigns in immigration shed for distribution, and clearing of eastern harvesters. Seven thousand men, who came west with the great week-end influx, have been sent to their destinations on the farms of three provinces, and the demand for help is not at present insistent.

Another rush of laborers, which will number approximately 4000, will be on Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

If the weather does not take a turn for the worse immediately, the crop at most points is in fair way to safety, according to the statements of officials today.

Killed on Track.

KINGSTON, Aug. 24.—(Special).—Ambrose Rayner, aged thirty-nine, living at Tuttles Hill, a short distance from the city, was struck by a fast train near Kingston Junction late Saturday night, and killed. Early Sunday morning his body was found alongside the track.

Rayner was in Kingston on Saturday afternoon to do shopping. Following his usual custom, he rode out to the Junction on a suburban train and then set out to walk the rest of the distance. It is believed that he got off one track to make way for a freight, and did not notice the fast train coming from the other direction. He was married and leaves a wife and five children.

Two Fatalities in Canal.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 24.—(Special.)—When the steamer A. Ames was just about to enter Port Dalhousie harbor this morning, James Hawkins, a new deck hand, who had joined the crew at Hamilton on Saturday, fell overboard and was drowned. No person aboard the steamer saw any sign of his body after he disappeared, and it has not been recovered.

Hawkins lived at 141 Charlton avenue, Hamilton.

Fred White of Strachan avenue, Hamilton, who had shipped aboard the Colling at Toronto on Thursday, fell from the head gates at lock 22, Welland Canal, Friday night, and was drowned.

Cut Off Wife's Hair.

PARKERSBURG, W.V., Aug. 23.—In a fit of jealousy Henry Phillips, a wealthy and prominent oil operator of this city, cut off his wife's beautiful tresses, to prevent her from being attractive in the eyes of other men. Mrs Phillips swore out a warrant charging him with assault and battery. The Phillips are among the most prominent people in the city, and the affair has turned society topsy-turvy.

Took Secret With Her.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23. Not having left her home in twenty-five years, fearing some one would steal $700 which it had taken her half a century to save by making and selling elderberry wine in small quantities, Mrs. Louise Menzel, 78 years of age, died Thursday night at her home in Northfield, N.J. She took with her the secret of the hiding place of her treasure.

As a result her home was ransacked from top to bottom. Bed ticks were ripped open, plaster on walls was torn off and old clothes and shoes and table and kitchen utensils were searched.

In the ash box of the sitting room stove was found a gold watch chain. In the bottom of a salt crock were several rings. No part of the money was found.

Bankers to Discuss Bill.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—(Can. Press)—Bankers from all parts of the country at the close of a two-days' conference agreed on a number of important amendments to the Owen-Glass currency bill now pending in congress, and appointed a committee to go to Washington and endeavor to have the changes incorporated in the measure. Members of the conference expressed the belief that the administration forces in Washington will be convinced by the arguments they will present and modify the bill so that it will be reasonably satisfactory to the banking and business interests of the country.

Canada Is Only Beginning.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—(C.A.P.)—The Hon. W. T. White before sailing on Saturday said that he had found the financial situation greatly improved since the conclusion of peace in the Balkans and he was quite satisfied that the financial world in London understood perfectly that Canada in all the great fields of production was only on the threshold of her development. He had been most courteously received both by government officials and city financial magnates.

Winnipeg's Water Supply.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 23.—(Can. Press.) —Consulting engineers F. P. Stearns, Rudolph Hering and James A. Fuertes of New York, have submitted their report upon the proposal to use Shoal Lake as the source of water supply for the greater Winnipeg district. The report was considered by the mayor and controllers immediately upon it receipt yesterday. They are favorable to the project and recommend that the work be undertaken with as little delay as possible.

Frost in Guelph Township.

GUELPH, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Reports of frost last night in this district vary from severe to slight. Puslinch Township reports a comparatively slight frost, and no damage. Eramosa Township reports make the frost quite keen and fear for tomato vines, while in Guelph Township, frost is said to have been quite severe. But outside of some early sweet corn nothing is supposed to have been nipped.

DR. HENDERSON ON "PROMISES"

Promises in Bible Always Infallable He Says

Speaking in the Welland Avenue Methodist church, St. Catharines, on Sunday evening, Rev. Dr. Henderson compared the promises afforded us in the Bible to the promises of mankind.

Promises of men were sometimes of little value, owing perhaps to the conditions, or to their non-adaptibility; or perhaps the individual, though honest, is incapable of following out his promises. But the promises in the Bible are always infallable. They are for our most pressing spiritual needs, and are most valuable because they are made by a covenant keeping God, and God's truth endureth throughout all generations.

PORT HOPE SIGNS WITH THE SEYMOUR POWER CO.

Hotelkeepers Who Did Not Close Bars Are Summonsed to Court

PORT HOPE, August 26.—The bylaw granting an exclusive ten-year franchise for light and power to the Seymour Power Company carried here yesterday by a vote of 418 to 14. The total vote in the town is about 1,200.

A peculiar situation has arisen in connection with the voting. Chief of Police Gummerson, acting on instructions from Police Magistrate White, made a round of all the hotels and ordered them to close the bars, it being election day. Some of the hotelkeepers complied, but W. Pelfer of the St. Lawrence, and L. Bennett of the Queen's, claiming that it was neither a municipal, provincial nor Dominion election, refused to comply with the chief's orders and kept their bars open.

They were served with summonses this afternoon to appear in court tomorrow morning. If they are fined they will appeal and make a test case. If they are discharged, the other hotelmen who closed down their bars will take action against the town for damages for compelling them to close.

Gummerson took the names of some of the men who were in the bars of the two hotels, and they will be summoned on charges of frequenting a bar on election day. They include an ex-member of parliament, and many of the most prominent men in Port Hope.

NEW MAIN SHOWS THE WEAK SPOTS

Increased Water Pressure Causes Much Trouble

St. Catharines, Aug. 26.—The increased water pressure since the new 24-inch duplicate main was put in is proving of untold benefit to consumers, but it is causing Superintendent Milne and his staff no end of trouble by reason of the fact that some of the city pipes have been bursting, necessitating repairs at all kinds of unseemly hours. The heavy pressure discovers the weak spots with the greatest ease, and the surrounding neighborhood is generally flooded before the necessary repairs are made.

Such was the case with the six-inch main on Leeper street near the Hamilton stone road. The pipe burst on Saturday evening and flooded the entire district. Mr. Milne and his assistants worked all night and early Sunday morning repairing the damage.

This morning the twelve-inch main at the corner of Thomas and Carlton streets objected to the increased pressure and also burst. Repairs are being made.

BELLEVILLE LAD RECEIVES FATAL INJURY

Was Thrown From Carriage When Horse Frightened at Auto

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 26 — Frank Wellington Russell, a boy aged six years, was fatally injured yesterday morning at 10 o'clock when a horse became unmanageable near Rednersville, Prince Edward. At 11 o'clock he died in Belleville Hospital, without having regained consciousness.

His father, Clarence Russell, and the boy were seated in a carriage which was standing still when an automobile came in sight, occupied by Mr. Dempsey of Albury, and Dr. Founds, a dentist. The horse appearing to be uneasy, the car was stopped, the engine shut down and the occupants got out and attempted to calm the animal. The horse became more nervous and finally made a plunge which threw the boy out. He alighted on his head, fracturing the base of his skull.

He was picked up in an unconscious condition and the occupants of the car at once put the machine at the service of the father of the victim. All haste was made with the boy to Belleville Hospital. The doctors held a consultation, but their attendance was of no avail as he died shortly after being admitted.

The grief-stricken father attaches no blame to the driver of the car. Every precaution, he feels, was taken to prevent an accident.

Many a man's success is due to his ability to obtain five by adding two and two together.

Many children who are backward in school and considered stupid, are not really so, but are laboring under difficulties on account of not being able to see properly. They are young and do not realize that they do not see as well as their companions and of course their parents don't know it either. But it is the duty of parents to have their children's eyes examined and see if they require glasses, because school work is hard enough for children without their being handicapped with poor vision. ## ANTICS OF CAMERA MEN CAUSE THAW TO LAUGH

AN ABRUPT ADJOURNMENT

Prisoner is Not Handcuffed as He is Taken to the Court House.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Sherbrooke, Que., August 27—Proceedings in the fight to take Harry Thaw back to New York were abruptly adjourned this morning until three this afternoon while Thaw's lawyers and counsel for New York State were arguing over the right to abandon habeas corpus proceedings.

Thaw was brought into court at ten o'clock, coming from the jail in a cab in the custody of a constable and the jail governor. He was not handcuffed. A battery of camera men scaled the judges' bench and snapped the prisoner time after time. Thaw appeared to enjoy the attention he was attracting and laughed at the antics of the photographers.

SHERBROOKE, Aug. 27.—Harry K. Thaw's Canadian attorneys withdrew the writ of habeas corpus obtained last week in his behalf and the fugitive from Matteawan will not be arraigned in the Superior Court today, as had been expected. The withdrawal of the writ may prolong the proceedings indefinitely.

Rumors had been bandied about all day that the writ might be withdrawn, but it was not until last evening that that notice was filed with the clerk of the court. At the same time a telegram was sent to Judge Arthur Globensky at Montreal, who granted the writ, that such was counsel's desire. He was due here to-day to hear arguments on the application.

The next move in the Thaw case is now distinctly up to those desiring his deportation. Under the present commitment he might remain in the Sherbrooke jail indefinitely, electing to have a hearing before a district magistrate, or demanding a jury trial before the King's Bench, criminal side, which does not sit until October. Briefly, Thaw's lawyers have decided to let him pace his cell, meanwhile perfecting plans to defeat attempts to put him across the Canadian border.

"It is beyond me," said William T. Jerome. "The fine points of Canadian law involved are such that I would not feel justified in even guessing at the outcome. We hope to get him in the end, but this tangle must be straightened out first."

District Attorney Conger of Dutchess County, N.Y., was equally puzzled and reticent. "If Mr. Jerome can't solve the muddle, certainly I can't," he said.

Further to complicate matters, counsel representing the State of New York are not sure that the commitment under which Thaw was chosen to remain in jail contains a charge of violating any of the Dominion's laws. It is that of being a "fugitive from the Matteawan penitentiary, where he was confined on a criminal charge for life."

CONCERT SEASON OPENS SEPT. 8

Miss Allan to Give Recital

The concert season will open on Sept. 8th with a recital by Miss Dorothy Allan at the Conservatory of Music, assisted by Mr. Asa Huycke.

Miss Allan recently returned from England where she has been studying under Signor Giovanni Clerici, the tutor of the famous Caruso and other leading artists.

All music lovers in Peterborough are looking forward to Miss Allan's performance with pleasure. Some very pretty and effective songs appear on the program, many of them are the rage in London and some perhaps will be sung for the first time in Canada.

Mr. Huycke's part in the program needs no special notice to those who know him.

Fuller particulars will be published later on posters and in the Review.

BOTH WANT PREFERENCE

But Australian Parties Are Unsettled Says Hon. Mr. Foster

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—Hon. Geo. E. Foster returned yesterday from his tour to Australia and the Orient, with the announcement that while both the rival parties in the former are favorable to a policy of mutual preferential trade with Canada, political conditions there make any such agreement impossible of negotiation at present. There is little likelihood of developments for some time.

"I discussed the matter of mutual preference with Hon. Mr. Tudor, Minister of Commerce, shortly after my arrival in Australia," said Mr. Foster. "He was wholly in sympathy with such a policy, but the elections were on and the result was the defeat of the Government and six weeks' delay while returns were gathered. The new administration is also in favor of mutual trade with Canada, but it has a majority of only one, including the Speaker, in the House, and the Senate is 2 to 1 against it. There must be another election, and under the circumstances no negotiations were possible."

Mr. Foster goes to London in January.

JAPAN REFUSED ALLIANCE WITH THE FATHERLAND

Publication of Late Count Hayashi's Diary Reveals Interesting Facts Regarding the Anglo-Japanese Treaty—Britain Wanted to Link Up With Germany, But Japan Refused.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The revelation that the diplomatic negotiations which finally resulted in the Anglo-Japanese alliance first contemplated an Anglo-German-Japanese triple alliance and that Germany was largely instrumental in starting them, but was shut out by Japan, is made in the diary of the late Count Tadasu Hayashi, former Japanese ambassador to Great Britain and twice Foreign Minister, part of which was recently published.

The Jiji Shimpo of Tokio printed portions of the diary, but the Japanese Government prohibited further publication and the censor suppressed telegrams sent by foreign correspondents in Japan reporting details.

The diary showed that the British Government, under the Premiership of the late Marquis of Salisbury was in favor of the inclusion of Germany, but that Japan opposed it. Count Hayashi, in order to bring about the formation of a triple alliance between Great Britain, Germany and Japan, he said he knew the British Government and such personages as Joseph Chamberlain, Arthur Balfour, Lord Lansdowne, the Duke of Devonshire and the Marquis of Salisbury were in favor of it. He said that the German nation was strongly anti-British, but not the German Government. He added that King Edward, Emperor William and Imperial Chancellor von Buelow had recently had long conversations on the subject at Osborne in the Isle of Wight, and were anxious for such a triple alliance.

Count Hayashi approached Lord Lansdowne, then British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, suggested an Anglo-Japanese agreement on policy in China.

Lord Lansdowne, in reply, said he thought a third power should be included. A program was roughly drafted at that time and this afterwards became the treaty of alliance.

Japan suggested that a third party should be omitted from the alliance because Anglo-Japanese interests were identical. Great Britain, however, for some time clung to the idea of a triple alliance according to Count Hayashi, as she was anxious for an alliance with Germany in order to isolate the Franco-Russian alliance in any action it might take in the far east or elsewhere.

In the end the Japanese wishes prevailed.

Thrown From a Vehicle.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 27.—Frank Wellington Russell, aged six years, son of Mr. Clarence Russell, who resides at Rodnersville, in Prince Edward County, was yesterday the victim of a fatal accident. The lad, in company with his father, was in a vehicle, when the horse became frightened at an auto and ran away. The boy was thrown out and sustained a fracture of the skull, dying in the hospital.

No blame is attached to the owner of the auto.

SPENT LIFE IN GALLEYS.

And Now Broken Old Italian Is Proven Innocent.

MILAN, Aug. 27.—After 38 years in the galleys in Sicily, Erasmus Vassalo, as the outcome of a deathbed confession, has been proclaimed innocent and has been freed. With three other victims who in the meantime have died in prison, Vassalo was condemned to hard labor for life at the Palermo assizes in 1877 on a charge of murder. He had already spent two years in confinement awaiting trial. Never since has he ceased protesting his innocence to deaf ears. The confession regarding the real assassin came from the family of the murdered man, dictated in the presence of a priest and notary. Vassalo, now 62, is broken in health by the harsh Italian prison regime, and can scarcely speak. The prison authorities left him to pay his own fare from Ancona to his native Palermo. On reaching home he found his wife and all relatives, save his only son, long since dead.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S PRONOUNCEMENT ON THE MEXICAN SITUATION

No Armed Intervention—Strict Neutrality—American Citizens to be Guarded and Must Leave Mexico at Once—Mexico's Friend Not Enemy

Canadian Press Despatch.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 27.—President Wilson appeared in person before Congress to-day and announced the position of United States towards Mexican affairs as follows: No armed intervention. Strict neutrality. All exportations of arms or ammunition of war of any kind from the States to any part of Mexico is forbidden. Under the circumstances we will be "Partisans to neither party to contest new districts in Mexico, nor constitute ourselves virtual umpire between them." To urge all Americans to leave Mexico at once and assist them get away in any way possible. Let every one in Mexico who assumes to exercise authority know that the States' government "shall vigilantly watch fortunes of these Americans who cannot get away, and shall hold those responsible for their loss and suffering who are responsible for the definite reckoning." President predicted "steady pressure of moral forces will before many days break down the barriers of pride and prejudice, and we shall triumph as Mexico's friends sooner than we could triumph as her enemies."

FATAL SLAP IN THE FACE FATALITY IN TORONTO HOTEL

Hotel Porter Charged With Murder—Dispute Over Ice Cake Results in Broken Neck—The Accused Found Drunk

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Aug. 27 — Striking her head against a heavy table in the kitchen at Smith's Hotel, Corner Queen and Simcoe Sts. this morning, Lucy Ives, one of the kitchen helps, died from broken neck. James Dickenson, hotel porter, is under arrest charged with murder, which will likely be reduced to manslaughter.

Dickenson and the woman had a dispute over bringing in cake ice and the woman is said to have slapped him on the face, he retaliated by slapping her and she fell, striking the table with fatal results.

Dickenson was found drunk in his room shortly afterwards, having drunk at several hotels in meantime.

Sanford Evans, Winnipeg, was made honorary vice-president, in recognition of his services in assisting in founding the first Canadian Club in this city.

The report of the nominating committee was presented by G. C. Copley, and it was adopted, the following officers being elected for the ensuing year: President, Rev. Principal Mackay, Westminster College; vice-president, Lady Drummond, Montreal; provincial vice-presidents, Nova Scotia, Dr. J. B. Hill, Truro; New Brunswick, Mrs. Atherton Smith, Quebec, A. R. Doble; Ontario, Prof. W. L. Grant, Kingston; Manitoba, A. L. Crossin; Alberta, C. F. Adairs; Saskatchewan, W. Gunn; British Columbia, D. Von Cramer.

In the afternoon Ven. Archdeacon Cody, Toronto, gave an able address on "Elements of National Progress."

It was decided that next year's convention should be held at Vancouver. It was decided to establish a permanent office for the executive, and that the fee be $5. A vote of thanks was tendered to the Hamilton Canadian Club for its hospitality, and it was decided to celebrate the centennial of Sir George Cartier next year.

MUST FLY SEVEN HUNDRED MILES IN 24 HOURS

Aviator Hawker Must Make Fast Time to Win Prize

Canadian Press Despatch.

OBAN, SCOTLAND, Aug. 27.—Harry G. Hawker left here early this morning in an attempt to fly seven hundred miles in the next twenty-four hours and win the twenty-five thousand dollars prize offered for a circuit of the coasts of England and Scotland in seventy-two hours. Dublin is his next stop.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—In his second effort to win the $25,000 prize offered for a flight around the English and Scottish coasts within a period of seventy-two hours, Harry G. Hawker, the English aviator, made a brilliant beginning yesterday, whizzing through a distance nearly 500 miles in extent.

The flight is being made in a hydro-aeroplane, and, under the rules of the contest, the aviator can make descent into the water at only nine points—Ramsgate, Yarmouth, Scarborough, Aberdeen, Cromarthy, Oben, Dublin, Falmouth and Netley, near Southampton.

PORT HOPE HOTELKEEPERS COMPELLED TO CLOSE BARS

But Telegram From Provincial License Board Shows Authorities to be in the Wrong—Do Not Close Here

In connection with the action taken against a certain hotel keeper of Port Hope and the subsequent statements made by the remainder of the license holders, the Port Hope Guide publishes two telegrams, one of which shows that the hotel keepers were not compelled to close their bars on the day of the vote on the Power By-law.

The Guide says:

In the face of the following two telegrams, one from Mr. E. Saunders, head of the Provincial License Board, it is hardly likely that the prosecution will go on.

Ontario License Department, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

Voting here to-day on a by-law whereby town enters contract Light Company for fixed rate for number years." Have license holders to close? Wire answer.

WILLIAM MITCHELL.

REPLY

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 25, 1913

William Mitchell, Port Hope.

License holders have not to close on account of vote being taken on a by-law such as stated.

E. SAUNDERS.

The hotelkeepers are much provoked about the matter and threaten to bring action against the town for damages.

The bars are not closed in this city, when a local by-law is being voted on.

DRUGS TOO EASILY GOT

Much Cocaine Sold in Ontario Says W. B. Graham

TORONTO, Aug. 27.—That there were many unscrupulous druggists who exacted profit at the expense of human life, and that the terrible cocaine fiend was becoming more common each year, was the statement made by W. B. Graham, registrar and treasurer of the Ontario College of Pharmacy, while reading a paper to the annual convention of the Dominion Pharmaceutical Association yesterday afternoon. Mr. Graham, who is inspector of drug sales for the college, dealt very extensively with the degrading influences resulting from the use of obnoxious drugs, in an address entitled "Laws Governing the Sale of Habit-forming Drugs and the Benefits from their Proper Administration."

Mr. Graham declared that the cocaine laws of the province and the Dominion had not been put on the statute books any too soon. As inspector of sales of large amounts of cocaine for the college he could say that there was more cocaine being sold than was absolutely necessary for medical purposes. This was also his opinion with regard to morphine and opium.

There was little doubt in the mind of Mr. Graham that immediate steps should be taken to curtail the illegitimate sale of the habit-forming drug. It would indeed be a wise policy for both provincial and Dominion Governments to expend a sum of money toward furthering this end. Mr. Graham contended that much money was annually spent to restrict the sale of liquor, but that nothing was done to prevent fellow-men from becoming drug fiends.

Over two thousand ounces of cocaine were sold during the past year in Ontario, and that was far more than necessary for prescription and surgical uses. Therefore, a number of people had suffered at the hands of the druggists, financially, physically, mentally and morally. An earnest appeal was made by the speaker to the delegates to discontinue keeping in stock any more of the drug than was allowed under the law, and if a prescription was duplicated by a physician too often, to report him to the authorities. There was a penalty for physicians who used the drug improperly.

KARLUK DAMAGED IN ICE.

Stefansson's Ship Met with Mishap and May Have to Return.

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 27.—The old whaler Karluk, which was taking Vilhjalmur Stefansson's Canadian Polar exploration expedition into the Arctic, met with a serious accident in the ice off Point Barrow, the northernmost point of Alaska, and may have to unload her cargo, according to word received here yesterday from the revenue cutter Bear.

The extent of the damage to the Karluk is not known, but it is reported that a large hole was stove in her hull. The Stefansson expedition found unusual ice conditions at Barrow. The Karluk was caught between the ice floes and is drifting with the ice. Aird Benton, a member of the crew, quit at Barrow, and told the officers of the revenue cutter of the Karluk's plight.

The exact nature of the accident to the Karluk has not yet been learned.

ANTARCTIC EXPLORERS ARE SAVED

Relief Ship Picked Them Up Just in Time

Canadian Press Despatch.

Christchurch, N. Z., Aug. 27—Relief arrived just in time to save the lives of Dr. Douglas Mawson, the Australian Antarctic explorer and five companions who were left last March on Macquarie Island in the Antarctic Ocean, when other members of the expedition were taken to Tasmania.

The six men had exhausted the supplies and they had been living sometimes on the hearts and tongues of sea elephants.

When the relief ship arrived they were in a very weak condition.

SASKATCHEWAN REQUIRES 8000 HARVESTERS AT ONCE

Threshing in Progress Around Brandon, Portage and Morden, Man.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 27.—Threshing is going on apace in Brandon, Portage la Prairie and Morden districts. The grade is good and the yield excellent.

With the crop rapidly maturing all over the country and less than 200 men presenting themselves for work in the harvest fields, to-day, the farmers of Saskatchewan are clamoring for help. Advices received at railway companies' offices in the city are to the effect that the crop this year surpasses all records, and is as a matter of fact, actually earlier at most points than it was last year.

Many districts where there was believed to be plenty of help to take care of the crop in the sister province, are now telegraphing to Winnipeg for help, but there is no prospect that any substantial help can be had until after the next influx from the east, which cannot reach the city before late to-day.

About 2,000 men are scheduled to arrive in the city to-night, and a like number will be here Thursday morning, but these men are all requisitioned in advance, and steps will have to be taken to provide men to fill the demand which officials expect will gather in volume during the next week. Speaking of the number now actually required, representatives of the Saskatchewan Government stated yesterday that at least 8,000 men are required immediately in that province to get work completed without undue risk to farmers.

Officials of the G. T. P. stated yesterday that telegrams are now being received at the offices of the company to the effect that help must be sent out to the district round Regina and to the centre divisions of the main line to enable the crop there to be taken care of. Farmers on the main line section, however, have themselves to blame to a certain extent, as men were sent out and found that they were a little too soon, and farmers refused to hire them, with the result that they were sent elsewhere. Some difficulty is found in filling their places, and men who would otherwise have been sent to other points have to be sent to the district which should have been satisfied.

Saskatchewan officials stated yesterday that the state of matters disclosed in requisitions which have been received go to show that many of the districts where it was believed there was abundance of help are now urgent in their demands for laborers.

Calls are coming in from all points on the C.P.R. main line for help; and in the particular district west of Indian Head and in Alameda, Carnduff and Manor sections there are not nearly men enough, although officials in the city believed that these districts had been allotted sufficient men to obviate any possible hardship in the way of labor shortage.

Down the Soo line and in Melford districts also men are now required in numbers which officials in the city are unable to supply.

So far the crop in the province of Manitoba has been taken care of admirably, and there is no reason to believe that the shortage of harvest help in Saskatchewan will be felt here, according to statements made by the passenger department of the C. P. R. Immigration officials state that there are few men in the city to send out, as most of the unemployed who desired work in harvest fields have been already sent to positions on farms.

Trains which will arrive to-night and to-morrow morning will go a long way to satisfy the demand, and if the weather holds officials do not anticipate much actual loss through want of help.

On the whole the response from the east has been greater this year than last, and the type of men who have come west is infinitely better.

About four hundred harvest hands from the eastern provinces arrived last night on a special train from Duluth and were immediately despatched westwards.

ALL READY FOR READING OF MESSAGE THIS AFTERNOON

Canadian Press Despatch.

Washington, Aug. 27—Mexican situation remains unchanged this morning and President Wilson is waiting to appear before the joint session of Congress at 1 o'clock to read his address. The possibility of another eleventh hour delay such as occurred yesterday appeared remote.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 27.—The Mexican crisis still exists. Although information received over night from John Lind, President Wilson's special adviser, in connection with the effort to establish peace in the southern republic, has caused the President to defer until to-day the delivery of his momentous address reviewing his efforts for peace, the situation reamins practically unchanged. There is only the faintest hope among officials that the Mexican Government will so modify its attitude of opposition to the American proposals as to permit a re-opening of the negotiations, with a prospect of their conclusion in a manner acceptable to the United States.

Mr. Lind's departure from Mexico City for Vera Cruz to-day, as reported in press despatches, does not mean that he has been definitely recalled and that peace negotiations have been broken off. It does mean, however, that this Govrnment has no hope that a request from the Mexican Government that the President postpone the delivery of his Mexican address to Congress will result in a change for the better in the diplomatic situation.

Mr. Lind, it is understood, departed from Mexico City after notifying the Minister for Foreign Affairs that the delivery of the President's address would be deferred as requested, and that if the Mexican Government desired to communicate with him further he would be glad to receive its message at Vera Cruz.

This action of Mr. Lind was intended as a hint that unless Mexico had something definite to suggest toward an agreement with the United States that would furnish the foundation for restoring normal conditions in the country Mr. Lind would regard his peace mission as a failure, and would return to the United States.

Secretary Bryan said last evening that Mr. Lind had not been recalled. But it was indicated by other officials that unless Mexico came forward with an expression of willingness to accept the American peace terms, in principle at least, President Wilson would make known to the American Congress the failure of the conciliatory efforts, and would propose a program for future handling of the Mexican situation that might be construed in Mexico as the first step in the line of ultimate American intervention.

Last night President Wilson's intention was to read his address to the Senate and House assembled in joint session at three o'clock yesterday afternoon. The advices from Mr. Lind caused this program to be rearranged so that unless the unexpected happens the delivery of the address will take place at one o'clock to-day.

The State Department is engaged in the preparation of a list of all the Americans who have been killed, wounded, robbed or attacked or threatened in any manner. There is apprehension of trouble when the time comes to order all Americans to withdraw from the country if such a course is decided on. Then if at any time, disorder and violence would occur, and unless well-armed and provisioned caretakers were left with the many valuable properties, robbery and the destruction of thousands of mining and manufacturing plants and ranch improvements would follow.

"CASEY" TO FLY FOR THE PRINCE

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 27.—The steam yacht Hirondelle, belonging to Prince Albert of Monaco, sailed from Halifax Monday night for Baddeck, where his serene highness will spend several days visiting Prof. A. Graham Bell, the sage of Beinn Braugh. During the prince's stay at Baddeck, F. F. (Casey) Baldwin, of Toronto Varsity football fame, will give demonstrations of hydroplanes constructed under the supervision of Prof. Bell.

The city of Munich is maintaining several automobile ambulances for sick or wounded horses.

LADS BODY RECOVERED; FEET TIED TOGETHER

Haliburton, Aug. 27—The residents of Ingoldsby, Haliburton Township, are shocked at the discovery of the body of a Barnardo Home boy in the stream joining Kushog Lake to Cannon's Lake. His feet were tied together when found. He was living with Mr. Ed. Harrison and last Sunday was sent for the cows and had not been heard of since until this ghastly discovery. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison are much upset at the occurrence, which points to suicide, as the boy has no known enemies.

LIVELY TIME AT SESSION OF EDMONTON COUNCIL

Majority Failed to Get Two-thirds Vote to Dismiss Commissioner Chalmers, so They Applied "Third Degree"—City Auditor Dismissed.

Canadian Press Despatch.

EDMONTON, ALB., Aug. 27.—In a most sensational council meeting the majority of the members after failing to get a two-thirds vote necessary to carry out their desire to dismiss City Commissioner Chalmers appointed him to the nominal position of Supervisor of Health and Relief in an effort to force his resignation.

A committee submitted a long report charging Chalmers with incompetency. City Auditor Richardson was dismissed.

THE T.V.C.

It is to be hoped that the Government will not hesitate to employ all the trained help that is necessary to complete the T.V.C plans &c. at the earliest possible date. It would certainly be most detrimental to the interests of the canal if its completion was delayed in any avoidable way. A prompt vigorous policy of completion is what the people expect of Mr. Borden and Mr. Cochrane. The need for the canal becomes more pressing every day. It will mean a vast deal to the circulation of trade in Canada that is now apparent.

GERMANY AND THE EMPIRE'S TRADE

A rather interesting move is reported to be on foot in German commercial circles to increase the trade between Germany and Britain and the over-seas Dominions, especially do the Germans covet the Canadian market.

This movement is the more interesting on account of the recent strained relations between the two great countries in Europe, and may augur much good for the future. There is nothing which binds people together and sustains the good will of nations like commerce. It makes war too expensive and therefore tends toward peace between neighboring states.

It must be admitted on all hands that no matter how aggressive Britain has been in colonizing, she has not been selfish in her commerce. She has opened her ports to Germany as wide as to any other nation, too wide, perhaps, for the prosperity of British workmen.

Germany has dumped her products into the British Isles for the last fifty years, and to-day the British market is flooded with all kinds of articles branded "Made in Germany." The thanks that Germany has rendered for this freedom is to build a rival fleet for which she has no earthly use except for menacing or jingoistic purposes. And the irony of it all is that the British working man has helped to build this fleet by his support of German trade.

Germany knows too well that she cannot get along without the British Isles and the British Empire. She is jealous of its unity and prosperity all the while she is subsisting upon its commerce and if she could snatch the sceptre from England and run the whole concern, Canada and the rest of the Empire would find that they had a very bad stepmother to deal with.

THE PASSING OF THE HOLIDAY SEASON

The summer season is advancing to its close, and we will soon have the fall in real earnest. Already, the nights and mornings are cold and there are signs of Autumn everywhere.

No one perhaps feels the monotony of the holiday season in the city like the newspaper man, especially the reporter, who wanders out into the comparatively deserted main street and looks in vain for news and stands on the curb-stone wishing with all his might that two tram-cars would collide, that someone would get themselves run-over, or that a horse would take fright, or that, at last, some fellow would commit suicide. He turns away in disgust from the contemplation of a monotonous and uneventful world and is half inclined to fulfill his last wish and make a decent item of news for his paper by throwing himself in the lake.

But the summer is on the wane and Chemong and other magnetic places will soon be deserted and things will begin to hum again. At present, those who have returned from holidays are making their way to the Toronto Exhibition and not until that show is over will the interest be centered in the city.

"Things never get going much till after the Toronto Exhibition," was the remark of one of our city merchants. Then comes Peterborough's turn with its famous Fall Fair.

EXCERPTS

Language Question in Belgium.

The language question in Belgium has been settled in favor of French so far as Brussels is concerned. The Belgian parliament decided some time ago that the choice between instruction in French or in Flemish in the public schools of the capital should be left to the pupils' parents. A canvass of three of the largest schools resulted in an overwhelming vote for the French language. Of the parents of pupils in the first school 261 out of a total of 264 selected French, in the second 339 out of 340 made the same choice, while in the case of the third school, situated in an overwhelmingly Flemish quarter, 456 parents out of 470 decided for the same language, the total being therefore: French, 1,074; Flemish, 18.—London Globe.

Ships' Graveyard May Go.

SARNIA, Aug. 27.—Col. Anderson, chief engineer of the Dominion Public Works Department, arrived at Sarnia on the Government boat Lady Grey. The colonel came here to inspect the ships' graveyard in Sarnia Bay, and held a consultation with prominent citizens here as to the advisability of clearing away a number of the old hulks resting on the bottom of the bay. Many a thrilling marine story could be told of the old boats which are rotting away on the bay shore.

Rumor Absurd Says Roblin.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 27.—Sir Rodmond Roblin yesterday gave out a statement with regard to the Ottawa despatch mentioning him as a probable successor to Lord Strathcona in the Canadian High Commissionership of the old country. Sir Rodmond said: "It is worse than idle rumor and absolutely unwarranted. There is no public position on earth I would accept in lieu of the one I hold."

Germany Waiting.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—The German Foreign Office, under the belief that John Lind had left Mexico City on his return to the United States, yesterday made the following comment on the Mexican situation:

"The German Government's attitude in regard to Mexico is unchanged—waiting."

FORTY THOUSAND ~~MEN~~ REQUIRED

Farm Laborers' Excursions—This Year's Wheat Crop Will Be the Largest in the History of Canada.

The wheat crop of 1913 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East to recruit and assist in harvesting the World's greatest bread basket.

The Governments of the respective Provinces state that forty thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. These will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which Company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run, and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a day shorter than any other route.

"Going Trip West," $10.00 to Winnipeg, plus half-cent per mile from Winnipeg up to MacLeod, Calgary or Edmonton.

Borden May Visit Quebec.

QUEBEC, Aug. 27.—Premier R. L. Borden will shortly visit Quebec, when he will be tendered a complimentary banquet by citizens of Quebec, at which he is expected to make an important statement that will cover transcontinental railway terminals, which up to the present have been greatly delayed and are causing great uneasiness in Quebec, as there is nothing whatever really in the way of facilities to accommodate the transcontinental railway under present conditions when it is put in operation.

SAVED FROM OPERATIONS

Two Women Tell How They Escaped the Surgeon's Knife by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Swarthmore, Penn. — "For fifteen years I suffered untold agony, and for one period of nearly two years I had hemorrhages and the doctors told me I would have to undergo an operation, but I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am in good health now. I am all over the Change of Life and cannot praise your Vegetable Compound too highly. Every woman should take it at that time. I recommend it to both old and young for female troubles." — Mrs. EMILY SUMMERSGILL, Swarthmore, Pa.

Baltimore, Md. — "My troubles began with the loss of a child, and I had hemorrhages for four months. The doctors said an operation was necessary, but I dreaded it and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The medicine has made me a well woman and I feel strong and do my own work." — Mrs. J. R. PICKING, 1260 Sargent St., Baltimore, Md.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

Upholds Col. Hughes.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—A good deal of interest has been aroused here over the incident of the Saskatchewan bugler, who resented the Stars and Stripes being waved before his regiment, the Pall Mall Gazette declaring that Hon. Sam Hughes has done quite rightly to reinstate the bugler. It says, "It's not good manners for those voluntarily seeking the hospitality of the British Empire to flaunt their own flag aggressively."

Will Hold an Inquest.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 27.—Coroner Greenwood will to-day in the Methodist Church Cemetery at Virgil open an inquest into the death of Arthur Stewart, the young deckhand drowned off the steamer Macassa of Hamilton, two weeks ago, whose body was found at Niagara-on-the-Lake. The coroner will go to Virgil Cemetery, have the body exhumed and proceed with the inquest beside the open grave.

BY MARCIN BARBER

Supplied exclusively in Canada by the British and Colonial Press, Ltd., Toronto.

Then he walked to the door opening on the corridor, turned the handle cautiously, thrust his head through a second opening, and looked up and down the hall. Evidently reassured, he opened the door, stepped outside, and closed it swiftly and silently. There was not a sound to indicate whether he had gone along the corridor, or still stood just outside the door. Mrs. Delaroche waited, listening intently in the hope of hearing his footsteps, but she listened vainly. She waited perhaps a minute, for she had no desire to hazard a shot from that terrible thing the burglar had pressed against her brow. Then her courage oozed back, and she bounded to the floor, screaming with all her might, pausing only long enough to snatch a peignoir and throw it about her shoulders ere she pulled open the outer door of her suite and sent her shrieks shrilling down the long hall. Her cries, for she was a magnificently constructed animal of most expansive lung power, not only echoed far along the corridor, but penetrated even the sound-proof doors of the other apartments. The disturbance she made was alarmingly novel to the exclusive calm of the Hotel Renaissance. Doors were flung open, heads popped out, and a dozen inquiries were flung at her from as many parts of the hall; but Mrs. Delaroche had exhausted her coherence in framing that one purpose of screaming with all her might until some man of action should speed to her assistance. She did not waste any strength in articulation. She simply screamed, and so eloquent were her shrieks that although she uttered no concrete word, only a few of them were needed to tell the more intelligent of her auditors that she had been robbed, and that what she had lost was of priceless value to her.

Before the fusillade of her cries died away in a scattering fire of gasping sobs, half a dozen pajamaed spectres were racing down the corridor in the direction they deemed the burglar had taken. What account they would have given of themselves had they come up with the fugitive is conjectural. They were spared the disagreeable necessity of submitting their courage to the test, for as the burglar turned a corner of the hall many yards in advance of his pursuers, he was tripped by a foot adroitly interpolated in his path, and when he recovered his breath after a jarring fall, it was to find two men of sturdy build sitting upon him as composedly as if nature had planned him for a conversation chair. The pistol he had carried in his hand throughout the pursuit was snatched from his grasp, and although he struggled furiously, his arms were dragged behind his back and handcuffs were snapped upon his wrists. Then he was dragged to his feet by four insistent arms and impelled with much vigor along the hallway in the reverse direction to that which he had followed.

Unmistakable was the rejoicing of the pajamaed squad at the sight of his captivity. Undeniably heroic was its surge toward him. Faces grim with postscrip bravery were thrust into the prisoner's, and voices ranging from mockery to indignation bombarded him with questions. All of which the prisoner met with sullen silence and with looks that made the squad retreat a pace or two in spite of the firmness with which his captors held him. Mrs. Delaroche's failing screams guided the little group to her apartment, where the hands of ministering angels had adjusted her peignoir to its normal position upon her Junoesque form and fastened its fluttering ribbons in becoming bows. She there received the heroes of the man-hunt with astonishing composure.

"Is this the man who robbed you, madam?" asked one of the two men who had caught the burglar. He was the house detective. "Stand behind him, Jim," he said to his colleague, a porter with a fullback's shoulders.

"It must be," said Mrs. Delaroche, "but I cannot tell by his face. I did not see it. It looks like the man, though. Make him speak."

But that was a task beyond the house detective's powers. Irresponsible though his kind might be as compared with the city's sleuths and blue coats, he hardly felt justified in employing the most medieval forms of torture to accomplish that purpose. Seemingly, nothing short of the boot, the thumbscrew, and the Iron Maiden would drag a word from the captive. He maintained his sullen silence, although it might be said he broke it in a way, for the furious looks he cast at the pajamaed squad were almost audible. Those looks caused several of the squad's doughty heroes suddenly to realize the unconventionality of their dressing gowns. One or two of them remained, however, and the house detective, who, in hotels as frostily patrician as the Renaissance, did not often have an opportunity to hold the centre of the stage, was fairly well content with his audience.

"Now, then, you!" he said, brusquely addressing the prisoner, "speak up. What were you doing here?"

A slow grin was the response. It was such a palpably superfluous question. The house sleuth realized that, and hastened to cover his confusion by asking:

"What did you get?"

A ripple of excitement started at the toes of Mrs. Delaroche's Juliette slippers and quivered along her length until it found expression in a half-hysterical utterance:

"He got my jewels!"

The prisoner turned one of his sullen looks upon her, but, conscious that she was robed as daintily as the most fastidious society actress in the Du Barryest of bedroom scenes could be, her equanimity was not so vulnerable as that of the deserters from the pajama squad.

"He took the whole case of jewels from under my pillow," she continued, addressing the house detective. "They must be in his possession still, unless he dropped them while he was running away."

This suggestion gave the remainder of the squad the brilliant idea of searching the corridor, and thus escaping a situation that was becoming, in spite of her natural curiosity, increasingly awkward to them.

"We will soon find out," said the leading man; "Jim, go through him!"

Jim only shrugged those fullback shoulders when the burglar attempted to petrify him with a look, and his search through the prisoner's pockets was thorough. Mrs. Delaroche gasped her delight when from the captive's coat the porter drew forth a heavy silver casket, and held it toward her.

"Is that your property, madam?" asked the house detective.

"Yes, yes," said Mrs. Delaroche eagerly. "Oh dear, I am so glad he did not escape with it. What would——"

She checked herself hastily.

"You must come to me in the morning, Mr.—Mr.—, for a reward," she added in tones so sweetly suggestive of a golden guerdon that the detective's eyes glistened.

"Thank you, madam, that is not necessary," he replied perfunctorily. "Let's see what else this fellow has got."

He and the porter explored the captive's pockets further, but found nothing more in the way of loot. Mrs. Delaroche looked hastily through her desk and dressing table and told the man apparently nothing else was missing.

"Then," said the house detective, "I guess there is nothing else for us to do but to turn this burglar over to the police. May we use your telephone, madam?"

Mrs. Delaroche gladly nodded assent, and the sleuth continued:

"Jim, call up headquarters, and have a couple of men sent here to take this fellow away."

The effect of that command upon the prisoner startled everyone. Not only did it cause him to break his sullen silence, but it drew from him words that made the house detective involuntarily loose his hold on the man and step back, staring. Jim's jaw fell, and Mrs. Delaroche gazed at the fellow wide-eyed.

"I can save you that trouble," said the burglar. "You need not telephone for the Central Office men. I am Lieutenant-Detective Britz, of Headquarters! And these," and he nodded toward the silver casket, "are the missing Missioner diamonds that were stolen from the richest woman in America."

Turning to Mrs. Delaroche abruptly, he said:

"Madam, how do you come to be in possession of these jewels?"

All the panting loveliness of Mrs. Delaroche shivered as the sharp question bored its way to her inner consciousness. It was now her turn to be silent. She looked at the Headquarters man as if he held in his hand her life, liberty, and whatever chance remained of her happiness. A gleam of appeal glowed in her beautiful eyes for a moment. Plainly, if she did not speak it was not for lack of will. Her words were as frozen as the normal condition of her thoughts. She put her hands to her breast and gazed at the Central Office man as piteously as a woman of her Junoesque charms could be expected to do. The ingenue role was impossible to Mrs. Delaroche; but had it not been so, undoubtedly she would have assumed it in this emergency.

"Answer me, madam; this calls for an immediate explanation. You told this man these jewels belonged to you. How does it come you have the diamonds everybody in New York knows as the Maharanee necklace of Mrs. Doris Missioner?"

Mrs. Delaroche still struggled faintly for speech. Her lids quivered; her eyes alternately closed and then were fixed upon the detective, and a tremor, beginning at the crown of her adorable head, moved in waves to her perfect feet. She sank into a chair and let her head fall upon her arms as they stretched inertly across a little table. There was no smallest streak of pity in the look Detective Britz bent upon her. He had dealt with women of her type before many times, he told himself, and now that he was so near the heart of the great Missioner mystery, it was not his purpose to be influenced in the slightest degree by the distress of a Diana, to say nothing of an Aphrodite. Dry sobs choked the woman. Her eyes strained at their tendons so painfully that tears would have been a divine relief. Whether she was grieved or frightened was not so apparent as that she was sorely distressed. Minutes passed before she lifted her face and once more looked at the detective. The house sleuth and his porter had retreated a yard or more, and the erst-while pajama squad, now an astounded force of Cossacks and Bedouins in a varied array of dressing gowns and bathrobes, looked and listened in hushed expectancy.

"Come, Mrs. Delaroche," said Britz sternly. "You really must not waste any more of my time. I have spent an hour in getting these jewels away from you, and I don't intend to put in many more words in getting the facts from you. You have got to answer soon or late, and you may as well do it at once."

If there was to be any third degree in her case, the detective was determined to apply it then and there.

"They were given to me," said the woman faintly.

"By whom?"

"By—by a friend of mine," she replied.

"And his name?" inquired the detective curtly.

"I do not care to tell his name," said Mrs. Delaroche, who had recovered a little of her calmness.

"You must tell it!" Britz insisted.

"I cannot," she said.

"But I tell you you must!" returned the detective. "Don't you see you have got to tell it to square yourself?"

"What do you mean, sir?" she asked with a pretty show of indignation.

"Now, don't try any of those games on me," said Britz. In his impatience he was descending close to the methods of Donnelly and Carson. He remembered that in a moment and resumed more persuasively:

"It will save a great deal of trouble for you, Mrs. Delaroche, if you tell me the truth, and tell it at once, without holding anything back. You understand, I am a detective from Police Headquarters, and I was assigned two weeks ago to find Mrs. Missioner's diamonds. I have found the diamonds, and now I must find the thief."

Mrs. Delaroche's start was now genuine. The word plainly stung her into frankness.

"What thief?" she asked.

"The thief who stole the Maharanee necklace," Britz explained. "Have I not told you, madam, the jewels were stolen?"

With Auto When Street Car Was Not Moving

Charged with driving his car past a stationary street car, Mr. S. ## BELLS AND HORN WERE MISSING

Manager of Moving Picture Theatre Makes Charge

Former Employee is Brought Back From Oshawa

Robert J. Maddiford appeared before Acting Magistrate Rush at Police Court this morning, charged with the theft of an auto horn and string of bells valued at a couple of dollars. Maddiford asked for an adjournment of the case until Friday. The case will be heard before Magistrate Dumble on Friday morning.

Maddiford formerly played in the Red Mill orchestra, but of late had been playing at the Royal. On Sunday he left for Oshawa, where he had secured a good position in a moving picture house orchestra. Shortly afterwards Herbert Clayton manager of the Royal found an auto horn and a small string of sleigh bells missing. He laid an information against Maddiford, and as a result the young man was brought back from Oshawa last night by Detective Newhall.

Maddiford, who is a young man of only nineteen is an excellent musician. A few months ago he was charged with stealing a saxaphone from the 57th band room, valued at $100, but was let go on suspended sentence. It has been ascertained that the young man has been under heavy expenses owing to a lengthy illness of his wife.

Maddiford's employer at Oshawa informed the local police that he would go bail for the young man, if necessary.

BAD BOYS IN EAST CITY PLAY BASEBALL ON SUNDAY

With Youngsters Who Were Found Swimming Without Bathing Attire, They Are Fined $2

Five minutes' work netted the city treasury $26 at Juvenile court this morning, when no less than ten boys lined up to answer to the charge of swimming without a proper bathing garb. For this pleasure each paid $2.

Four East City youths charged with playing ball on Sunday, thanked their lucky stars that they managed to escape with a $2 fine. One small youngster was allowed to go on his promise to attend Sunday school instead of watching other boys break the Sabbath.

THE DELIVERY OF MAIL IN SOUTH MONAGHAN TOWNSHIP

On Thursday night, Aug. 21st, a meeting was held at Bensfort Post Office to talk over and draw up a petition to protest against the closing of Bensfort Post Office. Several of the people present were owners of mail boxes and on Rural Mail Routes, yet they were anti Bensfort P.O. being closed. This P.O. has now stood for about half a century, and even with the R.M. routes, there are sufficient residents around Bensfort to reasonably petition the postal authorities so as to assure the continuation of postal business at Bensfort. The people signed the petition who had not ordered mail boxes and in addition, several more would have signed "if they were certain that it would not interfere with the boxes on their routes."

At the close of the meeting it was decided that the Reeve, Mr. Geo. Smithson, and Mr. Buckham would take it to Mr. Burnham, M.P., on Saturday and see whether he (Mr. Burnham) could use his power and influence to assure the carrying on of postal business at Bensfort.

Again, the P. O. Inspector from Kingston, told the postmaster at Centreville, when down last May, "that Bensfort P. O. would not be closed." Now we hear it is to be! Can this inspector also assist in trying to retain the post office? On the latest routes no mail boxes are to be seen, yet the mail courier will drive around. The postmaster at Bensfort was given only ten days' notice, and one of them a Sunday, so the office will, if nothing better turns up, be closed next Saturday evening. Then what will the people on the new route do for mail who have no boxes? It will be carried back to Centreville, I expect. What will the working man do for mail, who cannot afford a box, and who is here one week and away the next, to different parts of the township. A boss is not going to have his mail turned over by other people, so where is he to get his mail.

Now turn to Smithbank. No word of this little place, so I expect that Mr. T. Fletcher will continue to draw his very heavy mail, consisting of a few—not a dozen— letters and papers, to Southbank. Yet Bensfort, at which office some 30 or 35 people would call for their mail even with the new route in operation, will be closed

I sincerely hope that Mr. Burnham and the Inspector at Kingston who spoke in optimistic tones of Bensfort, will lift all the pessimistic feeling that is now around Bensfort.

A. READER

There is some dissatisfaction in the eastern end of the township over the closing of the Bensfort P. O. Rural mail like house-delivery in cities means that the necessity for post office accommodation for the public is largely done away with. Some day all mail matter and parcels and postal facilities of every kind will be brought to the very doors of the people. The saving of time and energy over the old method will be enormous. Meanwhile it is sad to see the familiar old corners post office fade away. Of course it is not a matter of compulsion. If the majority do not want it, they can stay where they are. But this means sacrificing many to one.

HIS GREAT GRANDFATHER FOUGHT AT BATTLE OF CHRYSLER'S FARM; JOHNSON PADAUSH HAS MEDAL

BOB STERLING WON AND LOST IN DOUBLE BILL

St. Thomas, Ont., Aug. 27.—Peterborough and St. Thomas split even here yesterday, the visitors winning the first while the locals pulled down the second.

In the initial contest Wilkinson lost his first game in the Canadian League. He was only hit safely seven times, but lost his own game when in the sixth innings with three men on bases and two gone he fielded an easy grounder and threw it a way over the first baseman's head, three runs coming in. In the second affair Baker was air tight up till the last innings when the Petes managed to score one run. Stirling twirled both games for Rowan's men. He was hit hard in the opening game but kept them scattered. In the second the Saints got to him in the first innings for enough hits to win but he was strong afterwards. The same teams hook up in a double-header to-morrow, which closes the Canadian League season here. Scores:

UMPIRE DALY SAYS HE WASN'T PUNCHED BY BURNS

Umpire Daly informed The Advertiser to-day that there was no truth in the story started by the London ball club that Biddy Burns, of the Berlin ball club roused him out of bed at Peterboro on Saturday night and punched him for ordering him out of the game Saturday afternoon.

"The story is absolutely untrue," said Umpire Daly, "and was apparently started to get me in wrong. I was pretty sure when I saw it in your paper last evening. It is so absolutely ridiculous that it is a joke. I have always found Burns a pretty good sort of fellow and we have had no words other than on the ball field. There was no trouble in Peterboro Saturday night and I certainly did not get beaten up by Burns or any other ballplayer."

The story was given to The Advertiser by one of the London players, who is generally pretty reliable. If he intended it for a joke on Daly, he has a perverted sense of humor.—LONDON ADVERTISER.

SPORTING GOSSIP

(Hamilton Herald)

Apparently James Patrick Fitzgerald's regime as president of the Canadian league is not a bed of roses, and from this distance it does not appear to deserve to be. A few questions want answering before the president can be forgiven.

Why was Umpire J[illegible] Halligan taken from the Canadian League at a time when the championship was hinging on the result of the coming London-Ottawa series in London?

Why is Umpire James Ira Davis allowed to jump from Hamilton with a double-header awaiting his decisions on the following day, and then resume work in St. Thomas two days later?

What was done regarding the actions of Manager Shaughnessy of the Ottawa club when he threw the ball at and hit Secondbaseman Tesch on the leg? Nothing.

It looks as though Shaughnessy is the man to be feared and that is the reason why he is getting away with all the rough stuff while the other clubs have had to suffer for only slight breaches.

The American and National Leagues close on October 5th. The last games in the International are on September 21, and the Canadian League season comes to an end on September 1st.

Catchers Trout and Mc[illegible] will join the Toronto Club after the Canuck League closes.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather last evening there was no pratice of the Mere[illegible] All Star team, but all the players are requested to be on hand this evening at Riverside Park as early as possible. To-night and to-morrow night will be the last practices.

The Cockneys pulled off a triple play yesterday against Brantford, and now the Brantford papers will say it should not be counted.

NO FUNDS SO HE GOES TO WORK

Robert Aull Gets a Job as Carpenter

COBOURG, ONT., Aug. 27—Robert Aull, who in the space of a few weeks married the daughter of a prominent Toronto family, lost his bride, lost his liberty for two weeks and spent all his money, went to work this morning as a carpenter on the new C.P.R. station being erected here.

Since his release from the county jail last week Aull has been waiting for either a cheque or the arrival of his father. In the absence of both he got a job.

AUTO WHEELS SANK IN TRENCH

Yesterday afternoon about 4.30 while driving his automobile on George street, Mr. N. Campbell, of the Campbell Milling Company, drove too close to the sidewalk, and as a result the wheels sank hubdeep into the trench for the Hydro-Electric cable. The trench had been filled in but not sufficiently packed on account of the rain, to stand the weight of the auto.

U. S. PORTS FAVORED.

Grain Insurance Rates On St. Lawrence Are Too High.

MONTREAL, Aug. 27.—A convention of delegates from all the Boards of Trade of the Province of Quebec is being held at Chicoutimi this week to take into consideration marine insurance rates on the St. Lawrence.

The rates of insurance on grain cargoes from Montreal to Liverpool last year ranged from 25 cents per $100 in summer to 45 cents per $100 during the latter part of November, while at New York and Boston the figure was 15 cents per $100 throughout the whole year.

That the difference constitutes an effective discrimination in favor of United States ports is indicated by the fact that of 87,579,696 bushels of Canadian wheat which were forwarded from Fort William and Port Arthur last year, 45,326,450 bushels were shipped to Europe through the Dominion, and 42,252,246 bushels via the United States.

The hardest thing in the world to manage is a wife. The next hardest thing is a husband.

WESTERN CANADA'S BUMPER WHEAT CROP

Thousands of Men Required—This Year's Harvest Promises to be the Largest in the History of Canada

According to present indications the wheat crop of 1913 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East to assist in harvesting the world's bread basket.

The Governments of the respective Provinces state that many thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. These will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which Company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a day shorter than any other route. Dates, rates and conditions will be announced in a few days. eod

LONG DISTANCE WALKER IS LAWRENCE

Tells Magistrate He Walked From Montreal to Peterboro

Lawrence Liddy is quite a pedestrian according to his statements, made in Police Court this morning. He will now have to show that he can make a fair record with his hands.

Liddy arrived in the city last night via the C.P.R., bridge, and Special Officer Weller was waiting to welcome him.

Lawrence was a guest at the Water street hostelry one night, and when he faced the court this morning he told Chief Thompson that he walked all the way from Montreal.

"Are you sure you didn't steal a ride?" queried the chief.

Lawrence was positive that he did not break the rule of the straight heel and toe exponents. He said he was a moulder and was looking for work.

Lawrence got till Friday to continue looking. If he fails he will be asked to appear again.

Subsequently, on a motion of a delegate who had voted against the bill, to make it unanimous, the vote was 200 out of 206.

MANGLED BODY OF FOREIGNER

Found beside G. T. R. Tracks—Inquest to be Held.

Port Hope, Aug. 27.—The remains of a foreigner, probably an Italian, were found on the G. T. R. Tracks about four miles west of Newtonville station at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The remains have not yet been identified. The body was frightfully mangled and was strewn for a distance of more than half a mile. From appearances deceased would be about 22 years of age. An inquest will be held.

BOB STERLING WON AND LOST IN DOUBLE BILL

St. Thomas, Ont., Aug. 27.—Peterborough and St. Thomas split even here yesterday, the visitors winning the first while the locals pulled down the second.

In the initial contest Wilkinson lost his first game in the Canadian League. He was only hit safely seven times, but lost his own game when in the sixth innings with three men on bases and two gone he fielded an easy grounder and threw it a way over the first baseman's head, three runs coming in. In the second affair Baker was air tight up till the last innings when the Petes managed to score one run. Stirling twirled both games for Rowan's men. He was hit hard in the opening game but kept them scattered. In the second the Saints got to him in the first innings for enough hits to win but he was strong afterwards. The same teams hook up in a double-header to-morrow, which closes the Canadian League season here. Scores:

UMPIRE DALY SAYS HE WASN'T PUNCHED BY BURNS

Umpire Daly informed The Advertiser to-day that there was no truth in the story started by the London ball club that Biddy Burns, of the Berlin ball club roused him out of bed at Peterboro on Saturday night and punched him for ordering him out of the game Saturday afternoon.

"The story is absolutely untrue," said Umpire Daly, "and was apparently started to get me in wrong. I was pretty sore when I saw it in your paper last evening. It is so absolutely ridiculous that it is a joke. I have always found Burns a pretty good sort of fellow and we have had no words other than on the ball field. There was no trouble in Peterboro Saturday night and I certainly did not get beaten up by Burns or any other ballplayer."

The story was given to The Advertiser by one of the London players, who is generally pretty reliable. If he intended it for a joke on Daly, he has a perverted sense of humor. —LONDON ADVERTISER.

SPORTING GOSSIP

(Hamilton Herald.)

Apparently James Patrick Fitzgerald's regime as president of the Canadian League is not a bed of roses, and from this distance it does not appear to deserve to be so. A few questions want answering before the president can be forgiven.

Why was Umpire Jocko Halligan taken from the Canadian League at a time when the championship was hinging on the result of the coming London-Ottawa series in London?

Why is Umpire James Ira Davis allowed to jump from Hamilton with a double-header awaiting his decisions on the following day, and then resume work in St. Thomas two days later?

What was done regarding the actions of Manager Shaughnessy of the Ottawa club when he threw the ball at and hit Secondbaseman Tesch on the leg? Nothing.

It looks as though Shaughnessy is the man to be feared, and that is the reason why he is getting away with all the rough stuff while the other clubs have had to suffer for only slight breaches.

The American and National Leagues close on October 5th. The last games in the International are on September 21, and the Canadian League season comes to an end on September 1st.

Catchers Trout and McNeil will join the Toronto Club after the Canuck League closes.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather last evening there was no pratice of the Mercantile All Star team, but all the players are requested to be on hand this evening at Riverside Park as early as possible. To-night and to-morrow night will be the last practices.

The Cockneys pulled off a triple play yesterday against Brantford, and now the Brantford papers will say it should not be counted.

NO FUNDS SO HE GOES TO WORK

Robert Aull Gets a Job as Carpenter

COBOURG, ONT., Aug. 27.—Robert Aull, who in the space of a few weeks married the daughter of a prominent Toronto family, lost his bride, lost his liberty for two weeks and spent all his money, went to work this morning as a carpenter on the new C.P.R. station being erected here.

Since his release from the county jail last week, Aull has been waiting for either a cheque or the arrival of his father. In the absence of both he got a job.

AUTO WHEELS SANK IN TRENCH

Yesterday afternoon about 4.30 while driving his automobile on George street, Mr. N. Campbell, of the Campbell Milling Company, drove too close to the sidewalk, and as a result the wheels sank hubdeep into the trench for the Hydro-Electric cable. The trench had been filled in but not sufficiently packed on account of the rain, to stand the weight of the auto.

U. S. PORTS FAVORED.

Grain Insurance Rates On St. Lawrence Are Too High.

MONTREAL, Aug. 27.—A convention of delegates from all the Boards of Trade of the Province of Quebec is being held at Chicoutimi this week to take into consideration marine insurance rates on the St. Lawrence.

The rates of insurance on grain cargoes from Montreal to Liverpool last year ranged from 25 cents per $100 in summer to 45 cents per $100 during the latter part of November, while at New York and Boston the figure was 15 cents per $100 throughout the whole year.

That the difference constitutes an effective discrimination in favor of United States ports is indicated by the fact that of 87,579,696 bushels of Canadian wheat which were forwarded from Fort William and Port Arthur last year, 45,326,450 bushels were shipped to Europe through the Dominion, and 42,252,246 bushels via the United States.

The hardest thing in the world to manage is a wife. The next hardest thing is a husband.

WESTERN CANADA'S BUMPER WHEAT CROP

Thousands of Men Required—This Year's Harvest Promises to be the Largest in the History of Canada

According to present indications the wheat crop of 1913 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East to assist in harvesting the world's bread basket.

The Governments of the respective Provinces state that many thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. These will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which Company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. # WIDOW PROVES ALLURING HOSTESS

Ever since Miss Lucile Parrish appeared on Broadway, dancing on her toes and singing comic songs, she has given the critics something unusual to say about her. Miss Parrish is original in everything she does and is as magnetic and lively as any woman in musical comedy.

She will be seen here at the Grand Opera House on Saturday next, August 30th, matinee and night, in "Little Miss Fix-It," as breezing as the rollicking pieces with which the late Charles H. Hoyt used to pack the theatres. In fact, nothing more Hoytian has been seen in many years. It has a plentitude of bright lines and funny situations, all growing out of a romantic story about a summer house party at a Long Island bungalow, where Miss Parrish as Mrs. Delia Wendell, an almost widow, proves a fascinating hostess.

During the two acts, Miss Parrish will introduce a number of swinging songs which always succeeds in captivating her audience. "Turn Off Your Light, Mr. Moon Man," took New York by storm, and we may expect to hear the barrel organs playing it and another equally as popular, "I've A Garden In Sweden," as soon as the music houses can cut the rolls for these attractive melodies.

Miss Parrish is surrounded by a capable company, some of whom have songs to sing and share in the encores which the audience demands at each performance.

"Little Miss Fix-It" ran for four months at the Globe Theatre, New York, and was the big musical hit in Chicago during the summer of 1912. During the action of the play the original dance sensation, the "Newport Turkey Trot," the comical terpsichorean creation and the latest society craze will be danced during the engagement here.

WONDERFUL EDISON TALKING PICTURES

At the Grand Opera House

The Edison Talking pictures which Peterboro is to see for the first time in an engagement of three nights and three matinees, beginning with a holiday matinee on Monday, Labor Day, are the only genuine and original Edison Talking Pictures, invented by the Wizard, Thos. Edison. These genuine Edison Talking Pictures should not be confounded with any imitation talking pictures, which are being exhibited in some parts of the Dominion. Some of these imitators copy the advertising of the Edison Talking Pictures, using such terms as "Wizard's Marvellous Talking Pictures," "Edison Records," etc. They even go so far as to use the name of Edison and endeavor to evade the law by using an Edison record or Edison film. The genuine Edison Talking Pictures use the full name of Thos. A. Edison, with copyright signature, on every film.

The Edison Talking Pictures which will be at the Grand Opera House next week come here direct from a week's engagement at the Russell Theatre, Ottawa, where the theatre is being packed to the doors at every performance, and outside of Toronto have not been exhibited anywhere in the Province of Ontario.

If ever the Grand Opera House offered a great treat at nominal prices it is in the Edison Talking Pictures which it is a privilege to be able to see.

Pictures will be changed daily.

THE SEMI-CENTENNIAL LODGE ANNIVERSARY

Peterborough Masonic Lodge to Celebrate Fifty Years of Activity.

Last night a committee appointed to consider ways and means and a celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Peterborough Lodge, A.F. & A.M. held a meeting.

The warrant, or charter, was issued in 1863, and an inspection of the Lodge Register shows that only two members of those days are now living in the city, Mr. Thos. Tucker and Mr. J. I. Davidson. Nearly five hundred members are enrolled on the books, many of whom have passed away or are living in other parts of the world.

The date for the celebration will be fixed, probably during October. It will take the form of a reception and "At Home" for the members and ladies and those of the brethren of the sister lodges. Sub-committees were named to look after details.

COMES TO LIVE IN CITY AFTER 80 YEARS IN SMITH

Address and Presentation to Mr. Joseph Walton and Family

On Saturday evening, A. 23rd, a large number of friends and neighbors assembled at the home of Mr. Joseph Walton to bid farewell to Mr. Walton and family before their removal to the city of Peterboro. Mr. Walton having resided on the 2nd Concession of Smith for over eighty years, he will be greatly missed among the host of friends whom he has won for himself during that time. He has always taken a very active part in both social and political affairs.

A very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all present, and before concluding, the chairman, Mr. James Middleton, requested Mr. Walton and family to come forward when they were presented with a handsome arm chair by Mrs. D. Mabood and Mrs. J. H. Edmison accompanied by the following address, read by Mr. Albert Middleton.

Dear Mr. Walton and family—

Having heard of the severance of your connection with us in our community it is with feeling of regret that your many friends and neighbors assemble here this evening.

Mr. Walton, you and your family will be greatly missed, for, during your many years of residence among us, you have made many friends to whom you were always ready to lend a helping hand. We therefore, endeavor to show you that respect which real worth is sure to command and to express in some tangible form the esteem in which you are regarded in our neighborhood. As a remembrance we ask you to accept this chair, trusting that it may be an emblem of pleasant association in the past.

Our best wishes go with you to your new home, where, we trust, our Heavenly Father may spare you many years of health and happiness.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors.

J. H. EDMISON,
ALBERT MIDDLETON.

Mr. Walton was taken completely by surprise and was deeply affected by the kindness of his friends, yet he found suitable words to thank them for the kind words expressed in the address and for the beautiful present, assuring them of his deep interest in their welfare and trusting that they would be all spared to meet again, if not on earth, in our Heavenly Home.

Refreshments were then served and the crowd dispersed after the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and "They are Jolly Good Fellows."

POLICE LOOK FOR MAN WHO NEGLECTED FAMILY

Mother and Children Are Being Cared for at the Shelter

The police are on the lookout for a man named McDonald, who is charged with neglecting his wife and family.

The mother and two children are now in the Shelter, under the care of the Children's Aid Society, following the mother's visit to the office of the Relief Officer, last night.

Their condition is not an enviable one. Some weeks ago, McDonald took his family to Toronto and managed to secure a room for them. It is alleged that he then deserted them.

The mother endeavored to provide for herself and children, but after spending some time in Toronto, she came to Peterborough, returning last Sunday night. A heavy rain storm was in progress as she arrived here at midnight and she wandered about trying to find shelter. It is further stated that a relative refused her aid. McDonald must have suspected some action against him as he cannot be found in the city.

ESCAPED FROM SCHOOL AT MIMICO

Lad is Held by Police for Officer, Who Will Come To-night

Last evening, while on duty near Chamberlain Street, Special Officer Weller of the C.P.R., noticed a boy acting rather suspiciously near the railway property. After questioning the boy he placed the youth under arrest. When asked what he was doing and his name, the boy told the officer his name was Spence, then he changed it to Spencer, and on his arrival at the station he confessed that his name was Murphy and that he had escaped from Mimico Industrial School on Aug. 17.

Chief Thompson communicated with the Mimico authorities and received a telegram this morning that an officer would arrive this evening and take the boy in charge.

Children's Eyes

How many people realize the fact that children are just as liable to require glasses as older people.

Many children who are backward in school and considered stupid, are not really so, but are laboring under difficulties on account of not being able to see properly. They are young and do not realize that they do not see as well as their companions, and of course their parents don't know it either. But it is the duty of parents to have their children's eyes examined and see if they require glasses, because school work is hard enough for children without their being handicapped with poor vision. The TAIT OPTICAL CO. make a special study of children's eyes. Come and consult us and we will advise you in the matter.

CUSTOMERS, CLERKS AND WORKMEN BURIED WHEN CORNER BUILDING COLLAPSED

Five Bodies Recovered--A Sixth Victim Dies in the Hospital--Many Injured, But Not Seriously.

THE DEAD

MRS. ELIZABETH BROWN, sister of John Campbell, corner of Bethune and Hunter streets.

MISS LILLIAN A. BODDISON, clerk, 271 William street.

MRS. FINLEY, Norwood, customer; died from injuries.

Unidentified body of a women, a customer.

MISS DOLLY SISSON, clerk, 287 Park street.

THE INJURED

GEO. CURTIS, 690 Aylmer street, bricklayer, injured ankle and bruises. Not serious.

MRS. SYDNEY MIDDLETON. Not serious.

H. J. MANLEY, Edinburgh street, leg fractured. Not serious.

MISS TUCKER, Norwood, back and bodily injuries. Serious.

Shortly after nine o'clock this morning, with a crash that could be heard for blocks, the storebuilding at the corner of George and Simcoe streets came down. Not in one thunderous clap, but with a cracking and groaning, a rending and heaving that told of the tearing apart of the structure.

The Simcoe street wall collapsed about half way up of the four stories, falling outward, while the upper part came down on the pavement and was thrust out by the mass of timbers and floors that were ejected with awful force across. The wall adjoining the Simcoe street building, next, was torn apart. A part of the George street wall still stands, but may fall at any time.

The clamorous call of the fire alarm sounded and following the call for the ambulance. Many employes were in the stores, and a number of persons shopping. In two minutes the fire brigade were on the scene and before the dust had settled, a cordon of rope was run about the corner and the work of tearing away the mass of debris was got at. Hundreds of willing workers were pressed into service, and clambering on top of the dreadful pile, men pulled and heaved at the mass of floor, roof and cornice that lay interlaced. Strenuous efforts were made to dash to one side the material in a desperate effort to get to the bottom, where it was feared many persons were buried under the rubbish. Several rope tackles were brought and laid from the street poles to projecting masses of the floors and partitions, and with hundreds pulling on the rope, were dragged out.

So soon as a foot hold could be gained, men began to shovel at the debris, while scores of others picked up brick after brick and hurled them across the street. Inside of an hour the street was impassable with the immense pile of broken and splintered timbers. Huge fragments of the torn cornice were dragged down the street out of the way.

While the work went on in frenzied hustle, it was feared that the part of the George street wall standing would fall and it was shored up from the outside in hope that it would remain until the mass of debris in the interior had been removed.

Thousands collected and watched the work going on and in deepest silence. Men, when they spoke, did so almost in whispers, and women massed on the pavement cried in sympathy with those who feared that they had of their own buried in the fearful wreck. By 11 o'clock much progress had been made, sufficient to show that no one had been on the upper floors when they fell, and it was felt that if others were under the debris they were such as on the lower floor, or the men who had been working on the Simcoe street side of the building. In such case it was known that they would be buried under the mass that had fallen to the pavement.

By twelve o'clock an impression had been made sufficient to clear about the entrance door and from just inside were taken out three bodies, two women and a man. Indeed so severe was the crushing and mangling, a glance showed that limbs were fractured, chests crushed in, and the features torn and disfigured and covered with a mass of plaster, dust and blood. The bodies of the women were removed to Belleghem's and that of the man to Comstock's to await identification. One was identified as Miss Boddison, one of the lady clerks who had been in the Barrie store. The man proved to be Mr. Cuffe, one of the carpenters engaged on the work.

Presently another form was disclosed, and proved to be that of Mrs. A. Finlay, of Norwood. She was accompanied by Mrs. Pearce, of Norwood and were doing some shopping when the crash came. Mrs Finlay was placed in the ambulance and taken to the Nicholls Hospital, and it was found that her back was broken, and she passed away early in the afternoon. Mrs Pearce escaped unhurt.

Of the staff of the store only two were injured. Mr Manley and Miss Tucker. Both were removed to the Nicholls Hospital.

An incident of the smash was that a lady was shopping at the ribbon counter; her two small children in a baby carriage beside her. The floor gave away, and a lot of the debris fell wedging the carriage in its mass. Help was given and the two children pulled out uninjured, but the carriage was a wreck.

Two of the employes, Messrs. Gerran and Thompson were in the cellar. They heard the crash and were astonished to find three of the iron supporting pillars of the second storey thrusting through the floor beside them. They saw a streak of daylight at the back and managed to crawl out onto the first floor, uninjured.

Mr. Might was standing on the second floor marking off goods. He felt the movement of the floors giving way. A big joist fell across the space in front of where he stood, holding up the mass of falling debris above. By a miracle he escaped. None of the dressmakers were at work, and only those engaged in the rooms over Clarke's store were at work. This part of the structure was not injured.

Miss Davidson, one of those employed in the Barrie part of the store, had gone upstairs to a room, and coming out noticed that the door would not close. She tried again and noticed that the door was wedged at the bottom. She grew alarmed and rushed down stairs and out of the entrance, giving the alarm as she sped along.

The south part of the ground floor of the main store held,--and

A FEARFUL WARNING AGAINST TINKERING

There Should be an End to So-Called Alterations in Old Business Buildings.

If necessary, civic measures should be at once instituted to put an end to the operations and changes in the business buildings along George street.

Many of these were built years ago, when such forms of construction were the rule. Light walls of brick and wooden joists. Good material in its way, and, if left alone, sufficient for purposes.

The desire for more ornamental shop fronts is a natural one on the part of the tenant. But the evil rests in a change of tenants, who want something different to that of the previous occupant.

These buildings are not fit to stand the cutting and hauling that has been and is being done. Many of those, now standing, would fall down from structural weakness if it were not that they stand side by side and lean one on another. Many have been disturbed, even down to the foundations. Beams inserted, walls taken out, arches cut and mutilated in a dozen ways. Unknowingly, fearful risks are taken every day.

The building that has fallen had already been weakened by the alterations made some six years ago, and these, no doubt, contributed to the woeful end.

It was erected in 1882 by the Dixon family, and has had many changes. The walls are not nearly so thick as required by a corner lot building and the end has come directly as the result of tinkering.

It is a fearful lesson, and its import will have to be regarded. Let these buildings alone. The owners are prosperous enough to place at the use of tenants a proper and substantial structure, safe for employees and safe for the public. Rigid conditions should be laid down for the future. The City Council should act without hesitation and regard to any one's wishes. And act at once, in time to regulate the rebuilding of the corner.

TENDERS FOR CANAL

Bids For Huge Contract Will be Awarded in a Few Days.

OTTAWA, Aug. 28.—The tenders for the new Welland Canal work, the largest in the history of Canada, involving about $10,000,000, was advertised to be opened yesterday. Not since the awarding of the original Grand Trunk Pacific work in 1904 has there been such a gathering of wealthy contractors as are here today. Tenders have been received from Sir John Johnson, London; Hubert Larkin, St. Catharines; Booth & Flinn, Pittsburg, Pa.; S. Pederson & Sons, London, Eng.; Messrs. Corbet of New Brunswick; Davis Bros., Ottawa; Gillespie & Co., New York; Porter Bros., formerly of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and others.

Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Railways and Canals, is absent in New Ontario, and Hon. Robert Rogers, Minister of Public Works, will not reach Ottawa before Sept. 5.

It was intimated at the Prime Minister's office yesterday that the Welland Canal contract would not likely be awarded for several days.

HAWKER'S BAD FALL

Accident Probably Ends Chance of Winning Big Prize.

DUBLIN, Aug. 28.—Hawker's flight was stopped again near Portraine, 12 miles from the control station here by the fracture of one of the wings of his hydro aeroplane. Coastguards went to his assistance.

It was his intention to fly to-day from Oban by way of Dublin to Falmouth, a distance of 502 miles, thus leaving 202 miles for his final dash in the morning from Falmouth to Southampton, where he must arrive at half past nine in the morning in order to be successful.

When Hawker and his mechanic were taken from the water into which they had fallen from the height of 100 feet, they were found to be suffering from cuts on their heads and arms, and were taken to the coastguard station for treatment.

LARGEST VESSEL AFLOAT WAS SWEPT BY FIRE

Awful Struggle With the Flames—Second Officer Suffocated in Attempt to Fight the Fire

Canadian Press Despatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Steamer Imperator, the largest vessel afloat, was swept by fire early this morning lying at Hoboken docks with crew and 1131 steerage passengers aboard. Second officer Gobrecht, who led crew into hold to fight the flames, was cut off from the men enveloped in a cloud of smoke and suffocated. The body was found an hour later, untouched by fire. An unknown seaman, one of the party, went down with Gobrecht was missing at roll call, and undoubtedly perished. A fleet of fire-fighting craft was augmented by apparatus on short notice, surrounded ship and poured tons of water into the hold. When the fire was checked at eight o'clock, the great vessel had listed fifteen degrees. The steerage passengers were aroused from sleep by the crackling of flames and rushed panic stricken for the pier. Most of them returned to the ship for clothing, when reassured by officers, and spent the remainder of the night huddled together. They were surrounded by guards and immigration authorities who rushed them to Ellis Island this morning.

DEPUTY MINISTER

William Hinsworth is Promoted in Inland Revenue Dept.

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—William Hinsworth, for many years chief clerk of the Inland Revenue Department, has been appointed Deputy Minister. He has been Acting Deputy for some months, since the retirement from the Deputyship of W. J. Gerald.

J. U. Vincent, barrister, of Ottawa, the unsuccessful Conservative candidate in the county of Russell in the last general election, has been appointed Assistant Deputy Minister and Secretary of the Department. Mr. Vincent is the law partner of the son-in-law of Hon. Bruno Nantel, Minister of Inland Revenue.

HAD A VISION OF HOW TO CURE CONSUMPTION

Negro Charged With Murder

Canadian Press Despatch.

EDMONTON, Aug. 28.—Fijan Cobb, a negro, was arrested on a charge of murder following a coroner's inquiry into the death of Mrs. Celestine Petch. The woman was suffering from tubercular trouble, and the jury decided that her death was hastened by the treatment given her by Cobb, who claimed to have had a vision in which he learned how to cure consumption. He has treated many patients.

Olympic Fund a Fiasco.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The appeal for a public fund of $500,000 for the purpose of re-establishing Great Britain's supremacy in sport at the next Olympic games looks like ending in a fiasco. Although the fund has now been open ten days the subscriptions amount only to $24,000, this small sum being made up chiefly by large donations.

The response of the general public to the appeal has been negligible.

SERVED WITH LOADED SHELLS

Tragedies Narrowly Averted in Manoeuvres.

CHATHAM, Aug. 28.—When the Blue army halted at noon yesterday an inspection was made of ball pouches and rifles. The officers were startled to find that several men were carrying loaded shells, such as are used in the regimental shooting galleries. A thorough search was made and all such shells were taken up. Serious results might have followed the first skirmish had these shells not been discovered, for in the heat of action it would have been very easy for a man to confuse the loaded and the blank shells. There will be an inquiry as to the manner in which the men were accidentally served with loaded shells.

The Blues marched seven miles from the night camp before noon. Last night extra sentries were posted to prevent any possibility of a surprise attack by the Red forces during the night. The main armies are now only three miles apart.

During the day the 24th Regiment had been the advance party, and they had been very active with their scouts. Last night they were in charge of outposts and sentry duty. The youngest member of the invading force is Teddy McCall, the eleven-year-old son of A. I. McCall of this city. He is expert in signalling and is a member of the signal party. Yesterday he insisted on walking, and for six miles he kept up with the army. Finally the pleas of the officers were listened to and very condescendingly he climbed aboard a motorcycle and much against his will rode the last mile of the march.

The following is an excellent polish for the piano: Take equal parts of vinegar and paraffin oil, and put together in a bottle. Shake well before using. It will be found to give more brilliant polish and has not the sticky appearance of furniture creams.

Toronto Man High Chief Ranger.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 28.—W. R. Woodstock of Toronto was elected by acclamation high chief ranger of the Ancient Order of Foresters, in session there, yesterday. W. Williams, Toronto, was returned to office as permanent secretary. Elections for high court officers will be held to-day. The reports yesterday show progress by the order over the Dominion.

REMAIN NEUTRAL

Strict Policy of "Hands Off" Will be Enforced.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—President Wilson went to Congress yesterday and revealed how the Huerta Provisional Government in Mexico had rejected the friendship of the United States and its effort to aid in the establishing of peace and a government which could be recognised by this nation, and which would be obeyed and respected by Mexico's own people. After picturing the hopelessness for Mexico if she maintained her present position, "isolated and without friends who can effectually aid her," the President announced the necessity of a firm neutral stand by the United States Government, a policy of "hands off" to await the time of Mexico's awakening. He also voiced an urgent appeal for all Americans to leave Mexico and for the United States to aid them every possible way, but in emphatic language served notice upon those who assume to exercise authority in the revolution-torn country that they would be held to a definite reckoning for losses and suffering of American citizens.

The message of the President was received with enthusiastic applause by members of the House and Senate gathered in joint session in the House chamber, and last night the machinery of the Government was set in motion for making effective policy of neutrality and "hands off" while the warring factions continue their struggle. To prevent the shipment of arms or munitions of war into any part of Mexico, or to any faction, the United States troops on the border already have been warned to exercise increased vigilance. Whether more troops will be sent to the border is a question to be determined within the next few days.

Secretary Bryan prepared to confer with President Wilson early to-day, and the assurance was given that everything necessary should be done to carry out strict neutrality. Secretary Daniels conferred with the President during the day and the Navy Department is ready to despatch more ships to Mexican waters if required to prevent the shipment of arms to Mexico by sea.

Foreign powers, it was understood last night, have not been asked to place an embargo on the shipment of munitions of war to Mexico, but the President in his message asserted that this Government had been given the generous moral support of foreign nations in the proposals to the Huerta Government. It became known that the administration has under serious consideration the ordering of several thousand more troops to the Mexican border line.

In his message, which was in the nature of an appeal to the moral forces of this and foreign nations, the President made it clear that he based high hopes upon the effect the announcement of this Government's policy will have upon, not only the people of this country and the Governments of other nations, but upon the people of Mexico themselves. Now that the United States has exhausted the effort to bring about peace and a stable Mexican Government, the President believes that this Government's example to the world will avail great good in the end.

Congressional leaders declared last night that President Wilson's vigorous assertion of a definite policy toward Mexico, would have the effect of staying in Congress, for a time at least, open criticism of the administration and demands for information.

Mexico Is Indifferent.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 28.—President Huerta evinced little interest, apparently, in the effect of President Wilson's speech to the U. S. Congress. When the message was read to him he said:

"That is substantially what I expected," he said, "we never had any reason to doubt the friendship and disinterested motives of the United States."

None of the afternoon papers carried despatches of what transpired in Washington. Surprisingly little interest is manifested in the developments, either by the public or seemingly by officials.

Should Leave at Once.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—President Wilson last night warned all Americans to leave Mexico at once. At the same time the American embassy and all consular representatives throughout the southern republic were instructed to "notify all officials, civil and military, in Mexico," that they would be held strictly responsible for harm or injury done to Americans or their property.

CHRYSLER'S FARM IS SCENE OF CENTENARY CELEBRATION

Between Five and Six Thousand Farmers and Their Families From Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Make a Pilgrimage to the Spot Where Many of Their Grandfathers Defeated the Invader.

MORRISBURG, Ont., Aug. 28.—Gathering from all directions from the first break of dawn yesterday, between five and six thousand farmers, with women and children, residents of the three united counties of Stormount, Dundas and Glengarry, came to the historic spot known as Chrysler's Farm to commemorate the victory one hundred years ago, that was perhaps the deciding factor in preserving Canada for the British Empire. Long before the hour set for the opening of the program the old farm was a moving kaleidoscope of gay colors, with thousands of banners flapping in the breeze and the multi-colored uniforms of the soldiery mingling with the more sombre hues of the civilian visitors. Of the entire crowd perhaps one-half were people whose ancestors fought at Chrysler's Farm.

Early on the scene was Andrew Broder, M.P. He was followed shortly afterward by Hon. Geo. P. Graham, M.P., ex-Minister of Railways, whose address opened the afternoon's proceedings. Mr. Graham addressed himself particularly to the children, who numbered nearly 2,000, the speaker endeavoring to impress upon them the meaning of such demonstrations and the chief lesson of this demonstration he found in the fact that the men of 1813, as he believed the men of 1913 also did, held their heritage within the British Empire dearer than their lives.

Mr. Broder had little to say other than to thank the people for the hearty support accorded him in organizing the celebration.

Between 500 and 600 children took part in the celebration through the kindness of Mrs. E. C. Whitney of Ottawa, a granddaughter of John Chrysler, whose fame was own in the battle of Nov. 11, 1813.

Last night the Governor-General's band played on the river front, and there was a fireworks display. To-day the Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux and Sir James Whitney will be the orators.

British Ambassadors Transferred.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Sir Maurice de Bunsen, the British ambassador at Madrid, has been transferred to Vienna to replace Sir Fairfax Leighton Cartwright, who has resigned.

Sir Arthur Henry Hardinge, at present Minister to Portugal, has been transferred to Madrid.

THE BLOW WAS FATAL

Further Particulars of the Fatality in a Toronto Hotel.

TORONTO, Aug. 28.—A petty quarrel over some work to be done, a few angry words, two quick blows and Lucy Ives lay dead on the floor of the kitchen at Smith's Hotel at the corner of Queen and Simcoe streets.

The woman was a kitchen helper at the hotel, and the man who struck the fatal blow was James Dickinson, employed as a porter there. According to witnesses of the tragedy the woman had called Dickinson to fetch in the ice at 8.30 yesterday morning. The man was eating his breakfast at the time and resented being disturbed. The woman, angered at his inattention to her request, lost her patience and dealt him a sharp blow on the side of the head. The man sprang from the table, and swinging his fist caught the woman on the right side of her face, felling her to the ground.

As she lay unconscious on the floor some of the witnesses of the occurrence called in a doctor, who pronounced the woman dead.

In the confusion Dickinson had left the room, and when the doctor's verdict was given the police were summoned and a search instituted for the man. He was traced to two other hotels in the neighborhood and finally located in his room at 230 Simcoe street, lying in a drunken stupor on the bed.

The man was unable to realize the position in which he was placed, and when he appeared in police court later in the day had not sufficiently recovered from his potations to understand that he will have to appear again to-day to answer a charge of murder. He was held in the cells on a nominal charge of drunkenness. Detective Sergeant Mackie has charge of the case.

Practically nothing is known at the hotel of the antecedents of the dead woman. She had been employed at Smith's for about three weeks. She was about thirty years of age, and wore a wedding ring on her left hand together with a cheap gem ring.

Dickinson is a Scotchman and has been working at the hotel for three months. He is about forty years of age and was always very reticent about himself. He roomed at the house of Mrs. Andrew Tuttle at 230 Simcoe street, and his landlady described him as an exceptionally quiet man, very good pay and very little trouble.

DANCING

Dancing is a relict of the aboriginal us. And it would seem that in some people there remains more of the relic than in others. We are all more or less savages in this respect. The highly civilized and decorous professor who shuffles his feet on his study hearth-rug, unconsciously gives way to the dancing instinct and betrays his will origin.

It is the same impulse which prompts the modern young man and woman to whirl and caper in a ball room, as that which prompted the African in his moonlight orgies and the Mohawk to the war dances.

We are all of a piece, but some of us are more restrained than others. The young people must work off their superfluous energy somehow, and if they dont' dance Sir Roger, they will dance to the tune of St. Vitus.

But the danger with all these relicts of our naked ancestry is the tendency to excess, to go back to the savage. If dancing can be restricted, like music, within the bounds of decency it might be termed an art, and even "the poetry of motion." But when it becomes angular and indecent it is as much to be despised and condemned as indecent poetry. Dancing, like all art, is an expression of some emotion, and if the emotions are pure the expression will be beautiful and pleasing.

There is nothing beautiful and nothing pleasing, except to depraved tastes, in some of the dances that have been introduced into many of our summer resorts of late; and the sooner they are banned, as one would bann and exterminate a moral pest of any other kind, the better for the dancers and for those who look on.

POWER IN AND OUT OF OFFICE

Some of the papers have been trying to find the distinction which the Montreal Telegraph makes between office and power. The Telegraph said recently that what the Liberal party wanted was "not office, but power."

The explanation is simple enough. The Liberals want to rule Canada whether in or out of office. They want, in other words, to establish a Liberal Autocracy. This they have already in the Senate. As for "power" in the Commons they intend retaining it there, too, by a policy of verbose and merciless obstruction.

IMPERIAL CITIZENSHIP

Legislation is pending in the British Parliament and in all the overseas Dominions in reference to the question of British citizenship. At present the Canadian naturalized citizen has no standing as a British subject outside of Canada. If he should be molested in a foreign country he cannot appeal to the British consul for protection.

The proposed new law will require that all aliens coming into Canada shall reside in any of the British Dominions for five years before attaining full Imperial citizenship.

EDITORIAL NOTES

In the "silly season" when there is a scarcity of news the escape of a lunatic makes good copy. Doubtless Thaw was sufficiently sane to appreciate and take advantage of the supreme opportunity of bringing himself before the public and soliciting some sympathy.

A lot of loose talk is going on among certain newspapers about womens' dress. The hot weather has a great deal to do with the paucity of female attire, and as for the accentuation of the female form divine, somebody's catalogue is responsible for much of this exposition. It is not modesty but the weather that makes them conceal their forms in winter.

That was a wise editorial in the Examiner on the filling in of trenches on the main street before the laying of the new pavement. It would be better to have them well stamped down before the pavement is in than after. Liberal papers have their lucid intervals and they are worth remarking.

A scarcity of seamen at Canadian eastern ports by the Labor Gazette. Canadian young men are listening to the call of the land just now, they they have not yet heard the call of the sea.

Preachers have been preaching for a long time about the brevity and uncertainty of life. Now the insurance companies are taking to the pulpit to advance their business. One advertisement reads thus: "You will surely die. All men do. You are more likely to die within a week or a year than your house is to burn." This might be termed the new evangelism.

EXCERPTS

AT LAST.

O Beauty, I have wandered far;
Peace, I have suffered seeking thee;
Life, I have sought to see thy star
That other men might see.

And after wandering nights and days,
A gleam in a beloved soul
Shows how life's elemental blaze
Goes wandering through the whole.

Bearing the discipline of earth,
That earth, controlled, may bring forth flowers,
Oh may our labors help the birth
Of nobler souls than ours.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor of The Review.

Sirs— The Bensfort friends of the Bensfort post-master are anxious to meet him on his little job. But they don't seem a bit anxious about the Smithbank post-master. Ain't that strange?

"INQUIRER."

9 Poplar Plains, Road,
Toronto, 27, 8, '13.

Editor The Daily Review.

Dear Sir,—I am pleased to be able to furnish your readers with the facts of the case on which you editorial "Religion or Manslaughter" was based.

The facts of the case are exceedingly simple. The Jewells had two children. The younger, a boy, came home from school unwell. On application at the school the mother learned that there was a mild epidemic of measles and colds. The symptoms were described to her and they agreed with those shown by the boy. The boy was treated by a Christian Science practitioner and entirely healed. Almost immediately the girl sickened in the same way. At the end of the first few days the child was so much better that the parents made preparations to take her to the seaside, having engaged lodgings, whilst at the same time treatment was stopped. No anxiety whatever was caused until the day of death. On that day the child ate something that disagreed with her. Violent vomiting ensued and she expired immediately of syncope. As the child died without the attendance of a registered medical practitioner an autopsy and inquest followed. The inquest offered no explanation of the death other than that already given, but a bacteriological examination of the throat gave evidence of diphtheritic germs. When the case came before the Coroner the doctor who made the autopsy and the bacteriologist were called. The doctor who made the autopsy declined to say that the child died of diphtheria or that death was accelerated. The bacteriologist could only say that diphtheric germs were present in the part examined, but that did not necessarily mean that the child had suffered from diphtheria.

The majority of Christian Science parents have accepted this method of healing only after having exhausted everything that medical skill had to offer. They love their children just as dearly as those who depend on material remedies.

The newspaper reports of this case contain the evidence of both parents that they were themselves healed of "displaced organs" by Christian Science.

Under these circumstances their adherence to Christian Science was based, not on fanaticism, but, on the fact that they had themselves tried both medicine and Christian Science and their intelligent judgment based upon experience prompted them to rely upon the latter for their children as well as for themselves.

I thank you for giving space to this communication, and remain,

Sincerely yours,
G. W. ALLAN,

This is an exceptional chance to visit the West, which is truly called the land of "Golden Opportunities," and many prosperous farmers and business men now residing in Western Canada can trace the origin of their good fortune to a "Farm Laborers' Excursion." The route via Chicago is an attractive one, many large cities and towns being passed en route, which breaks the monotany of the journey, there being something new to see all the time. The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway is the shortest and quickest route between Winnipeg-Saskatoon-Edmonton, with smooth roadbed, through the newest, most picturesque and most rapidly developing section of Western Canada.

The Best Detective Story of the Last Ten Years

Thrills were shooting through the bathroom squad at the rate of a hundred a minute. Here was a sensation such as the ultra-refined Renaissance had not known before in all its history. A beautiful woman, stolen gems, and a thief she seemingly sought to shield! This was better than the most delectable divorce could hope to be.

Mrs. Delaroche shivered, and started slowly to her feet. She turned a disdainful glance on the group at the door, then faced Britz once more, and in a voice little more than a whisper she said:

"Whatever you may think, I did not know the jewels were stolen. I did not know they ever belonged to Mrs. Missioner. I never heard of Mrs. Missioner before to-night, except through the papers. I did not know that any of my acquaintances knew her. I was not aware she had lost any of her diamonds. What you tell me about the theft of a necklace from Mrs. Missioner is entirely new to me. I seldom read the papers, and when I do, I do not read accounts of crime."

"All you say may be true," Britz persisted, "but you may take my word for it—the jewels are Mrs. Missioner's; they were stolen from her, and you must tell me the name of the person who gave them to you."

The beautiful woman's distress at this time was so sincere that the Headquarters man involuntarily dealt with her more gently. He urged her to be seated again, and then for the first time apparently remembered his hands still were gripped by the bands of steel the house detective had snapped upon them.

"Take these off!" he said curtly to the hotel sleuth, and he was obeyed instantly. His hands free, Britz picked up the silver jewel case and examined its exterior curiously, waiting for the revelation he was resolved to get from the woman. Not until many more minutes had passed and it was evident she would reveal nothing without more insistent urging did Britz turn to her again.

"Madam," said he, "since you will not give the information to me, I shall have to take you to Police Headquarters, where, I can assure you, you will soon be convinced it is to your own interest to tell all you know."

"Oh, not that, not that! No, no!" gasped Mrs. Delaroche. "I will tell you. The diamonds were given to me by——"

Her voice sank to so low a pitch that Britz had to lean toward her to hear her.

"By the man I intended to marry!" She covered her face with her hands, and once more those terrible dry sobs racked her body. Had Britz not been so bent upon probing the mystery of the stolen diamonds to its core, he might have relented in his disquisition for the time, but he felt the demands of the case gave him no choice. If the man he suspected was to be seized and punished, it must be done quickly, or there would be great danger of his escape.

"His name!" he demanded with increased sternness. "Come, madam, I must have his name. It is altogether useless for you to try to conceal it."

She did not answer. The men at the door strained toward the interior of the room while the house detective and the porter stared in amazement at the woman whose hauteur had become proverbial throughout the big hotel.

"Madam, I must insist once more that you tell me the man's name," Britz said.

"His name?" she returned wonderingly.

"Yes, Mrs. Delaroche, his name," the detective said. "Or, perhaps, I had better tell it to you?"

An inquiring look was her reply.

"It is Curtis Griswold, isn't it?" said the Headquarters man incisively.

Mrs. Delaroche, with a little cry which showed more emotion than any one would expect from so self-centred a woman, sprang to her feet and advanced towards Britz with hands outstretched in protest.

"You don't mean to say that you believe Mr. Griswold to be a thief!" she exclaimed.

"You shall see, madam," rejoined Britz, "how successful he has been in at least one robbery."

The detective laid his hand lovingly on the silver box.

"Inside this little casket," he said, "are jewels worth more than half a million dollars. Please let me have the key to this jewel box."

Reluctantly, she unfastened a slender gold chain that hung about her neck, from which depended a tiny silver key. Britz fitted it into the lock and turned the bolt. Triumphantly he seized the lid, and, as everyone else in the room focused eager eyes upon the silver box, Britz opened it; then dropped it on the table with a furious exclamation.

The box was empty!

CHAPTER XXII.

Hot on the Scent

Britz bounded into the inner room and made a quick examination of every window. He found marks on one of the casements that told his practiced eye entry to the apartment had been made through the window by someone skilled in daring burglary. It gave on the fire escape. Britz flung up the sash and looked out. As he expected, there was a long string of ladders and balconies that ended one story above the street. The fire escape was at the least frequented end of the big hotel, and an awning threw a shadow from the arc lamp on the globe big enough to afford opportunity for an agile man to mount on the shoulders of a comrade, grasp the second-story window and swing himself up unseen. He let his eyes fall on the balcony one story below the window. On it lay something yellow, crumpled as if dropped inadvertently. Britz ran down the ladder and returned to the room with the object. It was an Oriental handkerchief such as he had seen in the Swami's possession.

It was perfectly plain to Britz that the Hindoos had been beforehand with him in recovering the Missioner jewels. By this time he knew enough to be certain that their object in getting possession of the gems was even stronger than the professional pride that had actuated him to recover them for their owner. He was aware they had a reason yet to be explained why they were in such a desperate hurry to take the stones of the necklace, or at least one of them—the Maharanee—to India. Even now they might be aboard a vessel that would put to sea in a few hours, leaving no trace of their departure. Or, it might be they were beyond the city limits on their way to another port of exit. He must stop them at all hazards. He leaped to the telephone, called Police Headquarters, got Manning on the wire, and asked the Chief to give personal attention to the request he was about to make.

"Notify all precincts," said Britz, "to stop every man of Oriental appearance attemping to leave the city by boat or train. Have all the ferries watched and send a double detail to the Grand Central Station. Telephone the Associated Press for a list of the vessels about to sail to-day; have the water front watched for tramp steamers, and don't foget the small craft, both sail and steam."

"Have you found the jewels?" asked Manning, at the other end of the wire.

"No!" roared Britz, "but I will have them in a few hours, if you'll make the bunch hustle to help me. Will you attend to all this yourself, Chief?"

Receiving assurance that Manning would do so, Britz added: "Please have a plain clothes man rushed here from the Sixty-eighth Street Station to report to me. Stop! Come to think of it, I'll leave orders for him here with the house detective. Where am I? Hotel Renaissance. Good-by!"

Britz, even as he hung up the receiver, turned to the house sleuth and said:

"When the detective gets here from the police station tell him to take charge of this woman until he hears from me. Meanwhile, you keep an eye on her yourself. She must not leave this room. Tell the precinct man if she tries to go out, to put her under arrest and take her down to Manning."

"Madam," said Britz, turning to Mrs. Delaroche with a tone of bitterness in his tone, "you may have fooled me in this matter, but I'm willing to give you the benefit of the doubt. You heard my orders? You will not be arrested for the present if you stay quietly in your rooms, but you must not attempt to leave, and you must not try to communicate with anybody. Here, I'll make sure of that!"

He siezed the telephone instrument, wrenched it from its connection, and handed it to the porter.

"Take that downstairs," he said, "and don't put another telephone in this room as long as Mrs. Delaroche occupies it, unless you hear from me. And as for you, gentlemen," he said cuttingly to the bathrobe squad, "I'd suggest that if your insomnia is as bad as that, you'd better either go back to bed and count the sheep going over the stile, or else put some more clothes on and go out for a walk. This show is ended." And he showed the group from the room and, followed by the porter, hurried out, leaving Mrs. Delaroche in her apartment in the custody of the house detective, with only the solace of a single maid.

Britz found Dr. Fitch waiting for him on the sidewalk, as he had arranged before entering the apartment of Mrs. Delaroche in the guise of a burglar, and in a single word told the physician how he had been balked in the chief object of his nocturnal visit.

"Quick's the word now, doc!" said Britz.

"Where are you going?" asekd Fitch.

"To head off the Hindoos," cried Britz. "Let's get a cab." But the last taxicab on the Renaissance stand had been chartered an hour before by a swarthy man who seemed to be in great haste. That much Britz learned from the inspector in charge of the stand. Britz and Fitch rounded the corner of the hotel. Close to the curb stood a private coupe. The coachman, doubtless on a long wait, was nodding sleepily. Britz jerked open a door of the carriage.

"Jump in, quick," he cried and Fitch who long ago had learned to carry out Britz's suggestions without stopping to ask questions, sprang into the cab. Britz slammed the door with violence that awoke the coachman. Before the driver could utter a word of protest, the athletic detective reached the box beside him in a single leap, pushed him off with a shove that landed the amazed jehu on his hands and knees on the sidewalk, seized the reins, snatched the whip, and put the horse to a gallop. As he sped away, he hastily changed the whip to the hand that held the ribbons and, whipping from his pocket a card that read, "Detective-Lieutenant Britz, Police Headquarters," he flung it at the prostrate coachman with the words, "Call there to-morrow for your rig."

Then, with the horse straining at the traces in indignant surprise, Britz drove at breakneck speed down the avenue, turning sharply at the first convenient corner and heading east toward the mysterious brown-stone dwelling wherein he had held his interesting interview in regard to the ways of the Orient with the Eastern sage.

The galloping horse and the swaying carriage shook the echoes of the silent streets, and at several avenue crossings traffic policemen started to halt the Central Office man. But in each instance the detective shouted, "I'm Britz, of Headquarters!" and that averted interruption as he dashed on toward the Swami's house at top speed. Arriving there, he hastily handed the ribbons to a patrolman who chanced to be at the end of the beat, and, followed closely by Fitch, he ran up the steps and pushed the button of the electric bell. Inside the house, the burr-r-r of the little gong sounded piercingly. Britz and Fitch listened impatiently at the outer door of the vestibule for responsive footsteps, but none came. Then the detective recalled the thickness of the rugs and carpets in the house, and did not at once conclude no one was within. Until he had rung the bell several times in vain he did not accept the fact that the house either was untenanted, or was occupied by persons who did not see fit to answer. A word to the bluecoat on the sidewalk, accompanied by a flash of a shield on the detective's waistcoat, had told him the visit was a matter of police business. Then Britz ran down the steps and tried the basement door. The detective was equally unsuccessful in his demands to obtain a response to his ring of the lower bell. He ran up the steps again and once more pushed the button of the electric bell. No answer came. Britz turned the handle of the door. To his astonishment, it turned freely, and at a gentle push the door swung inward. The inner door of the vestibule was ajar. Britz and Fitch entered cautiously. Their feet fell silently on the heavy Oriental rug. They found themselves in complete darkness. The glimmer from the street lamp did not penetrate more than a foot or two beyond the inner door. Britz whisked out his electric torch and turned its miniature headlight on the passage and on the area leading to the upper part of the house.

"Hello!" he called. "Is anybody in?"

Silence as heavy and oppressive as the darkness beyond the radiance of his little pocket lamp answered him again. The two men, the detective slightly in advance, walked quickly along the hall to the door at the rear, where Britz parted the portieres and looked into the big room in which he had interviewed the Eastern scholar. Its appearance was much the same as it had been on his preceding visit, save that as his practiced eye dwelt more persistently upon it, he noted the disappearance of many small articles, particularly a porphyry Buddha that had sat within a little shrine upon the wall. The apartment had the seeming of having been subjected to a surface stripping by persons about to leave it in a hurry. Few of the solemn books remained. Among the Oriental objects still in the room was the archileh from which the sage was fond of drawing a smoker's consolation.

"Gone, eh?" said Fitch, in an undertone. ...

Britz nodded.

"Think we had better look upstairs?" asked the doctor.

You May Publish My Letter About "Fruit-a-tives"

Mr. Jones is proud to acknowledge the great debt of gratitude he owes "Fruit-a-tives". He is glad to have his letter published in order that other sufferers may be induced to try these wonderful tablets made of fruit juices.

SARNIA, ONT., FEB. 5th. 1911

"I have been a sufferer for the past 25 years with Constipation, Indigestion and Catarrh of the Stomach. I tried many remedies and many doctors, but derived no benefit whatever. Finally, I read an advertisement for "Fruit-a-tives". I decided to give "Fruit-a-tives" a trial and they did exactly what was claimed for them. I have now taken them for some time and find they are the only remedy that does me good. I have recommended "Fruit-a-tives" to a great many of my friends, and I cannot praise these fruit tablets too highly"

Princess Tip Top Swimmer.

It is not generally known that Princess Mary, King George's daughter, is a first-class swimmer.

The other day at the London Bath Club she took part in the contest for the Ladies' Challenge Shield — fifty yards breast stroke, floating, diving and ornamental swimming—and though she did not finish among the first three she proved that she is a graceful and accomplished swimmer.

"The open-air Princess," as she has been called, certainly deserves her name; young as she is, she can already hold her own in most sports. She is a frequent visitor to the Bath Club, of which, with the Prince of Wales, she has been a member for the last five years.

ADVANTAGES OF SHADE

The deleterious effects of sunlight are all too often lost sight of, and it is a common occurrence in a Canadian city to see eggs, meat and other comestibles exposed in store windows to the rays of the sun. Eggs in particular will often deteriorate very rapidly in quality when exposed to the sunlight, although the same thing holds good of canned goods, meats and ripe fruits.

In spite of the fact that the advantages of shade have frequently been clearly pointed out and are generally recognized, many shopkeepers do not seem to consider this matter worthy of attention. The erection of an awning is a simple matter, and one which is in the highest degree advantageous where food stuffs are concerned—Conservation.

Mr. J. A. Porter has resigned the clerkship of South Monaghan.

MR. DODDS TELLS WHY

C.P.R. Company Takes Action to Stop Trespassing

During the past few days, extensive steps have been taken by the Canadian Pacific Railway to make the people discontinue the practice of walking on the tracks.

To-day a representative of The Review called on Mr. Dodds, and learned the reason why the company is stopping the past custom.

A few weeks ago a C.P.R. official passed through the city at noon, and was surprised at the crowds who used the tracks as a public highway. He facts, united the superintendent with what he saw and the latter immediately sent out instructions that the detective in this vicinity stop trespassing for once and all. Special officer Weller is working with that end in view and hopes to have the tracks vacated in a short time.

When asked if there was any section in particular that the people could use, Mr. Dodds said: "decidedly no; people cannot walk on the C.P.R. track inside the city limits."

Mr. Dodds said that in case of an accident from anyone walking on the tracks the company might be blamed for allowing the property to be used as a public highway.

LAST OF THE HALF HOLIDAY ON THURSDAY

Last of the.

This afternoon, the last of the Thursday half holidays was observed by the local merchants. This year the merchants have co-operated in a splendid manner, the half-holiday having been observed in practically all the stores in the city.

But a different view is taken by the Port Hope Times in regard to a weekly half holiday, as the Times says:

"The funeral-like appearance of Walton street every Wednesday afternoon is a poor advertisement for the town. Strangers get a bad impression, and go away thinking Port Hope is the deadest town on the line.

There is no Wednesday half-holiday in Cobourg. The business men of the East are wise.

It is only the clerks that want the mid-week half-holiday, said a prominent Cobourg business man to The Times.

A town whose business places are closed up every Wednesday afternoon has great need of a live Board of Trade.

COMPLAINT OF THE FARMERS

Their Orchards Suffer From Depredations by Youths

Once again are the farmers and owners of apple orchards kept busy frustrating the designs of numerous boys and also a number of young men from the city, who invade the orchards near the city. Not satisfied in many cases with stealing the fruit, the invaders even tear limbs off the trees and cause considerable other damage.

"Several large parties visited my orchard on Sunday evening and completely cleaned me out of some of my choicest apples," remarked a well known fruit-grower of Otonabee, this morning.

The owners also claim that young men drive out in the evening and swarm into the orchards.

The county constables have been notified of these affairs and unless the offenders quit the practice, a few other means besides being chased by farmers dogs will be taken.

GENERAL LORD KITCHENER.

A plot to assassinate Lord Kitchener has been discovered at Oxford University, stated the London Daily Express.

The Foreign Office has learned that an Egyptian undergraduate, whose name is kept secret, has planned to kill Lord Kitchener with the aid of an Egyptian nationalist secret society.

Sir Edward Grey informed the Home Office the Egyptian is associated with agitators and is prominent in seditious Egyptian circles in London.

How many men are bothered with that saw-like roughness at the edge of collars after being laundered several times. A complete cure may be effected by merely rubbing the edge with a piece of ordinary paraffin wax. Thus the collars do not soil so readily, and the material lasts much longer, for the wax fills up the roughness of the edges.

Rain, which threatened all day, really never got started, and conditions were ideal for the riflemen. Scores were consequently high.

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS ASTONISHED

RHEUMA Acts on Kidneys, Liver and Blood the First Day—and Out Goes Uric Acid Poison

Anybody can afford to pay 50 cents to get rid of terrible rheumatism, Sciatica or Gout, and that's all RHEUMA costs at Warne's Drug Company and they say if it doesn't do all that is claimed for it, money back.

It's wonderful how speedily this simple remedy takes hold and how the sore muscles limber up and the swollen joints come down to normal. Make no mistake—RHEUMA costs but little, but its the best remedy you can find to drive Rheumatic poison from the system and bring back health to misery-racked bodies.

"I had Rheumatism for a long while, and tried many medicines, but was not cured until I used RHEUMA. I cannot praise RHEUMA too highly. My advice to those suffering from Rheumatism is to use this great remedy, as I believe it will effect a permanent cure in any case."—C. B. Lanham, Yattes, W. Va., April 27, 1912.

ROWANITES DIVIDED TWO GAMES WITH SAINTS

ST. THOMAS, ONT., Aug. 28.—The Canadian League season was brought to a close here yesterday when the Saints and Peterborough broke even in a double-header, the visitors winning the first game and the locals taking the second. In the initial contest Clements and Belting were both hit hard, but Clements' support was ragged and the Petes won easily. In the last game Howick was in great form and the visitors could do little with him, while Tracey was hit quite freely. Kopp again featured, knocking out five hits, including a double, out of six times up. President Fitzgerald was present and witnessed both games. He liked the work of Umpire Evans very much.

MARTIN CASE

Tracking the Murderer of Toronto Milliner

TORONTO, Aug. 28.—That the New York police are still doing their utmost to track down the two men suspected of murdering William Grieve Martin, the Carlton street milliner, was the information conveyed to Martin's father in a letter from Deputy Commissioner Dougherty. He also said that they have a first class clue and that they were leaving no stone unturned in their endeavor to locate them; that they have been properly identified, and that there was no doubt whatever of their being ultimately arrested.

An effort is being made to dispose of the stock and fittings of the Carlton street store by Mr. J. G. Martin. He has had an expert milliner take an inventory and wants to get rid of it as soon as possible before it is too late in the season. Already several inquiries have been made and Mr. Martin does not think he will have any difficulty of disposing of the business for a good price.

A very close examination of the effects and papers have been made, but no will of any kind has been found. Business affairs were found in excellent condition, and so far as his father could find there were practically no debts. The stock and fixtures had all been paid for and were found to be of considerable value.

HAD WESTERN LANDS.

In going over the books it was found that Martin had been speculating in land and holding lots in Calgary and other points in the west as well as in Toronto.

The business was found to be a very widespread one, for on the books were names of customers in Winnipeg and all through the West in addition to the many who resided in Toronto.

Mortimer, Martin's friend, is at present staying with Mr. Morrison on Concord avenue, but is arranging to move his effects from the rooms over the store, and will later reside on Church street. He has gone back to his work in one of the King street stores. He had been considering taking over the business of his old friend, but this does not now appear likely.

ALWAYS CARRIED MONEY.

Mr. Martin was convinced that the New York police were on the right track. He could not suggest any other theory than that his son had been decoyed to the house for the purpose of robbery.

Which Is More Urgent?

Fire Insurance

Important? You fully realize it. You would not allow your house to remain uninsured over night.

Your house may never burn. Comparatively few buildings ever do.

Life Insurance

Important? Oh yes, you intend to insure after a while when "a little better able to do so."

You will surely die. All men do. You are more likely to die within a week or a year, than your house is to burn.

CROWD BREAKS LOOSE.

Frenzied Women In Sherbrooke Court Cheer Thaw.

SHERBROOKE, Que., April 28.—Harry K. Thaw won three victories from the New York State authorities yesterday and was locked last night in the Sherbrooke jail, immune for the time being from the Dominion immigration authorities after having received from the townspeople of Sherbrooke, an ovation that would have done honor to a prince of the royal blood.

So riotous was the scene in the Superior Court, when, at the morning session, Justice Globensky refused to allow counsel representing New York State to be party to the proceedings, that the court subsequently warned spectators that a repetition of the cheering, chair climbing, handkerchief waving and general hysteria would mean jail sentences for the demonstrants.

Speaking from the bench at the afternoon session, he said that never in his experience as a member of the bar and of the bench had he been a witness to such a "disgraceful scene." It was carried out in the presence of court attendants and four armed Dominion police, who stood immobile while emotional women rushed toward Stanford White's slayer, saying "Three cheers for Thaw"; "Three cheers for the British flag. We will give you justice, Harry."

The three points in which Thaw's lawyers were successful in their first legal skirmish were:

1. New York State was denied the right to be party to the proceedings in court.

2. Counsel for the state failed in their efforts to have Thaw arraigned before a magistrate, and the commitment on which he is held quashed. This would have released him to the immigration officers.

3. Judge Globensky granted the plea of Thaw's counsel for a discontinuance of the writ of habeas corpus, which might have brought about his release yesterday. This remedied a stragetic blunder made by Thaw's attorneys last week, who apparently did not realize then that in seeking their client's release they were playing into the opposition's hands.

DOLLAR WHEAT PREDICTED,

Dollar Corn and Dollar Potatoes Are Also Likely

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Dollar corn, dollar wheat and dollar potatoes is the forecast sent out to farmers by the Orange Judd Farmer. Other food products are likely to carry prices in proportion.

"The world's production of oats, rye, buckwheat and other small grains is below normal," it is said, "and corn is the smallest in years. The same is true of potatoes in America and Europe. The intrinsic market worth of wheat at Chicago is fully $1 a bushel.

"The shortage in the corn crop is 600,000,000 bushels. The price is up two cents a bushel at 75 cents. The estimated crop is 2,300,000,000 bushels. Reduced yield of forage, pastures and hay will increase the demand for corn as feed for live stock. Its use as human food and in manufacture is steadily increasing. With all these things taken into consideration, it can be seen readily that corn should be worth $1 a bushel."

MAWSON PARTY RESCUED.

Relief Expedition Arrives at Camp Just In Nick of Time.

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand, Aug. 28.—Relief arrived just in the nick of time to save the lives of Dr. Douglas Mawson, the Australian Antarctic explorer, and his five companions who were left in March last on Macquarie Island, in the Antarctic Ocean, when the remaining 24 members of Dr. Mawson's expedition returned to Tasmania on board the Aurora from their South Polar trip.

The six men were believed to have ample provisions to last them until the Antarctic spring, but the commander of the Government steamer recently sent to their relief reports that the explorers had exhausted all their supplies, and that the men had been living for some time on the hearts and tongues of sea elephants. All of them were obviously in very weak condition when the relief ship reached them.

GERMANY IS INVOLVED.

Chinese Rebels Have Fallen Foul of Foreign Nation.

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—The commanding officer of the German East Asiatic cruiser squadron reports to the Government that the Chinese rebels in the fort near Wuhu recently fired on the cruiser Emden with both rifles and cannon. The Emden immediately answered with 25 shots, silencing the fort.

Advices received a week ago by the German Foreign Office indicated that trouble was impending between the German warships and the southern revolutionaries. The rebel leader, in a letter to the German consul at Nankin, declared that the Emden had bombarded the rebel position on Lion Hill, and he announced his intention of retaliating on the German cruiser and the consulate.

Two Killed In Mine.

TIMMINS, Aug. 28.—Early yesterday morning, at the Hollinger reserve, an explosion occurred, whereby two men, named Jack Nolan, a drill runner, and Mike Tereske, a deckhand, were killed. Tereske had just taken down a supply of dynamite, and reached the heading where Nolan was working, when the explosion took place. Nolan was a brother-in-law of Jack Newton of Golden City, and was well known in Cobalt and Porcupine. Mr. Newton is here today arranging for the disposition of the body. As far as can be ascertained, the explosion was a pure accident, and the cause will probably remain a mystery.

TRADING ON SOCIETY

HIGH-CLASS SWINDLERS PREY ON THE ARISTOCRACY.

London is the Home of a Large and Prosperous Body of Men and Women Who Plunder the Wealthy of Their Own Metropolis—Victims Are Slow to Prosecute Because of Shame or Lack of Evidence.

"There's as much human nature in some folks as there is in others," as David Harum says, and the confidence trick is not always pulled off on the innocent confiding visitor from the Colonies or farmer from the country, says London Answers. Sometimes it is practised in West End drawing rooms or in the offices of shrewd city financiers. "The chief difference is," said a famous Scotland Yard man to the writer, "that we sometimes catch the small bunco-steerer, but it is not often we can lay our hands on the polished, educated rogues who fly at bigger game. There either isn't evidence enough, or the victims won't prosecute. It's a safer game than burglary or forgery or any other illicit way of making a living—for the right man."

The men and women who quietly plunder society stand in a class by themselves. There are perhaps a dozen of them all told, and they practise their wiles impartially all over the globe.

A year or two ago the writer was brought into contact with perhaps the cleverest of all the fraternity. He was between forty and fifty, well born, and a delightful companion. He had been driven out of Mexico, convicted of swindling in Germany. In India, posing under the name of a well known millionaire, he had been received by the best society, and the Viceroy — then Lord Curzon—even gave a dinner in his honour.

His cool daring never deserted him. He knew that any moment he might be unmasked, but he went smilingly on his way, coming to London at last, where he put up at one of the most fashionable hotels and began to make acquaintances in the fashionable and business world. He became a member of exclusive clubs. He spread his net for the richest men in England, and peers, bankers, directors began to walk into his net. He needed £12,000,000 for a Chilian railway project—and he all but got it.

But an astute lawyer, residing in London—Judge Coyne—began at last to suspect, and made inquiries. A photograph from the Rogues' Gallery was sent to England and the game was up.

The masquerader was sent for by his big dupes. He knew that he was about to be denounced, but, imperturbable, smilingly innocent, he came. He coolly admitted his identity.

"Well, what are you going to do about it?" he laughed, lighting a cigarette.

When they spoke of prosecution and exposure he laughed. His knowledge of human nature was his stock-in-trade. He knew that his victims would never tell in open court how nearly they had been outwitted by an ex-convict. And he was right.

The "get-rich-quick" wish is not confined to one section of society. There are many people moving in the higher classes of London society who, while they would not purchase a "gold" ring just picked up in the street, have been swindled by what is practically the same trick on a larger scale.

Until a little while ago a gentleman of apparently ample fortune and quiet tastes was living in luxurious style at Brooklyn, in New York. He was known to his associates as James A. Currie. To the police he was known as "Red" Adams. To certain people in London he was known as Mr. James Thomas Stout or James Thomas Southwick.

Red Adams used quietly to watch the obituary notices in the London papers. When a rich man died, he would address a letter to him as though they had been on intimate terms. He would declare that he had just arrived in New York from "our mines in Colorado, where last season £10,000 in free milling gold was cleared up. One half the proceeds are yours." The point of the letter would be: "We have deferred recording our claims to give you an opportunity to come out, or send out some trustworthy person to look after your interests and record the claim staked out for you by your friend." Secrecy was insisted upon to keep the claim from being "jumped."

The relations of the dead man would, of course, get the letter, and sometimes they would send out a representative. He would be met by a typical Westerner, a simple son of the soil, with the guileless, open countenance, and a bluff, breezy manner. The writer of the letter, he would explain had been suddenly recalled to Colorado. He would take the English arrival to dinner, and then would come a wire.

"Syndicate got wind of discovery; endeavoring to buy adjoining land. Our option expires in three days. Short £5,000. Send same to complete purchase."

If the Englishman was gulled sufficiently, he would cable for the money and hand it over to the miner, who would then vanish. In ten years Red Adams is believed to have made £200,000 out of rich folk by this means.

At the West End gambling houses it is not uncommon to prepare a trap for a rich young society fool. A game of baccarat is started before he comes in. The cards are prepared, and when he enters he finds a game in full blast. The banker puts down the cards with a shrug. He has had enough, he declares. With a little persuasion, the "mug" takes the bank. Now it is a rule in baccarat that the cards may not be shuffled in the middle of the game, and this gives the rooks their opportunity. They know the order of every card, and it is perfectly easy to use their knowledge in betting. In a very little while the pigeon is cleared out.

Ingenious Method of Studying Fishes.

Dr. Francis Ward, of England, has invented a new way of studying the lives of fishes and other water inhabitants by building a pond with a glass side. This has been done before, but behind this glass side Dr. Ward built a light proof room, so when he went inside and shut the door behind he stood in the dark, so the fishes could not see him and be frightened.

TROOPS INVADE RACE TRACK

Wide Open Gambling Rudely Stopped at Porter, Indiana.

PORTER, Ind., Aug. 28.—Two companies of the Indiana National Guard arrived here at 5.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and immediately took charge of the Mineral Springs race track, where betting on horse races is said to have flourished since the opening of the meet last Thursday. The troops were ordered out by Governor Ralston after he had received word that the track officials were permitting gambling, and that the county authorities were doing little to stop it.

Yesterday's racing card had been completed, and the largest crowd of the meet had dispersed before the arrival of the troops.

There probably will be no racing to-day with the soldiers camping in the enclosure.

Gasoline Explodes.

LISTOWEL, Ont., Aug. 28.—Roy Bryant, assistant to F. S. Howe, barber, was badly burned about the face, arms and body yesterday afternoon by an explosion of gasoline in the basement of the barber shop. His condition is quite critical, but hopes are held out for his recovery. The young man lighted the gasoline hot-water heater, came upstairs, went down again to see how it was burning, found it out, and apparently struck a match to light it again, when the explosion occurred, setting his clothing on fire and filling the cellar with a dense smoke.

Mr. Howe pulled some of the burning clothes off and managed to get the fire out, but not before the boy was frightfully burned.

Lightning From Clear Sky.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Aug. 28.—A bolt of lightning from a clear sky yesterday afternoon instantly killed James Lee, 21 years old, of Absecon, a suburb of Atlantic City.

Lee, with Zephania Fenton, were tying a motor boat at the foot of Ohio avenue. There wasn't the least show of a cloud in the sky. Suddenly there came a blinding flash. The bolt struck Lee fair on the top of the head. Marks were found on his throat, under the chin. There was not another mark on his body nor was his clothing as much as singed.

Fenton was knocked overboard and stunned, but aside from the shock to his nerves he was uninjured. The boat was undamaged.

Inventor To Cross Atlantic.

PARIS, Aug. 28.—A Greek septuagenarian named Constantine Pansjonetti, is making experiments on the River Seine with a model of a curious bottle-shaped boat, in which he proposes to travel from Paris to New York next month.

In an interview he said this vessel, 300 feet in length, built after his model and provided with three motors each of 15 horse-power, will easily and safely travel from 90 to 125 miles an hour. By secret device he claims to have rendered his vessel unsinkable, and declares when his system is applied to transatlantic liners such accidents as that which befell the Titanic will be impossible.

Made Knight of Grace.

TORONTO, Aug. 28.—W. J. Gage, founder of the National Sanitarium Association, has received word that King George has approved of his appointment as Knight of Grace of the Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem.

The order originated for the care and relief of crusaders, and was re-organized in 1888. Its work is now largely the control of the St. John Ambulance Association. The title carries no precedence and no initials.

The City Farthest South.

Punta Arenas, the southernmost city in the world, at the gateway between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, now has a population—decidedly cosmopolitan—of more than 12,000. It is listed as one of the big wool shipping ports and sends out something like 16,000,000 pounds a season. It is well lighted by electricity, has waterworks, two theaters, is well supplied with schools and has quite a number of public buildings. The severity of the climate has not been allowed to keep it back on the road to prosperity, and some private residences especially testify to the substantial and permanent character of civilization in this latitude.—Argonaut.

GUTHRIE—STINSON.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. Samuel Stinson, 564 Chamberlen street, yesterday when his only daughter Mary E., was united in marriage to Robert H. Guthrie, also of this city. Only the immediate relatives were present. The bride's brother, Herbert Stinson, gave her away.

The bride was becomingly gowned in champagne colored silk, trimmed with lace and silver trimmings and carried roses and lilies of the valley.

The only attendants were two little flower girls, Emma Howarth and Gladie Sanderson each dressed in white embroidery.

The wedding march was played by Miss Ola McMullen, of Janetville, a cousin of the bride.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold locket and chain, to the flower girls, gold brooches, and to the organist a gold bar pin. Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Springville, officiated.

After the ceremony a delightful repast was served after which the happy couple left for a wedding tour to Toronto and points west. They will reside in Peterborough.

AN AWFUL CATASTROPHE VISITS TURNBULL'S STORE

because of the recently erected girders and pillars placed and taking the place of the dividing wall next to the Barrie part of the store. These standing protected the lower flat from serious damage.

Mrs. George Lasher, of Gilmour street, with a child in a carriage was in the store shopping, and hearing a crumbling noise, Mrs. Lacheur grabbed the infant from the carriage and ran to the street. She got half way across the road when the building was down.

Miss Agnes Tucker, whose home is in Norwood, was rescued and taken to the hospital. She was unconscious and seriously injured. Her sister, who is also a clerk at Turnbull's did not report to work this morning.

---

Miss Eva Sisson, a cousin of Miss Dollie Sisson, who was missing up to a late hour, had a very fortunate escape. She had been in the ready-to-wear department attending to a customer and she had left that department to enter the Turnbull store when the accident happened. It was her customer whose body was taken from the ruins.

---

Miss Ola Mulligan, of George street north, and cashier in the Turnbull store was on the second storey of the Turnbull building when the crash came. Although having fallen amongst timber, bricks and other debris, Miss Mulligan managed to escape.

"I don't know how I ever got out," Miss Mulligan said afterwards: "I had to break large pieces of lumber and finally made my way to the street."

Mrs. Finley, of Norwood, was a customer in the store and she was injured about the back so seriously that death followed shortly afterwards. She was taken to the hospital.

PARCEL BOY AND JANITOR ESCAPED

Tommy Dishon, the parcel boy, ran down into the cellar when he became frightened by the loud crash, and managed to make his escape.

The janitor of the store also escaped, although he was in the cellar at the time. Lumber and other material fell all about him. He was pulled out by the rescuers and he does not show a scratch.

Mr. R. J. Kidd heard the crash, looked back from the corner of Charlotte and George and saw nothing but a cloud of dust and people running. He went into the part of the store that stood intact and heard cries for help. Pulling away several boards and scantling, he dug out Miss Ola Mulligan, who had been caught by the falling material and imprisoned. The young lady escaped with a few scratches.

EXPRESSION OF SYMPATHY

While general sympathy goes out to those who were the victims of the disaster, to those so suddenly called away and to those injured, everyone is regretful on account of Mr. Might and nothing but expressions of good will are heard. He had put energy, good sense and business ability into the large business, which, under his direction and control had prospered and grown to be one of the finest among the city stores. Further extensions called for the alterations in progress. Everyone is sorry for the calamity that has fallen, and all are sorry for Mr. Might in his misfortune. It is only hoped that his pluck and energy will be able to rise through it all and in time be in a position to carry on the large business he has so well worked up.

MISS SISSON'S BODY FOUND.

About three o'clock the searchers came on the body of Miss Dolly Sisson, pinned under a mass of debris at the interior corner of the entrance to the Simcoe street store and adjoining the George street store. Three feet farther, in the direction which she had evidently been making, and she would have been safe. The poor girl was dreadfully bruised and disfigured and the workers paused and remained with uncovered heads while the body was placed on the stretcher and removed to Comstock's rooms.

It is not believed that any others remain in the debris.

AS TO THE LOSS

The question is made, on whom will the loss fall. Enquiry shows that the tenant was making the alterations at his own expense, under the care of his architect and contractor, Mr. John Belcher and Mr. W. J. Johnston. Mr. Johnston said that he had used every known precaution on the work to ensure stability. Where the fault was no one could now determine. Some structural weakness in the building had precipitated the disaster. The building had stood for many years and the work was good and walls thick.

Destroyed by the collapse, no insurance could be collected. Hence it lay on the tenant and contractor. What the outcome will be must be left to the future to determine.

INQUEST ORDERED

Coroner Dr. Greer was notified by phone of the fall of the building and fatalities, and rushed to the city by motor.

He has ordered a jury to be appointed and an inquest will be held this evening. Until the jury has viewed the scene and bodies, they cannot be prepared for burial. The inquest will open in the City Council chamber.

TO VOTE ON THE REPEAL

HALIBURTON, Aug. 27.—The Council of Haliburton received a deputation from the liquor party petitioning for a poll on the Local Option repeal. After consideration it was decided to vote on repeal at the next election. Both sides seem confident of success, but the three-fifths clause seems to give the temperance party confidence of success. At the last election four years ago, the temperance party gained eight votes above the three-fifths of the total votes polled.

HARRY THAW'S SISTER AND HER HUSBAND AT SHERBROOKE

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE L. CARNEGIE

Mrs. Carnegie has implicit faith in the sanity and harmlessness of her brother, Harry K. Thaw, and with her husband made a quick trip from Pittsburg to Sherbrooke, Que., to give him aid, cheer and encouragement. Mr. Carnegie shares her sentiments about his brother-in-law.

PIPES LAID HERE GUARANTEED TO STAND 300LBS. PRESSURE

Trouble at St. Catharines Will Not be Repeated in This City—Supplies of $40,000 Expected This Year

As previously stated, the waterworks officials at St. Catharines are having trouble as a result of the water pipes breaking, following the extra pressure, due to a new 24 inch main recently constructed.

In view of this situation the Review asked Mr. W. H. Moore, K.C., of the local Board of Water Commissioners, if a similar state of affairs was likely to happen here when the new 18 inch main is laid.

Mr. Moore was quite sure that there would be no trouble with the pipes here, as they are guaranteed to stand a pressure of 300 lbs.

Mr. Moore also stated that the Water Commissioners expected to have a surplus this year of $45,000. A very large proportion of this money goes toward interest and sinking fund, so that only about $5,000 is left.

BOARD OF WORKS IN WEEKLY SESSION

The usual minor discussions over the numerous fads of the Aldermen came up again at the Board of Works meeting last night.

Ald. Johnston was on the spot again with his Edinburgh street culvert, and after a few minutes sprang another in the shape of having Aylmer street between London and Dublin fixed up. "The street is in a most deplorable condition," said the alderman from the north.

Mayor Bradburn—"Yes, the street is in very bad shape."

Ald. Johnston—"There are two or three outlets to the river on the street, but they do not drain satisfactorily. There is a heavy thoroughfare here, and the street should be attended to."

"We'll fix it up with the surface of the street paving," said the chairman, and the matter dropped.

The steam roller had been working on the street and when the heavy rains came it left the place in a bad shape according to Ald. Johnston.

Once more the Downie street creek question was brought up not by Ald. Johnston, but by Chairman Buller, who informed Ald. Johnston that the creek would be fixed as soon as the street paving was under way. A radiant smile lit up the face of Ald. Johnston.

On motion of Ald. Johnston and the Mayor, the City Clerk was instructed to write the Department of Public Works, requesting them to bear a portion of the cost of street paving in front of the Government property.

The City Treasurer was authorized to issue cheques for city's share of the cost of the Park street drain, near the boundary line of North Monaghan.

Ald. Anderson—"Say, I would like you to take a look at Driscoll Terrace sometime."

"Sure, we'll get East City fixed up," added Ald. Buller.

WE'RE GROWING.

Ald. Johnston inquired into the reason of the large staff employed in the City Engineer's office this year to the staff of last year. "Last year there were only two men in the office," he said, "and we have a staff of five there this year."

"Look how things are being run this year, and the amount of work that is being done," answered the chairman, whereupon the question ceased.

THAT BRIDGE

"I wonder when we are going to get our foot bridge at the foot of London street," asked Ald. Johnston.

INFANT MORTALITY AMONG INDIANS

Inter-marriage and Tobacco Among the Causes

Canadian Press Despatch.

EDMONTON, Aug. 28.—Intermarriage continued through generations, lack of proper nourishment for mothers at childbirth, and inordinate use of vilest tobacco by women are the principal causes attributed for the enormous infant mortality rate among Indians in the north by General Card, Indian agent at Fort Simpson, who has spent seven weeks making a twelve hundred miles trip to Edmonton.

Children's Eyes
How many people realize the fact that children are just as liable to require glasses as older people.
Many children who are backward in school and considered stupid, are not really so, but are laboring under difficulties on account of not being able to see properly. They are young and do not realize that they do not see as well as their companions and of course their parents don't know it either. But it is the duty of parents to have their children's eyes examined and see if they require glasses, because school work is hard enough for children without their being handicapped with poor vision. The TAIT OPTICAL CO. make a special study of children's eyes. Come and consult us and we will advise you in the matter.

BOARD DISAPPROVES OF LONG SAULT PROJECT

Canada Must Remain Untrammeled Says Report Dealing With St. Lawrence Damming Project—Proposal Would Seriously Hamper In the Matter of Her Waterways Improvements to Channel.

OTTAWA, Aug. 30.—"The plain duty of Canada is to maintain her rights of ownership and jurisdiction absolutely unimpaired and untrammeled."

In these specific terms the commission of conservation sets the seal of its disapproval upon the proposal to authorize a private corporation to dam the River St. Lawrence at the Long Sault for power development purposes. The report of the commission upon the Long Sault power proposition, just issued, is a complete review of a question which has figured largely in the Canadian Parliament and in the Legislature of the State of New York, as well as in Congress at Washington, owing to the efforts of the Long Sault Development Co., an American enterprise, to obtain a franchise for power development at that point.

It is a question which the commission regards as one "of vast importance to the people of Canada," and the report treats of it accordingly.

The Development Company, it is pointed out, owes its origin to an act of the New York State Legislature, passed in 1907, authorizing it to construct dams and other works at Long Sault Island for the development of electrical energy and the "improvement of navigation," but not across the international boundary "unless consented to by the Dominion of Canada."

This charter was asserted subsequently in the interest of the people of the state, and in May last a bill was signed by Governor Sulzer, repealing the charter on the ground of unconstitutionality.

Meantime the company has spent a large sum in purchasing property and making other preparations for development, and in the endeavor to keep its charter alive paid into the state, under its term, $35,000 in two yearly instalments. In January last, the company tendered another payment of $25,000, which the state refused, and a suit is now pending over the matter. There is also a bill before Congress, designed to give the company federal rights over the water on the United Stats side, where the main channel of the St. Lawrence runs. There are provisions in the bill relating to the export of surplus power to the Canadian side; but the report of the commission points out that the conditions of developments proposed are such as disregard Canadian interests altogether.

In Canada the Development Co. carried on for some years a very active propaganda with a view to creating an impression favorable to the granting of a charter by the Dominion Parliament. It has gone to the length of imposing upon certain newspapers reports of meetings of which no record can be found by the commission. At one of these alleged gatherings the chief engineer of the company is reported to have given assurances that Canada would be entitled to one-half the power developed, while the allurement was held out that the Long Sault would give ample power to every town in eastern Ontario. The report points out that the scheme can be carried out, if the company's plans are successful, so as to develop power on a large scale on the south channel, where works would be beyond Canadian control.

It is also emphasized that sooner or later a scheme of deepening and improving the St. Lawrence will be devised, and that rights vested in any private corporation at Long Sault might prove an insuperable barrier to the carrying out of the engineering plans.

Saved Ship Though Dead.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The damage by fire Thursday to the ocean liner Imperator is estimated at $50,000.

It is said that Second Officer Gobrecht, whose body was found wedged in the doorway of the provision room, which adjoins coalbunker No. 2, probably saved the ship from serious damage. The door had closed from above as he was going into the bunker, and he was pinioned by it. His body prevented the door from closing, and in that way streams of water reached the coal, preventing its ignition. If the fire had entered the coal bunkers there would have been greater difficulty in saving the vessel.

Gobrecht went into the burning room wearing a fire helmet, but the tube became entangled in something and in trying to loosen it he shut off the air and was suffocated.

Labor Opposes Militia.

BRANDON, Man., Aug. 30.—That the Brandon Trades and Labor Council has strong views on the question of militarism in Canada has been shown by the following resolution unanimously passed Thursday night:

"In view of recent events in Vancouver Island, where the militia were used to coerce workers into submitting to conditions imposed upon them by the mine owners, this council resolves that it is entirely opposed to militarism, and it requests the Trades Congress at its convention in Montreal to place itself on record as being opposed to union men joining the militia, and that it approves of the action of certain International Unions that forbid the membership to become members of the militia."

MAY LOSE THE SIGHT OF EYE

Harold Armstrong Seriously Hurt at Chrysler's Farm Celebration

While watching the fireworks at Chryslers' Farm Centennial celebration, near Morrisburg, on Thursday evening, in company with the local members of the 45th regiment of Lindsay, Howard Armstrong, son of S. R. Armstrong, was struck in the left eye with an exploding rocket. The sight of the eye was seriously injured. The victim was immediately rushed to Morrisburg, where he was attended by a doctor and brought to Peterborough, where he was taken to Nicholls Hospital. Doctors Buchanan and Halliday are in attendance, and are doubtful of saving the sight of the eye.

DESPATCHES TELL OF DEATH AND INJURY

Canadian Press Despatch

OGDENSBURG, N.Y., Aug. 30.—Bert Gillett, a chauffeur, and a saloon keeper named Murray, both of Utica, were arrested to-day by the immigration officers, on the charge of smuggling five Chinamen into the interior, in an auto. The Chinamen were brought across the St. Lawrence to Ogdensburg during the night and were escaping in a fast motor car when a tire puncture delayed the party and arrests followed.

PITTSBURG, PA., Aug. 30.—Eight men were killed and six were injured when the boilers of the tow-boat "Pilot" exploded in the Ohio River near here this morning. The dead and injured are all members of the crew.

TOKIO, Aug. 30.—A typhoon which has raged over Japan for several days caused fatalities believed to aggregate one thousand. A tidal wave at Miyako killed many and swept hundreds of houses into the sea. Floods and landslides killed many and at various points scores of fishermen were drowned and the houses destroyed. The monetary loss is heavy.

PALMA TEAM IS SELECTED

Canadians Selected to Shoot at Camp Perry

OTTAWA, Aug. 30.—Ten of the twelve members of the Canadian Palma Trophy team were chosen last night and the whole team, the balance of which will be chosen to-day, will leave for Camp Perry, Ohio, Monday to seek the coveted international trophy. The members chosen last night are: Staff Sergt. G. W. Russell, G.G.F.G., Ottawa; Sergt. W. A. Smith, G.G.F.G., Ottawa; Pte. Hawkins, 48th Highlanders, Toronto; Lieut. F. A. Morris, 90th Regiment, Winnipeg; Sergt. J. Freeborn, 13th Regt., Hamilton; Sergt. A. Martin, 103rd Regt., Calgary; Staff Sergt. McInnes, 19th Regt., Edmonton; Capt. Neil Smith, 24th Regt., Chatham; Lieut. A. M. Blackburn, 90th Regt., Winnipeg, and Lieut. W. Hart-McHarg, 6th Regiment, Vancouver.

Capt. Thomas Mitchell of Toronto carried off the honor at the D.C.R.A. yesterday, when he annexed the first prizes in both the city of Ottawa and grand aggregate. The veteran shot had a point lead when he came to the last range, the 900 yards distance, in the city of Ottawa, which is included in the grand aggregate. In this range he made his lead sure by putting on a possible in a high wind while the other high ones dropped.

It was a splendid win, Capt. Mitchell for thirty years has been one of the best shots in Canada. He is a vegetarian and firmly believes that the fact that he eats no meat gives him the steady eye and nerve necessary to high shooting.

Turkey Trot Disorderly.

MUNICH, Aug. 30.—That dancing the turkey trot constitutes disorderly conduct is the decision of one of the highest German courts.

At Toeltz, a small health resort, twenty-six miles from Munich a Berlin merchant and a young woman were arrested for dancing the turkey trot in a public dance hall. The lower court acquitted the prisoners, but the high court confirmed the ruling of the district court, declaring the question to be not whether the turkey trot is forbidden, but whether the couple were guilty of disorderly conduct.

APPEAL TO OTTAWA.

New York Authorities Ask That Thaw Be Given Up.

OTTAWA, Aug. 30.—Messrs. T. Chase Casgrain, K.C., of Montreal, and R. Pringle, K.C., of Ottawa, representing the State of New York, have presented to Hon. Charles J. Doherty, Minister of Justice of the Dominion of Canada, a formal petition, dated at Montreal Aug. 25, and signed by Thomas J. Carmody, Attorney-General for the State of New York, praying that "Harry K. Thaw be deported to the place whence he came, to wit: The Matteawan State Hospital of Dutchess County, State of New York, one of the United States of America, so that he may be placed in safe-keeping and custody of the public authorities of such state, charged under the law of the state, and of the commitment aforesaid for his safe-keeping and custody."

MANY BARNS STRUCK.

Electrical Storm Plays Havoc in Brant County.

BRANTFORD, Ont., Aug. 30.—The electrical storm of Thursday night played havoc with a number of barns south of this city, principally in Oakland Township. The barn of Meritt Crumback, about four miles from Mt. Pleasant, was totally destroyed by fire with all the season's crop. It was the largest fire in that neighborhood.

At Jerseyville, the fine barn of Adam Sager was totally destroyed by fire. It also was filled with the season's crop, which will be a total loss. In this vicinity the storm was very fierce, a number of buildings being struck by lightning but no damage done.

The barn of Mr. R. M. Devereaux, near Cainsville, was struck by lightning and the end knocked out.

Chauffeur Is Killed.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Aug. 30.—The automobile of Mrs. W. G. Ross of Montreal plunged down an embankment and overturned near here yesterday, causing the death of the chauffeur, Oliver Gendreau, and serious injury to Mrs. Ross, and James Van Wagoner of New York.

Mrs. Van Wagoner and Miss Alice Ross, the other occupants of the car, were only slightly hurt.

The party was bound from Bretton Woods, N.H., to Burlington, on the way to Montreal.

It is believed that Gendreau, to avoid a ditch turned out quickly, too near the embankment. In its fall the automobile turned over twice.

MILLENNIUM IS FAR OFF

Celebrated English Jurist, Statesman and Scholar Arrives In New York on His Way to Montreal—Home Rule For Ireland an Accomplished Fact He Believes—Wary on Mexican Crisis.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Viscount Haldane, the First Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain to leave his country since Cardinal Wolsey went to France four hundred years ago, arrived here yesterday on the steamship Lusitania for a flying visit of five days to attend the American Bar Association's convention in Montreal, where he will speak on Monday.

Lord Haldane freely discussed many questions of the day, declaring that he was in favor of woman suffrage, prophesied that a millennium of peace was far off, said that the relations between Germany and Britain were never more cordial, praised the intellectual growth of the United States and predicted that Home Rule for Ireland would soon be an accomplished fact.

"It would be a very sanguine person," he said, when asked his opinion of the influence of the peace palace at The Hague, "who can see the dawn of international peace. It is useless to look ahead toward the permanent cessation of war in the near future. We can only do our best and trust to the progress of opinion. The coming of the millennium of peace must be an evolution, like everything else, but some day we must come to the realization of the fact that we can settle our differences in a better way than by quarreling with each other."

Speaking of home rule for Ireland he said: "Home rule was never nearer adoption than it is to-day, and I believe it will soon be an accomplished fact. Of course the religious question in Ulster is difficult, but you can't keep the hands of the clock from advancing."

The chancellor refused to discuss the Mexican situation except to say that he was "confident that the United States would deal with the question in the broad way in which it had treated other great problems."

FIREBUG BUSY.

Toronto Is Scene of Numerous Incendiary Blazes.

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—The incendiary fires that have been keeping the fire brigade and the police on the qui vive for the past five weeks cannot be the work of one man, according to the opinion of officials of both departments, who have been investigating the ravages that have been committed during that period.

Last night a new scene of operations was chosen by the incendiaries and the firemen in the western end of the city were kept busy for some hours. The stable occupied by Mr. J. C. Keenan, of 38 Madison avenue, on Euclid avenue was the first object of attack, but the firemen managed to get the fire under control with a loss of not more than $20. Before the firemen had returned from this fire an alarm was rung in from Harbord street, where a fire was discovered in the store of James Compton, clothes presser at number 160. The cause here was also incendiary and the loss amounted to $10 to the building and $20 to the contents. A few minutes later an alarm come in from 173 Brunswick avenue. The stable in the rear of this house was set fire to by an incendiary and damage amounting to $90 was done.

FIRST EFFECT OF WILSON'S WARNING SEEN AT EL PASO

Train Decorated With White Flags Arrives Bearing Americans, Mexicans and Chinese—London Journalists Find Little Encouragement In the State of Affairs Between Republics.

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 30.—With white flags posted in conspicuous places along the coaches, the first trainload of American refugees to reach the border since President Wilson's warning for them to leave Mexico, arrived here yesterday; There were 55 Americans, many prominent Mexican families of Chihuahua, and a carload of 75 Chinese on the special train. Border points west of El Paso report refugees are crossing the border daily, coming out of Mexico overland, and making their way here. The majority of the men, women and children in the party yestrday were from Madera, Chihuahua, from the colony of the Pearson Lumber Co. and others were from the mining camps in the same district.

They reported that preparations were being made by Americans in every camp to leave Mexico as soon as they can secure transportation. Those needing assistance will be given aid by American Consul T. D. Edwards, stationed at Jaurez. The Chinese were detained at the immigration station, where they will be cared for by the Government. The refugees reported the annihilation of a federal command of 1,200 by rebels under Villa and Ortega at San Andres, west of Chihuahua, on Aug. 26. All but Gen. Felix Terrazas and thirty of his Federals were reported slaughtered, and seven trains seized by the rebels.

Not Encouraging.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The London morning papers continue to find little reason for encouragement in the situation between Mexico and the United States, and express the strongest doubt as to the wisdom of Presidnet Wilson's policy, mainly on the ground that Mexico is not yet fitted for democratic government.

The Daily Telegraph fails to see how even the acceptance of Mr. Wilson's conditions by Gen. Huerta would operate to bring about peace and security in Mexico, and contends that, whether wise or unwise the refusal of the United States to recognize the Huerta administration has created an unfortunate situation.

Referring to Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson's advocacy of recognition and the fact that the Mexican congress, although it was "made" by Madero, nevertheless acquiesced in Huerta's Government. The Telegraph says that it is difficult to avoid the conclusion that President Wilson's demand bear rather hardly on the Huerta Government, suggesting that the American antagonism to Huerta is due to the belief that he is a confirmed enemy to American interests while Madero always proclaimed himself a champion of those interests.

The article proceeds: "Nothing could be more deplorable than the developments in this situation along the lines of an open feud between the anti-Huertist American trade interests and the pro-Huertist trade in the other foreign nations."

The Daily Graphic asks, if Secretary Bryan regards the situation as encouraging, why troops are being rushed to the frontier, and says that President Wilson's policy is interesting as an idealist experiment in international politics, but, carried out logically and consistently, must end in intervention.

Strathcona in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Lord Strathcona, Canadian High Commissioner, arrived here yesterday from Europe, accompanied by Lady Strathcona. He is on his way to Montreal, where he will attend the annual meeting and banquet of the American Bar Association at the invitation of the association. With Lord and Lady Strathcona was Mr. William Peterson, vice-chancellor of McGill University, Montreal.

While declining to make a prophecy regarding the outcome of the English women's fight for the ballot, Lord Strathcona said he was opposed to militant methods.

Arrest Two Tango Dancers.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Tango dancing caused the arrest of two women on the charge of disorderly conduct at a downtown cafe early yesterday. They were Mrs. E. F. Wirth of this city and her guest, Miss Lucille Lowery of Chattanooga, Tenn.

When arraigned yesterday before Municipal Judge Mahoney they demanded a jury trial, declaring that they had been arrested without cause, as they were leaving the cafe. Policemen said the women were dancing on the sidewalk after they had been requested to leave the cafe because of their alleged persistence in performing the tango.

TO PROTECT THE PUBLIC

Ald. Duffus Wants Changes At Railway Crossings

The Board of Railway Commissioners will be communicated with in the hopes that better arrangements will be made to guard the public from danger at the [illegible] and King street crossings of the G. T. R.

Ald. Duffus protested last night at council meeting against the present situation being allowed to continue.

There is a gate house and gatemen at both crossings, but the men cannot see trains approaching from the south because of the engine house at King street and the house at King St.

Ordinarily a woman manages to hold her own—with the exception of her tongue.

The Daily Review.

SATURDAY, AUG. 30, 1913.

GOOD OUT OF EVIL

That "all things work together for good" depends largely upon the "workers," and if we will take the lessons of the George street fatality to heart, even out of this seeming evil may come good.

It is strange how such calamities bring out points in men's characters, and stir up feelings and call into play virtues which even the subjects never thought they possessed. With this warning before us such a calamity cannot happen again in Peterborough, and it may be that these few lives had to be sacrificed in order to arouse us from our stupidity and to save many more lives being lost later on.

Enough has already been said on this point, let something now be done. Without wishing to dictate to the owners of the property we may remark that it is the opinion of the public that the remaining portion of the building now standing should be taken down and a new foundation put in.

It has also been suggested that now that the corner is down, even the adjoining building should be removed, and a good, well-built and imposing structure should be erected, either for a store or a bank and office building. We have not too many substantial and architecturally artistic piles in Peterborough and this is perhaps one of the best sites in the city.

There is some consolation and perhaps compensation in this fact for great loss sustained by Mr. Might. If we all endeavor to make the best of our misfortunes, even all these things can work together for our individual and common good.

CANADIAN NATIONAL EXHIBITION

The Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto is in full swing, and notwithstanding it is an annual affair the interest does not lag, but it seems to be anticipated with zest and pleasure by the whole of the province, if not the whole of the Dominion.

Country people regard it as the one event of the year that they do not care to miss. It not only gives them an opportunity of visiting Toronto, but it is a source of education and pleasure which is almost essential to the modern and enterprising farmer.

But not only to the agriculturist does the Exhibition appeal, the exhibits cover the whole gamut of human endeavor. Especial care is given to the Art Gallery which grows in excellence year by year. Canvases are brought from near and far, the Walker Art Gallery of Liverpool and the British Academy contributes yearly to the display. Local talent is encouraged, and by this means an artistic coterie is being formed and a national conscience in the higher arts established.

So far the weather conditions have been very favorable, and it looks like proving one of the most successful years in the history of the Exhibition.

SWIMMING

Those interested in swimming will appreciate the following by Leonard Hatch in "Colliers":

"About the springboard, the "crick" and the old swimming hole there has been rhapsody and reminiscence to spare. In the midst of all this enlargement on the joys of swimming the sheer healthfulness of the sport is often overlooked. Yet for growing boys and girls nothing can beat it. G. Stanley Hall, who knows about all there is to be known concerning the physical, mental, and spiritual welfare of the child, has said in his book "Youth":

"'Too much can hardly be said in favor of cold baths and swimming at this age. . . . The moral effects of plunging into cold and supporting the body in deep water is not inconsiderable in strengthening a spirit of hardihood and reducing overtenderness to sensory discomfrots. The exercise of swimming is unique in that all the movements and combinations are such as are rarely used otherwise, and are perhaps in a sense ancestral the liberal rather than directly preparatory for future avocations. Its stimulus upon heart and lungs is, by general consent of all writers upon the subject, most wholesome and beneficial. . . . The very absence of clothes and running upon the beach is exhilarating and gives a sense of freedom.'

"This does not mean that the growing child should try to see how far he can swim or undertake any similarly foolish aquatic stunt. If there be any doubt about his ability to stand cold water, let a doctor be consulted. But speaking for youth as a body, there can be no question of the wholesomness of swimming. A deal may also be said of its usefulness. You, who can't swim, pause to hear what Benjamin Franklin has to say in a letter:

"'I cannot be of opinion with you that it is too late in life for you to learn to swim; the river near the bottom of your garden affords a most convenient place for the purpose. And your new employment requires your being often on the water, of which you have such a dread I thinkyou would do well to make the trial; nothing being so likely to remove those apprehensions as the consciousness of an ability to swim to the shore in case of an accident or of supporting yourself in the water till a boat should come to take you up. . . .

"'Learn fairly to swim, as I with all men were taught to do in their youth; they would on many occurrences be the safer for having that skill, and on many more the happier, is freer from painful apprehensions of danger, say nothing of the enjoyment in so delightful and wholesome an exercise. . . . . And if I now had boys to educate I should prefer those schools (other things being equal) where an opportunity was afforded for acquiring so advantageous an art, which, once learned, is never forgotten.'

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Liberals are venturing very cautiously upon the bye-election in East York, as a result of the lessons learnt in North Grey. There seems to be a fear on the part of the Liberal candidate or his supporters to go the whole "temperance" hog. The term "hog" is a rather interesting and suggestive one in this connection, that is supposing it to refer, not to a pig, but to a "hogshead."

EXCERPTS

An Accomplished Linguist.

"Did you learn any French while you were in Paris?" asked Bildad, meeting Slithers shortly after his return from Europe.

"Oh, a little," said Slithers. "Not so very much, though. I got so I could say cigarette in French."

"Good," said Bildad. "What is cigarette in French?"

"Cigarette," said Slithers.—Harper's Weekly.

Worst for War.

Some curious and rather unexpected results have followed experiments in Europe for the purpose of determining what color in a soldier's uniform is the least conspicuous to an enemy.

Of ten men, two were dressed in light grey uniforms, two in dark grey, two in green, two in dark blue, and two in scarlet. All were then ordered to to march off, while a group of officers remained watching them. The first to disappear in the landscape was the light grey, and next, surprising as it may seem, the scarlet. Then followed the dark grey, while the dark blue and the green remained visible long after all the others had disappeared.

Experiments in firing at blue and red targets, according to same experiments, proved that blue could be more easily seen at a distance than red.

It may be that khaki, which is the fashionable color now for army uniforms, will have to give way to grey, for in these days of long-range weapons inconspicuous clothing is vitally necessary for soldiers.

Lauder's Bores.

Mr. Harry Lauder, who recently received a great ovation on his first appearance at the Palace Theatre, says his greatest bores are strangers who claim old friendship with him. One day he was pressed to have a cigar by one of those professing friendship, and, while smoking, he tore the thin red band off and threw it away. "Those cigar bands are very valuable," protested the giver, trying to enhance his gift as much as possible; "for 200 of them you can get a gramophone free." "My dear sir," answered the comedian, "if ah used 200 of these smokes ah wudna want a gramophone, but," he added, looking towards the skies, "ah wud want a harp."

His Bane.

TWO WOMEN SAVED FROM OPERATIONS

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Their Own Stories Here Told.

Edmonton, Alberta, Can.—"I think it is no more than right for me to thank you for what your kind advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have done for me.

"When I wrote to you some time ago I was a very sick woman suffering from female troubles. I had organic inflammation and could not stand or walk any distance. At last I was confined to my bed, and the doctor said I would have to go through an operation, but this I refused to do. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now, after using three bottles of it, I feel like a new woman. I most heartily recommend your medicine to all women who suffer with female troubles. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills, and think they are fine. I will never be without the medicine in the house."—Mrs. FRANK EMSLEY, 903 Columbia Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta.

The Other Case.

Beatrice, Neb.—"Just after my marriage my left side began to pain me and the pain got so severe at times that I suffered terribly with it. I visited three doctors and each one wanted to operate on me but I would not consent to an operation. I heard of the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was doing for others and I used several bottles of it with the result that I haven't been bothered with my side since then. I am in good health and I have two little girls."—Mrs. R. B. CHILD, Beatrice, Neb.

WESTERN CANADA'S BUMPER WHEAT CROP

Thousands of Men Required—This Year's Harvest Promises to be the Largest in the History of Canada

According to present indications the wheat crop of 1913 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East to assist in harvesting the world's bread basket.

The Governments of the respective Provinces state that many thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. These will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which Company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a day shorter than any other route. Dates, rates and conditions will be announced in a few days.

REV. R. G. PEEVER TO PREACH ON LABOR

Rev. R. C. Peever will preach at both services on Sunday at George street Methodist church. His morning subject is: "Our First Duty after Holidays." In the evening he will preach, in view of Labor Day, on the subject, "The Foes and Friends of Labor."

Miss Rosina Sydna, of Sydney, Australia, will sing at the evening service. This will be Miss Sydna's last public appearance in Peterborough. All are welcome.

BY MARCIN BARBER

The Best Detective Story of the Last Ten Years

"You're the man to stay on the firing line," he said.

Britz eyed the revolver grimly. In its blue-steel chamber were four empty cartridges and only one that held the potentiality of release from their dangerously uncertain refuge on the chiffonier. Crooking his left arm, he used the angle made by his elbow as a rest and leveled the long blue barrel of the big-calibered weapon steadily. Pausing until the swaying of the serpent diminished as much as it apparently was going to do, he fired.

A writhing, twisting snarl was the result. The cobra coiled and uncoiled with electric rapidity, travelling in circles all over the space between the chiffonier and the table whence Britz had lassoed the pistol. Plainly the reptile was hit—mortally wounded, he thought, but as he started to descend impatiently, Fitch siezed him and literally flung him back on the chiffonier's smooth top.

"Not yet," said the doctor nervously. "Let's wait a minute."

It was profitable patience. For after probably a minute of terrible struggling, the cobra returned to its coil and once more reared its head. The gray body throbbed fiercely, but closer scrutiny showed the man the snake had not been hit with fatal result. Suddenly the physician seized Britz's arm in a nervous grasp.

"By Jupiter!" he exclaimed. "You've shot out its tongue!"

True enough. The fifth bullet had passed between the gaping jaws of the reptile and taken off the greater part of that darting scarlet thread as neatly as a sharp instrument could snuff a candle. While the wound doubtless caused agony to the snake, it did not lessen its anger. The poison-charged fangs remained in its mouth, and the cutting off of its tongue swelled its fury to the ultimate degree.

Britz dropped the pistol on the chiffonier and thrust both hands in his pockets.

"Up a tree for fair," he said. "Nothing more doing in the artillery line."

"That was your last cartridge?"

Britz bent his head affirmatively. An expression of slow wrath gathered force in the Headquarters man's face as he stared at the swaying serpent such a short distance below. One could see he was angry enough to take the desperate chance of springing from his perch and trying to strike the cobra with his heels, or, failing that, seizing it by the neck seeking to throttle it. The instinct of self-preservation, however, was stronger than rage. Britz was willing enough to risk his life in the fulfilling of his duty, so long as the risk meant a fighting chance to win. He was too sensible absolutely to throw his life away, and something told him in spite of all the courage in the world, no man would have have an appreciable percentage of opportunity in a battle at close quarters with so venomous a serpent. Yet he must get out of that house. He felt he was the only man on the force who could be sure of heading off the Orientals. In that very moment they might be beyond the city's limits, bearing the booty he had pursued so many weeks. It was more than his self-poise could stand. He gave rein to his anger, and for the first time in all the doctor's acquaintance with him he swore hard and fast and long. His flow of profanity stopped as suddenly as it had commenced. He drew one hand from his pocket and slowly, as if he hardly dared to trust his senses, held up his finger and looked at what they clasped. Then he held the object out triumphantly for the physician to see. It was a loaded cartridge forgotten when last he emptied his pockets of their supply of extra ammunition!

"We'll make no miss with this one," said the sleuth. "Don't you think you can use it better, doc?"

"No," said Fitch, "I am not in your class when it comes to snuffing out serpent's tongues. You may fire when you are ready, lieutenant."

Britz grinned, shook the empty shells out of the revolver, slipped the full cartridge into one of the chambers, and twirled it until it paralleled the barrel. Then, once more using his arm as a rest, he took careful aim, and was about to pull the trigger when the door was flung open, and the uniformed policeman stood on the threshold.

"Well," said the bluecoat, "excuse me for butting in, but I thought something might have——"

Fitch checked him with an upraised hand, and the patrolman's eyes almost burst in their sockets as, lowering his gaze, he saw the up-reaching death covered by the Headquarters man's pistol. For a second's space, none of the three men moved. Then a metallic click broke the suspense only to leave it in another instant more taut than ever as all three realized the cartridge had missed fire. The bluecoat's hand reached for his club. Panic-stricken though he had been at first sight of the cobra, he had the pluck common to the humblest member of "the finest," and he plainly meditated taking the serpent from the rear. He would not trust to his revolver but his aim, steeled by the intensity of the situation, should fly high and hit one of the refugees atop the chiffonier. But Britz waved the patrolman [illegible] hard [illegible] of [illegible]. Hastily breaking his revolver open, he made a swift examination of the cartridge, saw that its rim was not dented by the hammer and, concluding an accident for which the shell was not to blame had prevented an explosion, set the chamber once more, and fired again. This time a crack followed. The great cobra shot into the air, and then fell squirming to the floor. Its coils unbent as at full length it writhed in its death agony. Britz leaped to the far side of the table, seized a heavy book and hurled it on the serpent's head. That soon ended the reptile's struggles; but the doctor, brave enough under ordinary conditions, was not content until with a dagger-like paper cutter he snatched from a table he severed the snake's head from its twisting body.

Britz, Fitch, and the patrolman took deep breaths as they stood on the porch. The detective lost little time in recuperating, though, and after hurried instructions to the bluecoat, he and the doctor jumped into the coupe. The uniformed patrolman climbed to the box, turning the horse's head westward. He drove the weary brute at high speed to a taxicab stand, where the detective and the physician entered a horseless vehicle in which they were whirled to Headquarters, where Britz had a short but important conference with the Chief.

CHAPTER XXIII
Mrs. Missioner's Visitor

Mrs. Missioner, after the ball, took in the fag-end of a bridge party, and stayed so late that when she returned to her home the east was striped with dawn, and the maid who had waited up for her was sleeping soundly in a chair. The widow was not yet disposed for slumber. It had been an exciting night. Her fancy had been stimulated so greatly by her brief talk with the Swami in the ballroom that she was unable to turn it from the mysterious Oriental history of the Maharanee diamond. She knew no more of the jewel's past than she had related to the sage, for her husband had not acquainted her with all the details connected with his acquisition of it. Something in the Swami's manner caused her to regard the stone with more or less aversion. She began to doubt the purity of its record. Fond though she was of gems, even to the point of being a jewel worshiper, she was American to her finger-tips, and would shrink in terror from any bauble that came to her stained with the tiniest drop of human blood. She had loved her husband in a way; at any rate, she had always respected and admired him. It seemed impossible he would be a party to wrongdoing. Yet she could not shake off a sensation of dread whenever she remembered how intimately the jewel had nestled in the snows of her throat, and rivaled the brightness of her eyes. Could it be she had worn a gem whose fire was more suited to the glow of an inferno than to the Eden of a good woman's loveliness?

Drawing about her shoulders a soft, warm shawl, she took a seat at a window in her boudoir and sat gazing into a sky pink and gray with daybreak, trying to solve her real feelings in regard to the recovery of the Maharanee diamond. She was in the midst of her meditation when she heard the faint ringing of a bell at the other end of her big house. In a little while, a footman rapped on the dor of her boudoir. It awakened her maid, and the girl, her eyes swollen with sleep, approached the window with a card bearing no name, but inscribed with the message:

"It is important that I be permitted to see you at once."

At such an hour? Mrs. Missioner was astonished by the request. Who could her early visitor be? Surely no one in her own circle of acquaintances would venture upon such a liberty? If it were a question of life or death, there was still the telephone. Secrecy was indicated by the attempt of the person to see her face to face. Haste breathed in every word of the scholarly scrawl. Mrs. Missioner was not ultra-conventional, but the request for an interview at that time of day—an hour that almost might be called a time of night—was beyond the scope of even her liberal views. However, curiosity conquered, as it has been doing in the cases of women, jewels, and apples since the world began, and she informed her maid she would see the visitor in the library.

She controlled her eagerness for understanding of the request, nevertheless, so well that when in a leisurely way she reached the big room on the main floor, the visitor was already within it. He stood at a window looking into a street and shielding himself behind a curtain from chance glances. As his head was bare, it was not until the second glance that she recognized the Swami. She was not only astonished, but startled by the recognition. What could this mysterious student of the occult want with her? What could possibly be the object of his visit to her home at such an hour? He was an old acquaintance in a sense, but one Mrs. Missioner had not cultivated in this part of the world.

He waited until she was close to the hearthrug before he turned, and said with a profound bow:

"Madam, my intrusion is excused by the fact that I can restore your jewels."

A light flashed into her eyes, and she clasped her hands in her excitement.

"Is it possible!" she exclaimed.

"It is more than possible. It is a fact accomplished," he answered. Taking from an inner pocket a package of silk tissue, he extended it toward her with the words:

"You will find in this parcel, madam all the diamonds of your necklace with the exception of the largest—the Maharanee."

"Not the Maharanee!" she asked breathlessly.

"Not the Maharanee," said the sage. "You will, I trust, pardon my necessary firmness in telling you that you will never see that jewel again."

Mrs. Missioner did not know whether to be more surprised at the return of the other gems, or at the calm assurance that the star of the whole Maharanee necklace—the flower of all her jewels—had passed forever beyond her ken.

"How did you recover these? Where did you find them?" she asked.

said gravely. "You will will find, however, they are the genuine stones. I will add it is my conviction you never would have regained them had it not been for me. I trust you will not hold me guilty of over-assurance at that point. I know whereof I speak. It will be a favor if you will content yourself with so much as an explanation."

"But the big diamond of the whole necklace—the Maharanee!" cried Mrs. Missioner. "How did you find these and not find that?"

"I have not said that I did not recover it," said the Swami. "On the contrary, I confess to you that I gained possession of the Maharanee at the time when I got these; but it must not, cannot, be restored to you."

"I am grateful for what you have done," the widow said gently, "but I am unable to understand your attitude in regard to the missing stone. Why should I not have that too? It is mine."

"Pardon," returned the Oriental. "It is not yours."

"But it was given to me—given to me by my husband!" Mrs. Missioner exclaimed. "I have had it since years before his death."

"True," the sage replied. "I am thoroughly aware that the Maharanee diamond was placed in your possession by Mr. Missioner. I know you accepted it from your husband in the belief that it was given to you—that it was his to give, but it was not."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that the person from whom he got it had no right to pass title to him—had, in fact, no title to the diamond whatsoever."

"Explain yourself, if you please," said Mrs. Missioner, her nervousness rapidly rising. "You talk in riddles. My husband bought the stone——"

"From an improvident Maharanee, he told you, did he not?" interrupted the Easterner.

"Yes, yes," said the widow. "And I would believe him, living or dead against the whole world!"

"Madam," said the Oriental, in the courtliest way, "I would not for the world say anything to disturb your faith in your husband. There is no need of doing so. Your faith is warranted. Mr. Missioner, when he said that, thought he was telling the truth. Unfortunately for you, as well as for others, he was not speaking the truth. The renegade who sold that jewel to your husband did not buy it from a Maharanee. He did not buy it from anyone. He stole it!"

"Stole it!" the widow cried, with a little wail in her voice. "Impossible!"

"Pardon me once more, madam. It is so far from being impossible that it is the strict truth. Nor was the theft the only crime of which the man was guilty. In stealing that jewel he committed a dreadful sacrilege."

Mrs. Missioner was so overcome by her emotions that she was obliged, in spite of her intention, to sit down and therefore to extend to her visitor an invitation to be seated also, before she could get herself well enough in hand to follow the Swami's narrative calmly.

The Oriental waited. He had a purpose to achieve, and he was willing to wait indefinitely with that end in view.

"When you are prepared to hear me further, Mrs. Missioner," he said, still in the gentlest tone, "I will sketch the history of the Maharanee diamond for you; and from it you will see why the stone not only never was yours, but never belonged to your husband, and, therefore, could not lawfully be given to you."

Mrs. Missioner regained her grip upon herself with a visible effort, then turned an inquiring face upon the speaker.

"The diamond," continued the sage, "once blazed in the forehead of the great Buddha, in the Temple of Delhi. It was revered by thousands, hundreds of thousands, by millions, as the most sacred work of the god; for tradition says it was the undisputed property of Buddha himself when he walked the earth in his latest incarnation."

BROOKLYN TABERNACLE
BIBLE STUDY ON ## GOD'S COVENANT AT MOUNT SINAI.

—August 31.—Exodus 19:1-6.—

"Let us have grace, whereby we may offer service well-pleasing to God with reverence and awe."—Hebrews 12:28, R.V.

TWO months after the Passover deliverance, the Israelites arrived at Mt Sinai; but on their way they had two valuable lessons respecting God's grace and power. At Rephidim, Moses in the name of the Lord smote the rock, and from it rushed water, abundantly refreshing Israel, and as rivulet following them through much of their subsequent journey. St. Paul, by inspiration, declares that the rock represented Christ, that the smiting of the rock represented the putting of Christ to shameful death, but that only thus is the Water of Life provided for whosoever will drink.

Israel journeyed on, but encountered new obstacles. The Amalekites, a warlike people, considered Israel's coming as an invasion of their country, and attacked them. Naturally Israel was at a disadvantage. Yet God gave them the victory. He indicated, however, that it was not by their prowess or skill, but of His grace that they conquered.

Waters from the smitten rock.

Moses, stationed upon a high hill, lifted his hands to God in prayer for the people. While he did so, success was theirs; but when he ceased thus to pray, Amalek prevailed. Perceiving this, Aaron and Hur assisted in holding up Moses' hands until the battle terminated successfully for Israel. God thus indicated that Moses was the advocate of Israel, without whom they could do nothing.

The Royal Priesthood Proffered.

All of God's dealings with Israel were in accord with His great Covenant with Abraham—"In thee and in thy Seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed." Neither Moses nor his followers could possibly have understood the full import of this great oath-bound Promise; for it is double, the spiritual portion being hidden until God's due time—the First Advent. Even since then, St. Paul assures us, it is a hidden mystery, appreciated by few.

The Promise is divided into three parts: (1.) Abraham himself (and all the Ancient Worthies whom he represented) was to have a share; (2.) Abraham's Seed was to be the channel of blessing; and (3.) all the families of the earth were to be blessed through these channels. But only by the light of the Holy Spirit during this Gospel Age are these depths of the Abrahamic Covenant manifest.

While the Israelites knew that they were the natural heirs of the promises, it was proper that they also know that they would be unsuitable for the Lord's use in blessing the other nations with His Law unless they themselves could both keep that Law and instruct others how to keep it. So a Law Covenant was made with them, and Moses appointed its Mediator.

Typical of New Covenant.

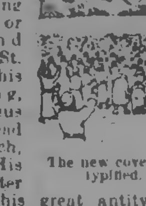
St. Paul, in Hebrews 12:18-24, points us to the antitype of to-day's Study. As Israel was delivered from Pharaoh and his hosts, so ultimately all mankind is to be delivered from Satan and his hosts, the fallen angels, and from all evil influences. As the journey to the Promised Land brought the Israelites to Mt Sinai and the Law Covenant, so the journey of God's people will ultimately bring all the willing, obedient and faithful to the antitype of Mt. Sinai; namely, Mt. Zion, God's Kingdom, for which Jesus taught us to pray.



The new covenant typified.

Meantime, Jesus had become the antitypical Moses and Leader of the people; and in harmony with Jehovah's Program, He has been selecting the members, or associates and joint-heirs. St. Paul explains this to us, saying, "God gave Jesus to be the Head over the Church, which is His Body." St. Peter explains that this great antitypical Moses must be raised up from amongst the brethren first, before the blessings of Restitution can come to mankind in general.—Acts 3:22, 23, 19-21.

Shake Heavens and Earth.

The antitype of our lesson will be the inauguration of the New Covenant, at the Second Advent of Jesus. The basis of this better Covenant was completed at Calvary by our Lord's sacrifice of Himself. He has since been completing His "better sacrifices" by presenting the bodies of His saints to God. (Romans 12:1.) Soon the "better sacrifices" will be completed, and the greater Mediator raised up from amongst the brethren. Then will follow the inauguration of the New Covenant, to bless all the families of the earth with Restitution.

St. Paul points out that this is what we are approaching—"the General Assembly and Church of the First-born," whose names are written in Heaven. He declares that we may expect an antitype of the stirring scenes of our context. As at Mt. Sinai the literal mountain shook, lightning flashed, and the voice of God was heard as the sound of a great trumpet, so will the antitype come. The great trumpet will be the seventh trumpet, the trump of God. The storm and shaking typify the shaking of the ecclesiastical heavens and the social, political and financial earth.

The Reason.

"The fortune telling business pays, doesn't it?"

"Why shouldn't it? Look at the prophets in it."—Baltimore American.

The Puzzle.

Now gaze on this poor and young man,
Who moves as in a trance
And wonders if last year's dress suit
Will do for this year's dance.

HUNDREDS ATTENDED SERVICE

Over the Remains of the Late Miss Sisson Last Night

Hundreds of people visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. English yesterday afternoon and evening to extend sympathy, and view for the last time all that was mortal of Miss "Dolly" Sisson, who was crushed to death by the terrible accident which is so fresh in the minds of all citizens of Peterboro.

The house was crowded with friends and acquaintances and many others, unable to gain entrance, conversed in groups on the lawns and sidewalks.

Many floral tributes had been received, one of them being a cross from the Bible class of All Saints' Church, of which the late Miss Sisson had been an active member. Another large wreath, bearing the word "Dolly" was placed on the casket by Mr. Seaworth Hogg, the young man to whom the late Miss Sisson had been engaged to be married this fall.

The short service held at the house last night by Rev. F. J. Sawers, was very impressive. Rev. Mr. Sawers spoke of the life of the deceased and referred to her loveable personality and her zeal as a Christian.

The remains have since been sent to the homestead in Cavanville, and the funeral will be held on Sunday.

ACCOMMODATION FOR BATHERS NEXT SEASON

CO-OPERATION ASSURED

The citizens of Peterborough may be provided with a Municipal Bathing House next year.

The City Council last night received a letter from Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., who advocated this step. Mr. Burnham is willing to do anything in his power to assist.

The question was referred to the Board of Works and the chairman will interview the Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., who has considerable information on the subject.

There is no appropriation for such an undertaking this year, Ald. Buller pointed out. He favors the idea.

Very thin muslin goods need not be starched if ironed while still wet. They will look equally well, be quite stiff enough, and wear much longer than if starched. Starched goods when very thin are apt to tear easily.

ERNEST YOUNG DIES AT THE HOSPITAL

Had Been Unconscious Since Accident Three Weeks Ago

Ernest Youngs, the 15 year old son of Mr. Abraham Youngs, 466 Weller street, passed away at Nicholls Hospital last night, a few minutes after nine o'clock. It will be remembered that just three weeks ago to-day he was assisting Wm. Andrews to carry a canoe down the steps at the east of the Wm. English Canoe Company, where he was employed, and in some manner he fell to the ground, the canoe falling on top of him. He was removed to the hospital and it was found his skull was fractured. He never regained consciousness.

He is survived by his sorrowing parents, one sister and one brother.

One narrow escape not hitherto recorded, was that of Sergt. W. Hawkins, of the Hamilton police force. He was coming along George street and as he neared the Barrie building, he saw the shake and immediately ran toward the opposite side of the street. The building fell at his heels.

Sergt. Hawkins remarked afterwards: "I have seen disasters and wrecks, but in my opinion that is the worst I ever heard of."

Sergt. Hawkins will be near the word- Roy Studio, in the large picture on page 1.

NERVOUS CHILDREN

Are Often in the Early Stages of St. Vitus Dance

They Need a Tonic to Strengthen the Weak Nerves and Restore Them to Natural Health

Many a child has been called awkward, has been punished in school for not keeping still, or for dropping things, when the child is not really at fault, as the trouble is really St. Vitus dance in its earlier stages. So common is this nervous disease in childhood that in some schools one-fifth of all the pupils have been found suffering from it in one form or another. Before the presence of the disease is betrayed there is usually a disturbance of the general health. The child shows listlessness and inattention. Then it becomes restless, and twitching of the muscles and jerking of the limbs and body follow. A remedy that cures St. Vitus dance and cures it so thoroughly that no trace of the disease remains is Dr Williams' Pink Pills, which make the new blood necessary to feed the starving nerves and gives them the nourishment they demand.

Mrs. Hiram Barnhart, Scotia Junction, Ont., says: "About two years ago my eldest daughter, Mabel, then ten years of age, was stricken with St. Vitus dance. She could not keep still for half a minute, no matter how hard she tried. Her limbs would jerk and twitch, and every little thing would start her crying. I gave her several bottles of medicine said to be good for the nerves, but instead of helping her she was steadily growing worse. Her voice would change so that we could hardly understand her, and her face became twitched until she did not look the same child. I had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills myself when run down, and finally decided to give her these. When she had taken two boxes I could notice an improvement and by the time she had used five boxes she was fully cured. However, I was determined to make the cure permanent, if possible, and I gave her two boxes more, and I can truthfully say that she has never had a symptom of the trouble since, and is now as bright and active as any child of her age. I heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all mothers as the result of what they have done for my child and myself."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CORONER WILL ARRANGE FOR EXPERT EVIDENCE

Ald. Gordon Holds Out for Outside Man But Other Aldermen Are Sure Local Man Would Give Satisfaction.

As Coroner Dr. Greer has no authority to provide for the payment of expert evidence on the cause of the disaster to the Turnbull store, the City Council last night decided to pay up to $50.

It is his desire to secure expert evidence as to the cause and responsibility.

Ald. Gordon brought up the question and urged that an outside man be secured to give evidence.

This was not satisfactory to the majority of the aldermen who believed that a local man could be found who would be both capable and impartial.

The City Engineer said it would be a difficult thing for an outsider. He would have to take second-hand evidence.

It was finally decided that the should arrange for the expert evidence.

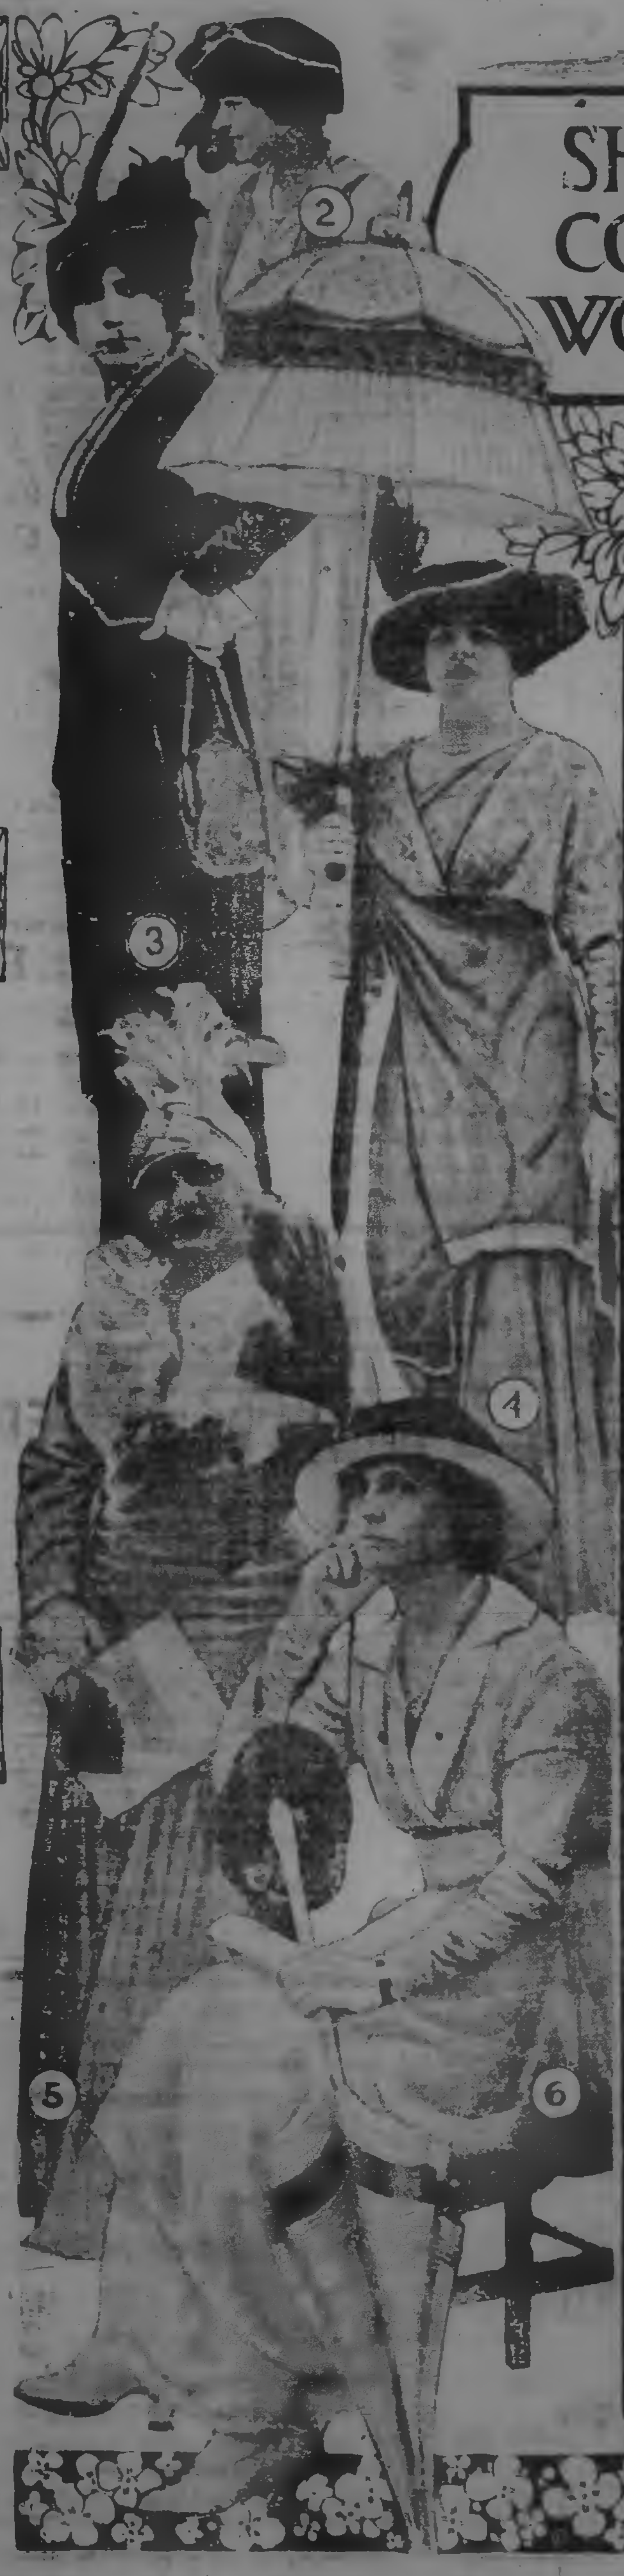
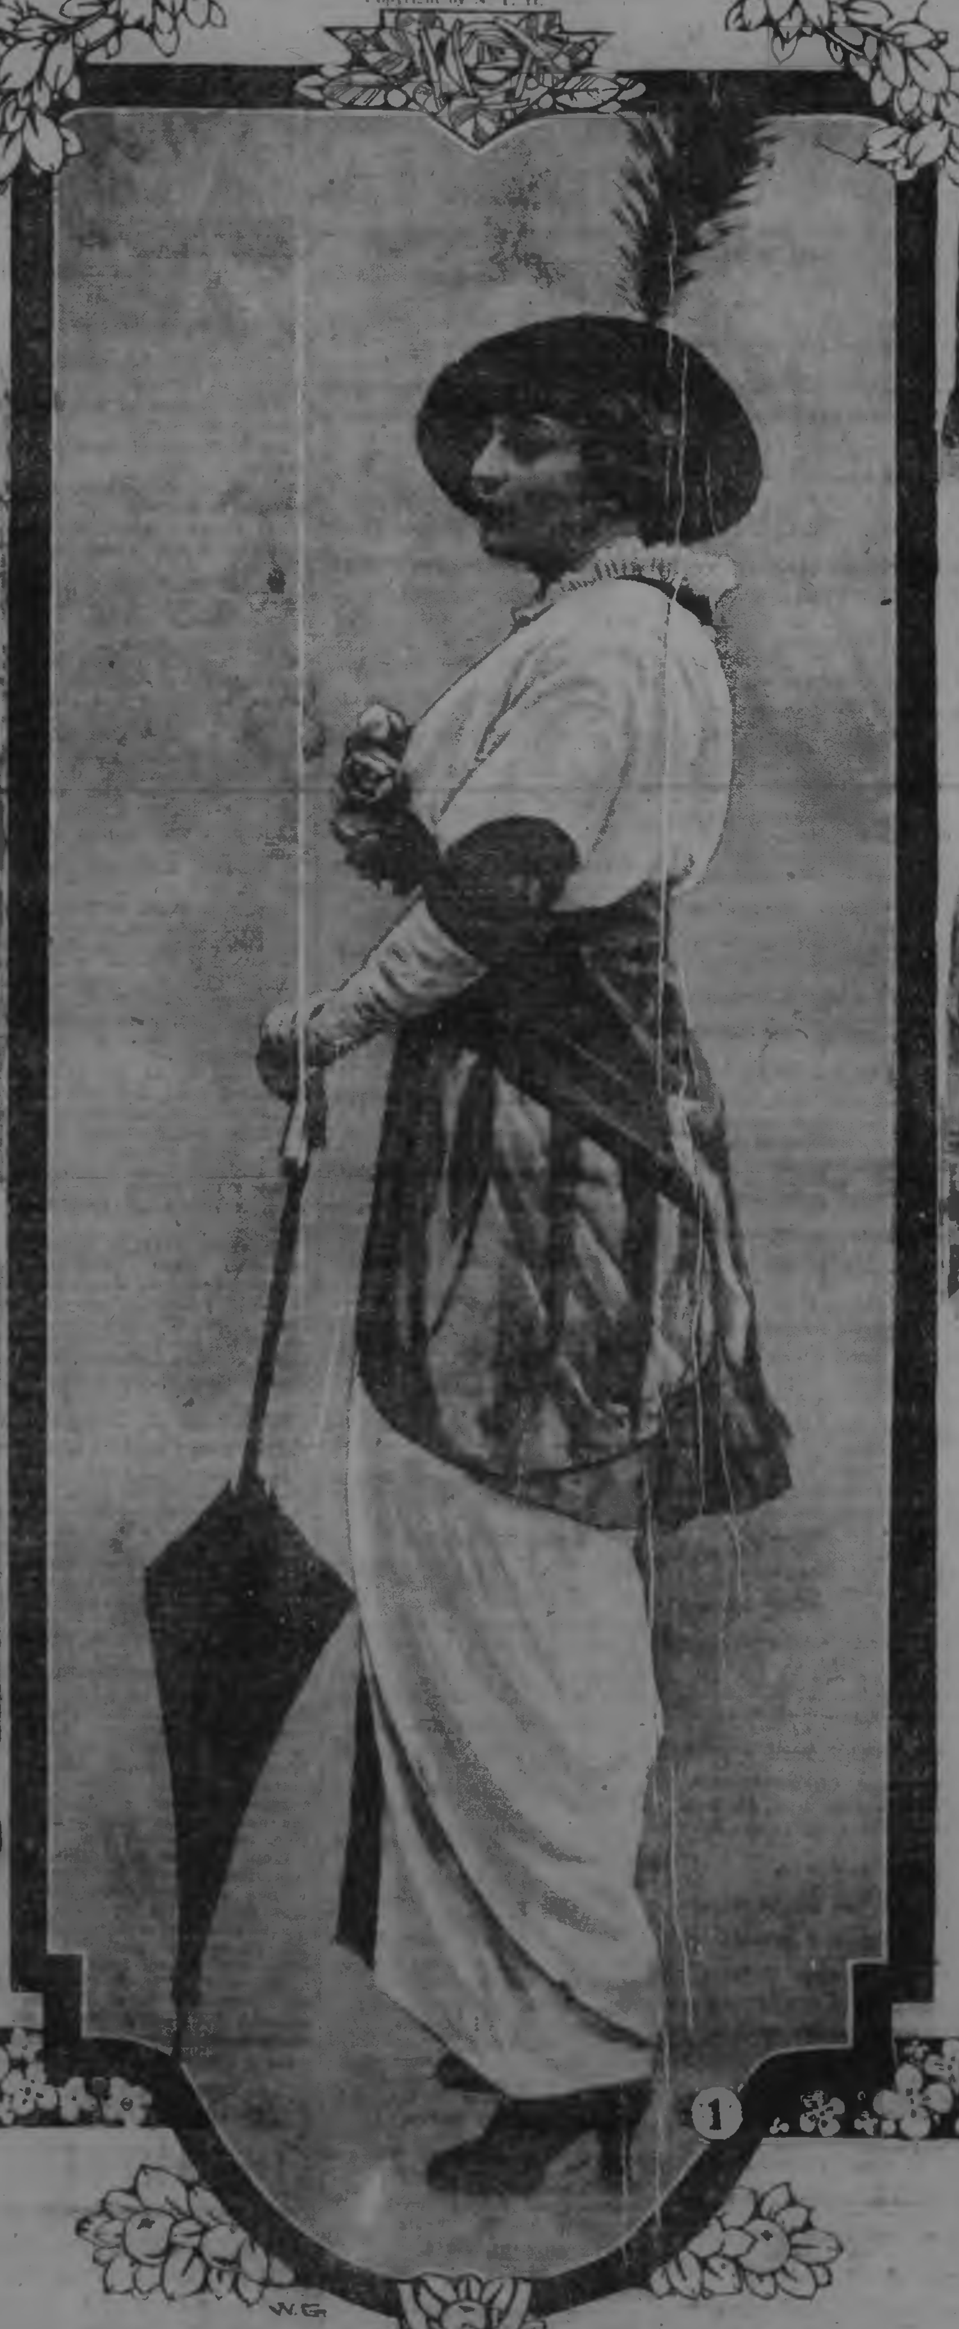
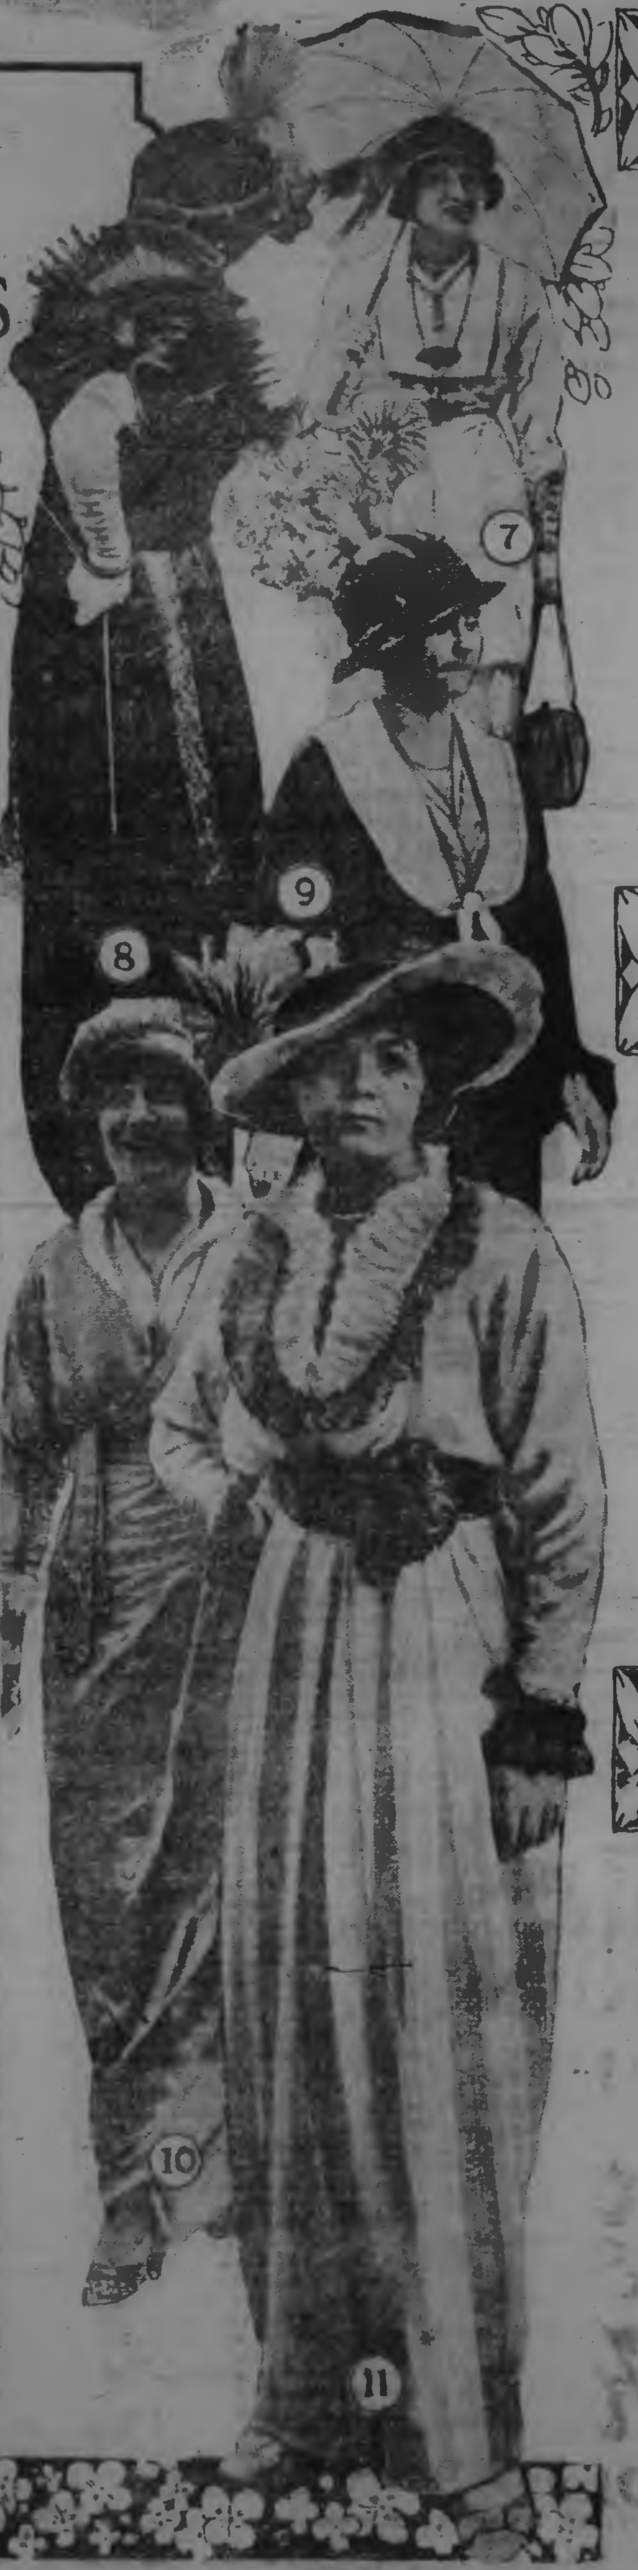
THE PETERBOROUGH DAILY EVENING REVIEW

SHORT SKIRT TUNICS OF CONTRASTING MATERIAL WORN AT FINAL RACE MEETS

Photos from the European Edition of the New York Herald.
Copyright by N. Y. H.







THE race meets of the Paris fashionable [illegible] are over. Many and varied are the fashion details that have been brought out or popularized at them.

A striking dress of ivory satin worn by an equally striking woman at one of the last fashionable meets is No. 1, and is a good example of the new fad of the odd little wired petticoat tunic over a dress of contrasting color. In this case the tulle tunic is of gray chiffon and it is held to the skirt by the wide swathed black meteor sash, which is lined with white. The chiffon is repeated as cuffs, and there is an outlining satin ribbon defining the filmy neck frill that follows the deep décolleté. The inevitable cluster of pink roses is worn thrust into the belt. The hat, too, is typical of the new shapes, small and well pulled on to the head, exposing the flat coiffure at one side. Black satin slippers and a watered silk sunshade finish off a costume that is new, original, artistic and striking without being loud.

Another frock, No. 6, is one of those charming creations made of the "common muslin" that created such a favorable impression at the races. This one is delightfully simple and has some details that lift it far above the ordinary model. Instead of hemmed edges there are narrow overhanging bias bands of white satin. This original touch gives that desirable and expensive simplicity that makes the humblest fabrics fit for fashion's favorites.

An odd little frock, No. 5, thoroughly "race course," is that of accordion pleated [illegible] de soie, printed in Pompadour colorings, [illegible]. It is draped over blue chiffon and combined with a matching pastel blue chiffon sash that is so deep as to give a tunic effect. The lower part of the sleeve is draped and of the pastel chiffon. A froth of filmy frills borders the décolleté and black velvet berries are thrust into the sash top. Swathed blue tulle and chiffon compose a turban, surmounted by paradise plumes, which sags closely the head. Quite in opposition to this is the tilleul green taffeta frock, No. 10, draped as to skirt, décolleté as to waist, but having a decidedly unusual sash of the taffeta. It mounts very high in a point at one side and drops in two tags on the other side and is embroidered in a massed flower and leaf design in two tones. Another accordion pleated skirt pictured, No. 4, is combined with a Greek shawl drapery in two tones of blue crépon, with embroideries. An elaborate dome parasol is carried, of lace, brocade and pleated silk.

Lingerie robes are combined especially this season with Cluny lace and one seen had a fashionable little skirt tunic of contrasting black tulle added, besides a wide black velvet belt that fell in one long fringed end in the centre front. Showing beneath in the [illegible] opening was a little closer tunic of pleated black chiffon. This is [illegible] up to [illegible]. A black satin hat faced with white and a black [illegible] completed the costume. Another [illegible], No. 2, shows clever arrangement of satin that extend underneath [illegible] the white belt. A lovely white lace bag is carried and a small black velvet [illegible] is worn. In the same group is a delightful little taffeta [illegible], No. 7, with a Spencer coat. A white [illegible] and a black velvet hat are always [illegible]. A black and white dress, No. 9, and a white and black dress, No. 11, both respectively draped and gathered simplicity. The draped dress has a large, soft, artistic white satin collar opening wide enough to show the new inside fichu.

The white crépon frock has a U-shaped décolleté outlined with black tulle frills; the U is filled with narrow white lace frills following the décolleté movement. Double black tulle frills replace cuffs and a broad sash belt fastens in a big bow at one side of the front.

Another of the contrasting skirt tunics, No. 8, is made of gold lace and worn over an old blue satin dress. With this a very full fluted tulle boa is worn and the odd hat, all crown, is ribbon sashed and has one of the new butterflies of wired tulle on the front.

No. 3 typifies the new short coat of afternoon tailored suits.

Flounced dresses, both in the communion muslin and mousseline de soie, were plentiful at these last races, and a white mousseline de soie dress with a lace tunic, fur edged and wired so that it was distended like a veritable lampshade, worn by a brunette beauty, was quite out of the ordinary. A black velvet ninicha shape adorned with paradise and a single crimson rose thrust into the belt made an ensemble that was all that was delightfully "dernier cri."

CRESSWELL OVERCAME HOME GROUNDS JINX AND TWIRLED PETES TO DOUBLE VICTORY

Peggy Swartz Does the Needful in the Last Half of Both Games and Winning Runs Were Scored With None Out.

Stanley Creswell the local lad shook the "home jinks" yesterday and shook it right, when he won both ends of a hard double header, the first by 3-2 and the second by 1-0. Both were the hardest kind of pitcher's battles and they were decided in the last innings. "Peggy" Swartz drove in the winning runs in each fixture.

The Petes secured one in the first inning of the first game and one in the sixth but the Irishmen came right back with a counter in the seventh and another in the eighth. Cressy was alright in the first half of the visitor's ninth and retired the side in order but in the Petes' last effort front, the first man up singled over first and "Willie" came along with a long double near the sheds which got away from Grogan and "Troutie" came tearing home with the winning run.

At the beginning of the second game the fans were a little surprised to hear the same batteries announced again. The game hadn't hardly started till it once more developed into a pitcher's battle. Both pitchers were working hard and had all kinds of stuff. Swartz starred in the fourth frame when Needham hit a low fly which the left gardener got off his knees and Grogan the man following him, gave him another chance to pull off a circus catch, when he drove one near the sheds.

In the sixth with two men out the fans had reason to hold their breath. Needham singled over Thompson's head and Grogan dropped another in the same spot, but Cresswell settled down and Corns' best was an easy fly to Brant.

In the last of the seventh Fox was the first man up and just as one fan yelled, "You're due Fox, you aint got a hit to-day," the fair-haired boy slapped one out along the first base line and before Chief Garlow who was playing right field, could find the ball, Fox was perched on third. To the crowd's disgust Donohue lobbed four wide ones at Hilliard and Trout but Donohue must have overlooked the fact that Swartz, the next man up, had won the first game for the locals. "Peggy" slapped the second ball pitched at the second base man, but it was too hard for him to handle in time to get Fox coming home.

In the absence of Umpire Daly, Ken Tracey and Dolan did the needful, and both acted like a la Silk O'Loughlin. The score:

First Game—

R. H. E.
Hamilton ....000000110—2 8 1
Peterborough ....00001001—3 7 1

Batteries, Donohue and Fisher; Cresswell and McNeal.

Hamilton ....0000000—0 4 7
Peterborough ....000001—1 3 0

Fishing From Aeroplane.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—Aviator Levasseur is amusing himself at Deauvilles waterplane meet by fishing from his flying machine during the immobility tests. Levasseur says the late Wm. Latham, who was killed while hunting big game, used his aeroplane for shooting purposes, and he has now extended its sporting uses to fishing. He had some fine catches.

REBUILDING AT ONCE.

London Fair's Fire Will Not Affect the Show.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 30.—Exactly one week before the opening day of London's big exhibition, the Western Fair, fire destroyed five buildings. But before the smouldering embers were all extinguished, workmen were clearing away the debris, and timber was on the ground for the new buildings that will be rushed to completion during the next few days and nights. The five buildings destroyed were the Cement Products building, the Machinery Hall, Transportation building, horse shed, and the W.C.T.U. dining hall. The swine shed and boiler house were also damaged. The total loss will be about $50,000 with insurance of nearly $30,000.

It was one of the most spectacular fires witnessed in London in a long time. Despite the heavy rains of the previous day, the wooden structures gave forth a blaze that could be seen for ten or fifteen miles, and although it was three o'clock in the morning when the fire department was called out, a great many citizens were attracted to the Fair grounds.

The cause of the fire is unknown, but early Thursday evening the department had been called to a fire in a box car on the siding on the Campbell street side of the Fair grounds fence, and had put out an incipient blaze there. It is said that the man who gave the first alarm saw two men light a match near the car, and the suspicion is entertained that the men were firebugs, and returned later at night and succeeded in their purpose.

Thomas Hall of 22 Campbell street, on his way to work at the Grand Trunk at three o'clock, saw the Fair buildings in flames and turned in an alarm from the car shops. Thinking it was the car shops that were on fire, hose was run along the wrong street and a short delay caused. However, the firemen, under Acting Chief Scott, battled valiantly with the spreading blaze and succeeded in saving the grand stand and other of the nearer structures.

2,000 MILES AFTER MURDERER.

Constables In North Take Long and Lonely Tramps With Prisoners.

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—Provincial Policeman Grassick, of Schreiber, after a tramp of over a hundred miles through the woods in the north country, is back again to civilization, accompanied by Paul Laminard, whose arrest was effected at Oba for the murder of Pedro Supernavitch on Aug. 17. Constable Grassick marched his man through the lonely forest, sleeping at night handcuffed to his man.

An accomplice named Bontin has been arrested by Constable Symonds, of Sault Ste. Marie. Peter Young and Michael Sullivan have also been arrested in connection with the affair. In all Constables Symonds and Grassick traveled over 2,000 miles to effect the arrest of the murderer and his accomplice.

Curios Caused Two Deaths.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Thousands of curios gathered in many lands and stacked high in the apartments of Hipolito Uriarte, aged 82, for fifty years a Spanish consul, fed a fire kindled in lighting a cigar early yesterday and blocked the way of the aged diplomatist and his wife to safety. Uriarte was found dead, leaning across a window sill; his wife mistook a window leading to an airshaft for an opening on a fire escape and plunged four stories to her death.

Uriarte was for fourteen years Spanish consul general in New York. His last service was in Canada. The aged couple had been up until a late hour celebrating the homecoming of their son from Cuba.

PEACE APOSTLE HONORED.

Bust of Sir William Randal Cremer Unveiled at The Hague.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 30.—The ceremony of the unveiling yesterday by Andrew Carnegie of a bust of the late Sir William Randal Cremer in the hall of justice of the new peace palace was the occasion for a great demonstration in favor of the peace movement. Sir William Randal Cremer was the originator of the interparliamentary conferences, a winner of the Nobel peace prize, and for 37 years secretary of the International Arbitration League.

The hall was crowded for the ceremony. Among those in attendance were members of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, the International Arbitration League and the Interparliamentary Union. Mr. Carnegie was loudly cheered as he entered the hall and his speech was frequently punctuated with applause.

The Rt. Hon. Thomas Burt, dean of the British House of Commons, replied to Mr. Carnegie. He said that all things pointed favorably to the realization of Cremer's dream of universal peace, despite the Balkan war.

Lord Weardale, president of the Interparliamentary Union, eulogized Mr. Carnegie, who, he said, had provided Cremer with means which enabled him to accomplish so much in behalf of the peace movement.

FORTY THOUSAND MEN REQUIRED

Farm Laborers' Excursions This Year's Wheat Crop Will Be the Largest in the History of Canada.

The wheat crop of 1913 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East to recruit and assist in harvesting the World's greatest bread basket.

The Governments of the respective Provinces state that forty thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. These will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which Company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a day shorter than any other route.

Inherits Victim's Estate.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 30.—Occupying a cell, in the penitentiary death house and facing the scaffold, J. Warren Jenkins, condemned wife-murderer, has won in the courts an important point in his fight for the $25,000 estate of his victim.

Jenkins murdered his wife a year ago, less than a year after her marriage. He was convicted and sentenced to be hanged last October, but appealed to the Supreme Court, which has not yet reached a decision in his case.

Judge Mentzer now decides that Wyoming law does not prohibit a wife-murderer from inheriting his victim's estate.

STREET CAR WAS STRUCK BY FREIGHT CAR AT THE CHARLOTTE ST. CROSSING

Front Vestibule of Street Car Demolished, But Motorman's Injuries Were Slight—Passengers Not Hurt

Probably the occupants of car No. 15, in charge of Motorman Arthur Armstrong and Conductor Stanley Moyatt, were as near death or serious injury last night as they ever will be, and miss it. The street car was struck by a double-header and two freight cars last evening at 6.30 at the G.T.R. crossing on Charlotte street.

MOTORMAN'S STORY.

Asked regarding the affair Motorman Armstrong said: "I saw the gates up and proceeded across in the usual way toward George street. I had hardly reached the first rail on the track when I saw the engines and cars back down on us. I slammed on the brakes, but too late, the freight car struck the vestibule of the street car, hurling me to the floor amidst the wreckage and carried the car crossways on the tracks. I certainly thought my time had come when I saw that train.

"We had the right of way, and therefore no blame can be attached to the Street Car Company or myself and conductor."

Mr. Armstrong complained of his right shoulder being very stiff.

Although nearly a dozen people were in the car, no one was hurt.

It appears that the two engines and box cars had gone north shortly before the street car came along, and at that time the gates were operated according to the rules and regulations.

The motorman says he noticed the engines passing the crossing and then the gates were raised.

The freight cars were in front of the engines when the accident happened.

Motorman Armstrong was able to take charge of another car.

Children's Eyes

How many people realize the fact that children are just as liable to require glasses as older people.

Many children who are backward in school and considered stupid, are not really so, but are laboring under difficulties on account of not being able to see properly. They are young and do not realize that they do not see as well as their companions and of course their parents don't know it either. But it is the duty of parents to have their children's eyes examined and see if they require glasses, because school work is hard enough for children without their being handicapped with poor vision. The TAIT OPTICAL CO. make a special study of children's eyes. Come and consult us and we will advise you in the matter.

BRITISH OFFICIALS DENOUNCED BY THE LABOR CONGRESS

Prohibition of Free Speech in Dublin Comes in For Vigorous Attack.

MANCHESTER, Eng., Sept. 2—Unusual interest was attached to the forty-sixth annual trades union congress which opened in Milton Hall yesterday, owing to the existing unrest in the labor world. The number of delegates is 563, making a record, and they represent a membership of 2,250,000 workmen of various trades.

The first business of the congress was the unanimous adoption of a resolution denouncing in virulent terms the British Government and the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, for prohibiting meetings and strangling free speech in Dublin, and also condemning the brutality of the police.

James Saxton, mover of the resolution, declared that anything done by James Larkin, one of the arrested strike leaders in Dublin, was "white as compared with the hellish blackness of the Irish Unionist leader, Sir Edward Carson, and his associates." He expressed indignation that such treatment could be meted out to workers in a city like Dublin with a Nationalist city council.

Among the delegates are representatives of the American Federation of Labor, while for the first time in the history of the congress, Canada, Germany and France also are represented.

Somewhere in the neighborhood of 100 resolutions, ranging from the wearing of the trade union badge or button to ambitious schemes for the nationalization of the railroads were down on the paper for discussion.

An official reception by the Lord Mayor of Manchester, Samuel Walter Royse, and the municipality, preceded the opening of the congress.

W. J. Davis, chairman of the Parliamentry committee of the Trades Union Congress, presided, and in his presidential address claimed that the trades unionists had initiated or forced through Parliament most of the great reforms of the past half century.

He expressed the fervent wish that Ireland's aspirations for Home Rule would soon be satisfied. The labor movement, he said, had a great task before it in the promotion of international peace.

Mr. Davis unqualifiedly opposed compulsory arbitration and said legislation would be introduced to strike this weapon out of existence. He advocated the addition of national life assurance to the existing workmen's insurance act, and said that pressure should be brought to bear on the eight hours' question until this reform had also been secured.

Two Parades In Toronto.

TORONTO, Sept. 2.—Labor showed its strength in Toronto yesterday. The labor union men's parade was the largest ever seen in Toronto, and its floats and special features were more numerous and more beautiful than in previous years. Seven thousand men and women marched in the parade in 70 different unions. The carriage of the Canadian Suffrage Association was greeted with ringing cheers.

On University avenue there was very little delay to the parade, although there was some tie-up on Queen street. No accidents happened nor were there any disagreeable features. The National men, some 200 strong, marched about 15 minutes before, and neither party interfered with the other in the slightest manner.

London and St. Thomas Join.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 2.—The Labor demonstration here yesterday was the biggest celebration of its kind in some years, the St. Thomas trades unions uniting with the labor men of London in a demonstration at Queen's Park. This was preceded by a parade, in which all the members of organized labor in the two cities took part. Upwards of 4,000 people were present.

Towns Join In Big Celebration.

GALT, Sept. 2.—A big celebration under the auspices of the South Waterloo Federation of Labor marked the holiday in Preston. A parade in which unions of Galt, Preston, Hespeler, Berlin and Brantford took part was held at one o'clock. This was followed by sports in Speed Park.

Women and Girls Marched.

WINDSOR, Sept. 2.—Citizens of Windsor lined the streets yesterday to witness what was generally conceded to be the biggest and best Labor Day parade in the history of the city. Two thousand were in line of march. Of this number two hundred were girls and young women, members of the Windsor branch of the International Union of Cigarmakers.

Had All-Day Picnic.

KINGSTON, Sept. 2.—The labor men of Kingston observed the day by holding a picnic at Lake Ontario Park, preferring an all-day outing to a parade. Field sports were held morning and afternoon, the morning events being devoted to the school children.

Hydro Inaugurated.

HAGERSVILLE, Sept. 2.—A big demonstration was held here last evening, when the formal opening of the Hydro-electric system was held, and it was a great disappointment when the Hon. Adam Beck failed to turn up, as be missed railway connections.

Asiatic Cholera In Vienna.

VIENNA, Sept. 2.—Much anxiety has been occasioned here by the discovery of a case of Asiatic cholera. The patient, who came here from Salonki, is suffering from only a mild attack.

MR BUCKLER'S NEW APPOINTMENT

Mr. W. H. Buckler, of 221 Princess street, has been appointed sole agent for Brandon's Pressed Brick Company, for this district.

THE PACIFIC WAS LET IN

Panama Canal is Opened on the West Side.

PANAMA, Sept. 2.—The last remaining barrier at the Pacific end of the Panama Canal was blown up by dynamite yesterday. It was an interesting spectable. At exactly 9.30 o'clock an electric switc' was turned on and a moment later the 1,500 spectators, including the Shriners visiting here, and the officers of the British cruiser New Zealand, were rewarded by a wonderful sight. Hundreds of tons of mud and stones were thrown high in the air; there they hung suspended and then fell back as the thunderous roar of the explosion re-echoed in the nearby hills.

About twenty long tons, equivalent to 44,800 pounds of 45 per cent. dynamite constituted the blast, which was one of the largest ever set off in the canal.

The charge, which was planted in 541 holes at an average depth of 30 feet, tore a big gap in the barrier, but not to a sufficient depth to permit the water to flow through, as the sea level channel was at low tide.

Equally interesting as the explosion was the actual breaking of the barrier in the afternoon, the tide creeping steadily up until it was level with the top of the gap. A workman seized a shovel and made a small trench through which a rill of water trickled. Gradually it widened, until an hour later a raging torrent, with a thirty-five foot fall, poured through an opening 400 feet wide into that part of the canal between Gamboa Dike and Miraflores locks, which had previously been excavated by steam shovels.

WILL DO ITS DUTY

Ontario Government Will Protect Labor Says Sir James.

TORONTO, Sept. 2.—"This Government is conscious of its defects, but, conscious as we are, we propose to go right ahead in the face of misrepresentation, when it comes, but we will never stop.

"I ask you not to allow anybody to induce you to believe either that the Government will hesitate to do its duty properly in the matter of workmen's compensation or that the legislation will be in the interest of the manufacturers.

This was the fundamental note of the address of Sir James Whitney to a delegation representing organized labor yesterday. James Simpson, who introduced the different speakers, wasted no time in details, but plunged right into the question of local option in taxation, on which he was delegated to speak.

Fred. Bancroft expressed great disappointment at the failure of the Government to introduce the Workmen's Compensation Act at the last session, and then went on to say that they were now looking to the future and wanted the Premier's assurance that the act would be passed at the next session.

On the taxation question Sir James promised nothing until "public opinion was decided upon the matter," and with regard to the deputation's remarks about workmen's compensation, he felt hurt at the anxiety that the labor men had shown.

"We're told that we delayed too long. We're proud of the delay," was his explanation. "Every well-balanced man knows that when you deal with anything without delay you deal with it foolishly and recklessly."

NINE KILLED; THIRTY INJURED

When "Flying Dutchman" Was Wrecked Near Carlisle

Canadian Press Despatch

CARLISLE, ENGLAND, Sept. 2.—Early this morning, a wreck occurred between two sections of the famous London and Scotland express, on the Midland Railway, near Hawes Junction, fifty miles south of here. Nine charred bodies have been taken from the wreck, and it is believed that several are not yet removed, and of over thirty injured it is feared that several will die. The first section had stopped at the foot of the steep grade to get up steam when the second section dashed into it piling up sleeping cars crowded with passengers. In an accident near the same spot, three years ago eight passengers were killed and twenty-five injured.

TO EXCLUDE THE PUBLIC

Private Hearing of Habeas Corpus Writ, Says Judge.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Sept. 2.—Unless Superior Judge Matthew Hutchinson changes his mind overnight, the habeas corpus proceedings to-day in the case of Harry K. Thaw will be held in private.

Not even Wm. Travers Jerome, chief of the New York State interests, seeking Thaw's return to Matteawan, will be allowed in chambers. Judge Hutchinson announced his decision last night.

He had weighed the matter carefully all day, noting meanwhile the overswelling crowd pouring into Sherbrooke for the fair. On the lips of nearly everyone, was a sympathetic word for Thaw. Taking cognizance of this, and of the outbreak of last Wednesday, when Thaw was cheered in court as a hero, the judge decided that the wisest course would be to exclude spectators. Reporters also are to be barred, according to last night's arrangements, and while the Thaw lawyers may be present in a body if they so desire, only two representing New York are to take part in the proceedings. They are Samuel Jacobs of Montreal, chief Canadian counsel for the state, and Hector Verret, appearing for the Matteawan Asylum, from which Thaw escaped in a motor car two weeks ago yesterday.

Thaw is to be driven from the jail to the courthouse in a closed carriage, in charge of Governor La Force.

LABOR DAY AT "EX."

Huge Crowd at Toronto Fair Numbers 154,000.

TORONTO, Sept. 2.—With perfect weather in its favor the Canadian National Exhibition piled up its biggest attendance on record yesterday when 154,000 persons passed the turnstiles. Only the lack of transportation facilities is believed to have prevented half as many again going to the "fair." The increase over last year's Labor Day attendance is 1,000.

All along Dufferin street and for blocks along King street the cars were stalled in a seemingly unending blockade. Eventually, patience ceased to be a virtue, and thousands, despairing of ever reaching the grounds, abandoned the effort and set forth in other directions for their day's enjoyment.

The most notable event of the day was the big all-Canadian Baby Show, which drew a large number of entries.

The sweepstakes baby was Reginald Stevens Newton, 487 Melrose avenue, Notre Dame de Grace, Montreal, who came first in class three, a lovely boy of not quite fourteen months, fair haired and very alert and bright-eyed.

Killed In Runaway.

TORONTO, Sept. 2.—When the horse which she was driving became frightened and dashed over the embankment near Eglinton late yesterday afternoon, Mrs. W. Wilson, aged 35, was instantly killed, and Mrs. Susanna Marshall, aged 35, so seriously injured that her recovery is doubtful. Mrs. Wilson's little daughter, who also was in the buggy, saved her life by jumping. The accident was directly due to the horse not being properly harnessed.

ASK ARREST OF BELGIUM PRINCESS ON CHARGE OF FRAUD

PRINCESS LOUISE OF BELGIUM

Reports from Vienna say that Dr. Walter Inhoffen, a Berlin lawyer, has fieled criminal information against Princess Louise of Coburg, daughter of Leopold of Belgium, asking her arrest on charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. He says that he sold the Princess horses which she disposed.

EXPRESS TRAINS WRECKED IN THICK FOG

Thirteen Dead Taken Out of Wreckage

Canadian Press Despatch.

WALLINGFORD, CONN., Sept. 2—In collision between first and second sections of the Bar Harbor express on the New York, Newhaven and Hartford railroad this morning many are reported killed or injured. The exact numbers and details later.

NEW YORK, Later. — Sub for Wallingford. Official statement of Newhaven railroad says that thirteen dead have been taken out of the wreck near Wallingford, caused by the first division of the White Mountain express running into the rear end of the second section of the Bar Harbor express due at New York at seven thirty-six, this morning. The scene of the wreck is one mile north of Newhaven Bar Habor. The express had stopped for signals in a very thick fog when the other train due at New York at seven fifty-two overtook her. The wreck occurred at six fifty-five.

BRITAIN ROUSED

Dublin Riots Are Blamed on Both Political Parties.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Both the Unionist and Liberal parties in England are trying to make political capital out of the riots in Dublin, in regard to which the latest reports say that 320 civilians and 45 policemen have been treated at the hospitals, and that one of the civilians has succumbed.

It is argued on both sides that Irish passions have been stirred by the home rule campaign, and that this has been responsible for the lawlessness in Dublin, and also for the recent disturbances in Londonderry.

The Unionist newspapers warn the Government that the home rule bill for Ireland has aroused antagonism and lawlessness throughout that country, while the Libera newspapers blame the revolutionary preparations in Ulster, made by Sir Edward Carson, the leader of the Irish Unionists party.

James Keir Hardie, the Socialist and Independent Labor member of Parliament, started yesterday for Dublin to participate in the strike movement of the transport workers.

One Man Dead.

DUBLIN, Sept. 2.—One man, named Nolan, died yesterday as the result of injuries received in Saturday's strike riots. Another, who was erroneously reported dead, is in a critical condition.

Turkish Cavalry Advancing.

SALONIKA, Sept. 2.—A column of Turkish cavalry is advancing on the town of Xanthi on the railroad from the Port of Dedeaghatch on the Aegean Sea to Saloniki. The Bulgarian garrison has withdrawn.

Rebels Leave Nanking.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 2.—The city of Nanking was captured yesterday by the Chinese Government troops from the rebels, who fled into the country through the southern gate.

FRENCH AVIATOR RUNS AEROPLANE UPSIDE DOWN

Marvellous Feat to Test Security of Air Machines Is Performed by Pilot Pegoud at Juvisy, France

JUVISY, France, Sept. 2. — A French aviator named Pegoud yesterday "looped the loop" while flying at a height of 1,500 feet in his aeroplane. He afterwards descended without injury.

Pegoud, who recently caused a sensation by dropping safely from an aeroplane with a parachute, has announced that he intended to turn a somersault in the air with his aeroplane, and his movements after his ascent yesterday were followed closely by a large body of observers.

When Pegoud had reached a height of about 3,000 feet he turned the nose of his machine straight toward the earth and darted downward with his motor working at full power. After plunging about 1,200 feet with frightful velocity Pegoud changed the position of his rudder and caused the aeroplane to turn a complete vertical circle. The machine then glided down in a huge spiral volplane and alighted gently on the ground.

Pegoud says he will repeat the feat to-day in the presence of a committee of the military officers.

Several days ago when Pegoud left the machine in mid-air and came to earth in a parachute, he saw the aeroplane fly upside down by itself and land safely right-side up. He then conceived the idea of making the machine repeat the performance with himself in it.

Having accomplished the apparently impossible, the aviator came again to earth absolutely self-possessed. When he alighted from the machine his first remark was: "I wish I had gone another thousand feet up, then I could have done it twice."

The experiment is a part of Bleriot's attempt to arrive at security in the air.

Sockeye Season Extended.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Sept. 2.—The Provincial Fisheries Department of the Canadian Goverument has officially extended the sockeye salmon open season until Sept. 15, knowing that sockeyes may not be caught in Puget Sound waters after Aug. 25. This information was received yesterday by State Fish Commissioner L. H. Darwin from W. J. Bowsock, commissioner of fisheries of British Columbia. The extension, according to Commissioner Bowsock has been authorized as a result of the failure of the United States to ratify or obtain definite action upon the recommendation made by the fisheries commission, consisting of Dr. David Starr Jordan and Dr. E. E. Prince in 1910.

Mexican Federals Defeated.

EAGLE PASS, Texas, Sept. 2.—Official despatches by courier yesterday to Piedras Negras reported that the Constitutionalist general, Villa, defeated Felix Terrazas' Federals recently in Chihuahua and executed 200 volunteers in the Federal force.

CHANGES IN STAFFS WILL GREET SCHOLARS

At Opening of Schools To-Day

The summer vacation is over, and to-day the school children started back to their different schools for another four months grind.

When the P.C.I. students arrive they will find some important changes in the staff. They will miss the familiar face of Mr. Ferguson, who for some time was teacher in classics. Mr. Ferguson has always been exceedingly popular in athletic events of the Collegiate and will be sorely missed by the students. Mr. F. Morris, M.A.P.H., of Port Hope, will succeed Mr. Ferguson.

Miss Alford will also be among the missing ones, when the bell is sounded. For some time Miss Alford has been in charge of the art, junior and senior grammar classes, and has been very popular among the students. Miss Sarah McBride, of Port Perry, will be Miss Alfords successor.

The changes in the Public School staff are numerous.

THE TURNBULL DISASTER; LATEST REPORTS OF THE DEAD AND INJURED

Progress of Injured—Memorial Service at St. George's Church — Impressive Scenes — The Clearing of Debris.

The Review has followed closely the condition and progress of the injured in the Turnbull store disaster now lying in the Nicholls Hospital, and upon inquiries this morning learned that the patients were all doing very nicely.

Mrs. Finley, whose case is the most serious, is resting comfortably. The extent of her injuries is not yet ascertained, but it is said that the spine is affected.

Mr. Manley who had both his legs broken, is as well as can be expected under the circumstances.

Miss Tucker is also progressing favorably. She sustained injuries to her head and face, but these were not serious and while she is still confined to her bed, is in a hopeful condition.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

Special references were made in all the churches on Sunday to the disaster, the ministers preaching appropriate sermons either at the morning or the evening service.

At St George's Church on Sunday evening a very impressive memorial service was held on the behalf of the late Mr. James J. Cuffe, who met his death at the fall of the building.

Rev. James Price preached from the text in Isaiah 38; 18. The Dead March was played by the organist Mr. Dickenson. The service was attended by a large number of people from all parts of the city, and many were deeply affected by the touching words of the pastor.

CLEANING UP.

The debris is now practically all cleared away, the floor is laid bare and only a few spars remain to be removed. Nothing further has been found and there is now no fear that any other persons have suffered than those already reported.

PUBLIC OPINION RULES; MUST BE EDUCATED AMONG NATIONS, SAYS HALDANE

Distinguished Briton Addressing the Barristers at Montreal Looks to the Time When World's Great Nations Will Drop Motto "My Country, Right or Wrong," But Will Seek to do the Right Thing.

MONTREAL, Sept. 2.—The Princess Theatre was crowded to suffocation here yesterday when Viscount Haldane, Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain, addressed the convention of the American Bar Association. There were no decorations, except an enormous Union Jack and a smaller edition of the Stars and Stripes.

The audience arose to its feet as Lord Haldane, Prime Minister Borden, and other distinguished visitors took their places, and there was an outburst of cheering which lasted for several minutes, when a few moments later, ex-President Taft made his appearance.

Viscount Haldane at the conclusion of his address, was most cordially acclaimed as was Mr. Borden at the morning session, when he completed his address of welcome to the association. Chief Justice White's speech, introducing the Lord Chancellor, was also heartily applauded, but the tribute to Mr. Taft was personal as he delivered no address and took no part in the proceedings. It is generally understood that he will be president of the session.

In its legal wisdom, its literary style, its ethical tone and human touch, the address delivered by the Rt. Hon. Viscount Haldane of Cloan, formed the principal feature of the great gathering, which, in its progress, contains many items of absorbing interest. He spoke on "Higher Nationality — a Study in Law and Ethics."

It was in many ways an epoch-making speech, dealing as it did with the relationship of three great nationalities. In the purest diction, the illustrious visitor showed how British law was in the early days largely vested in the sovereign of the realm, who had associated with him the Lord High Chancellor as the executive of the king's justice. That ancient law was based on experience rather than upon logic, was the argument, and this fact had influenced the law and constitution of the three great nations, England, France and America.

The speaker further showed that the great force that actuated mankind in observing the law was not fear of the officers of justice, but fear of public opinion, so that the latter really tended more than arbitrary execution of justice, to restrain men from lawbreaking. Developing this argument, Lord Haldane proceeded to suggest that the same policy might possibly be adopted by nations, and that the time might come when nations might be as much ashamed to follow ancient methods of settling differences and disputes as individuals had become in late years.

Quoting at some length from the German philosophers, he argued that the conduct of men was regulated to only a limited extent by enactments, or by the private conscience of the individual citizen.

What kept society together and made life tolerable in his opinion was the general opinion of the community, which, without any written code or defined punishments to induce men to deal fairly and even generously with one another. He believed the era of universal peace was far distant, perhaps unattainable, but that the peoples of the great English-speaking nations might soon be so governed by an enlightened general opinion that the citizens of any one nation would not support their particular country right or wrong, but would combine with the citizens of all the other nations in the same group to form an international public opinion which would settle every dispute and settle it right without regard to political or even national prejudice

When he had finished, the entire audience rose and cheered him to the echo.

The introduction of Premier Borden by J. M. Dickenson, Tennessee, was the signal for a great outburst of cheers. In his address of welcome, Hon. Mr. Borden made felicitous reference to the ties of commerce and neighborliness which bind the United States and Canada.

Mr. Dickenson replied on behalf of the association, and reciprocated the references made by Mr. Borden to the bond of sympathy which existed between Canada and the United States.

At the conclusion of the afternoon's meeting, Lord Haldane was elected an honorary member of the association.

The distinguished visitors attended the special convocation at McGill University, where honorary degrees were conferred upon them. Last night a banquet and reception were tendered to them and to the association by Judge Doherty, Minister of Justice, on behalf of the Dominion Government.

Adrianople Prefers Turks.

ROME, Sept. 2.—An Ottoman mission has arrived here and will submit to the Italian Government proofs collected since the mission visited Paris, showing, it is said, the unanimous desire of the people of Adrianople to remain under Turkey.

WERE YOU ONE OF THEM?

Exit of Many Citizens on Labor Day

How the holiday was observed by the people of Peterborough

A large number spent a most enjoyable outing down the river, while nearly two thousand attended the Labor demonstration at Riverside Park. The usual out-of-town visitors were in evidence around the city. The outgoing trains were heavily loaded and carried a large number of local citizens.

Yesterday was moving day at Chemong and at Stoney Lake resorts, for everybody was getting ready to wend their way home for another season.

UNION LABEL

LABORERS ALL

The "dignity of labor" is not always sustained by the laborer. The tendency is for either the laborer to despise his craft, or for "superior persons" to despise, or at least pity the craftsman.

Hard manual labor, for its own sake, is certainly not dignifying, and the man who has to dig and dig and never lift his eyes to the stars, is apt to get a very low and earthy conception of existence. That there are those who are forced by circumstances to do this is one of the sad features of our social system. Some would argue that it is not the social system that is at fault, but the whole physiological and psychological system of nature and human nature. Well, the social system is included in all that, so that it amounts to the same thing.

The socialists' position is the position of Omar Khayyam when he exclaimed:

O, Love, could you and I with fate conspire
To grasp this sorry scheme of things entire,
Would we not shatter it to bits and then
Remould it more unto the heart's desire!

In this sense we are all socialist. But the difficulty is that we cannot grasp this "sorry scheme of things entire," and if we could "shatter it to bits," we would find that we had a prodigous proposition on hand putting it together again.

Many modern reformers belong to the shatterers. They get a partial or one-sided view of things and they condemn it all as "a sorry scheme." Whereas if they could grasp it in its entirety they would not want to shatter it at all, but would wonder at and admire the majestic system of the whole.

Canadians ought to be the first to recognize the worth of labor, for it was by the sweat and moil of men and women that this country has been made fit for the habitation of a civilized race.

From dawn to dusk they wrought it.
With blood and sweat they bought it
Then passed into the night.

Not only are we indebted to labor for the past, the present is sustained by it, from the lumber-man to the Premier, all are laboring men, whether they live by the sweat of brow or brain. We recognize this by our national Labor Day, when every man lays down his tools or his pen to celebrate the fact that he is a laborer, and that he is proud of the title.

THE DUTCH AND HOLLAND

The following choice passage is taken from the Canadian Courier, the Editor is speaking:—

> "For one hundred years Canada has been fighting for freedom within the Empire, and she has won every battle. Canada to-day is the greatest self-governing unit within that Empire. The relations are better than they ever were. Then why this "Imperial movement"? Were Lord Durham, Lord Elgin, Sir John Macdonald and Hon. Edward Blake wrong in fighting for that freedom in a self-governing unit within the Empire? Was Australia wong when it demanded the same or even greater autonomy than Canada possesses? Was New Zealand wrong? Was South Africa wrong? If not, why this movement for "Imperial Unity?"

It ought to be explained that there has been a solemn compact or courtship going on for some little time between the Editor of the Courier, Mr. John A. Cooper, and Mr. Arthur Hawkes of the Canadian. It would appear that these two gentlemen discovered, quite casually, that they were were kindred spirits and in a recent number of the Courier they embraced each other, and amid much tears, swore eternal allegiance.

The latest news of this betrothal is that the happy pair are married and are to go on a honeymooning trip through the province, visiting and making frends. In other words Mr. Cooper and Mr. Hawkes intend stumping the country in order to turn wicked "centralizer" from the error of their ways and lead them in the paths of Autonomy and Canadian "Nationhood."

This is not to be a fiery campaign but rather one of persuasion and sweet reasonableness, as becomes so amatory an alliance.

Mr. J. A. Cooper runs his paper on "non party" lines, and while he has always favored the Borden Naval Bill he fears that Canada is in danger of being annexed—not by the United States, no fear of that while we have the British Navy at our back—but the fear is that Canada will be annexed by Great Britain!

We have all heard of the Dutch taking Holland, but few of us have ever credited the report; but there seems to be quite a number of people who regard that as a possible contingency, and would be inclined to take a trip to Holland to warn the Dutch, or rather the Hollanders against the invasion and tyranny of the Dutch.

EDITORIAL NOTES

"Talked Four Years on Pavement," is the startling heading of a news item in a Peterborough journal. That seems quite a long speech, and in the open air; out in all weathers! Mr. Bryan is reported to have talked for four hours—but four years, well, we refuse to believe it, that's all.

At last we are to have public swimming baths. The Review is glad to find that its occasional agitation on this subject has done something toward bringing this important matter to an issue in the council. But the chief pioneers in this movement has been the Y.M.C.A.

EXCERPTS

Marking an Old Trading Post.

The Old Settlers' club, assisted by the park board, is having a log cabin erected in Mitchell park on the site of the first trading post. This is to be done in commemoration of the memory of the first white trader and because of the historical value of the spot. The cabin is being erected in the northeastern part of the park and on the exact piece of ground on which the cabin of Jack Vieau, the first white man who traded with the Indians in what is now known as Milwaukee, was located away back in 1791. The cabin will be a model of the rough cabins which were built in those days. The site on which stood the log cabin of Vieau, the Frenchman, so many years ago was located by Hans Reinertson, a member of the Old Settlers' club. Mr. Reinertson had in his possession papers relating to the location, and with the aid of these it was found.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Genuine is Always Broke.

"That actor yonder is looking for a play."

"Well, well."

"And that playwright with him is looking for a star. I brought them together."

"Distinguished company."

"That's what I thought until I mixed in. I had to pay for the lunch."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor of The Review

Sir,—I was glad to see your leader in the Review, headed "Lend a Helping Hand," and I feel sure the citizens generally are in accord with the kindly views expressed towards our worthy fellow citizen, Mr. Might, who has sustained such a severe loss by the sad calamity of Thursday morning.

Could you not go farther still and suggest some practical means whereby we may show our sympathy in a definite way? To begin with, for instance, paying up promptly any bills some of us may be owing the firm, without waiting to be solicited by them, and patronizing without stint a sale of damaged goods if such is arranged by Mr. Might.

Yours,
SYMPATHY.

GREATEST HEADACHE CURE IN THE WORLD

Tortures of Chronic Dyspepsia Cured By "Fruit-a-tives"

SHANLEY, ONT., SEPT. 23rd. 1910

"You certainly have the greatest Headache Cure in the world. Before "Fruit-a-tives" came before the public, I suffered tortures from Headaches caused by Stomach Disorders.

One of your travellers called on me when I had one of my raging Headaches and had my head almost raw from external applications. He insisted on my trying "Fruit a-tives".

I did so with what I would call amazing results. They completely cured me and since then (nearly six years ago) it is only necessary for me to take one occasionally to preserve me in my present good health."

WM. PITT.

Dealers everywhere have "Fruit-a-tives" at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50—trial size, 25c or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

CATTLE MARKETS

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, Sept. 1. Receipts of live stock at the City Yards were 12 carloads, comprising 155 cattle, 42 hogs, 598 sheep, and 24 calves.

Trade in cattle was slow, as they were generally of common to medium quality. Butchers' steers and heifers sold from $4.50 to $5.40; cows, at $3.50 to $5; calves, $5 to $9; sheep, $4 to $5; lambs, $7 to $7.40.

McDonald and Halligan sold: 55 lambs, 90 lbs. each, at $7.35; 14 sheep, 140 lbs. each, at $4.50; 3 sheep, 160 lbs. each, at $3.50, 4 calves, 160 lbs. each, at $7.75.

Dunn and Levack sold 200 lambs, at $7 to $7.40 per cwt., 50 sheep, at $5 per cwt., 10 calves, at $8.50 per cwt.; 2 loads of cattle, butchers, medium, at $5.40, and cows, at $3.50 to $5.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

MONTREAL, Sept. 1.—At the Montreal stock yards, west end market, the receipts of live stock for the week ended Aug. 30 were 2200 cattle, 2900 sheep and lambs, 2975 hogs and 1125 calves. The supply on the market today for sale amounted to 1450 cattle, 2075 sheep and lambs, 1400 hogs and 750 calves.

The feature of the trade today was the demand from American buyers for common small bulls for shipment to Buffalo, and as the offerings of such were large a fairly active trade was done in this direction at $3.25 to $3.50 per 100 pounds. There were also some buyers from Boston on the market, but as they could not secure the class of stock wanted at their price, little business was done for shipment to that market. There was no actual change in the condition of the market cattle, prices being fairly steady owing to the fact that the supply of the top grades was not large, for which there was a good demand from butchers and packers, and trade on the whole was active. Sales of full loads of choice steers were made at $6.75; good at $6.25, and fair at $5.25 to $5.50 per 100 pounds.

The demand for small meats was good and as the offerings were large an active trade was done. Western lambs were firm at $6.50 to $6.75, but the market for Quebec lambs was stronger at an advance of 10c per 100 pounds, with sales at $5.85 to $6.35 per 100 pounds. A good many grass fed calves were bought for shipment to Buffalo at 3¼c to 3½c per pound, and sales of milk fed stock were made for local account at from $6 to $12 each. An easier feeling prevailed in the market for live hogs, but prices showed little change, there being a good demand for selected lots at from $10.50 to $10.60, sows at $8.50 to $8.60, and stags at $4 to $8.50 per 100 pounds weighed off cars.

Butchers' cattle, choice, $6.75 to $7; do., medium $5.25 to $6.05; do., common, $4.25 to $4.50; canners, $2.75 to $3.25; butchers cattle, choice cows, $5.25 to $5.50; do. medium $4.50 to $5; do., bulls, $4.25 to $5.50; milkers, choice, each, $75 to $80; do., common and medium, each, $65 to $70; springers, $55 to $60; sheep, ewes, $4.25 to $4.50; bucks and culls, $3.75 to $4; lambs, $5.85 to $6.75; hogs, f.o.b., $10.50 to $10.60; calves, $3 to $12.

EAST BUFFALO LIVE STOCK.

EAST BUFFALO, N.Y., Sept. 1.—Cattle—Receipts 3400; active, 10c to 25c higher. Prime steers, $8.85 to $9.10; shipping, $8.25 to $8.75; butchers, $7 to $8.75; cows, $3.75 to $7.50; bulls, $5.25 to $7.50; heifers, $6.50 to $8.25; stock heifers, $5.50 to $6; stockers and feeders, $6 to $7.60; fresh cows and springers, active, $2 to $3 higher, $35 to $90.

Veals—Receipts 1150; slow and 50c lower; $6 to $13.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 14,000; sheep, active and steady; lambs, slow, 25c lower; lambs, $5.50 to $7.75; yearlings, $4.50 to $6.25; wethers, $5.25 to $5.50; ewes, $2.50 to $4.75; sheep, mixed, $4.75 to $5.25.

A Problem For Wilson.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Chairman Flood of the House foreign affairs committee yesterday submitted to Secretary Bryan letters from a large sugar company in Vera Cruz, asking to whom its property should be entrusted if President Wilson's advice to all Americans to get out of Mexico were to be followed. The letter stated that the company's plant cost $1,500,000, that it had a growing crop valued at $500,000, and that if those in charge left Mexico valuable property would be at the mercy of bandits.

WESTERN CANADA'S BUMPER WHEAT CROP

Thousands of Men Required—This Year's Harvest Promises to be the Largest in the History of Canada

According to present indications the wheat crop of 1913 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East to assist in harvesting the world's bread basket.

The Governments of the respective Provinces state that many thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. There will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which Company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a day shorter than any other route. Dates, rates and conditions will be announced in a few days. eod

FARM LABORERS EXCURSION $10 TO WINNIPEG

August 25—From all stations north of, but not including main line, Toronto to Sarnia Tunnel, via Stratford, all stations Toronto and north and east of Toronto to Kingston.

September 3.—From all stations Toronto and east, and east of Orillia and Scotia Junction.

September 5.—From all stations Toronto to North Bay inclusive, and west thereof in Ontario.

Farm laborers' special trains will leave Toronto at 8.30 a.m. on Aug. 22nd, via Hamilton and London, and at 2.00 p.m. on Aug. 25th, and Sept. 5th, via Guelph, Berlin and Stratford. This is an exceptional chance to visit the West, which is truly called the land of "Gold n Opportunities," and many prosperous farmers and business men now residing in Western Canada can trace the origin of their good fortune to a "Farm Laborers' Excursion." The route as via Chicago is an attractive one, many large cities and towns being passed en route, which breaks the monotany of the journey, there being something new to see all the time. The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway is the shortest and quickest route between Winnipeg-Saskatoon-Edmonton, with smooth roadbed, through the newest, most picturesque, and most rapidly developing section of Western Canada.

John Chambers Dead.

TORONTO, Sept. 2.—After several months' illness, John Chambers, former park commissioner in Toronto, died yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Chambers was born in Canterbury, Kent, Eng., in 1850, and came to Canada in 1871. He entered the services of the city in 1878 as superintendent of the Exhibition grounds, and a few years later was appointed commissioner of parks, occupying that position until 1908.

Under Mr. Chamber's direction the foundation of Toronto's park system was laid.

OF HEADQUARTERS

The Best Detective Story of the Last Ten Years

BY MARCIN BARBER

Supplied exclusively in Canada by the British and Colonial Press, Ltd., Toronto

Mrs. Missioner's lips were parted. Her eyes were fixed upon the Oriental's in the intensity of her interest.

"One night," the sage went on, "when a band of militant priests assigned to guard the shrine of Buddha in the great Delhi temple relaxed its vigilance, a sacrilegious wretch—on whose head be all the curses of all the centuries!—made his way into the heart of the sacred building, and wrested the diamond from the brow of the god. That he was not blasted in his tracks by the lightning of divine wrath proves that the mind of the god was shrouded in meditation for the benefit of his children. Within the hour, armed men were scouring the city for the apostate thief. No trace of him was found. The Maharajah of that kingdom, lax though he had been in certain observances of the faith, was too true a son of the Temple to let the careless priests go unpunished. By his order they were seized, a hundred of them, and thown into prison. A royal decree was promulgated, the effect of which is that none of those unhappy captives is to see the light of day until the diamond is returned to its place in Buddha's forehead. The Temple was draped in the mourning colors of the East, and those colors still deck its lonely walls. No true believer's foot may be seen with in its portals while the great stone is missing. The brethren of the priesthood languish in dungeons, hoping against hope that Buddha may manifest his mercy by causing the gem to be regained and replaced upon his brow. Untended, unworshipped, the god sits upon his throne within the shrine, waiting for the restoration of his own."

Mrs. Missioner was thrilled by the narrative. She was somewhat at a loss, however, to account for the depth of the Swami's interest in the recapture of the great diamond. Until he unfolded his story further, she did not know how personal that interest was.

"How does this affect you?" she asked. "Why should you be at such pains to find and restore the diamond? And to return these other stones to me?"

"You will need no further explanation, madam," said the scholar, with utmost courtesy, "when I tell you that the priests who lie in that Eastern prison are my brethren."

"But how is it you are not among them?"

"By special dispensation of mercy on the part of the Maharajah," he answered. "When five years, as you count them, had flown and still the diamond was missing—when all the other servants of the kingdom had searched India, the rest of the Orient and even Europe for it, His Majesty relented far enough to direct that the imprisoned priests choose one of their number to girdle the earth in quest of the stone. I, being the youngest of the priesthood, was selected for the task. For the priests themselves, though prisoners of woe, are more concerned to have the stain wiped out than to return to the world from which they have been exiled. They chose the youngest that the searcher might have as long a time as nature permitted to carry out the quest."

The Swami paused an instant, and then continued:

"So you see that not only do a hundred human lives hang upon the return of that single jewel to the place whence it was stolen, but that the faith, the religion, the very hope of eternity of millions of persons, are equally dependent upon it. Until the gem gleams again in Buddha's brow, no prayer for redemption can be breathed with any hope of response in the most remote part of the Maharajah's kingdom. Can you wonder that I would sell life itself to achieve this task?"

Mrs. Missioner did not wonder. She clasped between her hands the packet containing the other stones of her necklace, and gazed dreamily in to the fire.

"What is it, then, you wish?" she asked. "What can I do for you? Is it a question of a reward?"

"Not in that sense," said the Swami quickly. "I want no recompense for returning to you that which belongs to you. Those stones are yours. It would be as wicked for me to keep them, according to the light of my faith, as in the moral intelligence of yours. But I do want a reward in a way. I ask your permission to return to my native land, and I request that you cause all further efforts to recover the big diamond to end at once."

"How can I do that?" inquired the widow.

"The matter is now in the hands of the police. You can say truthfully to the police," the Swami replied, "that your diamonds have been returned to you; that you are satisfied with the explanation of their disappearance that accompanied their restoration, and that you wish all further activity on the part of the authorities to cease."

"But will they do that?" pursued the widow. "Will they let fall a case that has aroused so much public interest as the Missioner diamond mystery? Can I persuade them to end the search and to take no further steps?"

"I think you can," he said. "All you have to do is to inform the police that you have your diamonds, and that you will not be a complainant against anyone connected with their disappearance. When you do that, I feel certain they will be glad enough to drop the case. If you have promised a large reward for recovery of the jewels, and if you have no other plan for disposing of the money, I shall esteem it an honor if you will permit me to defray the expense of rewarding the detectives who have been at work upon the case."

"That is beside the question," said Mrs. Missioner emphatically. "The money end of it is not to be considered for a moment. The other part of your request is different. I will consider it."

"I trust your consideration will not cover many hours," said the Swami, rising. "If you come to a decision quickly and a favorable one, you will avert a very strong possibility of bloodshed."

Mrs. Missioner started.

"The Maharanee diamond, as you call it, is in the keeping of my colleague," the Swami continued. "That man Britz, the detective from Headquarters, who has been most active in the hunt for your necklace, is close upon his heels. It is impossible for my comrade to escape from the city unless you express a desire to have the police cordon now surrounding us withdrawn. He will not give up the jewel while he retains the slightest spark of life with which to fight for it. And neither will he stop at what your phase of civilization would call murder, if it becomes at all necessary for the defense of the stone."

A little shudder ran through Mrs. Missioner.

"Besides," the Oriental added once more, as he moved toward the door, "my colleague is admirably supported. There are more of us in New York than you can imagine. Among the most daring in support of the—my colleague, should it come to a combat, would be, madam, your own servant Ali."

"Ali!" cried the widow. "Why, he is devoted to me."

"So?" The Swami's eyebrows went up. "He is devoted to you, madam, in all other respects; but in everything connected with the restoration of the jewel you will find him devoted to—me. I have owned his devotion, Mrs. Missioner, since infancy. He was my father's trusted servant and he has been mine since my father's death. It was I who put him in the way of being employed by you before you left Calcutta. Even then I had reason to think the great diamond was in your possession, although that reason was not strong enough to warrant me in refraining from careful search in other directions until all the clues not connected with you were exhausted. The hunt for the jewel, Mrs. Missioner, has been to me not a pastime of a month, or a year, but the task of several years—a duty which, if I had not carried it to a successful conclusion, would have been the task of a lifetime."

Mrs. Missioner did not reply. She seemed lost in thought. The only sign she gave was to tighten her clasp upon the package of gems, as the visitor with punctilious Oriental courtesy bowed his way to the door.

"I will come for your decision at noon," said the Swami. "It is the safest time for me to pass through the streets, as they are then at their busiest. Think well upon my request, if you please, madam. Let not the sacred stone go back to its shrine with Western glod upon it."

CHAPTER XXIV

Britz Shows His Hand

Following the talk between Britz and Manning in the office of the chief of detectives, the lieutenant hastened to his own room, weher Fitch was awaiting him. He excused himself to the physician and entered a telephone booth at the far end of the office in which he was accustomed to conduct his more private wire conversations. Through the glass of the silence partition, Fitch saw the detective's eyes sparkle as he listened to what the man at the other end of the wire was saying. While Britz still was talking Manning came in, glanced inquiringly at the doctor, and settled himself in a big chair as if for further and more protracted interview with his able lieutenant.

"How does it look to you, doctor, now?" said the Chief to Fitch, eyeing him closely meanwhile.

"It looked for a while as if we had run into a hornets' nest," Fitch answered.

"Pretty exciting experience you had uptown, eh?" The Chief laughed.

"Well, just a little," said the doctor. "One doesn't expect to encounter a cobra in a well-regulated brownstone front."

"Think the hunt is getting any closer?"

"Britz seems to think so. His opinion carries weight with me."

"No doubt. In your mind, he will catch the thief, then?" asked the Chief.

"Thief, or thieves," said the medical man quietly. "I am convinced he will run them down soon or late, if they're on the face of the earth."

"Thank you, doctor," Britz interrupted, coming out of the booth. "Your confidence is not misplaced. The thieves are as good as caught now."

Manning looked up with an air of surprise.

"Yes," continued Britz, addressing his chief, "I've just been talking to Gordon. Had him out all day on a special hunt. Turns out to be the right lead. We know where the second batch of thieves can be found after the next hour or so."

"Where are they?" asked Manning eagerly.

"I'll take you to them, Chief," Britz replied. "If you don't mind, I'll ask you to wait a little while until I can do so. Meanwhile, let's gather up the loose ends."

"Do you mean you have solved the Missioner mystery?" Fitch inquired, trembling slightly as he reflected what the answer might mean to the woman of his heart.

"There isn't any mystery now," Britz responded cheerily. "There hasn't been any in my mind for several hours."

"Let's have it!" exclaimed the Chief impatiently.

Just for an instant Britz stiffened under his excellently controlled exterior. He believed in discipline. He was known favorably to his superiors from the commissioner down for the obedience and respect he always showed them. But there lurked beneath his departmental sense of duty the independence of a man who felt he could always stand on his own two feet, and that he could work alone, if need be, to accomplish the most difficult task. His impulse of revolt lasted scarce a second's space, however, and with a military salute that perhaps was meant to remind him of Manning's rank, he slid into his revolving chair and looked intently at first one and then the other of the men, who waited tensely for his words.

"The men Gordon has run down," said the lieutenant, "were the hardest to catch. I call them the second batch of thieves because they are the fellows who stole Mrs. Missioner's jewels long after the stones were stolen from her."

"And who may they be?" Manning persisted.

"They are the dark men—the Hindoos whose connection with the case complicated it much more than was comfortable, and who gave further proof of their inconsiderate dispositions by making the doctor here and me so uncomfortable just before we came back to Headquarters."

"You mean they are the men who robbed Mrs. Missioner of her jewels?"

"No, the men who stole Mrs. Missioner's jewels after she was robbed of them."

"They robbed the thieves, then?"

"Not thieves—thief," said Britz. "There was only one artist in the first job."

"What's his name?" the chief questioned again.

"His name?" returned the detective nonchalantly. "Oh, I haven't said it was a 'he.'"

Even Fitch, though he had worked intimately with the sleuth in the latter part of the hunt for the jewels, was astonished. Manning concealed his surprise. He said:

"Well, I suppose you've got the goods on him—or her?"

"I have and I haven't," the detective answered. "While only one person stole the diamonds, there's been a whole troop of potential thieves after the stones. They've been working at cross-purposes, with the natural result that they played unconsciously into the hands of the one all of them trusted."

Malone, N. Y.,—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has certainly done me a lot of good. I first heard of it when I was a girl and I always said that if I ever had female trouble I would take it.

"I suffered from organic inflammation and would have spells when I would be in such pain that I would tear my clothes. One day my husband got the neighbors in to see what the matter was but they could not help me. My first thought was for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I sent my husband out for it and took it until I was entirely cured. I am a woman of perfect health and my health and happiness came from Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine. You may rest assured that I do all I can to recommend your wonderful medicine to my friends."—MRS. FRED STONE, Route No. 3, Malone, N. Y.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. ## DETECTING ICEBERGS.

Some Wonderful Inventions for Safety of Steamers.

Since the terrible Titanic disaster, scientists and engineers have been devoting much time and attention to devising means by which ships may detect the vicinity of icebergs. The old method consisted of lowering a thermometer into the water as the iceberg zone was being approached, the distance of the icebergs being judged according to the temperature of the water in the vicinity.

Since the increase in the speed of big liners, however, this method has been found to be quite inadequate, being neither safe, quick, nor accurate. One of the most reliable inventions for detecting icebergs at sea seems to be that of Dr. Coplans, of the University of Leeds, who has invented an apparatus which detects the presence of icebergs by giving readings of the saline contents of the water. The nearer an iceberg is to the ship the less is the amount of salt held in solution in the water. In conjunction with the United States and Canadian Governments, Dr. Coplans has been carrying out a series of experiments on these lines which are expected to have most important results, and which should do much towards rendering impossible such disasters as that which overtook the ill-fated Titanic.

Another invention of which high hopes are entertained is what is known as the microthermometer, an instrument enabling very much closer readings of the temperature of the water to be obtained than is possible with an ordinary thermometer. It is also self recording.

It is a curious fact, by the way, in regard to this instrument, that when an iceberg is being approached the instrument actually records a rise in temperature, this, however, being followed by a rapid fall. The explanation is that the water from a melting iceberg, leaving the berg at its coldest, gradually travels outwards and becomes warmer by the absorption of heat from the sun.

Submarine signalling, too, for the prevention of disasters in foggy weather, is also being closely studied by experts, for it is recognized that there is much room for improvement in the signalling apparatus used at the present time on board ship. Fog-horns, sirens and other apparatus used for sending sound through the air to or from ships at sea are regarded as very unsatisfactory, and it is estimated that in ten years no fewer than 1,000 vessels were wrecked, resulting in the loss of 50 human lives, owing solely to aberration of sound or to echoes.

The modern system of submarine signalling consists of bells sunk in at least 20 feet of water, operated by electricity or pneumatic or hydraulic pressure. It is said that a submarine bell can be heard at a greater distance than any fog horn, siren, or any other generally used air signal or device, and it is recorded that one of these bells was heard at a distance of from ten to fifteen miles.

The Domestic Tyrant.

The other day Sir Herbert Tree, the famous actor manager, told an amusing story of Mr. Claude Lowther, M.P.

He was recently staying with Mr. Lowther at Hurstmonceaux Castle, and one night at dinner he admired some beautiful candle sticks on the table.

"You can take them away with you," said Mr. Lowther generously.

"Oh, no, you mustn't," chimed in the butler promptly. "If I let Mr. Lowther give away all he wants to I wouldn't have anything left!"

NARROW ESCAPE

Italian Falls From Truck On George Street.

On Saturday afternoon about 3.30 considerable excitement was caused on George street near the Central Park, when an Italian laborer fell off the heavy motor truck of the C.G.E. which was coming from the north of the city. The man seemed to be suffering severe pain and it was feared that he had broken his arm, but on medical examination it was found to be only badly bruised. As the fellow could not speak a word of English, he had a rather hard time to make the bystanders understand his trouble.

I. O. FORESTERS TENT POPULAR

One of the most delightful retreats at the Toronto Exhibition is that of the Independent Order of Foresters. The large tent overlooking the blue waters of Lake Ontario is surrounded on the outside with shrubs and foliage and presents an inviting appearance. While the exterior is trim and neat the inside is beautiful to a degree. Upon the floor are laid carpets of a rich color while scattered around are easy chairs of the most inviting description. Bright flowers and fresh looking palms add to the scene, while the pictures hanging from the bedecked poles add a touch of interest that strikes a note of appealing timbre.

Upon the table is laid a register which has been signed by over a thousand people to date. Information with regard to the Order may be obtained at a moment's notice from the obliging and courteous officials in charge. There is knowledge to be gathered which will appeal to all interested as well as those who are not already in fraternal societies. To date the Order, which was founded thirty-eight years ago, has a membership of 250,000 and its branches are to be found in Great Britain, Canada and the United States. The triennial meeting of the Supreme and High Courts, which was held in Toronto this week, revealed the fact that the numbers added to the organization first year amounted to 29,000 while the numbers added last month totalled 2,180 facts which strikingly manifest the increasing interest in the Order. The growth of the Order in Canada is due in a very large degree to the untiring efforts of Broth. George Mitchell of Toronto, the assistant Supreme Chief Ranger. An indication of the faith reposed in the Order was given this week when the Supreme Chief Ranger, the Hon Elliot G. Stevenson, made a gift of $100,000 to erect and maintain a Home for Aged Foresters and at his death a further sum of $100,000 will be given toward the maintenance of the institution. The recent meeting revealed the fact that the Order is in a splendid financial position and the funds are guaranteed in a manner to satisfy the most exacting. The [illegible] range from $100 to $5,000 and $5 a week is paid in case of sickness. The Permanent Disability Fund provides that seventy per cent of the amount paid shall be paid and when a member reaches the age of seventy the same amount is paid.

It is refreshing to hear of an Order that erects and maintains an institution to take care of its invalids and in this the Foresters are to be congratulated. A beautiful sanitarium has been erected at Rainbow Lake in one of the most beautiful parts of the Adirondack Mountains in New York. Fifty-three Foresters are there at the present time. That the place is doing a splendid work is borne out by the fact that so many invalids who have been sent there have been completely cured. The Independent Order of Foresters also have an Orphanage at Oakville at which there are fifty children, while the number of children cared for by the Order reaches the splendid number of 800.

The beautifully equipped tent at the Exhibition is looked after by D. S.C. Rangers F. Egan and James Glendenning, assisted by Brothers John Mohan and J.W. Plynton. The munificent gift of the Hon. Mr. Stevenson to the Independent Order of Foresters this week at the triennial meeting met iwth a remarkable reception. When the announcement was made the brethren rose to their feet and cheered for minutes on end. The members, apart from the fact that the donor maintains the institution as long as she lives, wish the benefactor as long life as possible.

MUTT AND JEFF CELEBRATE LABOR DAY

Budd Fisher's Characters in Real Life — In Charge of Police They Take Part in Sports—Jeff Does Not Win in Baby Show

The Labor Day procession and sports were attended by three extraordinary individuals who seemed to have walked out of the Bud Fisher's pictures in the newspapers.

Mutt and Jeff are no strangers to Canadians, but they do not often appear in public life, and the children were amazed to find that they were no imaginary personages.

They took part in the procession, in charge of a policeman, who had some difficulty in keeping them from illusing each other.

They also entered into the sports at Riverside Park with vigor and alacrity, and while they failed to carry off any of the prizes, they certainly deserved them. Mutt was particularly dissappointed at not winning a prize with Jeff whom he put up at the baby show.

It is rumored that these three characters are also known as W. Ayres (Mutt); H. Melrose (Jeff); J. Leonard (Policeman), and that they are respectable citizens on other than Labor Days.

THE WEST CALLS FOR MORE HELP

Farm Laborers Are Urgently Required

The shortage of farm laborers in Western Canada is causing considerable worry to the farmers. While thousands have answered the call of the Wheat Fields, the demand greatly exceeds the supply, and harvesters will find ready employment in any of the three Western Provinces.

Farm laborers' excursions will be run via Canadian Pacific Railway follows:

Sept. 3—From Toronto and all stations in Ontario east of, but not including Grand Trunk Line Toronto to North Bay.

Sept. 6—From all stations on Grand Trunk Line, Toronto to North Bay inclusive, and west thereof in Ontario including C.P.R. main line, Sudbury to Sault Ste. Marie, but not including Azilda and west.

Going West Trip—$10.00 to Winnipeg, plus half cent per mile from Winnipeg up to McLeod, Calgary or Edmonton.

Return Trip East—$18.00 from Winnipeg, plus half cent per mile from all points east of McLeod, Calgary or Edmonton to Winnipeg.

The Canadian Pacific will be found the ideal route to the west, the trip from Toronto to Winnipeg being made in about 36 hours. No immigration or customs inspection; no transfer or change of cars. Full particulars from any C.P.R. agent, or write M. G. Murphy, district passenger agent, Toronto.

KNOTTY KEE'S IRISHMEN WIN LAST GAME OF THE CLOSING SERIES

Hilliard Had Two Hits Scout Hickman of Cleveland Acted as Umpire

Knotty Lee's Irishmen snatched the last game here this season from the locals on Saturday afternoon, Big Chief Garlow having a shade the better of Bob Sterling in a hard battle. The end of the seventh saw the score 0—0, but in the eighth Dougherty was passed. J. Murphy and Garlow both sacrificed him, putting him on third and then Gilbooly came through with a single, Dougherty scoring. Peterborough had a chance in their half of the same frame, when, with two down and Sterling on first, McNeal singled but Fox, the next man up, drove one at Garlow. The Indian had horseshoes all day and this one was no exception. He clouted it down but recovered it in time to get Fox at first.

A charity, an error on Thompson and a single by Grogan gave Hamilton another counter in the first of the ninth while Peterborough were retired in order.

Dave Hilliard the big middle gardener had two of Peterborough's five hits.

No umpire was on hand so Scout Hickman of Cleveland, handled the indicator.

OTTAWA WINS CANADIAN LEAGUE

The Canadian League wound up to a glorious finish yesterday afternoon when Ottawa defeated Peterborough 14-2 and thus cinched the pennant. After the morning games Ottawa stood first with a lead of half a game, London was second and Peterboro third, and St. Thomas fourth. If London beat St. Thomas in the afternoon game and Peterboro handed another one to Ottawa, London would win the pennant and Peterboro would be third. Alas! the Shaughnessy brigade took the locals into camp by 14-2, and London and St. Thomas went 11 innings in the afternoon when the game was called. The score was 0-0.

On the morning, Belting twisted his ankle and Tracey relieved him. "Knot" is around on crutches to-day.

"Bob" Sterling, the hitherto jinks of Ottawa was the victim in the afternoon and received his first bad beating this season.

HILLIARD MAY GO-TO MAJORS

Scout Hickman is Pleased With Dave's Work

Scout Hickman, of Cleveland, who umpired the game on Saturday, was here to look over Dave Hilliard, the big fielder of the locals. He was greatly impressed by the work of Hilliard and also J. Murphy, of the Hamilton Club. Though the "bush timber finder" never gave the Review scribe a definite statement he left him the impression that Dave was away too good for this league.

Dave has made many friends during his season here and they would all be pleased to see him go up to fast company.

POLICE COURT

Four Cases Before Magistrate Dumble

Owing to yesterday being a holiday, no police court was held. Very few will suffer as yesterday proved a very quiet day in police circles. The following, however, were on the carpet at this morning's session, for the various offences, before Magistrate Dumble:

RECKLESS DRIVING.

"John Allan, you are charged with driving an auto while in the state of intoxication, guilty or not guilty?"

"Guilty," answered the accused.

"Five dollars to be paid forthwith."

"I haven't got the money here."

"Default of payment, 10 days in jail."

FINED $2.00.

Arthur Chard of Toronto, pleaded not guilty to having eight or nine drinks of beer. Chard said he had worked in a brewery and had often drank more. He also appeared to have had his fighting spirit aroused and tried to lick the police force. His explanation proved fatal as he was assessed $2 to be paid forthwith.

TWO DOLLARS EACH.

Floyd McMaster was fined $2 for being drunk.

Peter Anderson also paid $2 for the same offence.

Esperantists End Congress.

BERNE, Switzerland, Sept. 2.—International Esperanto Congress has declined with thanks the invitation to hold the congress at San Francisco in 1915. This was based on the ground that the journey was too long for Europeans. Paris was selected for the Congress in 1914 and Edinburgh in 1915.

After an eight days' session the congress ended with the feast of international brotherhood. After speeches warmly advocating peace had been delivered by the German engineer, Herr Schiff, and the French General Sebert, an English delegate, Col. Pollen, caused great enthusiasm by embracing both of them.

Pity may be akin to love, but it's a mighty poor relation.

MISSING GIRL IS FOUND

Traced to Uxbridge

County Constable Archie Moore has been busy for the past few days tracing the daughter of a well-known resident of the Cordova Mines who left home about a week ago supposed to be in the company of two men. Constable Moore was notified and traced the girl and her companions to Uxbridge. The men seemed to have got wise that someone was on their trail, for they left and the girl was returned home to her anxious parents.

The matter will probably be taken up by the Crown Attorney.

HOT TIME ON VICTORIA AVE.

Defendant Allowed Out On Suspended Sentence

A hair pulling quarrel between a party of women, residents of Victoria Ave., was aired in Police Court before Magistrate Dumble. Mr. G. N. Gordon acted for the prosecution and E. J. McElderry appeared for the defendants.

The complainant claimed that she went out to get a neighbor's little girl and crossing a lot, she was pounced on by two women. They grabbed her by the cheeks and also hit her several times over the shoulder with a stick. The complainant said that a neighbor's boy was pouring water down the little girl's neck and that she went out to stop him and as a result the quarrel ensued.

The defendant, in the cross-examination admitted striking the complainant.

Magistrate Dumble settled the case by allowing the defendant to go on suspended sentence.

AUTO RACERS KILLED.

Speed Madness Results In Four Deaths at Nashville.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 2.—Death claimed a heavy toll in the Labor Day automobile speed races at the State Fair grounds yesterday afternoon, when four of the six high-powered cars entered in the 25-mile free-for-all were wrecked and rendered into a mass of twisted steel and splintered wood on the far side of the mile track opposite the big grand stand, wherein were packed 5,000 people.

Four of the dare-devil racers were killed, two received minor injuries, while four escaped without injury of any sort. Two of the cars with their drivers and mechanicians flashed through the tangled wreckage of broken cars and maimed bodies at a speed of 60 miles an hour, escaping injury. The dead:

John W. Sherrill, driver of Buick car No. 3.

Thomas R. Bridges, mechanician of Buick car No. 3.

Wm. Sherrod, driver of Stutz car No. 8.

G. Brown, mechanician of Stutz car No. 8.

FORTY THOUSAND MEN REQUIRED

Farm Laborers' Excursions This Year's Wheat Crop Will Be the Largest in the History of Canada.

The wheat crop of 1913 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East to recruit and assist in harvesting the World's greatest bread basket.

The Governments of the respective Provinces state that forty thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. These will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which Company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a day shorter than any other route.

SUCCESSFUL LABOR DAY OBSERVANCE AND CELEBRATION

HIGHLY CREDITABLE PROCESSION AND STRONG COMPETITION IN SPORT EVENTS AT RIVERSIDE

Frank Leahy Won Five Mile Event With McAuliffe Second, Officials Carried Out Program in Highly Satisfactory Manner.

Labor Day, the first Monday in September, is the day of the working man. A day set apart for him and his friends, that he may call his own and arrange things to suit himself. On other holidays the public wish is often supreme, in that the military or other organizations make the day a good part of it. But Labor Day is the day when labor and its devotees get together to show their strength and to show themselves, as a part of the industrial backbone of the country.

The turn out yesterday as shown by the very important procession was typical of the very best that is in the ranks of labor. Our own citizens, men who live and work among us and whom we know personally and respect for the very good qualities that they carry into daily life.

The weather man was most kind and certainly handed out a good brand of the old reliable for the big demonstration at Riverside Park, when some two thousand people witnessed a strong competition in some excellent sporting events.

There is generally a a nee monotonous drag about a program of sports, but J. J. Thompson and the other officials certainly prevented things from getting stale, by always getting the competitors away without the usual delays.

Shortly after 1 o'clock the numerous labor organizations lined up at the Central Park and headed by the 57th Band marched to the grounds.

The Band was liberal during the afternoon and rendered some very catchy numbers.

The sporting events were keenly contested and it was always anybody's race until the tape was breasted.

The hundred yards' dash was one of the fastest ever pulled off on Riverside Park, and resulted in a tie between Hill and Flowers with McMartin next. In the final heat of the race, Hill managed to win out by inches. Both these runners are fast, and are promising athletes.

With a jump of four foot eleven inches, McMartin won the running high jump. Flowers was next with a jump of four feet ten inches.

The quarter mile race was rather tame, only two men started and resulted in a win for McMartin against A. Flowers.

The single union man's race was won by Jack Cook, who ran away from his nearest rivals. J. Harey was second. The winner's time was 12 1-2 seconds.

Only one team started in the factory relay race composed of Miller, Taylor and Cook. They will receive a prize of a box of cigars, each.

The base running contest was won by Mills of the Belleville Ball team, in 15 1-2 seconds.

The school boys' relay was won by three boys from the King Edward School. They were McLeod, Taylor and McLeod.

The boys' race under 12 years was won by Pailley, with McLeod second and Patterson third.

From some two dozen boys, Bailey, Logan and Whatley were first to cross the tape in the boot race.

The best baby under six months on the grounds was John J. Halliday and the best baby on the grounds under one year was Irene Wilson. The winners in this contest will be presented with a dozen photos by the Roy Studio and W. F. Moule.

The winners in the girls' race was Rena Gaston, with Frances Leton second and Rena Mahoney third.

FIVE MILE RACE.

The five mile race was probably one of the hardest contested races on the program. Several runners faced the starter, but only three finished. Frank Leahy, of Douro, was the winner, with the time of 31.29. McAuliffe was second and Charlie Thorpe was next to breast the tape. The race was of the tip and tuck variety and was very closely contested all the way.

The lucky numbers in the drawing contest were 1037 and 407.

The football game ended in a draw with the C. G. E. and Nomads. The score in the first game was 5—0 in favor of the C. G. E., who played the St. Johns. The game between the C. G. E. and Nomads ended in a draw, 2 all.

The finals will be played off on Saturday afternoon.

Much credit is due to J. J. Thompson, of the Y.M.C.A., for the manner in which the sports were conducted. Messrs. Hainsworth and Galley, also of the "Y." assisted.

The committee in charge are highly pleased with Mr Thompson's work.

The different officials of the demonstration are to be congratulated on the wonderful success they met with.

BAND CONCERT

In the evening the 57th band gave a most enjoyable concert in the Armories. At an early hour the big drill hall was well filled and the excellent program was enjoyed. A part of the hall was seated, the balance of the floor space being at the service of promenaders.

BASEBALL GAME.

In the baseball game in connection with the Labor Day sports between Belleville and an All Star Peterborough team the representatives from the railroad city won by a score of 2—1. The game was fast and hard fought from the very first, and was not decided till the last bat was in the bag. Goyer the south-paw twirler for the visitors was there with the balls, and struck out 11 men. Smith pitched a good game, having 9 strike outs. Two spectacular catches by Barrie and a circus spear by Corin saved Smith on two occasions. The outfield for Belleville never touched the ball.

FORESTERS' POSITION NOW IMPREGNABLE

Provision for Extinguishing of Actuarial Deficiency

Benevolent Features of the Work Likely to Have More Attention in the Future—Changes Made in Important Offices.

The Supreme Court of the Independent Order of Foresters has been meeting all last week. This session of the Supreme body has been the most important that was ever held in the history of the society. The adoption of the I.O.F. bill and the acceptance of plan No. 1 of that bill, which provides for the extinguishing of the actuarial deficiency now places the Foresters in the position of being the largest fraternal insurance organization that is conducting fraternal insurance on adequate rates. Plan No. 1 was adopted by practically a unanimous vote.

While the question of actuarial solvency and financial affairs of the order have occupied the attention of the Supreme body for the first two days in this session, the fraternal portion of the work has engrossed the balance of their time. The Orphan's Home, Sanitoriums, Purple Cross Nurses, and a number of other benevolent features of the Society have been under review. During the discussion yesterday, many interesting facts were elicited. In one jurisdiction it was reported that some $42,103 had been spent in relief and hospital work, a large portion of this money being entirely voluntary. In another large city it was pointed out that the Subordinate Court employed two nurses permanently to care for and nurse sick and disabled members of the order, and in another jurisdiction over eight hundred situations had been procured for various members. Another report was to the effect that over $8,000 had been contributed for the relief of the sufferers from the recent flood in Ohio. These are only a few of the many very and interesting reports which were made in regard to the fraternal work.

A FIELD TO BE DEVELOPED

As a result of these reports it is quite likely that in future plans will be devised providing for a more systematic development of this feature of the work that the society is engaged in.

A striking feature of the convention has been the spontaneous unanimity with which the members of the Supreme Court have applied themselves to the task of caring for the interests of the members at large. The discussions have been conducted plainly with a desire to bring about ideal conditions, as far as possible, for all present and future Foresters. In this respect the proceedings of the present Supreme Court session will undoubtedly have a conspicuous place in the history of the I.O.F.

The elections were held on Friday last. The only changes in the officers of the society are that Mr. Alex. Stewart, Toronto, takes the position of Supreme Auditor and Mr Robt Mathison, the distinguished and able Supreme Secretary, takes the position of Supreme Treasurer, and is succeeded by Mr. Darch.

THE NEW SECRETARY.

Mr Frederick J Darch, who was elected to the position of Supreme Secretary, comes from London, and is a well known business man of that city, having been for a number of years senior member of the firm of Darch & Hunter Seed Company. He has also had quite an extensive municipal career. Being a speaker of more than ordinary ability, when yet a young man he entered public life, taking a prominent part in the municipal affairs of his city. His uncompromising integrity and business ability resulted in the people showing their confidence in him by electing him to the board of the Water Commission in the year 1905. Subsequently, by his colleagues, he was elected Chairman of of the Commission, and it was during that period that the Hydro-Electric system in London was launched, and much of the success of that undertaking was due to the careful and able attention he gave the project. He served the city for six years as Water Commissioner, but, owing to the pressure of his personal business affairs, he was compelled to decline re-election. Mr. Darch will no doubt make a capable and efficient officer for the society.

OFFICERS FOR FOUR YEARS.

The officers who will conduct business for the next four years are:—

Elliott G. Stevenson, S.C.R., Toronto.

Victor Morin, B. A., LL. D., N. P., P.S.C.R., Montreal.

J. D. Clark, S.V.C.R., Dayton, Ohio

Robt. Mathison, S. T., Toronto.

T. Millan, M. D., M. R. C. S. E., Toronto.

W. H. Hunter, B. A., S. C., Toronto.

Geo. E. Bailey, Antwerp N.Y., and Alex. Stewart, Toronto, Auditors.

At the conclusion of the afternoon session Grand Crosses of Merit were conferred on the following:—Geo. W. Wands, P. H. C. R., of Chatham, Ont.; W. D. Pettigrew, Winnipeg, Man.; Dr. Gauthier of Montreal, Que.; W. J. Sutcliffe, Yorkshire, England.

Edward Botterell, P. S. V. C. R., and O. B. Halkett, P. S. C. R., two of the first members of the Executive Council and of the first Supreme Court of the order, were presented with loving cups by the members of the Supreme Court.

are not matters of every-day purchase, and therefore even the independently wealthy like to take the greatest care of them. Yet sometimes the functions of a single evening will ruin their appearance temporarily. We can remedy this, however, by our system of careful cleaning, and in any case we can dye the garment and make it like a new one.

Children's Eyes

How many people realize the fact that children are just as liable to require glasses as older people.

Many children who are backward in school and considered stupid, are not really so, but are laboring under difficulties on account of not being able to see properly. They are young and do not realize that they do not see as well as their companions and of course their parents don't know it either. But it is the duty of parents to have their children's eyes examined and see if they require glasses, because school work is hard enough for children without their being handicapped with poor vision. The TAIT OPTICAL CO. make a special study of children's eyes. Come and consult us and we will advise you in the matter.

PROMINENT MEMBER OF CABINET WILL RESIGN SOON

Dr. Aureliano Urrutia, Will Leave Huerta—Was President's Right Hand Man.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 3.—Announcement was made yesterday of the prospective resignation of Dr. Aureliano Urrutia, Minister Governacion.

It created a profound sensation, particularly as Urrutia has been regarded as President Huerta's right-hand man in the Cabinet, especially favored with his confidence next to Gen. Blanquet, who was Huerta's principal aide in the coup d'etat by which Madero was overthrown in February last.

It was Urrutia who a week ago publicly announced to a newspaperman, as the spokesman for Huerta, that Mexico had given the United States until 12 o'clock that night to accord recognition to the Huerta Government. A prompt denial was made officially at the demand of Charge O'Shaughnessy that Urrutia had uttered the statement.

Urrutia's talkative ways aroused the ire of Foreign Minister Gamboa, who protested, and since then there has been friction between the two Ministers.

Urrutia's post is one of the most important in the Cabinet as it exercises authority over the internal affairs of the states and his supervision over the elections.

Many military state governors, appointed by Huerta, have objected to taking orders with respect to their civil functions from Urrutia, a civilian. Urrutia's influence in the Cabinet is said to have been prejudicial to the interests of the United States, as he is credited with being highly antagonistic to Americans.

There are also reasons for believing a strong possibility exists of Gamboa quitting the Cabinet and no successor being named for the present.

FIVE ARRESTED

International Necklace Mystery May Now be Solved.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Chief Detective Inspector Ward of Scotland Yard, with other detectives, brought off a big coup yesterday in North London, when they arrested five men in connectoin with the loss of the $750,000 necklace belonging to Max Meyer, which occurred on July 15, between London and Paris.

The men are believed to be members of an international gang of thieves. Some of them were arrested early yesterday morning and the others during the afternoon.

All of the men are said to be Londoners, though they are of mixed nationality and were residing in Dalston, a comparatively poor quarter in North London.

The men were taken to the Bow Street police station, where they will be brought up before a police court magistrate to-day.

It is reported that the Scotland Yard men are looking for other men.

The pearls have not yet been discovered.

Pearls to the valne of tens of thousands of dollars were recovered by the police who arrested three of the men at a railway station where they equalled for the succeeding days of pearls at a large sum. Scotland Yard had been watching the men for over a week.

TORONTO FAIR GROWS.

Much-Coveted Million Mark Seems Near Attainment.

TORONTO, Sept. 3.—Transportation Day at the Exhibition contributed its gain to the swelling tide towards the million. The attendance was 58,500, a gain of 5,000. While the thousands did not number to near the total of Monday's multitude, there was a substantial gain over the same day last year. If indeed last year's figures are not more than was in Berlin or iVenna probably the fair, the much-desired million will have been attained.

Yesterday's proceedings witnessed the conclusion of the cadet shooting and physical drill competitions, which have now become an Exhibition fixture. Calgary carried off the coveted King's Cup and the Daughters of the Empire Canadian Cadet Trophy, with Harbord Collegiate, a close second. De La Salle Institute won the Canadian National Exhibition prize for physical drill, the English team coming second. There was only one-half point between the English and Q.O.R. teams, and whatever wavering the judges showed was in favor of the visitors.

Rejected Demands of Labor.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Earl Beauchamp, the first commissioner of public works, yesterday refused to accede to the demand of the Buildnig Industries' Federation, that non-unionist workmen shall not be employed on Government jobs. The demand was made in connection with the recent strike of painters and electricians employed by the various Government Departments, who, by quitting their work caused enormous inconvenience to the public service.

Funds For Bilingual Campaign.

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—Chairman Boudreault of the French-Canadian Educational Association here, has received $12,600 from Oliva Asselin, head of the St. Jean Baptiste Society of Montreal, the money having been raised in Quebec to assist the bilingual school campaign in Ontario.

DRAYTON TO SUBMIT REPORT

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—Chairman Drayton of the Railway Commission is expected home from London at the end of next week, when he will submit to the Government a report respecting ocean freights and measures for their regulation.

It is believed that the attitude of the British authorities is wholly sympathetic to the proposal of establishing some sort of an international tribunal, before which the companies will be expected to justify their rates. The co-operation of the United States may be necessary.

Convicts To Give a Show.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—A distinguished gathering attended the annual theatrical performance given by the inhabitants of Sing Sing Prison, which was open only to the prisoners and the guards. The singing and instrumental selections greatly pleased the 1,200 prisoners, among whom were former State Senator Stilwell and former Police Sergt. Duffy. The inmates burlesqued their woes and incidentally poked fun at Governor Sulzer, the New York State Legislature and Boss Murphy of Tammany Hall.

TAFT COMES OUT AGAINST SYSTEM OF ELECTING JUDGES

Notable Speech Before the American Bar Association by the Ex-President.

MONTREAL, Sept. 3.—Ex-President Wm. H. Taft, professor in the Faculty of Law in Yale University, was the chief speaker before the American Bar Association at last evening's session. He launched out with no uncertain stroke last night on the subject of the appointment of the judiciary.

The reception tendered the distinguished visitor was of the most cordial character, and when he entered the hall and took his place on the plaform the audience rose spontaneously and manifested its feeling in a prolonged outburst of applause.

President Frank Kellogg introduced the ex-President, who was the principal speaker of the evening.

In opening his address Mr. Taft asserted that the division of government into three parts, the legislative, the executive, and the judicial, and the keeping apart of the judicial from the legislative and the executive branches, had proved a wise one, not only in the United States but also in Great Britain and all the States under her flag.

In the United States, where judicial systems have different degrees of independence, permitting comparison, the greater the independence of the courts, the stronger their influence and the more satisfactory their jurisdiction and administration of justice. In a popular government, he said, the most difficult problem is to determine a satisfactory method of selecting the members of its judicial branch. Where ought such power be placed? It is said it ought not to be entrusted to irresponsible men, If this means that judges should not be men who do not understand the importance of the function they are exercising, or the gravity of the results their decision may involve, or do not exert energy and sincere intellectual effort to decide according to law and justice, everyone must concur. But if it means that judges must be responsible for their judgments to some higher authority, so that for errors made in good faith they incur a personal liability, then we know from centuries of actual experience that the interest of justice, pure and undefiled, requires their immunity. Finality of decision is essential in every branch of the government or else the government cannot go on. This is as true of its judicial branch as of other branches. Therefore somebody must have the final word in judicial matters, and the only question is, who can best exercise this power?

The answer to the question must be found in the real character of the function judges are to perform.

A resolution endorsing the movement for adequate observation of the centenary of peace between the United States and Canada was unanimously adopted by the association in the morning session.

The association found in the project a movement tending towards the establishment of law and just intercourse among the nations through the settlement of international disputes by pacific means. A committee of five was appointed to invite the State Associations to take appropriate action to give effect to the resolution. The American people were asked to give their unqualified support to the movement.

At the conclusion of Mr. Taft's address the association considered business left over from the morning. Governor Baldwin presided, and committee reports were received.

REPEATS HIS STUNT

French Birdman Performs Amazing Feat Again.

PARIS, Sept. 3.—Aviator Alphonse Pegoud successfully repeated his monoplane stunt of "looping the loop" this morning at Bleriot's Bue Aerodrome in the presence of Bleriot, Col. Romazotti and colleagues of the army aerial inspection service. A crowd of two thousand uninvited "guests" outside of the field included many prominent aviators.

Experiments are now being prepared to include the turning of the monoplane over sideways with a regain of balance, and the abandoning of control during given periods. Bleriot says the value of such experiments is merely to teach aviators how to handle themselves after being suddenly upset by gusts of wind or capsized in air pockets.

Pegoud says that flying upside down is just as easy as swimming on the back, and says he has done the trick several times secretly at too great heights for observation. Pegoud is a country boy, twenty-four, and first flew a year ago. He got his pilot's license eight months ago.

Women Win Wager.

BRANTFORD, Sept. 3.—Robert Davis, 20 Fair avenue, made the wager with his wife that she and her friend, Mrs. Alex. Anderson, who resides at 8 Webling street, could not walk the entire distance from Brantford to Hamilton in ten hours. Ten dollars was the amount of the stakes, to be divided equally.

Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Anderson left the local B. & H. terminal at 7.30 yesterday morning, stopping only one hour for lunch by the way. The ladies arrived in the Ambitious City at five o'clock in the afternoon, half an hour before scheduled time.

Old Lambton Resident Dead.

SARNIA, Sept. 3.—Yesterday one of Lambton's early settlers was laid to rest at Feroomfield, four miles south of here, in the person of Elvira, widow of the late John Wheatley, aged 91 years. She came out in 1835 from England. She was a daughter of George Proctor, former proprietor of the famous Windmill at Corruana.

Yacht Is Wrecked.

KINGSTON, Sept. 3.—Norman H. Starrs and party of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., had an exciting experience at Kingston Mills, on the Rideau River, when their yacht, Cora Bell II., hit a stump and was sunk. They were traveling at the rate of 12 miles an hour when the crash came. The party saved themselves by putting off in a small boat. The yacht was badly wrecked.

APPROVE OF IDEA

But Hague Delegates Debate Details of Bryan's Scheme.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 3.—The Interparliamentary Council, at its first meeting yesterday, discussed a resolution proposed by Richard Bartholdt of Missouri, declaring that the conference "approves Secretary of State Bryan's plan whereby the nations bind themselves to submit disputes for investigation by an impartial commission before resorting to hostilities and requests the Governments to enter into negotiations to secure such an arrangement."

The debate disclosed a unanimity of sentiment in favor of the general idea, but differences of opinion as to whether the proposed text of the treaty should be approved. Finally, Mr. Bartholdt's motion was adopted in an amended form, expressing heartiest approval of the idea and requesting the permanent committee on arbitration to take it under consideration and incorporate it in the committee's proposals.

Fireman's Death a Mystery.

SARNIA, Sept. 4.—Mystery surrounds the death of James Gamble, whose mangled body was found lying beside the G.T.R. tracks just north of Emouth street. Gamble, who was employed as a fireman at the iron ore docks at Point Edward, left the Chapman House Monday night at eleven o'clock. The theory is that he attempted to swing aboard one of the trains running to the Point and missed his footing.

The coroner will hold an inquest.

Boy Dies of Lockjaw.

CHATHAM, Sept. 3.—Harold Joseph, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dillon of Berlin, died yesterday afternoon from lockjaw. The little fellow got a sliver an inch long in his foot a week ago. The sliver was extracted and the boy was running around on the streets when tetanus set in. He died in great agony.

"EMPIRE ARMY HERALD."

So Imperialistic London Paper Acclaims Col. Hughes.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Hon. Col. Hughes, Canadian Minister of Militia, who is staying at the Savoy Hotel, preparatory to proceeding to the army manoeuvres, is hailed by one newspaper of the flamboyant imperialistic type as "The Empire Army Herald."

In actual newspaper interviews, though, the colonel appears extremely cautious in voicing his sentiments. He is not prepared for instance, to discuss compulsory military training, contenting himself by saying that each dominion must decide the matter for itself. He expresses enthusiasm for Gen. Ian Hamilton's report on the Canadian militia.

"One of the ablest and most brilliantly written state papers ever penned by any military authority," was his description, but he declined to say whether Canada was likely to adopt all the recommendations. Col. Hughes and party, after attending the British manoeuvres, will witness manoeuvres in France and Switzerland.

TWENTY-SIX KILLED IN DISASTER NEAR NEW HAVEN

Two Pullman Cars Demolished—Nearly Fifty Are Among the Injured.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 3.—Twenty-six were killed and nearly fifty injured, some of whom may die, in a rear-end collision, shortly before seven o'clock yesterday morning on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, six miles north of here.

The first section of the White Mountain Express, bound for New York, speeding along at probably 40 miles an hour in a thick fog, rushed by a danger signal, it is said, and crashed into the rear of the second section of the Bar Harbor Express, standing one hundred feet beyond the block signal.

The White Mountain engine cleared through the two rear Pullman cars, both of wood, splitting them in two, and tossing their wreckage and three score of mangled human beings, some alive, some dead, on either side of the track.

The third car, also of wood, and occupied by forty boys on their way from a summer camp at Monmouth, Me., was lifted into the air and almost completely off the track. The car fell on its side crumpled up, crushed two of the boys to death and injured several others.

Some of the victims of the two rear Pullmans were hurled from their berths over a fence paralleling the track fifty feet distant, mattresses, bedding and clothing found lodgment in the telegraph wires.

It was the third serious wreck which the New Haven has suffered within a year, and inaugurated the first day of the regime of Howard Elliott, the newly-elected head of the road. Mr. Elliott, returning from his summer home in New Hampshire to assume his duties, passed over the scene of the wreck on an earlier train less than an hour before.

Practically all the passengers on both trains were returning to their homes from summer vacations, and all but two of a camping party of nine, guests of S. Crozer Fox of Elkins Park, Pa., returning from Maine, were wiped out. Fox was among those killed. No one was hurt in the White Mountain train.

The New Haven officials were frank to admit last night that the so-called "banjo" block signal system, which on this part of the line has not yet been replaced by the semaphore system, recommended by the public utilities commission of Connecticut, last December, was, in a measure, responsible for the wreck, although the question as to whether the engineer of the White Mountain train, Augustus B. Miller, was making to much speed under the weather conditions, is under investigation.

Had the semaphore system been in operation, said an official of the company last night, Miller would have got a "caution" signal in the previous block, a mile away, and the wreck would have been averted.

Passengers in both trains were asleep when the collision occurred. The White Mountain's engine, No. 1,337, twin of the new Pacific superheater locomotive that figured in the Stamford wreck of last June, plowed through the cars as though they had been so much paper mache. In the forward cars of the Bar Harbor, which consisted of eleven sleepers, there was panic among the passengers, but the White Mountain came to a stop so gradually, comparatively speaking, that many of its passengers scarcely realized that anything serious had happened.

For several minutes after the first shock there was silence, the passengers said, and then in the still morning air, sounded the screams of the wounded. Passengers from both trains turned out to the work of rescue. They found scores of the dead and injured strewn on both sides of the track.

LATER

Canadian Press Despatch.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 3—The casualty list of yesterday's wreck at Wallingford still stands at twenty-one killed and seventeen in the hospital.

Hon. W. T. White To Go West.

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—When Hon. W. T. White goes to the West next month he will spend several weeks inquiring into the situation in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta. It is doubtful if he will go to British Columbia.

Conditions in the Western Provinces as regards the crop and its financing loom large at this season of the year, and the Finance Minister will go to investigate for himself.

There is every reason to believe that no tariff changes of great importance are contemplated in the next session.

DR. ROCHE IN CALGARY

Minister of Interior Hears Requests of Deputations.

CALGARY, Alta., Sept. 3.—Dr. Roche spent a busy day in Calgary granting audiences to deputations and conferring with local leaders of the Conservative party. In an interview he stated he would introduce an amendment to the land act of next session to provide for the restoration of the old "clock" clause relative to homestead duties.

He also said the report of the ranching commission, in so far as it relates to Saskatchewan, would probably be adopted in its entirety, but the recommendations with reference to Alberta would be only partially adopted.

The Stony Reserve Indians claimed that various religious denominations that have been instrumental in educating Indians have made promises when taking Indian children to be placed in schools that when their education should be completed they would be given assistance and given a start in farming and that these promises, so far as the Stony Reserve were concerned, had not been carried out.

METROPOLITAN AREA

Toronto Plans to Lay Out the Surrounding District.

TORONTO, Sept. 3. A metropolitan area ending at Oakville, Brampton, Aurora or Richmond Hill, Markham and Port Union was recommended to the City Council yesterday by the transportation committee, of which Ald. Wickett is chairman. A rider to the recommendation is that a still wider area is likely to be decided upon by the committee, and asked for at the next meeting of the council. Furthermore, that representatives of the area will be asked to attend a conference.

A commission for the government of the metropolitan area is recommended, the commission to have the power of a municipal council and to be composed as follows:

An electrical commissioner, in charge of development of radials, industrial and residential centres, lighting, telephones, etc.

A roads and parks commissioner, in charge of road construction, town planning, parks, playgrounds, and breathing places.

A health commissioner, in charge of sewerage, water and related services.

The definite program of government of the metropolitan areas to be based on inter-municipal electric lines, local electric power and lighting, permanent roads and a broader study of sewerage, and water problems.

Toronto's interest in a metropolitan area, says the committee's report, is the need for large industrial sites at reasonable cost, the land monopoly through inadequate transportation service, high rents and congested areas, and the difficulty of planning public works on a broad plan.

RAPID PROGRESS

Vermont Marble Company's In Running Order by First of Next Month

Work is progressing rapidly at the construction of the new Vermont Marble Company's building in East City. Most of the machinery is on the ground and the firm expect to be in running operation by the first of the month. The new factory is a decided boom to East City and should be a big drawing car to other factories to locate there.

NORWOOD MAN FOUND DEAD NEAR EDMONTON

Jas. McNulty Found in Shack—Shot at Close Range—Left Norwood Three Years Ago

Canadian Press Despatch.

EDMONTON, Sept. 3.—The body of James McNulty, a realty salesman, was found in a shack on the Hudson Bay reserve by his partner, Burrard Moher, on the latter's return from work Tuesday evening. McNulty had been killed by discharge from a twelve bore shotgun at close range. The dead man came from Norwood, Ont., where his father is a prominent farmer, three years ago.

The Review has made enquiries at Norwood in reference to the above telegram, and a special representative immediately conveyed the news to the home of the McNulty's.

When the message was delivered the girl on the farm was so overcome that she ran out into the field to call her brother.

Jim McNulty has been in the West since 1901 and resided in Hun's Valley, Manitoba. He has been in Edmonton for two years in the real estate business.

He is forty years of age, and is a brother of Patrick McNulty, ex-Warden of Peterborough. His father's name was Neil McNulty, and the old homestead where the old man raised his family is situated about four miles west of Norwood.

WHEN PETERBOROUGH HAS SLUMS

The Grain Growers' Guide has a strikingly realistic photograph of a slum family in New York. In the centre, sits the mother, with pinched face, and with a look in her eyes which is at once desperate and terrified, yearning and wildly hopeful. She nurses in her arms two infants presumably twins, while clustered around her are five children of various ages, from two to eleven years.

The whole picture is a study. The children while they seem healthy enough, have that sly, craven look found in such off-springs of poverty The babes are in contrast to the mother. The little ones are crowing to each other, while the mother is a picture of worry and care.

New York has no monopoly in these types of humanity. They are the product of our big cities where the struggle for existance, or rather the struggle for the "top notch" is so tense and merciless. If you are to have "top dogs" there are bound to be a lot of under-dogs, and in over-crowded cities these "bottom dogs" naturally have a wretched time of it.

Peterborough is a comparatively small city and we have not to pay this horrible price of congested civilization as yet. But if we are to advance as a city, we shall most certainly have to "foot the bill" with the rest.

If we are going in for advancement and we are certainly growing, it behoves us, as city-builders, to prevent any area from becoming congested, and so make the slum problem of the future more easily dealt with.

THE BRITISH NAVY AND CANADIAN SUPPORT

"We will defend the Empire as long as you want us to, but any additional strength you can give us will be one of the greatest guarantees of peace we can have."

These are the words of the Right Hon. Viscount Haldane who is by no means an alarmist. As a German scholar he is on particularly good terms with the Fatherland, so that he cannot be said to be smitten with the German scare.

He merely expresses what is in the mind of every Britisher in the Old Land. "We will defend the Empire as long as you want us to." It might take some of the conceit out of us Canadians if we knew just how many English people troubled their minds about Canada's support of the British Navy.

Some of us seems to think that the people of the British Isles are just waiting and longing for Canada to come to the rescue of the Motherland, and that if Canada broke away it would be all up with the British Empire. The truth is the other way round. Take away from Canada the political, financial, military and naval support of Great Britain and Canada would be a lost orphan among the great powers of the world, while the British Empire would still be a vast and glorious concern.

It is time we disabused our minds of the supposition that the Empire cannot get along without us. It was a big thing before we cut our wisdom teeth, (and perhaps we have not cut these as yet) and but for that great Mother of Nations we would not have been in existence.

The British workingmen would be glad of help from his Canadian brother, who is a little better off; but whether or not, he is not going to neglect his navy, because he is surrounded by water, and the ocean appeals to his imagination.

We in Canada have no oceanic conscience. Most Canadians doubt the existance of the Atlantic and Pacific, and this accounts for their lack of faith in a navy of any kind. It also accounts for their misunderstanding of the naval problem.

If every Canadian could take a trip over the ocean and see how much bigger the world is than their own Village, Province or Dominion, their imaginations would be infinitely extended, and their politics would "Suffer a sea change

Into something rich and strange."

Britain is not begging at the door of Canada, except it be the begging of a mother for her son to waken up to his responsibility. She does not care whether we contribute thirty-five million dollars or whether we build and run a navy of our own, but she does want us to do something practical to defend ourselves on the sea, for she knows the peril of the sea as we do not.

In the meantime she is defending the Empire with the assistance of one or two other colonies and we have been merely playing at building toy-navies and boasting of what we could do if we liked in the way of Dreadnaught building.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Mrs. Pankhurst is in Paris and has opened up negotiations with the British Home Secretary as to her freedom. The Home Secretary, Mr. MacKenna, it seems, has offered the escaped convict her liberty and pardon if she will promise to behave herself in future.

But Mrs. Pankhurst stamps her foot like a naughty child and snaps "I won't!" Mr. MacKenna has no other course open to him but to put her in the dark cellar again without her supper.

EXCERPTS

Other Names For Automobiles.

A Berliner who long has been prominent in local transportation interests has established a motor cab service the pleasing German name of his vehicles being "automobiletexameterdroschken." Despite the preposterous title under which they run, the cabs are said to be remarkably handsome and graceful.

If there be anything in a name, the motorcars introduced into some parts of Belgium should instantly become swaybacked and top heavy. The Flemish word for automobile is "snelpaardelooszoonderspoorwegpetroolrijtuig."—New York Press.

Puts on its green kirtle
To laugh and to run.

The Best Detective Story of the Last Ten Years

Fitch and Manning eyed each other quizzically. Britz had worked hard on the case and had succeeded when success seemed impossible. If he wished to indulge in a slightly enigmatical preamble, surely it was not asking too much to humor him.

Britz gnawed a black cigar, unlighted, and whirled about two or three times before he took up the thread of his recital again.

"It's a longish story," he resumed. "It took a lot of piecing to put it together, but it's as plain now as a picture puzzle when all the cut-outs fit. In the first place, Griswold planned to get the jewels a long time ago—a couple of years, I fancy. He didn't content himself with mere planning. He did a lot of work while he was waiting for his opportunity. He knew the value of the Missioner necklace, of course, especially the value of the big Maharanee diamond that was its central stone. As nearly as I can make out his scheme, he hoped to steal the collarette and dispose of it months before it should be missed by Mrs. Missioner. The only way to that, of course, was to substitute an imitation for the genuine article. Naturally, too, the imitation had to be made without Mrs. Missioner's knowledge, and the man he meant to have make it had to have either the original as a copy or a very accurate drawing. It was beyond all possibility that Griswold could get the necklace into his possession long enough to have a bogus collarette made. Mrs. Missioner, in spite of her many millions, and like all women of wealth, guarded her jewels closely. She may intrust her Government bonds and other negotiable securities to attorneys or banks but she keeps her jewels under her own eyes. None of us knows just how much she thought of Griswold; but the chances are that, even if she had been engaged to him, she wouldn't have let him have possession of the Maharanee necklace for any length of time. My experience is that these rich New Yorkers don't believe in throwing temptation in one another's way anyhow, not at any risk to themselves."

"Your powers of deduction are truly marvelous, Britz," said Manning with a short laugh, in which Britz thought he heard a faint note of Mockery.

"Now, let's don't do any kidding Chief," Britz rejoined with just a shade of acid in his voice. "This is a pretty serious case, and I've been up a few nights without any too much sleep. I'm not on the witness stand now, recollect, and I don't feel as if I'd got to parcel out my words when I'm talking to friends." There was the least little lift of his eyebrows as he uttered the last word.

Manning laughed again—apologetically this time, and the lieutenant once more unruffled, continued:

"So Griswold had to make sketches and diagrams of the widow's necklace. Even that couldn't have been easy, for I guess he had to use his pencil when Mrs. Missioner wasn't in the room. It isn't likely she gave him many opportunities of being alone with the jewels she prized above all the others in her collection. You see when her husband gave her the necklace and told her about the Maharanee diamond, he made up a pretty little fairy story that probably gave the big stone much greater value in her eyes than if she'd really known the truth. Women," said Britz solemnly, "are funny. They are about the funniest things in this little old world of ours—particularly when it comes to jewels and gowns, with the jewels leading by a city block."

Fitch, in his capacity as a lover became somewhat restive under the the detective's cynical summing up of the sex, and relieved himself with the remark:

"If women are any funnier than men, I'd like you to show me how. Your experience is all very well lieutenant; but I've seen them in their little white cots in hospitals—both kinds; and I have seen them on the operating table, and I can tell you the woman has yet to be born that can do as many fool stunts as the average man!" After this burst of romance-born frankness he subsided.

"Well, we won't quarrel about the sex, doctor," said Britz, "though I must say I don't like to hear you getting off these suffragette sentiments. Anyway, it's safe to assume Mrs. Missioner didn't let Curtis Griswold have time to drape that necklace of hers on an art model when he started in to sketch it. He made those drawings by fits and starts, and it must have taken him a good many weeks to finish them."

"Unless he drew the necklace from memory," suggested Manning.

"That sounds too easy," Britz returned. "He'd have to have a memory like a daylight film to carry all the different sizes and shapes of those jewels in his mind—to say nothing of their fire. The fact is, the drawings he made were not only accurate to the smallest degree of outline, but the luster of every stone seems to have been reproduced with skill that would keep 'em guessing at the Academy of Design. I tell you, Curtis Griswold is an artist in more ways than one!"

Pausing a little, Britz went on:

"And that's what he did; he made the drawings at first hand, and probably colored them in the same way. Then he took them over to Paris and farmed out the contract among several firms, taking care to split up the drawings so that no manufacturer of paste jewels might known they were reproductions of the famous Maharanee necklace. Logan traced all the drawings in gay Paree, and sent them to me. Here they are." He took several small sheets of cardboard from an inner pocket and spread them on his desk.

Britz smiled.

"Yes," he said, "that's where the the Maharanee diamond was. You see. Griswold was too foxy to have an imitation of that celebrated stone made anywhere in Europe. He knew there wasn't a man on the Continent identified in any way with the trade who wouldn't recognize a drawing of that diamond on sight. Though the diamond is not so well known to the public, it's as familiar to every jeweler in Europe as the Kohinoor, the Hope, or any other of those great sparklers."

"Where could he have gone, then to have the big stone reproduced?" asked the Chief.

"Ask the doctor there. If he's half the detective I think he is, he knows as well as I do."

Fitch smiled nervously, then his face became grave as the realization of what all this meant to Elinor surged back to him.

"I fancy," he said to Manning "Lieutenant Britz has concluded the false Maharanee diamond was made by a harmless lunatic we traced to the asylum."

"Right you are, doc!" said Britz brusquely. "You guessed it the very first time. Little old Mr. Martin was the gentleman. He did that job of work for Mr. Griswold, and from all I've heard a fine job he made of it, too.

"Crazy, is he?" asked Manning.

"Mad as they make 'em," Britz replied, "but, as the doctor says, harmless. He couldn't have made so good an imitation had he not believed he was manufacturing a genuine stone. That's his delusion, you understand—thinks he's making diamonds."

"Well," said the Chief after another pause. "How did Griswold turn the trick when it come to a show down?"

A faint smile flickered an instant about Britz's lips, then disappeared.

"He never got a chance to turn the trick," the detective replied. "For more than a year now, he's been casting covetous eyes on the same paste stones he had manufactured."

By a tremendous effort Fitch succeeded in subduing his excitement, and locking his hands behind his head, he waited with what patience he could for the rest of the detective's story. Manning seemed to turn to ice.

"Griswold has been in bad financially for over two years," Britz continued "He's been doing stunts with the books of the Iroquois Trust Company. At my request, the directors have had experts on the books for a couple of weeks, and they've got as pretty a case against Mr. Griswold as ever you saw. He wanted that necklace in order to get enough money to square his accounts."

"Now comes the strangest part of the case." The detective smiled as he made ready to fire the verbal bomb. "The most surprised man in the world on the night that Mrs. Missioner discovered her jewels were mere paste was Curtis Griswold."

Britz watched the effect of his word on his hearers. They shifted nervously in their seats as if impatient of the detective's pause.

"When did the Hindoos steal the jewels and where did they find them?" asked Manning.

"About one hour, or a little more before I made a try for them myself," said Britz. "They nabbed them in the apartment of Mrs. Millicent Delaroche, in the Hotel Renaissance."

"And who, if you don't mind taking me into your confidence, is Mrs. Millicent Delaroche?" the Chief inquired.

"Mrs. Millicent Delaroche," said the detective crisply, "thinks she is the future Mrs. Curtis Griswold. But as far as Mr. Griswold is concerned she may remain Mrs. Delaroche for the rest of her natural life. In other words, Griswold promised to marry her, and then got very busy an attempt to marry Mrs. Missioner. He doesn't know yet, of course, that it will be a very long time before he has a chance to marry anybody. Neither does Mrs. Delaroche know how she has been fooled by the club man. When she does know—which I think will be some time to-day—I think you'll see some fur fly."

Fitch, to get the upper hand of his nervousness, tapped his eyeglasses with a medical-looking lead pencil and listened very closely to the detective's story. Manning, too, was absorbed in what Britz had to tell. Both of his hearers, therefore, were momentarily disappointed when Britz instead of going ahead with his story asked that Connelly and Carson be pried apart long enough for one to arrest Griswold, and the other to bring Mrs. Delaroche to Headquarters.

"I don't want to make things too unpleasant for these bright young men," Britz said sarcastically: "but I do want to give myself the satisfaction of having them nab the two persons they should have arrested in less than a week after the theft of Mrs. Missioner's jewels was discovered."

Manning felt he had no choice save to comply. He wasn't exactly pleased by the insistence of his lieutenant's request; but when Britz, at a nod from him, pressed a push button and an attendant appeared in the doorway Chief Manning ordered the bluecoat to ask Donnelly and Carson to report to him in the lieutenant's room at once.

"Right here," Britz proceeded, "is where an interesting side feature of the mystery comes in. Griswold would have probably been more alert if he had known that men ten times as adroit as he, and a hundred times more unscrupulous, had journeyed half around the world to get one of those very gems he was preparing to steal from the woman he hoped to marry. I don't know exactly what's at the bottom of the interest those Hindoos have in the great Maharanee diamond; but I do know they're willing to get pretty close to the electric chair to get it. I understand it was not really bought from the wife of an Indian prince, as Missioner told his wife it was. My best information is that it came from a Hindoo temple. You know those savages set great store by their idols. At any rate, from a half-dozen to a dozen Indians of various degrees came here from Calcutta some time ago and camped on the trail of the Maharanee diamond. They played a waiting game and, apparently, they were on the point of making a grand effort to get the stone when the head of this organization happened to be in the box next to Mrs. Missioner at the Metropolitan Opera House on the night when the necklace turned out to be a fake. He then learned that the original diamonds were not in the widow's keeping any longer.

"Griswold also was in the Missioner box that night, as you know, and during the search for he diamonds."

Britz paused a little, and then resumed:

THE GRASS WIDOW

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

When a widow is not a widow, but has a husband biking around the country somewhere, they call her a grass widow. The term might as well be a hay widow or straw widow, but it is always given as grass.

Miss Minerva Saunders was a grass widow. She should have called herself Mrs., but the report had come to her that her missing husband, Abel had been seen to drown himself in a millpond. She waited a year and then called herself Miss and removed to Perkinsville. She had not been there three months when Moses Drew farmer, saw her at church and admired her and began courting. He should have been told straightaway that Abel was a deceiving husband and that that drowning business might have been one of his little tricks, but he wasn't. He went right ahead and courted under the idea that he was in love with a miss. About eight months after meeting the woman he asked her to be his wife. It was then nearly two years since the absconding Abel was supposed to have gone to the bottom of the pond, and Miss Saunders blushed and stammered and said she guessed so.

That was enough for one night. On the next the wedding day was set. On the second the wedding day was planned. On the third as the happy couple sat holding hands the absconder walked into the house. He had not been drowned. He had not come anywhere near it. Of course there was excitement, more of it than as if a circus elephant had broken loose. Abel apologized for his advent. He was sorry he came. He realized what a worthless critter he was and he could never forgive himself for having broken up a happy marriage. He would go right away and commit suicide and let the matrimonial event take place. He asked for a dollar and got it and then disappeared. Mr. Drew had to be talked to in a soothing way for a long time, but he finally sat himself down to wait until the grass widow became a real widow. In about three months a stranger called on Mrs. Saunders to say that he lived twenty miles away and was a carpenter. He had a man named Abel Saunders up on the scaffold with him one day when it fell to the ground and Abel was a dead man. He only had time to tell his name and express the hope that his dear Minerva would now go ahead and marry Moses.

In five days more the preacher would have tied the knot, but Abel walked into the house again. It was some one else that had fallen from the scaffold and been buried by the town. If provided with a cheap suit of clothes he would make an end of himself this time.

Three months went by and nothing from Abel. During this interval there was no talk about the wedding day. There must be no more surprises. It was lucky that the couple had gone slow. Mrs. Saunders received by mail from a town fifty miles away five affidavits that a man who had been found frozen to death in a snow bank was the lamented Abel. As the frozen legs had broken short off in carting the body around there was no doubt of death.

"Please excuse me for saying these look good to me," said Mr. Drew as he looked up after reading the affidavits.

"Yes, Abel is sure gone this time," sighed the wife.

An hour later Abel Saunders walked in and held his toes to the fire to toast. Minerva succeeded in fainting away, but Moses Drew arose in his anger and shouted out:

"Then you were not frozen stiff?"

"Me? Oh, no!"

"Legs? Oh, my legs are all right."

"And you've come back!"

"Come back? Yes, but I'm not going to stay long. I thought I'd go out skating tomorrow and skate into an air hole. You can both come along and see me do it, and then there won't be any more false alarms."

"You go to grass, sir, and I'll go home! This is a pretty muss for a respectable man to get into!"

Mr. Drew stamped out of the house, and Minerva got chilly on the floor and returned to consciousness to fall to weeping and to wail out:

"Oh, Abel, I couldn't have believed it of you!"

"No, of course not. I orter got frozen, but I didn't. I'll be all right tomorrow, though. Don't cry, Nerva; don't cry."

"But Moses!"

"Oh, he'll be all right in a day or two. Just feels hurt at my coming back. Thinks I don't mean to skate into an air hole, but he shall see. Yes skate right in, and that will be the last of me. Cheer right up, girl."

It is a matter of record that Abel Saunders went out on the millpond next morning and kept his promise. More than twenty persons saw him deliberately skate into an air hole and his body shoot over the high dam. They looked for it, and though it was not recovered there was no doubt about the death. Three months later the long delayed marriage took place. It was a sure thing about Abel this time. But was it? Six months after the marriage a man was killed almost in front of the Drew house by a wagon running over him. Sure as you live it was Abel Saunders. He was coming home to say that he was still alive, but would shuffle off in a day or two to oblige. He had shuffled!

EXPERIMENT STATIONS.

Work of These Centers of Agricultural Investigation.

In the opinion of many qualified observers the agricultural experiment stations are proving to be one of the greatest agencies of helpfulness in the United States. Under a law passed nineteen years ago each of the states and territories receives several thousand dollars a year from the general government for this purpose. The states add about half as much more. These centers of practical investigation concerning the plant and animal life of the farm in all its bearings are putting numberless theories and customs to a rigid test. It was the practice twenty years ago to cook food for domestic animals, but exhaustive investigations in feeding seemed to show that this is not profitable, and a great change of custom has resulted.

The Minnesota station has accomplished much in improving wheat, the Illinois station in improving the corn yield, the Wisconsin station in the diary and the California station in the reclamation of alkali lands.

The experiment stations are gradually correcting certain of their original mistakes. There was a tendency at first to a duplication of work. Each attempted perhaps to do too many things. Now there is better co-ordination through the department of agriculture at Washington. The stations also are specializing and devoting themselves more particularly to local interests. Each agency has its sphere of influence. It is well to have some men in the community set apart to make the experimental studies for which the individual farmer could not spare the time. Millions of dollars in the aggregate may be lost by a single popular error if sufficiently widespread. To find out what is what is really the task stations are trying to perform.—New York Press.

Fire Insurance

Important? You fully realize it. You would not allow your house to remain uninsured over night.

Your house may never burn. Comparatively few buildings ever do.

If your house does burn, your property is destroyed, but you can still provide for your loved ones. Your income remains unaffected, your earning capacity unimpaired.

If your house is not insured at all, or for an insufficient amount,

YOU Carry the Risk

Your friend has had his house insured these thirty years and has had no fire. He has been fortunate in that, though he has nothing now to show for the money paid out.

Life Insurance

Important? Oh yes, you intend to insure after awhile when "a little better able to do it."

You will surely die. All men do. You are more likely to die within a week or a year, than your house is to burn.

Death destroys at once and irrevocably, in whole or in part, the income that provided for the daily wants of those you love, the income that was counted on to feed and clothe and educate your children.

LETTER OF J. H. BURNHAM RE TRENT WATERWAYS

Mr. Burnham's Letter Referred to Special Committee of Council at its Reading on Friday Night

The following communication from J. H. Burnham was read at the Council meeting on Friday evening:

Minister of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, Ont.
Mayor and Council of Peterborough.

Sir,—Re Trent Waterway. As you are aware, I have been trying for some time to find out who had control of the waters of the Trent river for all or any purposes. Strange to say, this has been a difficult matter. In the course of my enquiry I asked Mr. E. A. Peck, M.P.P., to find out from the Ontario Government what power it claimed and what responsibilities it was prepared to assume. He informed me that he asked the Minister of Forests, etc., what position the Ontario Government took, and he was referred back to a copy of the report of the Minister of Public Works for the Province of Ontario for the year 1906. On page 43 there appears the following reference to the Trent Valley Waterway System:

"After several interviews between representatives of the department of Railways and Canals, Canada, and representatives of the Ontario Government, a formal application was made on Jan. 6, 1904, for the transfer to the Government of Canada of the several claims owned by the Ontario Government on the head waters of the Trent Canal. A scheme for an extensive reservoir system was contemplated by the Department of Railways and Canals to ensure sufficient water supply at all seasons for the purpose of navigation on the Trent Canal. Negotiations were conducted between the officers of the Department of Railways and Canals and the officers of the Department of Public Works of Ontario, of the proposed transfer was thoroughly gone into, and views of all parties interested were obtained and considered."

The first four paragraphs of the agreement set out the various stands and lakes referred to, but the fifth paragraph has a reference to log flotation, this paragraph says: "5. That in regard to the smaller or other dams not being actually required by the department for the proposed reservoir system, but now utilized for the flotation of logs, the Dominion Government shall not be required to maintain these dams except only for as long as they are of material use to the purpose of log flotation or log navigation."

Paragraph 6 says, that the Dominion will pay to the province 50 cents an acre for provincial lands flooded through the construction of reservoirs.

Paragraph 7 says, that the Minister of Railways and Canals shall have the right of way at any time to rebuild and maintain dams at present existing, or any time to construct and maintain in lieu thereof at other than the present sites for the same, etc., also from time to time to build and maintain new dams wherever he may deem advisable for the carrying out of the proposed reservoir system and to obtain and operate the same.

Paragraph 8 is unimportant, but paragraph 9, the concluding paragraph of this agreement is as follows:

"That the Dominion Government guarantees to the owners and lessees of timber and tributary to the streams and lakes affected by this order and to lumbermen now or hereafter operating on such streams or lakes, all rights they at present enjoy or are entitled to by any law or statute now in force, with regard to the use and enjoyment of rivers and streams, and also guarantee to owners and lessees from time to time of any water power devised from such lakes and streams all rights they at present enjoy or are entitled to by virtue of any law or statute now in force, and in the event of such rights being injuriously affected by the action of the Dominion Government, their successors or representatives in connection with such waters and streams, then the owners or lessees of such timber lands, timber and water power shall have the right to submit their claims to the Exchequer Court of Canada for the adjudication and compensation in the usual manner.

(Signed.)

FIFTEEN DIE IN WRECK.

Two Sections of Scotch Express Collide In North England.

KIRKBY-STEPHEN, County of Westmoreland, Eng., Sept. 3.—Fifteen persons are believed to have been killed and thirty persons injured in a collision of two sections of the famous London-Scotland Express early yesterday. Official reports accounted for nine known dead, while correspondents on the spot reported that the fatalities numbered fifteen.

The wreck occurred on the Midland Railway, near Hawes Junction, the two sections being southbound. The second section dashed into the rear of the first, telescoping several coaches, and burst into flames. Many persons were trapped, and if not killed outright were burned to death. At least thirty passengers were taken from the wreckage suffering injuries or burns, and as many as ten of these may die.

The two trains had left Carlisle for London at 1.35 and 1.47 yesterday morning respectively, and the collision between them occurred fifty miles south of that place on a high and lonely moor.

The first section of the train had stopped to get up steam for a sharp upgrade when the second section dashed into the rear, piling up the sleeping-cars, which were crowded with passengers.

Almost immediately afterward several of the cars caught fire and many of the inmates found it impossible to get out. Rescuers from farms in the vicinity soon came on the scene, but too late to save many of the passengers.

Nine charred bodies were taken from the wreck, and later on five more bodies were recovered. About thirty injured passengers, after receiving first aid from doctors on the spot, were sent on special trains to the Leeds and Carlisle hospitals.

Dead Unidentified.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—(C.A.P. Cable)—Early morning despatches from the scene of the Scottish railway disaster throw no light upon the identity of the dead, who, however, are believed to include three children, aged 4, 6 and 8, belonging to Mrs. Morrison, now of Southsea.

Among the survivors was Mrs. Robertson, Vancouver, whose trunks and belongings were all lost.

CANON DAVIDSON GIVES HIS VIEWS ON ENGLISH SOCIAL LIFE

Is Optimistic as to Condition of Home and Church Life in the Old Land

The Rev. Canon J. C. Davidson has taken part in a discussion in the London Daily Graphic on "National Apathy." Peterborough people will be glad to peruse his contribution to the discussion.

"The letter printed below takes, like that of Mr. A. C. Benson published yesterday, an optimistic view of thought and feeling in England to-day.

The writer, Canon J. C. Davidson, of St. Alban's Cathedral, Toronto, and Rector of Peterborough, Canada, now on a visit home, speaks particularly of "the whole tone of country life, which, while much of it may be largely occupied with (healthful) pleasures, seems to me to be sweet and healthy."

THE HOMES OF ENGLAND.

To the Editor of the Daily Graphic:

Sir,—I have been interested in your striking articles on "National Apathy" as constituting a useful warning. As a frequent visitor to England, however, and after an absence now of five yars, my many visits to English country homes do not lead me to the conclusions of your series.

The vast amount of deep reading and thinking on scientific, social and religious lines by, especially the refined women of England is a stimulating revelation to a stranger, and hardly betokens indifference to what is really worth while. The whole tone of country life, while much of it may be largely occupied with (healthful) plasures, seems to me to be sweet and healthy. There would seem to be, moreover, a more general interest in political developments (particularly among women) than on the other side of the Atlantic; though, the disposition, possibly, is merely to look on and not actively to help forward political movements.

ENGLAND'S DEPTH OF RELIGION

While church attendance and regard for ordinances is perhaps declining, the moral and vaguely spiritual state of English society generally would appar to be fairly sound. An intelligent mechanic after several years in Canada remarked to me: "There is more church-going abroad, but more religion in England." England has a depth of religion based on centuries of training and rich environment to which the younger nations are as yet strangers as a people.

Such widespread movements as those among the Scouts, Church Lads' Brigade, Church of England Men's Society, Vacation Courses of Study for men and women, all so largely supported, would seem to augur well for the future.

While it is very right that dangers and declensions should be pointed out, may not the vast amount of criticism and pessimistic comment publicly and privately made everywhere have a depressing and disheartening effect? I venture to think that Englishmen need to-day encouragement and cheer and hope so that hearts may be put into them. They could gain something of this by viewing England (as I am able to do) from an outside point.

Through manifold expressions England, it seems to me, testifies conviction to her entrusted leadership of the world. Is she likely, through apathy or otherwise, to relinquish an accepted mission of such magnitude?

Yours very truly,
J. C. DAVIDSON,
The Rectory, Brede, Sussex

"HE WHO ROBS ME OF MY GOOD NAME—"

A Case of Mistaken Identity in a Police Court Report

The Review reported yesterday the case of a John Allan who appeared at the police court on the charge of being drunk while in charge of an automobile.

As there is only one John Allen in Peterborough, who owns a car—Mr. John I. Allen, of 345 George St., superintendent of the Prudential Insurance Co. of America—the many friends of this gentleman were shocked at so sudden a change in his usual upright and straightforward way of living.

This morning Mr. Allen had many anxious enquiries over the 'phone, and numerous offers from bantering friends to "bail him out."

It must be stated at once that the John Allan who appeared upon the charge of drunkenness was a man from Lakefield, and not John I. Allen, of Peterborough.

It is to be regretted that this mistake has been made, but it was obviously an innocent one, and we tender this apology to the worthy gentleman whose fair name was, for a while, besmirched by another.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor of The Review

Dear Sir—I noticed an article in last week's edition relating to the closing of the Post Office at Bensfort and in the main, I beg to agree with the writer in that our post-office should be made a distributing office rather than be closed. Perhaps the cause of the fall of Bensforst is owing to the lack of idle men. South Monaghan and Bailieboro to the West have had more men seeking employment, and consequently, Bensfort was made to look small before the eyes of the Government but probably, when weighed in the balance will compare favorably with either South Monaghan or Bailieboro. The Government must take into consideration that the name "Bensfort" was in falsealarm established during the Laurier regime, such as Lorenz and Smithbank were, but on the contrary has been in existence for over half a century, with a patronage of from sixty to eighty families, comparing quite favorable with our sister offices, who claim the right of distributing to our needs. Should our sister office to the west not be satisfied with the share of distributing falling to it between South Monaghan and Bensfort, and should Bensfort, whose office has been ours for the past fifty years not still be our friends.

No complaint has been made as to inability of post-master or to any irregularity. We do not know that even his enemies have faulted his politics or lodged any complaint. We are told that a postman's salary is rated on the amount of business he does and consequently, if the postman at South Monaghan is given all the business of the Bensfort master, is Peter not being borrowed off to pay Paul. We all believe in justice, and if judged on our merits we should be considered.

Again the residents to the east, who lie a distance east of the cross-roads, are liable to be taxed one half additional costs for delivery at their gates. We think if this is a Laurier statute that the Borden policy should cancel it and deliver mail to the gates, in the two concessions in question, running east of the cross roads, at the cost we all pay. If the couriers refuse to obey such a command by the Government, let tenders be asked for, and probably the east end residents might put on a rig for the purpose, cheaper than some of them are working, and thus aid the Government in keeping down expenses.

"A READER."

PRINCE GEORGE TOWNSITE OPEN

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway announce the sale by auction of the townsite of Prince George, situated at the confluence of the Fraser and Nechaco Rivers in Central British Columbia, 450 miles northeast of Vancouver and 467 miles east of Prince Rupert, British Columbia, or midway between Prince Rupert and Edmonton, Alberta. By reason of its central location Prince George will be the natural distributing point for the extensive territory comprised in the Pacific Province of the Dominion and it has therefore long been the expectation of the general public that upon the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, Prince George will early become a large and important centre. Having purchased what was known as the Fort George Indian Reserve, No. 1, for the purpose of locating a townsite thereon the Grand Trunk Pacific Development Company has caused the same to be surveyed and platted and will offer lots in the townsite fro sale by public auction at Vancouver, British Columbia, Wednesday, September 17th, 1913 and at Edmonton, Alberta Wednesday, September 24th, 1913. The terms of the sale will be one quarter cash and the balance payable in one, two and three years with six per cent interest. All particulars and plans can be secured by applying to G. U. # THE SPORTING WORLD

JOE BIRMINGHAM SAYS THE NAPS WILL WIN

Many Fans Are Pulling for Cleveland so That Nap. Lajoie May Figure in a World Series

Youth is optimistic. For instance there is Joe Birmingham, the boy manager of the Cleveland Naps. An old head might say were his team occupying the present position of the Naps: "We have a chance." Youthful Joe says: "We will win the pennant." Perhaps they will, confidence, at least, won't hurt their chances. It will be a big feather in the cap of the boy manager if they do and thousands of people will be pleased.

Regardless of friendship for Philadelphia or Cleveland, there are thousands of fans in the country pulling for the Naps to win the American League pennant this year so that Napoleon Lajoie may be seen in a World's series.

Ty Cobb, Hans Wagner and Nap Lajoie generally are credited with being the leading athletes of the present century. Wagner had his chance and so did Cobb but Lajoie never has appeared in the baseball classic.

In over 17 years on the diamond Lajoie fell below .300 in hitting only one season. He has been the greatest hit-and-run man in base ball.

Lajoie is about done. He cannot last much longer and it would be a grand finish to a great career to become the hero of a World's Series.

TECUMSEHS WERE BANQUETTED

London, Ont., Sept. 2 — London's troop of baseball experts were tendered a luncheon at the Travellers' Club this afternoon by the directors of the team, the festivities being marked by the presentation to each of a diamond and pearl tie pin. President Sam Stevely presided and the presentations were made by Thomas Gillean, a member of the directorate. Shortstop Dunlop, who has been sold to the Cleveland Americans, was given a send-off by his fellow players.

Manager Rube Deneau, who so successfully handled the Tecumsehs in the campaign just closed, will be engaged for next season as he has the confidence and hearty support of the fans and management.

EDDIE HOLLY

The Toronto shortstop, has been named as a possible manager for Brantford next year. The management realizes that what is perhaps the most needed in a manager is one who has the connection with other teams so that the Red Sox at a critical time or weakened through injuries could quickly strengthen the weak spots.

DAVY ROWAN ONE OF THE GUESTS

Peterborough Manager Present When Senators Was Banqueted

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 2.—For winning the Canadian League championship, the members of the Ottawa baseball team were banquetted and presented with wrist watches last night by the club executive. Amongst those attending were Davey Rowan, the Peterborough manager, Umpire Evans and Rev. Father Stanton. This afternoon they were guests of the Connaught Park Jockey Club management at the races.

SPORTING GOSSIP

The deal whereby Otis Crandall was shipped back to the Giants by the St. Louis Cardinals for "some cash and a player unnamed, who will join the Cardinals after the pennant race is decided," looks mighty bad at this end of the line. Of course, if St. Louis can afford to go a month without a player, that is largely the business of the St. Louis management. Perhaps it would rather save the salary of a player, than have an extra man hanging around who might help to win a game or two.

It looks very much though as if there would be a big aftermath to the Crandall affair and it would not be surprising if the Cardinals got a player or two who would help them next season. If the accounts of the trouble in the Giants' camp over the letting go of Crandall are true McGraw will have to do some house cleaning in the fall.

The Cleveland Naps made it eight straight by beating the White Sox on Monday. Larry Lajoie chalked up five hits in seven times at bat for the two games.

The Toronto Ball Club will carry Pitcher Kirley, reported from Guelph yesterday, for the rest of the season. Pitcher Herbert will also report September 15 from Scranton with Isaacs.

To settle a long standing dispute as to speed, Gilhooly of Montreal and Cooper of Baltimore ran a 100-yard foot race recently. Gilhooly won easily. Cooper having the speed but not the staying qualities. A hundred yards is a long way for a man who makes a specialty of speeding it to first base and stopping there.

Dick Rudolph who lost out in a great pitchers battle with Marquard yesterday in 11 innings had a win to offset it. His wife, a Toronto girl presented him with a daughter — their first-born.

AN INTERESTING GATHERING HELD

The Alpine Club of Canada held their camp this year in British Columbia on the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. Among the members of the camp were a large number of distinguished mountain climbers who thoroughly explored the territory, and who left with the impression that the new Mount Robson Park holds for the tourist and traveller the finest mountain scenery in the world. The success of the camp will be a very large factor in camp will be a very large factor in opening up and bringing to the notice of the world that section of the Canadian Rockies, and taking into consideration the large number of requests that are received at the head offices of the Grand Trunk Pacific for descriptive literature and information regarding the territory, the indications are that a large clientele are looking forward to a visit to this magnificent alpine region at some future time. During the last days of the Canadian Alpine Camp a resolution was passed by the members which reads as follows:

"Resolved that the thanks of this camp, in meeting assembled, be hereby tendered to the management of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway for its very practical assistance to the Club when holding its first camp in the Mount Robson District, and particularly to W. P. Hinton, Esq., the General Passenger Agent of the said Company, for much assistance and many courtesies towards that end. We desire to express our thanks to this very popular gentleman and his subordinates who did all in their power to make the transport arrangements work comfortably and well.

The camp has proved a magnificent success, and the assistance here referred to has been a large factor towards accomplishing that object. We hope it will be the first of a series of many such successful and enjoyable camps, and that the fame of the region may, through the efforts of the Club, be spread abroad throughout the world."

Copper Strike More Serious.

CALUMET, Mich., Sept. 2.—The copper strike situation took a serious aspect yesterday as the result of the fatal shooting of Margaret Fazakas, aged 15, daughter of a striker at the North Kearsarge mine, when a picket of strikers and women clashed with deputy sheriffs guarding the mine. The deputies claim they were driven from the mining property by the strikers, and when they returned to protect the property that the pickets fired upon them. Miners' leaders denied this, saying the deputies fired without provocation into the crowd of men and women, wounding the girl and several others.

The military forces again took charge of the patrol work about the mines at Wolverine and the Kearsarge as a result of this shooting. Gen. Abbey has ordered an investigation.

THINKS THAT MISS LILLIAN BODDISON IS HER COUSIN

Mrs. James, of Toronto, Reads of the Turnbull Disaster and Writes to Find if Victim is a Relative.

To read in the paper that a long lost cousin was killed in Turnbull's disaster was the experience of Mrs. James, nee Miss Annie Elizabeth Boddison.

Three years ago Mr. Isaac Boddison and family left Merry England's shore for Canada. Miss Annie Boddison, Mr. Isaac Boddison's niece, was to accompany them, but in some manner they became separated and neither party have ever heard from each other.

Last Thursday when the large Turnbull building fell, Mr. Isaac Boddison's daughter, Lillian, was killed. Last Saturday, the day before Miss Boddison was buried, her father received a letter from Annie Elizabeth Boddison, now Mrs. James, of Toronto, wanting to know if that was her cousin. Mr Boddison sent word back that it was and he is now awaiting Mrs. James' arrival.

A MUCH SOUGHT FOR PLACE AT THE FAIR

Enterprise of the Independent Order of Foresters

The Independent Order of Foresters headquarters on the Fair grounds still continues to be a much sought for place, it being one of the very few places where the many tired visitors can rest, and while enjoying that rest have the privilege of hearing much about the grant fraternal work that the Independent Order of Foresters is doing.

They rejoice over the magnificent work among the members who are affected with tuberculosis. They have a sanitarium erected in the Adirondacks, and one on the Pacific coast, which gives them the privilege to say to all members, that if at any time they are afflicted with the dreadful disease, they will be taken to one of these sanitariums and treated free of cost. This, you hear members say, is fraternal work, and a work that should commend itself to the people on the outside.

They also care for over 700 orphans, which practically means they are in a proud position to say to every member of the order that a child of a Forester will never want.

Many enthusiastic expressions are heard regarding the Supreme Court meeting, which was held last week. The changes that take effect on October 1 are somewhat disappointing to some who are affected, yet it is gratifying to know that these changes are final, and the order is now based on a permanent and solid foundation. No more worry about change of rates, they being sufficient to guarantee and warrant every promise that is made and it is commonly heard among the members that while they might desire it otherwise, yet they are going to their courts with the determination of fighting more strenuously than ever to build up their membership and give their many friends the privilege of joining hands with this great organization, and while doing this they will not only bless the man they have brought in with sound protection and the inspiration to encourage them in this great fraternal work, but they are helping themselves, for the more the fraternal funds increase, the more help the order will be to the members who are affected through the change.

One man was heard to say: "What a grand thing it is to have a man like the Hon. Elliott G. Stephenson to come forward and let the membership know the true condition of affairs before it is too late. Had they delayed layed this much longer, there would be no hope of a fraternal fund being created, and therefore no help for those who are affected.

The members now can go to the whole world and declare that the I.O.F. guarantees every promise that is made to them. The order looks forward to having a large increase of new members, carrying much larger policies than they have been carrying in the past, on account of the soundness of the investment and it is the intention to let the whole world know the advantages enjoyed by being connected with such an organization.

The record for last year was an inspiration to all, having paid out over three millions of dollars in benefits. Think of what it means to distribute such an enormous sum of money to the homes that have been visited with sickness and death. What a joy it must have been to have known that through the enterprise of this grand order they had brought the message of protection within their homes at a time when the one insured was in a position to accept, and by accepting have been able to leave their family that much better off with the one thousand or two thousand dollars that they carried with the Independent Order of Foresters.

Children's Eyes

How many people realize the fact that children are just as liable to require glasses as older people.

Many children who are backward in school and considered stupid, are not really so, but are laboring under difficulties on account of not being able to see properly. They are young and do not realize that they do not see as well as their companions and of course their parents don't know it either. But it is the duty of parents to have their children's eyes examined and see if they require glasses, because school work is hard enough for children without their being handicapped with poor vision. The TAIT OPTICAL CO. make a special study of children's eyes. Come and consult us and we will advise you in the matter.

INQUEST INTO DEATH OF ARTHUR JONES RESUMED LAST NIGHT AT POLICE COURT CHAMBER

Adjourned For One Week After a Four Hour and a Half Session, Expert Witness Will be Called. Jury Will Visit the Scene of Accident

The inquest into the death of Arthur Jones, who lost his life by being seriously burned about two weeks ago at the C. G. E., was resumed last night in the police court chamber. Crown Attorney R. E. Wood conducted the investigation. Mr. L. M. Hayes acted for the C. G. E. and Mr. W. H. Moore appeared in behalf of family of Mr. Jones.

Joseph Lowes, an expert in the C. G. E. was the first witness called. He was not personally near the accident, but described surroundings. Explained the use of rheostat on which Jones was working when he was burned so seriously as to cause his death. There would be no power in the rheostat if the power was turned off.

Mr. Patterson of the C. G. E. showed some photographs of the switch and position of the rheostat.

Witness had no personal knowledge of accident. When in use the rheostat contains about 60 volts. Mr. Lowes said he is assistant to the chief tester in the testing department.

W. H. Moore—Did your assistant Mr. Seaton, inform you that the rheostat needed repairs?

Witness—Yes.

W. H. Moore—Did you know what the order was for the repair of the rheostat?

Witness—No.

W. H. Moore—I am informed that there were other wires running from other machines to this one, do you know anything about this?

Witness—Not to my knowledge.

NORMAN SEATON.

Norman Seaton, assistant to Mr. Lowes, was the next witness, and said: "I was told that the rheostat needed to be repaired, and I informed Mr. Lowes, and reported that it needed repairs. It seemed to be a broken circuit. Mr. Lowes told me to report it to Mr. Yost. Before doing so, I shut down the machine. I then went for Mr. Yost, and coming back with him, he said it needed repairs. Mr. Yost then went and got his men; I think Mr. Jones was one of them. I didn't see the accident as I was about two hundred feet away."

Crown Attorney—How did you find the rheostat when you came back?

Witness—It had been partly twisted out.

W. H. Moore—I am informed that these wires were burned and buried under ground.

Witness—Not that I know of.

"OLD BILL" MINER DIED YESTERDAY

Canadian Press Despatch.

MILLEDGEVILLE, GA., Sept. 4—Notorious "Old Bill" Miner, in the state prison here for the past three years for train robbery, died yesterday. His criminal career began nearly sixty years ago.

Asquith Is Generous.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—A London cable says: "The two suffragettes who attacked Premier Asquith on the golf links at Lossiemouth last Friday afternoon while he was playing golf were to have been brought up for trial yesterday afternoon. The Premier, however, requested yesterday morning that the prosecution of the women be abandoned and the request was granted.

RIOT VICTIM IS BURIED

Two Miles of Mourners Follow Nolan's Body to Grave.

DUBLIN, Sept. 4.—Two miles of mourners followed to the grave yesterday the body of James Nolan, the laborer who was killed by a police baton charge on Saturday. Through the heat and dust of the main streets, and beyond to the cemetery of Glasnevin, five miles away, more than 20,000 men and women tramped to solemn music. Three bands marched with heavy steps, the sullen faces of the people nursing their sorrow. There was one moment of swift panic to break the steady trudging to the grave. Some restless horses bolted near Daniel O'Connell's statue, just as the hearse was passing the Imperial Hotel, on Sackville street, where at least 10,000 spectators had congregated. So nervous was the crowd after the events of the past few days that shouts for police were raised and in an instant hundreds of shrieking women, many of them carrying babies, were rushing for safety into shops and hotels. The procession was broken, and the hearse containing the coffin was left deserted, except for half a dozen men who bore a large wreath on poles slung over their shoulders. Quite 50,000 people were at the cemetery. What police were present were hidden behind tombstones.

The situation brought about by the strike of transportation workers in Dublin was rendered more acute yesterday by a lockout in the coal trade. The merchants at a meeting decided that they would no longer employe men belonging to the Transport Workers Union, which organization, they say, will not permit its members to deliver the coal of certain firms with which the union is at loggerheads.

The feeling between workmen and employers is very bitter.

THE BEGINNING OF THE END OF THAW'S REFUGE IN CANADA

Enjoyed Three Minutes of Liberty Yesterday and Was Then Re-Arrested.

COATICOOKE, Que., Sept. 4—Harry Kendall Thaw, pried out of the Sherbrooke jail on a writ of habeas corpus, obtained by a coup of William Travers Jerome, occupied three minutes of liberty yesterday afternoon and was then seized by the Dominion Immigration authorities and hustled by automobile to this little town, where last night he paced the floor in the immigration detention room over the G.T.R. station. To-day a special board of enquiry will sit in his case and by night he may be thrust across the Vermont border as an undesirable alien. His lawyers have planned no procedure to resist extradition to New York, and the belief was current last night that before many hours Thaw would be back in the Matteawan Asylum for the criminal insane, from which he escaped on Sunday, Aug. 17.

The beginning of the end of Thaw's refuge in Canada came with dramatic swiftness. A writ of habeas corpus issued out last Saturday at the direction of Jerome, with John Boudreau, chief of police of this village, as petitioner, was sustained at 2.05 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Matthew Hutchinson, Superior Judge of the District of St. Francis, sitting in Chambers at Sherbrooke. Stolid, pallid, numb, Thaw sat not five feet from the judge as he read. When, in the very last paragraph, the court declared him a free man, whether he desired his liberty or not, Thaw seemed to crumple up in the lounge where he sat. A cigar stump fell from his left hand and scattered ashes on the floor; from his right hand fluttered two gay bits of ribbon a child had given him.

But he did not rise. W. K. McKeown of his counsel, leaned over and patting him on the shoulder, whispered. Thaw raised his big staring eyes and stood up. Immigration officers in the room headed by E. B. Robertson, assistant superintendent, moved near him, and then Thaw began slowly to move to the door. At the threshold Robertson said simply: "Come with us, Mr. Thaw." And without a word except a hoarse goodbye to the reporters, Thaw obeyed.

Five minutes later a gray roadster streaked away from the courthouse. In the back seat was Thaw. He had not even been given time to pack his belongings and voluminous correspondence in his cell. In an hour he was here in Coaticooke, guarded in the detention room by two stalwart Dominion police. None but counsel was allowed to see him.

Thaw expressed no surprise, evidenced no grief. Behind him trained his defeated lawyers. W. L. Shurtleff, the first to arrive, issued this statement:

"If they have doctors all ready to pronounce Thaw insane, as I am informed they have, there is almost no hope of preventing his immediate deportation. I believe if we could find a way to get the case into the courts we would have a good chance to prove this immigration act unconstitutional on the ground that it is inconsistent with the Ashburton treaty. But if the authorities at Ottawa are as determined to send Thaw back as they seem to be then I doubt very much if they would pay any attention to any writ of prohibition we might obtain."

Turks' Powerful Battleship.

BARROW-IN-FURNESS, Eng., Sept. 4.—One of the most formidable battleships in the world is to be launched to-day, the first unit in the rejuvenated Turkish navy. She displaces over 23,000 tons and possesses an armament of ten 13.5 inch guns, thus exceeding in gun power any vessel in commission in the British navy.

MODERN DRESS IS A DISGRACE

MONTREAL, Sept. 4.—In an address to a congregation which contained hundreds of women at Notre Dame cathedral, Archbishop Bruchesi said:

"I ask you to aid me to stamp out the outrageously immodest style of dress that has been introduced among our women, among the poor as well as the rich. The present style of dress is the undoing of Christian modesty, the loss of religion and the killing of all virtue. The latest style is not only vulgar, but indecent. Just at present there are even youngsters who think they are stylish only when their dress verges on the indecent."

DOMINION ALLIANCE FAVORS NATION-WIDE PLEBISCITE

Plans For Campaign Work Discussed by Council.

TORONTO, Sept. 4.—The people of Canada as a whole may soon be called upon to declare for or against the liquor traffic. Yesterday the council of the Dominion Alliance, meeting in the Metropolitan Church, listened to propositions having a general referendum in view, and for two hours following the close of the afternoon meeting the legislation committee of the council deliberated upon the various schemes proposed. No conclusion was reached at the time of adjournment, but it was evident from the attitude with which each members of the committee considered the matter that the council will to-day hear recommendations along the line of having the people speak. The suggestion that seemed to attract most favor and which probably will be accepted by the council is for a referendum on the question of complete prohibition to be submitted to the Dominion electors at as immediate a date as it will be possible to obtain from Parliament.

The legislation committee, whose personnel includes leading executive men from the different provinces, was agreed that a mere expression of opinion from the people is not sufficient to warrant the time and money that would have to be expended. Past experiences in which governments had failed to act on such expressions were cited and held out as warnings against repeating the action. "If a vote was to be taken on the subject of prohibition it must be so planned, they declared, that in the event of the question receiving a substantial majority it would automatically become law.

Will Make Rockefeller Envious.

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—Oil has been struck at Hanover, according to a despatch from that city to The National Zeitung. It was found at a depth of 1,600 feet by the borers for potash near the city and 10,000 barrels have been procured since Aug. 30, the oil being of good quality. The secret was kept by the finders for some days, but since it has become public the surrounding land has been rapidly acquired by speculators, who consider the prospects good.

JOB FOR HAWKINS

Thousand a Year Situation Provided For Crack Rifleman.

At present the Bisley hero is away with the Canadian team which is to compete for the Palma Trophy at Camp Perry, O. Upon his return he will proceed to Orono, Ont., his home town, the residents of which are now planning to give him a rousing reception.

Gen. Williams is expected to be present to represent Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, and Brigadier-Gen. Hughes will have charge of the military arrangements.

A strong committee was appointed at a well-attended meeting of citizens of Orono, to make the general arrangements for the reception of Private Hawkins.

THAW'S ATTORNEYS PREPARING TO PROVE HIM SANE BEFORE COURT

SHERBROOKE JAIL

Harry K. Thaw's host of attorneys are preparing to prove him sane in either the Canadian or Pennsylvania courts. This is proved by a statement made by Dr. G. S. Hume, of New York city, who was designated as a physician for Thaw by Dr. Britton D. Evans, the New Jersey alienist. Thaw was examined at Sherbrooke, Que. Dr. Hume declared that Thaw is sane. He asserts that Thaw's wonderful memory and his accurate knowledge of law and medicine satisfied him that Thaw is not mentally unbalanced.

THE TURNBULL DISASTER; INQUEST THIS EVENING

Who Is Responsible?—Interesting Evidence Is Expected.

To-night the inquest will be held in the Council Chamber on the victims of the Turnbull disaster.

It would be imprudent to attempt to forecast the evidence or to try to guess the verdict of the jury. A thorough investigation has been made with the assistance of impartial experts, one from Toronto, and there is abundant evidence to enable the jury to arrive at a straight forward verdict, so far as the cause of the collapse is concerned.

The most interesting evidence will certainly be the architect's, upon whose plans the alterations to the building were being carried out. If these plans prove to have been faulty or carelessly drawn up, then the responsibility for the crash will easily be located. But, it may prove that while the plans are based upon a miscalculation these were nevertheless drawn carefully and no architect could have foreseen the result.

The truly responsible person may be now in his grave, beyond all reckoning. The facts seem to be that this architect had built upon another man's foundation and the defect was not discernible.

There can be no question at all of criminal neglect either on the part of the builders or the architect and this is the chief point to be decided by a coroner's jury.

All techinical questions are for the consideration of the law courts.

Dr. Greer, the coroner, can be depended upon to handle this case in a fair and straightforward manner, and to the satisfaction of those immediately concerned and to the citizens at large, whose future safety has to be assured.

Prof. Milne's Estate.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The late Prof. John Milne, the noted mining engineer and seismologist, who actively interested himself in the development of British Columbia and Newfoundland, left an estate probated at eleven thousand pounds. He bequeathed his scientific records and instruments to the British Association.

LOST IN HURRICANE

Vessel of the Old Dominion Line Founders in Heavy Gale.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Sept. 4.—Three petty officers and five men of the battleship Old Nebraska were drowned yesterday when one of the ship's launches was wrecked in the hurricane sweeping the coast here.

The old Dominion liner Mobjack is reported sunk in the bay with a crew of eight and some passengers. The report is unconfirmed and the line has no information.

The Nebraska is at anchor off Fort Monroe, but the shore wireless has been put out of commission by the storm and communication by small boats is impossible.

The drowned men were attempting to make shore when men on the wharves who had watched their perilous passage say a water spout struck the launch, overturned it and men and boat disappeared in the waves. The hurricane, blowing since early morning, is accompanied by almost blinding downpours of rain.

JONES TRIES AGAIN.

Bars In Desperado's Cell Are Found Sawn Through.

KINGSTON, Sept. 4.—Inspection of the bars in the cell of Frank Jones, one of the members of the Stony Mountain gang of desperadoes transferred here two years ago, showed he had in some manner cut through one of the bars in an attempt to make his escape. Discovery was made yesterday morning by one of the keepers. A saw was evidently used.

Jones, with Bonner, Brown and Kelly, made a sensational escape from the penitentiary a year ago last March, when they overpowered the guards, donned their uniforms and walked out of the big prison, being captured after a lively chase.

Jones is now serving a 36-year term for jail breaking, assaulting penitentiary officials and an attempted murder in Winnipeg.

OUTLINED POLICY.

Haldane Spoke For British Government When In Montreal.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—The address before the American Bar Association at Montreal of Viscount Haldane, Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain, was an official announcement to the world of the declared policy of the British Government, according to an authorized statement made here last night by Francis Rawle, one of the leading lawyers of this city. Mr. Rawle was chairman of the committee that received the Lord High Chancellor upon his arrival at New York from England last week. It was while returning from Montreal to New York, from where Viscount Haldane sailed Tuesday for England, that the British jurist authorized Mr. Rawle to make the announcement. The address in a large measure concerned itself with the unity of nations, particularly those of Anglo-Saxon blood: their working together for the good of the world, its peace and betterment.

According to Mr. Rawle's statement the Lord Chancellor said:

"It is official and is intended to be so. It is the declared policy of the British Government, announced through my address to the world. It will be published immediately in French, German, Russian and Chinese."

Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Minister, Mr. Rawle said, went over the address, line for line, stamping its every word with his official approval.

BAR ASSOCIATION OUT TO FIGHT LEGAL INNOVATIONS

Returning, Found Wife Dead.

KINGSTON, Sept. 4. — Coming home from a trip to Rochester, N.Y., Honora H. Taylor was shocked to find crepe on his door. His wife had died while he was on his way home and he had not notice of it until he reached the house. The woman was 32 years old.

Steamer Went Aground.

KINGSTON, Sept. 4.—With a cargo of coal on board the steamer McKinstrey, on the way to Montreal, went aground in the St. Lawrence, near Alexandra Bay. The steamer Saginaw of the Donnelly Wrecking Co. has left for the scene.

Kingston Man's Escape.

KINGSTON, Sept. 4—Wilson Johnson, aged 24 years, run over by a cart loaded with coal, had a miraculous escape. He was picked up for dead, but the doctors stated not one bone in his body had been broken.

Advance of "Judicial Recall" Legislation Alarms Barristers Gathered at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Sept. 4.—The significant feature of the American Bar Association convention, which closed with a big banquet here last night, is to be found in the attitude expressed in so many of the speeches towards the rising tide of progressive, perhaps socialistic ideas now sweeping over the United States. Several states have already placed in their constitutions the "Recall of Judges" and "The Review of Judicial Decisions." The Bar Association is out to fight these innovations and others they fear and regard as even more revolutionary.

No matter what subject was up the speakers yesterday soon reverted to the one theme, namely: What can be done to satisfy the demands of the people without impairing the restraints imposed upon legislation by the courts under the constitution? All admitted that real abuses existed and that monster monopolies oppressed alike the producers and the consumers, but all asserted that relief could be obtained without a political revolution.

The constitution, it was said, had been misinterpreted. It was now the supreme duty of the hour to adapt it to the modern need and conditions of a highly complicated industrial civilization.

Mr. Taft and Dean Thayer, of the Harvard law school, urged a higher standard for admission to the bar, and many others insisted upon sweeping reforms in judicial procedure. Progressive legislation against overcapitalization and providing for a workmen's compensation act were suggested.

Nearly every reform now favored by the people was endorsed with the proviso that the constitution and the courts remain unchanged. The slogan of the lawyers seems to be "Take the cargo but leave the ship."

The bench and bar of the United States as represented here yesterday are conservative, but they are prepared to be "progressive conservatives," as Mr. Blount of Florida put it.

Judges and lawyers are asking for another chance to bring the courts into sympathy with the people.

The association yesterday elected Mr. Taft of Connecticut," president.

So far so good. No one mentioned the name of Roosevelt, but the spirit of Roosevelt brooded like a cloud over the convention.

At the conclusion of the session yesterday officers for the ensuing year were elected. The name of former U. S. President Taft was the only one submitted for the presidency, and a great cheer broke out when it was announced that the professor had been elected by acclamation.

Among the Canadians elected honorary members were Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Francois Langelier, Hon. Charles J. Doherty, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Sir Lomer Gouin, Judge Archambault and Sir C. P. Davidson, of the Superior Court of Quebec; Prof. Mathieu, Dean of the Law Faculty of Laval University, and Prof. F. B. Walton, Dean of the Law Faculty of McGill University.

HUERTA WILL RUN

He Will be Candidate For Presidency of Mexico.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 4.—From a source which is authentic, it was learned last night that it is almost a certainty that President Huerta, within a few days, will turn over the provisional presidency to Gen. Trevino, and himself become a candidate for the full elective term.

This informant has been in attendance at almost every Cabinet meeting, and has himself declined numerous offers to become one of Huerta's Ministers. "You are safe in saying that Washington is in possession of Huerta's intention, and will interpose no objection to his offering himself as a candidate," said he. "The only stipulation the United States will make, is that the elections be conducted honestly and fairly, and that it be thoroughly understood that the man chosen must be supported and maintained in office by the whole country; if need be with the help of the United States. Gen. Trevino, according to law, must become first the Foreign Minister in order to succeed automatically to the provisional Presidency, when Huerta retires. All this has been arranged, in fact, may be regarded as an accomplished fact."

FORMER LOCAL LADY KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT AT PT. ARTHUR

The many friends of Mr. J.T. Emmerson of Port Arthur a former resident of this city will be shocked to learn of her sad death yesterday afternoon in Port Arthur. ## IS CANADA A NATION?

An article in this column yesterday dealt with the subject of Canadian support of the British Navy and while it may have appeared to belittle Canada as a sea-power it was nevertheless correct in its main contention, that Canadians have not developed that sea-sense which is necessary for their commercial and political prestige in the world of nations. What prestige we have is due wholly to our being an integral part of the British Empire, and the Empire is paying for it.

All this is very obvious to the open minded and larger visioned Canadian, but there are some who have the notion that Canada is in a position to dictate her will to any nation in the world, and even to Great Britain.

When Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his followers get on their rhetorical horse and declare "Canada a Nation" they should be made to know just "where they get off at," that is, off the "horse" referred to. If Sir Wilfrid means that Canada is a nation like Germany or China or Sweden or Austria, or Fiji even, Sir Wilfrid is not correct in his statement.

It would be more correct for Sir Wilfrid to say: "Quebec is a Nation," or for Sir James Whitney to say "Ontario is a Nation;" for these provinces are composed of two district races of people, as England and France. Canada is a Dominion, and when it ceases to be a Dominion under the British Crown, it will cease to be anything like a nation, but will begin to separate itself into little Nations like Europe. This is inevitable, and the result of this racial war for ascendency would be more serious than some Separatists imagine.

There are prejudices in both the Anglo-Saxon and the Gaul element which compose the Dominion, that are only kept in check by the moral force of the British Crown and all that it stands for. The inevitable outcome of the "nation" spirit of Sir Wilfrid Laurier will be, not only separation from the Empire, but internal separation and strife which there will be no strong hand to control.

NEWSPAPERS OF THE FUTURE

The Institute of Journalists is holding its annual Conference at York, and a most interesting address was delivered on Monday by the distinguished President, Mr. Robert Donald, Editor of the Daily Chronicle. Mr. Donald reminded his hearers that twenty years ago Dr. Charles Russell, the eminent journalist and editor, ventured to foreshadow the development of the next generation in journalism. His forecast was that the daily paper would become more and more the daily magazine, in which all news capable of such treatment would be presented in a bright and attractive form. The level of newspaper work as a whole would be raised, and this implied that the culture of journalists must be raised to satisfy the new conditions. Mr. Donald claimed that Dr. Russell had earned a place among the prophets, but his own predictions travelled far beyond the safe, general lines of his predecessor. He believes that the daily newspapers of the future will be fewer, that the tendency towards combinations will increase, and that gigantic circulations will continue to grow. "The daily paper which has not at least a half-million readers will not be considered seriously as an organ of the people." Pages will be smaller, pictures in color will be included, airships and aeroplanes will be used in distribution, to say nothing of electric trains and motor-planes running in special tracks. Mr. Donald has a vision of the emerging of morning and evening newspapers, with editions coming out every hour of the day and night. News will be collected by wireless telephones, and the reporter will always have a portable telephone with him, with which he can communicate with his paper. At the people's recreation halls, with the cinematograph and the gramophone, the news of the day will be given hot from its source. People may become too lazy to read, and news will be laid on to the house or office just as gas and water are now. The householder may follow the events of the day through the phonograph as he sits in his garden, or read his paper printed in column form by a machine in his hall.—British Weekly.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The visit of British statesmen to Canada of the stolid, intellectual and good natured type of Lord Haldane, is bound to have a salutory effect upon Canadian political discussions. We should invite and welcome such statesmen from, not only England, but from France and even Germany to our council chambers.

The Canadian Magazine is full of good reading this month. Dr. G. C. Workman is still conducting his "campaign" in his "New Study of the Old Book." There are a number of beautiful plates, and a good article on fishing off Nova Scotia, which smacks of the salt sea; also some interesting stories. Mr. MacTavish, the editor, is to be complimented upon, not only sustaining the quality of his magazine, but upon its advancement into line with some of its best English and American contemporaries.

Jack: And then——

Tom: Then—well, we talked of something else.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—We of Apsley and its neighborhood have had a lesson taught us that neither this generation or the generations yet to come should ever forget, and that lesson is that we are entirely in the hands of God, and at the mercy of God. We have been confronted with a great danger, before which we have been utterly helpless. To say that we could control the winds and the clouds would, of course, be utter nonsense and proud arrogance, but it was well for us that there was One who could do so. The fires were drawn up as in battle array, stretching from north to south, and they closed in in upon the farms from the westward, all along a whole line of many miles of roadway and homes. The fire only awaited the order to advance, with its hungry and devouring flames to consume all that lay before it, and in an hour or two, to leave sorrow and desolation in its wake. But the order was never given and the west wind came not. Instead, in answer to prayer, a counter order, "Hitherto shalt thou come, but no further, and here shall thy proud waves be stayed." In answer to prayer, the westerly wind quickly died down, and gave place to a gentle east wind, which grew in the next two or three days into a southerly wind, which affected the double purpose of keeping back the fire and of bringing in its wake the much desired rain that it usually results in.

Had there been a strong westerly wind for even less than two hours, the fate of more than one farm would have been sure, and, had the easterly wind that brought the rain continued longer without rain, the fate of other swould have been almost certain from a fire that was closing in from another, along along the line of another road on the eastern portion of another township.

Many were the prayers that were offered up, and just in time, came the urgently needed rain, proving once more the truth of scripture: "So they cried unto the Lord in their trouble, and He delivered them out of their distress."

By the word of One who could rebuke the winds and say to the waves and the winds, "Peace, be still." He it is that controleth the clouds and sendeth rain upon the earth. "He doeth according to His will in the army of heaven, and none can stay His hand or say unto Him, What doeth Thou?"

THE MARKET

Latest Quotation in Grain, Dairy Products, Live Stock, Etc

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Rains that interfered with threshing in the northwest had a bullish effect today on the wheat market. The Best Detective Story of the Last Ten Years

"These Hindoos worked about as fast as I did. They must have made their minds pretty early in the game that Miss Holcomb knew nothing about the necklace, and, of course, nobody would be foolish enough to suspect little Miss March. Our dark friends from the east concentrated their attention on Griswold and Sands. For a long time, Ali had been in Mrs. Missioner's employ. He wasn't however, Mrs. Missioner's employee in the true sense of the word. He was there as one of the subordinates of the Swami chap, along with the other Oriental fellows, one of whom calls himself Prince Kananda. In fact, Ali was on the job from the day he became a member of Mrs. Missioner's household. He was sent there for the precise purpose of fixing up the place and either getting the big diamond himself, or tipping the Swami and all the rest of them when it would be safe for them to make a try. It stands to reason Mrs. Missioner watched her jewels pretty closely, and that her safe was a jim-dandy, since that necklace in all those long months could not be lifted by the Hindoo servant. He would have been perfectly willing to throttle her in order to get it had he felt reasonably sure of a get away as exists after a murder or as after a robbery."

"You must have been reading about Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves, Britz," said Manning with another harsh laugh. "This sounds altogether too much like the Arabian Nights to be the goods."

"Well there weren't as many as forty thieves, and the Ali in this case wasn't an honest man. I'm giving it to you straight, Chief. I haven't worked day and night on this proposition for nothing. You'll find it just as I'm telling it to you, and if you'll suspend judgment until I get through I'll deliver the goods all right."

"I think," remarked Fitch to Manning, "we shall find that Lieutenant Britz comes pretty near knowing what he is talking about. I've seen him work on this case, and I know something of the facts he has discovered. If you have ever studied the ways of Orientals you'll be surprised at nothing they do. They look at life from altogther a different angle. Life is about the cheapest thing in life to them."

"Very good," said Manning. "I'm willing to be convinced, but it seems hard to believe that a woman worth a hundred millions could live for months with death hanging over her head in her own household, and yet know nothing about it. What's the use of being a multi-millionaire if you're no safer than in an eighteen-dollar flat? For my part, I don't take much stock in your Hindoos."

"You'll take a lot of stock in them before the morning is over, Chief, if you stay with us," Britz retorted. "I'm going to show you not only the Hindoos in the act of attempting to get away, but I'll turn up the goods in their possession. They have the diamond now, but I'll have both them and the diamond in a very few hours!"

"I believe you," Fitch chimed in. "You see, Chief," he explained to Manning, "this lieutenant of yours has made the capture of the Hindoos more or less of a personal matter."

A choppy laugh from the detective interrupted the physician.

"Yes," he agreed. "I don't mind telling you that I'm almost as eager to get those fellows as I am to recover the widow's jewels. They got just a little bit too gay with me for their own good." He flushed slightly as he recalled how utterly he had been at the mercy of the Hindoos when he lay like a holiday turkey on the floor of that bare room in the unoccupied uptown apartment.

"The Hindoos," said Britz, "went through the apartments of Sands and Griswold with what Sam Weller would call a double-million-magnifying microscope. They didn't leave a postage stamp unsearched. They looked into every hole and corner, ransacked every drawer, and turned every place inside out. I caught 'em at it—two of them, anyway — in Sands' room and they're now in the West Thirtieth Street Station. They must have gone through Griswold's apartment first, for it was there, I guess, they found this note from Millicent to 'Curtis dear,' and it was this note that gave me a line on how brother Griswold stood with the lady of the Hotel Renaissance. I knew Griswold was in the habit of visiting that hotel, but I didn't know whom he went there to see. I felt pretty certain when I got the note that it came from somebody in the Renaissance, and I got Rawson to send the bunch out on the hunt so that I could make certain I'd made no mistake.

"One of the men reported there was a Mme. Delaroche at the Renaissance. That looked good enough to me. I went there that same night, with the doctor on the sidewalk, as the lookout. I did a little burglary stunt that would have landed the jewels if the Hindoos had not got there ahead of me. In some way or other, those fellows learned about the acquaintance between Griswold and the Delaroche lady about the same time I did, or perhaps a little earlier. One of them got into her apartment by the fire escape route and sneaked the jewels from under her pillow. What's more he contented himself with the diamonds themselves, and didn't even take the casket they were in. The jewel case was still under her pillow when I got there, and it wasn't until after the lady, under the impression the gems were in the case, gave herself away more or less, that I found the little box empty. When I looked out on the fire escape, I saw the handkerchief the dark-skinned cracksman had dropped in his hurry. That sent us hot-footed to the Swami's house."

When Britz had sketched the history of the Missioner case, Manning and Fitch looked at him admiringly. Both his hearers were thoughtful for a minute or two. Then the Chief, though he realized Britz had solved the mystery, could not refrain from picking flaws.

"You have not explained fully," he said, "how Griswold contrived to smuggle the small diamond into Miss Holcomb's room."

"Nor how the old curiosity dealer had the visiting card of Bruxton Sands," suggested the doctor hesitantly. He disliked to seem over critical of a man who had done so much for Elinor.

"Neither have you worked out an explanation of the fact that it was a woman who gave the order to the three French firms for the manufacture of the false diamonds, and that she gave the name of Elinor Holcomb," Manning pursued. "You'll have to make that clear to Mott, I'm thinking."

"I don't quite understand why the Hindoos kidnapped you, lieutenant," added Fitch tentatively.

Britz smiled.

"Mere details," Britz replied. "First Griswold did not smuggle the diamond into Miss Holcomb's room. That little trick was pulled off by Ali. He was the only one who could have done it, and his reason for wanting to throw suspicion on the young woman is plain. He was in the house to get the necklace and he also wanted to make a sure getaway. Therefore, he figured, if the jewels should be missed before he was able to get them out of the house, it would help his chances of escape to have suspicion thrown on the secretary. The diamond that was found among her things did not belong to the collarette. But its size and lustre matched any one of a dozen of the stone in that magnificent setting, so that all of us took it for granted it was Mrs. Missioner's property."

"Very good," parried the chief. "How about the other points?"

"It needs no vivid imagination," said Britz, "to picture Curtis Griswold employing a young woman to take the drawings to the French manufacturers and telling her to introduce herself as Elinor Holscomb, or by any other name he desired."

Manning nodded reluctantly, Fitch approvingly.

"As for old Martin's possession of Sands' card," continued the lieutenant, "I see no explanation about that except that Griswold handed it to him. There sems to be a streak of malicious mischief in our club friend. As a side exploit in pulling off a big crime, he would enjoy making trouble for another—especially for a man he had reason to fear as a rival, which was the case with Sands. It may be he even hoped to cast suspicion permanently on the millionaire, though that seems hardly possible. Even when Sands acted so mysteriously in regard to that letter he recovered from the Hindoo burglar, he did not make me suspect he had stolen the diamonds; the strongest suspicion I had was that he might be shielding the thief, and that didn't last long."

"Oh, that was only a precaution on their part. They took the chance I might have recovered the Maharanee I suppose. Maybe they expected to find in my possession something that would give them a clew to the whereabouts of the stone. Then, once they got me, they thought they might as well keep me out of the running until they got what they wanted. It was no part of their plan to let me find the jewels and turn them over to Mrs. Missioner."

"You had a close call there, lieutenant," observed the physician.

"Close enough," said Britz calmly. "But it's all in the day's work."

As Britz finished there was a timid tap on the door. In response to Manning's curt "Come in!" Donnelly and Carson crossed the threshold, and did their best to stand at ease in front of the lietenant's desk.

"You sent, huh, for us, Chief?"

"Yes," said Manning. "Lieutenant Britz wants you to attend to a little matter for him."

"Yes, Donnelly," said Britz coolly, "if you have nothing better to do just now, suppose you run up to Curtis Griswold's apartment, and tell him the Chief wants to talk to him."

"Suppose he won't come," said Donnelly, who evidently did not yet suspect it was desired that the clubman be taken into custody.

"Bring him, then," said Britz. "You haven't forgotten how to show a gentleman down to Headquarters, have you?"

Donnelly winced under the lieutenant's scorn, and Carson turned gray.

"And you, Mr. Carson," said Britz, renewing his instructions, "be good enough to take a trip to the Hotel Renaissance, and ask Mrs. Delaroche to come down to see us for a little while."

Carson, in the crisis, felt he could not be too precise.

"Suppose she declines?" he asked.

"Bring her!" said Britz.

Mrs. Hamilton Tells How She Finally Found Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

I had pains and was not regular, my head ached all the time, I had bearing down pains and my back hurt me the biggest part of the time, I was dizzy and had weak feelings when I would stoop over, it hurt me to walk any distance and I felt blue and discouraged.

"I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now in good health. If it had not been for that medicine I would have been in my grave a long time ago."—Mrs. ARTIE E. HAMILTON, R.F.D. No. 6. Warren, Ind.

A PERIL OF THE SEA

By ALBERT TUCKER KENYON

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

When an ocean liner has been out a couple of days if the weather is fair those who have had mal de mer begin to find their way on deck. Women recline in steamer chairs comfortably tucked in with rugs, many of them slightly pale, but gaining color from the pure ocean atmosphere.

It was on such an occasion that I first saw a lady whose face at once interested me. I was young, and young men are very sensible to beauty. This girl was not so especially beautiful as striking. Her eyes and eyebrows were a dark brown, while her hair was a chestnut with a tinge of red in it. It was this contrast that attracted me.

Now, I am quite willing to confess that under other circumstances I might simply have admired the artistic combination of milky skin, dark eyes and Titian hair without having given the girl another thought. But, as I have said, in fair weather at sea one is under different influences, or, rather, free to be moved by any influence. We had left New York in a snowstorm and were now on the bosom of the warm waters of the gulf stream. Though we needed our wraps, there was a pleasant softness in the air in marked contrast with the winter we had left. Not only did I feel a delightful relaxation, but I was not troubled with a multiplicity of things to look at. I saw only the sky, the ocean and the ship, and on the ship I looked only at the young girl who charmed me.

As luck would have it a friend of mine who was aboard stepped up to the young lady and spoke to her. I was delighted. An introduction was assured to me. Within an hour I was sitting beside Miss Manning, chatting with her.

We were making the Mediterranean trip and, since we had been out only two days, ten or eleven days remained to me to enjoy Miss Manning's society. How impressionable is a youngster of twenty-five, especially one who has nothing to do but be impressed! I confess that I had no right to be impressed, for I was engaged to a very lovely woman. The trouble with me was an artistic temperament. I had been caught by a peculiar condition of beauty. I did not find Miss Manning especially intellectual, especially entertaining, but ever before me was that singular combination of features. I did not at first realize the danger for me, an engaged man, to put myself under the influence of another woman, even if the attraction was in that which appealed alone to an abnormal sense for beauty. Before we reached the Azores I began to fear for myself, and when we reached Madeira and we went ashore together and walked in the garden of Funchall, redolent with the perfume of tropical flowers, I knew that I was lost.

I had written something daily to my fiancee to post from our first landing point, but somehow I could not drop it in the purser's box to be mailed. I glanced over what I had written, and so completely had I passed under a new spell that I wondered how I could ever have been under any other. I tore my letter into bits. From Madeira to Gibraltar I was in an agony between a sense of honor, shame and self condemnation on the one hand and infatuation on the other. From Gibraltar to Naples I sank into absolute non resistance and self contempt.

I had not the assurance nor was I expected to attach myself to the Manning family during their stay in Italy, so I left them, intending to meet them in a few months in Switzerland. I had not spoken my infatuation—I cannot call it love—to Miss Manning, for I could not bring myself to act so contemptibly while I was still betrothed to another. I hoped the conditions might be changed before our next meeting, though what was to change them except some dishonorable act on my part I did not know.

I had not been separated from my fellow traveler a week before the chains that bound me to her began to drop off of their own weight. Then it first occurred to me that I had been captivated by a peculiar beauty. I saw so many different types of beauty in the galleries of Italy that I suppose I became surfeited. Still, I could not call up the image of Miss Manning without backsliding.

Three months passed, and I joined the Mannings at Lausanne, on Lake Geneva. When Miss Manning came into the room where I waited for her I stood mute with astonishment. Her Titian hair had turned into a dark brown, like her eyebrows.

"You are surprised at my appearance," she said. "Let me explain. Before leaving America I had suffered from a fever. On recovering my hair came out rapidly, and I had it shaved shortly before I sailed. I ordered a wig of a color to match my eyebrows, but before it was sent home I tried on one belonging to grandma. It was so becoming that I determined to wear it."

In a twinkling my enthrallment was gone. The young lady saw the change in my features, which were expressive of my feelings, and looked disappointed. But I felt a certain restfulness in being freed from my conflicting emotions. I made my call short and never have seen Miss Manning from that day to this.

I had great difficulty in making up with my fiancee, who knew very well from my letters, which had been few and far between, to say nothing of the absence of feeling in them, that something was wrong.

A MEXICAN FIESTA.

Recreation of the People of the Southern Republic.

The soft, sweet music of a Mexican band rose and fell with soothing and luring cadences, such thrilling, sobbing passionate music as one hears only in the southland. And around the band, the promenaders, with their fiesta air and gay throwing of confetti. Groups of pretty senoritas flitting about like moths in the pale moonlight, followed by the admiring glances of the young men. And beyond—the crush of the crowds and glare of the gambling tents. It is the closing feature of a Mexican fiesta.

The Mexicans have many holidays and celebrate them with the happiness and abandon of children. No thought of the morrow, the morrow that must find many of them with scarcely the necessities of life. With simple tastes and a child-like confidence, they enjoy their pleasures and know not the worries of a day that has not dawned.

Inside, the click of the roulette wheel, the rankling, shouting, hilarious dice shakers calling for bets and then droning off the winning numbers, the stolid dealers at the monte table and the watchful expectant keepers of the poker tables. All around, the cosmopolitan crowd—Chinese, Russians, Indians, Norwegians, a few English, Mexicans of every class—all making the din and buzz above the music that fascinates and holds the onlooker. The smoking lamps show the watchful faces of old women, men of all ages, children and young girls, intent upon the game, crushed about the tables.

Here and there in the corners of the big tent are poker games. A dozen rough men gathered around each table, intent on the cards and ready for anything. Gaunt, burned cowboys, men of the mining camps, and dark skinned bandana-necked Mexicans, their tall hats and picturesque dress lending color to the scene.

At a long table in the centre, where the crowd is thickest, the monte is playing—monte, the Mexican's delight, the gambling game of the nation. All classes rub shoulders, the rough rurales, the town boys, the humble soldier, the governor's staff and government men. All are brothers in the game of monte.

Occupying a central position is the bar, with as many patrons as the gambling tables. A Mexican's drinks are many in one night, but seldom does one find the people boisterious. As a people, they drink artistically. Always polite and respectful is the tone of a public place in Mexico.

At a far end of the tent tables are set and the ever ready tamale, enchilada and hot chocolate of Mexico are served; here and there a champagne table proclaiming the winnings of some player. Nearby the stringed band keeps music floating through the tent, the sweet strains that only a Mexican stringed band can play.

On until sunrise when the players depart, looking forward to the next night. For every night of the fiesta must be celebrated, let the worries and troubles of everyday life be put off until—manana.

Titled Medicine Men.

Baron Henri de Rothschild, who wrote the play "Croesus," is a physician of no inconsiderable skill, and the head of a hospital for the poor in Paris, and the fact recalls that there are even Royal personages qualified to act as physicians.

For example, Queen Amelie of Portugal is an M.D.—the only Royal lady holding the distinction and the Duke Carl Theodore of Bavaria actually practises the medical profession in the interests of the poor of Munich, and has long passed his five thousandth operation for cataract. For he specializes in eye troubles, and he is was who successfully treated the Kaiser when, some twelve years ago, he was temporarily blinded by a swinging rope while cruising in the North Sea.

The Royal duke is authorized to practise as a doctor by a special decree of the German Imperial Chancellor, and it is estimated that already nearly 60,000 poor people have received free treatment from him. And yet another Royal worker in the noble art of medicine is the Princess Sophie of Bavaria.

Zulus as Servants.

The Zulu warriors are acting as cooks, housemaids and nursemaids in South Africa. This is the reason the Earl of Selborne, president of the Pretoria Diocesan Association, has recommended the training of the native girls as domestic servants. But the system was utterly and wholly bad, and it would be a very good thing for South Africa when they were released permanently from domestic duties, and their places taken by the properly trained Christian girl.

Taking the country at large, there is one automobile for each 110 inhabitants.

Which Is More Urgent?

Fire Insurance

Important? You fully realize it. You would not allow your house to remain uninsured over night.

Your house may never burn. Comparatively few buildings ever do.

If your house does burn, your property is destroyed, but you can still provide for your loved ones. Your income remains unaffected, your earning capacity unimpaired.

If your house is not insured at all, or for an insufficient amount,

YOU
Carry the Risk

Your friend has had his home insured these thirty years and has had no fire. He has been fortunate in that, though he has nothing now to show for the money paid out.

Life Insurance

Important? Oh yes, you intend to insure after a while when "a little better able to do so."

You will surely die. All men do. You are more likely to die within a week or a year, than your house is to burn.
